THE CONFESSIONS OF A TARIFF THIEF.

Charles Francis Adams Writes About Tariff Thieves and Tariff Hogs—A Red Hot Letter.

Representative Samuel W. McCall, of Massachusetts, a member of the ways and means committee, made public in Washington a letter received by him on the tariff issue from Charles Francis Adams, of Boston, ex-president of the Union Pacific railway.

"I myself belong to the former class," he says. "I am a tariff thief and I have a license to steal."

Following is the text of the letter: My dear Mr. McCall: I see, in the Boston Herald, of this morning, that the president-elect is anxious that those who desire a revision of the tariff in the direction of reduced schedules should make themselves heard in Washington.

The other class come under the hog category; that is, they rush squealing and struggling to the great Washington protection trough, and with all their claws and teeth, they are gobbling the swill.

But, on the other hand, I am also a tariff reformer. I would like to see every protective schedule swept out of existence, my own included.

My position in these respects is exactly the position of myriads of others.

Meanwhile, I do know this. On every occasion when of late I have had occasion to address an audience, and reference to "protection and tariff," has invariably elicited a more spontaneous response than any other utterance I could make.

In the good old-fashioned days of our grandmothers, they relied upon the roots and herbs of the field to cure disease and mitigate suffering.

The Indians on our Western Plains-to-day can produce roots and herbs for every ailment, and cure diseases that baffle the most skilled physicians who have spent years in the study of drugs.

From the roots and herbs of the field Lydia E. Pinkham more than fifty years ago gave to the women of the world a remedy for their peculiar ills, more potent and efficacious than any combination of drugs.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is now recognized as the standard remedy for woman's ills.

"I was a great sufferer from female troubles, had those dreadful bearing down pains, and during my monthly periods I suffered so I had to go to bed."

When I was well and an entirely different woman, I also found that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made childbirth much easier for me.

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for Mrs. Tweedale, it will do for other suffering women.
