

IT ARRIVED TOO LATE

NORTH PERTH ELECTION PETITION THROWN OUT.

Stated Case on London and Trial onto Election Conspiracy Trial Has Been Filed—Judge Winchester For Court of Appeal.

Toronto, Dec. 7.—The stated case returned by Judge Winchester for the trial of the London and trial onto election conspiracy trial...

ONTARIO BISHOPS

Take Important Part in Prelate's Consecration.

Montreal, Dec. 7.—At the consecration of the Very Rev. Dean Farthing, Kingston, as fifth bishop of Montreal, in Christ church cathedral on 6th January, the act of consecration will be performed by the Most Rev. Rev. Dr. Sweetman, archbishop of Toronto, and primates of all Canada...

It is also likely that Bishop Hamilton, Ottawa, will officiate at the consecration of the holy communion, which will form a part of the consecration ceremony...

STOCK QUOTATIONS.

Cobalt and Leading Canadian Stocks Listed.

The following quotations are supplied by the City Brokers (J. O. Hutton and J. R. G. Dobbs), 41 Clarence street, Telephone, 480 A.

Table with columns for Stock Name, Seller, Buyer, and Price. Includes Amalgamated, Beaver, Chambers, Crown Reserves, etc.

Girl Dies From Burns.

Walter's Falls, Ont., Dec. 7.—Miss Sarah McLean is dead as the result of a serious burning received early in the week. Her aged father has been every sick and she was attending him...

May Proclaim Himself.

Port Au Prince, Dec. 7.—The revolutionary army, 8,000 men strong, marched into Port Au Prince on Saturday morning. Gen. Antoine Simon was at the head, and he received an ovation from the people of the city...

GROUP QUICKLY CURED.

Don't Let the Child Choke to Death While Waiting For the Doctor.

Hyomei, the miraculous, antiseptic dry all treatment will cure croup in either the first or second stages. Easily inhaled, even when the breathing is irregular, it reaches more promptly than any other remedy the terribly inflamed membrane of the windpipe...

PITH OF THE NEWS.

The Very Latest Culled From All Over The World.

William C. Copp died suddenly at Hamilton. U. S. Secretary Root has signed an arbitration treaty with Peru. The Allan line steamer Tunisian arrived at Liverpool at 9 a.m., to-day.

THEY MADE A RUSH

(Continued from Page 2.)

arrested, were willing to take the punishment as individuals, representing the element, which on Saturday night, had such a disgraceful result.

The students had brought shame to their Alma Mater. There would be no need to take evidence, the magistrate knowing all which had taken place. A most unfortunate part of the case was fair, was that after the disgraceful affair which had occurred last year, when another theatre was rushed, that an effort had not been put forth to prevent any further disturbance.

On Monday the U. S. house of congress convened for the beginning of the second session of the sixtieth congress. Snow has fallen all day in Ottawa, but it is pretty warm after Saturday night's cold dip to sixteen degrees below zero.

Hon. Charles Doolin, Quebec minister of colonization and mines, sailed from Liverpool on the Corsican on Saturday. Bids for $30,000,000 of the bonds of the Panama canal loan, closed on Saturday. The loan has been greatly over-subscribed.

The Canadian Bank of Commerce earned $1,627,000, or 16.27 per cent. on its capital during the year ending November 30th. Rev. W. E. Campbell, ex-moderator of the general assembly and for over forty years pastor of St. Gabriel's church, Montreal, this city, is shortly to retire.

The Winnipeg police have captured a number of men who they believe constitute one of the most dangerous gangs of confidence men that ever operated in the west. A movement is on foot among the McGill medical professors for reciprocity in lectures between the faculties of McGill and the University of Toronto Medical College.

John D. Rockefeller may join London's colony of fashionables for a part of every year. The oil magnate is reported as dicker for a long time of a house in Queen Anne's Gate, Grosvenor place, London. A sugar company's schooner Houghton, loaded with beets, sank while attempting to cross Lake St. Clair on its way from the Thames river. It is a complete loss.

Earl Duff, of Galt, Ont., the eighth year-old boy, caught falling the safe of the Bell Telephone Co.'s office, Monday, was sentenced to two years and six months in the penitentiary. Jean Baptiste Godmaire, had the fingers of his left hand blown off, on Sunday, while playing in Notre Dame school, Que., as he was picking out a bullet from a cartridge with his knife.

Jack Lane, one of the best known railway men in Mexico, was murdered across the line in Guatemala by unknown bandits. He was employed for thirty years as passenger conductor on Mexican railways. Earl of Selborne told South Africans not to force the empire they were attached to. "You cannot," he said, "be good sons of the empire unless you are good Englishmen or good Scotchmen first."

Capt. Orange Lawrence, Orangeville, Ont., died suddenly on Sunday, of heart failure, superinduced by a fall on an icy sidewalk, which caused a fractured ankle. Capt. Lawrence was sixty-seven years old. On Sunday night a foot of "the beautiful" descended on Montreal, and provided all essentials for good winter roads. The foot of snow is in a fair way to be doubled, as there has been no let up so far.

Negative anarchists at Dundas, a military station six miles from Calcutta, is believed to be responsible for the blowing up of a magazine of ammunition at that place in which eleven natives soldiers were killed and twenty others injured. Mrs. Thomas Wagner, Wetaskiwin, had a terrible experience during the past week, when she lost herself while returning from the bush, where her husband was cutting timber. She wandered around for three days and two nights, and was found in an exhausted condition.

Fortunate Accident.

Philadelphia Ledger. What he believed would prove unfortunate when his team crashed into that of Col. Branklin Swayne at the Pennsylvania railroad station at Coatesville was a very fortunate mishap to the Rev. George Tryon, pastor of the High Street Baptist church, a few miles south of this borough. Mr. Tryon's horse became frightened and ran into Col. Swayne's carriage, twisting an axle. After Mr. Tryon had politely informed the colonel that he would pay the damages, Col. Swayne, who is a Philadelphia attorney and resides in West Brynawire township, asked his name, and when informed exclaimed, with amazement:

"Gracious! Man, I have been hunting for you for fifteen years. Your aunt desires to leave you a legacy, and she had about decided to leave the money to some charitable institution."

It is understood that the aunt, who lives in Philadelphia, has a bequest of $20,000 for Mr. Tryon.

To Have Fine Course.

Windsor, Ont., Dec. 7.—A large force of men have been at work on the "Wildcat" track for the past few months and when improvements are completed the association will have one of the best courses in America. A farmer was at the police station to-day looking for vengeance on another man who struck him. He was shown to the city clerk's office to secure a warrant. George McKenzie, arrested on a charge of vagrancy, was given his liberty to-day. He spent a week in jail on remand.

When a man treats his wife kindly she makes him feel like a conqueror. It is a confession he ought to make. If actions speak louder than words, what a lot of noise deaf mutes must make when they talk.

No woman ever fails so miserably that she doesn't feel competent to give advice. The street paving by-law will come before the city council this evening.

THEY MADE A RUSH

stable push the accused out on the roadway. Another student said that he was with the accused, and corroborated his evidence.

After the hearing of the case the magistrate dismissed the charge against this student.

Mr. King asked that Principal Gordon, who was present throughout the hearing of the case, be allowed to speak, and to this the magistrate consented. Principal Gordon said that he had listened with a great deal of concern to the proceedings in the court, and would like to say, in the most public manner possible, that the university authorities were very deeply regretted and condemned the occurrence of Saturday night, in so far as that occurrence and disturbance was caused by any of the students.

When there was a disturbance of such a nature as this, it was almost certain that other besides those primarily concerned, would be taken in charge, and it would indeed be extremely difficult to put the blame on those most responsible. So far as the students in charge were concerned, the magistrate had already recognized, as his address, that they did not appear to have been the ringleaders in the matter. They were of course present, and it was a case of the innocent suffering for the guilty. They were part of the student body, and were representing that body, which must be held responsible in a matter of this kind.

The university authorities deplore and condemn the action of any of the student body, in giving rise to any such disturbance on Saturday night, said Principal Gordon. "Not only so, but I believe the whole student body, as well as the university, deeply deplore and condemn the action of any of the students who were concerned."

Principal Gordon, in continuing, said that the relations between the university and the city, had always been of the most pleasant and cordial, and the authorities of the college did not purpose having these relations cut off. So far as the university was concerned, he was concerned, they must be preserved. He hoped that the relations between the students and police will continue to be cordial. All the damage done by the students would be met. The speaker wished to thank the magistrate for the manner in which he had regarded the case, and the discharge of his duties. The police had been compelled to come into conflict with the students. He stated that the disturbance of Saturday night would not take away the previous good feeling between the police and the students, and that the disturbance of Saturday night would be forgotten, and looked upon as if it never occurred.

"So far as the future is concerned," said Principal Gordon, "I think that I may guarantee that no such a disturbance will again take place, in so far as the university authorities can prevent it." Principal Gordon added that in all universities, it must be expected that there would be some students coming in from year to year who would not regard discipline. He expressed the hope that there would be no further trouble, but that the relationship between the students and the citizens and their servants, would be most cordial. Magistrate Farrell said that he was glad to learn that the conduct of the students was condemned by the college authorities and student body.

Representatives from Queen's Alma Mater were at the opera house, early this morning, and with Andrew McMahon, looked over the damage done by the students on Saturday night. The Alma Mater will pay all damages. "Cigar cases, in all leathers, at Best's, Albert E. Parrham, aged fifty-one years, died Wednesday at Henderson, N.Y. Mr. Parrham was born in Pictou, Ont. Lamps complete for 17c. Medley's.

POETICAL SELECTIONS.

The Homing.

Stalin L. Sablin, in The Metropolitan. When my wayward boy came back, With his reckless roving and wrack, Like a spent bird homing.

First I looked, and then I smiled, Then we clung together; He was still my child, my child, Love was still a tether.

Never a word, reproach I said, When my wayward boy came back; Only when he lay in bed, Then (in mine) I wept him.

Kept the wounds upon him wrought— Those long years' beseeching, Those that night his threshold sought, Watchful of his breathing.

Listening, 'twixt times afraid, Lest he be some other— Thanking God, whose mercy made Me to be his mother.

Philosopher Of Light.

Atlanta-Constitution. Asked how the world was going, He never about his head kept him; "Well as could be expected," Was all the word he said.

"There's light enough to lead us From the valley to the mill, An' the rivers sing in jubilee, When the mockingbirds are still."

"The seed we sowed in sorrow Still to the light was led; O' daily prayer was answered; The green fields gave us bread!"

"Not ever in the darkness Of the night we had to roam, For love was at life's windows And lit the lamps of Home."

"And so, we walk contented Along the world's way, The night is ever singing Of the sunlight of the Day!"

Life Is What We Make It. Wilkes-Barre Record. Let's often talk of noble deeds, And rarer of the bad ones, And sing about his happy days, And not about the sad ones. We were not made to fret and sigh, And when perchance may wake it, Bright happiness is standing by— This life is what we make it.

Let's find the sunny side of men, Or be believers in it, A light there is in every soul That takes the pains to win it. Oh there's a slumbering good in all, And we perchance may wake it; Our hands contain the magic wand; This life is what we make it.

The Road To Yesterday.

W. N. Hall. If I could only find the road, The road to yesterday, I'd say my heart of many a toad That burdens it to-day. Recall the words so harsh, unkind, As clear the stars I made the blind, Plant love for hate, if I could find The road to yesterday.

CHARGE OF CHRIST AGAINST THE SCRIBES AND PHARISEES.

We, Like the Pharisees, Would Have Been Against Our Lord— Sermon By Rev. Prof. Scott.

The sermon in Convocation Hall yesterday afternoon was preached by Rev. Prof. Scott, M.A., of the theological faculty. The text chosen was "If we had been in the days of our fathers, we would not have been partakers with them in the blood of the prophets." Matt. xxiii; 30.

The passage, said Prof. Scott, was written in the time of a terrible denunciation against certain sects of people and sums up the charges made by Christ against the scribes and Pharisees. The main charge was that they were utterly out of sympathy with the living spirit of God. They revered the past but quite forgot that God was still living and asking for real service. This is still the great fault of countless numbers of persons who believe themselves truly religious. They hated Christ, rejected Him and were now ready to put Him to death. This was their father's spirit over again. Few of Christ's sayings come home to men more sharply than this. It is an easy thing to take the right side in the past but what are we doing now? What are we doing for the cause of God in the great struggle against the mighty. Our lives will be judged by this, and not by our estimate of the past.

Our Lord's rebuke here is not only addressed to the Pharisees but directly to us. We are not so different from our fathers when we rest in our self-complacency. Christ shows us here that our duty is to leave the past and to see the present will of God. It is a solemn warning and we cannot pride ourselves on superiority over the past. Men act much as they did before, though the outside is somewhat changed. If only a prophet should appear, how they would honor him but one did appear and they did not honor Him.

The unable battle of the past is over but another is on; the evils of the present day against which the prophets are fighting. The only service that can avail anything is the present effort. It shows us our duty and points us to new truth. Can we recognize it loyally? Christ is waging a new battle—speaking a present message. We can serve Him now as we would have served Him then. We can serve His Kingdom now, and unless we are prepared to do this we may be assured our influence would have been with the disciples but with the Pharisees. We have crucified the son of God and put Him to an open shame.

Principal Gordon, in continuing, said that the relations between the university and the city, had always been of the most pleasant and cordial, and the authorities of the college did not purpose having these relations cut off. So far as the university was concerned, he was concerned, they must be preserved. He hoped that the relations between the students and police will continue to be cordial. All the damage done by the students would be met. The speaker wished to thank the magistrate for the manner in which he had regarded the case, and the discharge of his duties. The police had been compelled to come into conflict with the students. He stated that the disturbance of Saturday night would not take away the previous good feeling between the police and the students, and that the disturbance of Saturday night would be forgotten, and looked upon as if it never occurred.

A STUNNING SUIT.

Winnipeg Free Press. A witness called, said he was with the accused on Saturday night, after the Alma Mater Society meeting until the prisoner was arrested. He corroborated the evidence of the accused. At Montreal trial, witness noticed that a constable had drawn his baton, and at once thought that there had been trouble. Witness said he saw the constable place the prisoner under arrest. He accused slipped on the sidewalk, and fell. When searched at the police station, the accused had applied, similar to those which were worn at the police, on his person.

The accused was called to the box. To Mr. King, he said that he had on Saturday night attended the meeting of the Alma Mater Society. From the Alma Mater Society, he went to a grocery store on Alfred street, in company with another student. Here they bought some apples, and took them to his friend's boarding house. They remained in this boarding house about fifteen minutes, and then went to the boarding house of another friend, where they remained until about ten o'clock. Afterwards they went to, together with three other students, and none of them were aware of what the students up town had done. When in front of Wonderland, they stopped, and asked some person what had happened, when Constable Mullinger came along, and asked them to move on. Witness slipped on the sidewalk, and became very angry. Witness admitted calling the constable a "big fat lobster."

Witness said that he did not think that the policeman wanted to hold him, but was under the impression that the constable wanted to push him off the sidewalk. A witness called, said he was with the accused on Saturday night, after the Alma Mater Society meeting until the prisoner was arrested. He corroborated the evidence of the accused. At Montreal trial, witness noticed that a constable had drawn his baton, and at once thought that there had been trouble. Witness said he saw the constable place the prisoner under arrest. He accused slipped on the sidewalk, and fell. When searched at the police station, the accused had applied, similar to those which were worn at the police, on his person.

Witness said that he did not think that the policeman wanted to hold him, but was under the impression that the constable wanted to push him off the sidewalk. A witness called, said he was with the accused on Saturday night, after the Alma Mater Society meeting until the prisoner was arrested. He corroborated the evidence of the accused. At Montreal trial, witness noticed that a constable had drawn his baton, and at once thought that there had been trouble. Witness said he saw the constable place the prisoner under arrest. He accused slipped on the sidewalk, and fell. When searched at the police station, the accused had applied, similar to those which were worn at the police, on his person.

Witness said that he did not think that the policeman wanted to hold him, but was under the impression that the constable wanted to push him off the sidewalk. A witness called, said he was with the accused on Saturday night, after the Alma Mater Society meeting until the prisoner was arrested. He corroborated the evidence of the accused. At Montreal trial, witness noticed that a constable had drawn his baton, and at once thought that there had been trouble. Witness said he saw the constable place the prisoner under arrest. He accused slipped on the sidewalk, and fell. When searched at the police station, the accused had applied, similar to those which were worn at the police, on his person.

Witness said that he did not think that the policeman wanted to hold him, but was under the impression that the constable wanted to push him off the sidewalk. A witness called, said he was with the accused on Saturday night, after the Alma Mater Society meeting until the prisoner was arrested. He corroborated the evidence of the accused. At Montreal trial, witness noticed that a constable had drawn his baton, and at once thought that there had been trouble. Witness said he saw the constable place the prisoner under arrest. He accused slipped on the sidewalk, and fell. When searched at the police station, the accused had applied, similar to those which were worn at the police, on his person.

Witness said that he did not think that the policeman wanted to hold him, but was under the impression that the constable wanted to push him off the sidewalk. A witness called, said he was with the accused on Saturday night, after the Alma Mater Society meeting until the prisoner was arrested. He corroborated the evidence of the accused. At Montreal trial, witness noticed that a constable had drawn his baton, and at once thought that there had been trouble. Witness said he saw the constable place the prisoner under arrest. He accused slipped on the sidewalk, and fell. When searched at the police station, the accused had applied, similar to those which were worn at the police, on his person.

Witness said that he did not think that the policeman wanted to hold him, but was under the impression that the constable wanted to push him off the sidewalk. A witness called, said he was with the accused on Saturday night, after the Alma Mater Society meeting until the prisoner was arrested. He corroborated the evidence of the accused. At Montreal trial, witness noticed that a constable had drawn his baton, and at once thought that there had been trouble. Witness said he saw the constable place the prisoner under arrest. He accused slipped on the sidewalk, and fell. When searched at the police station, the accused had applied, similar to those which were worn at the police, on his person.

Witness said that he did not think that the policeman wanted to hold him, but was under the impression that the constable wanted to push him off the sidewalk. A witness called, said he was with the accused on Saturday night, after the Alma Mater Society meeting until the prisoner was arrested. He corroborated the evidence of the accused. At Montreal trial, witness noticed that a constable had drawn his baton, and at once thought that there had been trouble. Witness said he saw the constable place the prisoner under arrest. He accused slipped on the sidewalk, and fell. When searched at the police station, the accused had applied, similar to those which were worn at the police, on his person.

Witness said that he did not think that the policeman wanted to hold him, but was under the impression that the constable wanted to push him off the sidewalk. A witness called, said he was with the accused on Saturday night, after the Alma Mater Society meeting until the prisoner was arrested. He corroborated the evidence of the accused. At Montreal trial, witness noticed that a constable had drawn his baton, and at once thought that there had been trouble. Witness said he saw the constable place the prisoner under arrest. He accused slipped on the sidewalk, and fell. When searched at the police station, the accused had applied, similar to those which were worn at the police, on his person.

Witness said that he did not think that the policeman wanted to hold him, but was under the impression that the constable wanted to push him off the sidewalk. A witness called, said he was with the accused on Saturday night, after the Alma Mater Society meeting until the prisoner was arrested. He corroborated the evidence of the accused. At Montreal trial, witness noticed that a constable had drawn his baton, and at once thought that there had been trouble. Witness said he saw the constable place the prisoner under arrest. He accused slipped on the sidewalk, and fell. When searched at the police station, the accused had applied, similar to those which were worn at the police, on his person.

Witness said that he did not think that the policeman wanted to hold him, but was under the impression that the constable wanted to push him off the sidewalk. A witness called, said he was with the accused on Saturday night, after the Alma Mater Society meeting until the prisoner was arrested. He corroborated the evidence of the accused. At Montreal trial, witness noticed that a constable had drawn his baton, and at once thought that there had been trouble. Witness said he saw the constable place the prisoner under arrest. He accused slipped on the sidewalk, and fell. When searched at the police station, the accused had applied, similar to those which were worn at the police, on his person.

CHARGE OF CHRIST AGAINST THE SCRIBES AND PHARISEES.

We, Like the Pharisees, Would Have Been Against Our Lord— Sermon By Rev. Prof. Scott.

The sermon in Convocation Hall yesterday afternoon was preached by Rev. Prof. Scott, M.A., of the theological faculty. The text chosen was "If we had been in the days of our fathers, we would not have been partakers with them in the blood of the prophets." Matt. xxiii; 30.

The passage, said Prof. Scott, was written in the time of a terrible denunciation against certain sects of people and sums up the charges made by Christ against the scribes and Pharisees. The main charge was that they were utterly out of sympathy with the living spirit of God. They revered the past but quite forgot that God was still living and asking for real service. This is still the great fault of countless numbers of persons who believe themselves truly religious. They hated Christ, rejected Him and were now ready to put Him to death. This was their father's spirit over again. Few of Christ's sayings come home to men more sharply than this. It is an easy thing to take the right side in the past but what are we doing now? What are we doing for the cause of God in the great struggle against the mighty. Our lives will be judged by this, and not by our estimate of the past.

Our Lord's rebuke here is not only addressed to the Pharisees but directly to us. We are not so different from our fathers when we rest in our self-complacency. Christ shows us here that our duty is to leave the past and to see the present will of God. It is a solemn warning and we cannot pride ourselves on superiority over the past. Men act much as they did before, though the outside is somewhat changed. If only a prophet should appear, how they would honor him but one did appear and they did not honor Him.

The unable battle of the past is over but another is on; the evils of the present day against which the prophets are fighting. The only service that can avail anything is the present effort. It shows us our duty and points us to new truth. Can we recognize it loyally? Christ is waging a new battle—speaking a present message. We can serve Him now as we would have served Him then. We can serve His Kingdom now, and unless we are prepared to do this we may be assured our influence would have been with the disciples but with the Pharisees. We have crucified the son of God and put Him to an open shame.

Principal Gordon, in continuing, said that the relations between the university and the city, had always been of the most pleasant and cordial, and the authorities of the college did not purpose having these relations cut off. So far as the university was concerned, he was concerned, they must be preserved. He hoped that the relations between the students and police will continue to be cordial. All the damage done by the students would be met. The speaker wished to thank the magistrate for the manner in which he had regarded the case, and the discharge of his duties. The police had been compelled to come into conflict with the students. He stated that the disturbance of Saturday night would not take away the previous good feeling between the police and the students, and that the disturbance of Saturday night would be forgotten, and looked upon as if it never occurred.

POETICAL SELECTIONS.

The Homing.

Stalin L. Sablin, in The Metropolitan. When my wayward boy came back, With his reckless roving and wrack, Like a spent bird homing.

First I looked, and then I smiled, Then we clung together; He was still my child, my child, Love was still a tether.

Never a word, reproach I said, When my wayward boy came back; Only when he lay in bed, Then (in mine) I wept him.

Kept the wounds upon him wrought— Those long years' beseeching, Those that night his threshold sought, Watchful of his breathing.

Listening, 'twixt times afraid, Lest he be some other— Thanking God, whose mercy made Me to be his mother.

Philosopher Of Light.

Atlanta-Constitution. Asked how the world was going, He never about his head kept him; "Well as could be expected," Was all the word he said.

"There's light enough to lead us From the valley to the mill, An' the rivers sing in jubilee, When the mockingbirds are still."

"The seed we sowed in sorrow Still to the light was led; O' daily prayer was answered; The green fields gave us bread!"

"Not ever in the darkness Of the night we had to roam, For love was at life's windows And lit the lamps of Home."

"And so, we walk contented Along the world's way, The night is ever singing Of the sunlight of the Day!"

Life Is What We Make It. Wilkes-Barre Record. Let's often talk of noble deeds, And rarer of the bad ones, And sing about his happy days, And not about the sad ones. We were not made to fret and sigh, And when perchance may wake it, Bright happiness is standing by— This life is what we make it.

Let's find the sunny side of men, Or be believers in it, A light there is in every soul That takes the pains to win it. Oh there's a slumbering good in all, And we perchance may wake it; Our hands contain the magic wand; This life is what we make it.

The Road To Yesterday.

W. N. Hall. If I could only find the road, The road to yesterday, I'd say my heart of many a toad That burdens it to-day. Recall the words so harsh, unkind, As clear the stars I made the blind, Plant love for hate, if I could find The road to yesterday.

Chase & Sanborn's HIGH GRADE COFFEE. Some people buy Chase & Sanborn's Coffee because of its exquisite flavor—others, because of its strength—some, "just because they like it." All of them, because no other coffee suits them so well.

TELEPHONE 858. DIRECT PRIVATE WIRES. J. P. BICKELL & CO. BANKERS AND BROKERS. Members of Chicago Board of Trade. LAWLOR BUILDING, - TORONTO. Correspondents of FINLEY BARRELL & CO. MEMBERS OF NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE, CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE, AND ALL THE LEADING EXCHANGES. CONTINUOUS COBALT QUOTATIONS. RATES OF COMMISSION. Shares selling under 10c. per share, 1c. Shares selling at 10c. and under 50c., 1c. Shares selling at 50c. and under $1.00, 1c. Shares selling at $1 and under $2, 2c. Etc., etc., etc. Clarence Chambers, - Kingston, Ont. W. Hector H. Hume, Manager.

Cowan's Milk Chocolate Stick, Medallions, Croquettes, Cream Bars etc. are truly delicious. For sale by all dealers from Coast to Coast. THE COWAN CO. LIMITED, TORONTO.

CHOCOLATES Ganong's G. B. Chocolates. Finest variety and largest assortment in the city just arrived. A. J. Rees, 'Phone 58, 166 Princess St.

ENGINEERING DINNER At Queen's Will Have a Number of Eminent Guests. At the regular meeting of the Engineering Society Friday afternoon the dinner committee brought in a report and everything is favorable for this year's dinner to surpass all others. Between 150 and 175 complimentary invitations have been issued. The committee have been very fortunate in their list of speakers. The following is the list: Hon. Geo. P. Graham; minister of railways and canals; Principal Gordon, Queen's University; Dean Dupuis, School of Mining; H. E. T. Haultain, professor of mining, S.P.S., Toronto; Dr. Milton Hersey, chief engineer of C.E.S., Quebec bridge commission; C. H. Mitchell, consulting engineer, Toronto; Eugene Coste, consulting mining engineer, Toronto; W. F. Nickle, M.P.P., Kingston; M. J. Butler, Ottawa; Prof. I. C. Gwillim, School of Mining; Dean Adams, McGill; Dr. Clarke, Queen's; Dean Galbraith, S.P.S., Toronto; M. Y. Williams, '09 science; S. King, '09 science; and representatives from McGill, S.P.S., Toronto, Ottawa and Royal Military College. A good menu card has been provided this year and Mr. Bellson of the Frontenac Club will look after the catering. An agreement has been made and signed with the medical faculty whereby medicine will provide waiters for the science dinner, and the science men will wait on the medicals at their annual dinner. A good faculty song has been written by the science poet, A. W. Scott. It consists of fifteen stanzas and will be sung by Arthur Craig, of St. Andrew's church choir.

A Certainty. Everybody's Magazine. A lady in a southern town was approached by her colored maid. "Well, Jenny?" she asked, seeing that something was in the air. "Please, Miss Mary, might I have the afternoon off three weeks from Wednesday?" Then, noticing an undecided look in her mistress's face, she added hastily—"I want to go to my fiancé's funeral." "Goodness me," answered the lady—"Your fiancé's funeral! Why, you don't know that he's even going to die let alone the date of his funeral. That is something we can't any of us be sure about—when we are going to die." "Yes'm," said the girl doubtfully. Then, with a triumphant note in her voice—"I'm sure about him, Miss, 'cos he's goin' to be hung!"

Fine Tailoring Melton and Beaver Overcoatings. Newest Shades in Ulsterings and Suitings. John Tweddell 131 Princess Street.

WORN BY MISS SNOWDEN OF 'THE LITTLE NEMO CO.' PHOTO BY 'HOLZ' FRANK.

Under this simple coat of white broadcloth, with revers facings of satin is worn a little waistcoat of white and black striped velvet. The waistcoat has the high lacy collar which fits closely about the throat, giving the bulky look considered desirable just now. These little waistcoats are interlined with chambray and are practical for cold weather wear. The hat, a splendid model, is of white satin, lined underneath with black and trimmed with white ostrich egrettes.