STORY OF A CONVICT REGARDING PENITENTIARY INCIDENT.

James Young Found Guilty of Assaulting Guard McDonald—Six Months Was Added to His Term.

At the court of general session this morning a charge of assault was heard against James Young, a convict in the penitentiary, for striking William McDonald, a guard.

The prisoner pleaded not guilty to striking William McDonald on October 28th last. When asked if he had counsel, he said he had not, but said he wanted one appointed for him.

The following jury were sworn in: David G. Scott, Thomas Root, William L. Richardson, John Caruthers, James Cornelius, Robert Carr, D. W. Clark, Hugh Day, Charles Young, Michael Flood, Wilbur Grass and Thomas Hickey.

William McDonald was the first witness called. In reply to Mr. Whiting, witness said he was on duty in the stone shed on October 28th, where upward of ninety men were employed.

The prisoner said he did not want to go on the stand, but would like to say a few words to the jury. "Gentlemen of the jury," said the prisoner, "on October 26th last, election night, I was reported with some others for yelling with the rest of the prisoners in my cell.

After hearing this the judge made a short address to the jury and they retired. Ten minutes after they brought in a verdict of guilty with a strong recommendation for mercy.

The judge said that he had spent most of his life behind prison bars and would likely spend all of it there if he did not change his ways.

THE CHRISTMAS WHIG A FINE LARGE EDITION ON SATURDAY.

Printed in Colors and Filled With the Best of Reading, It Will Be Unusually Attractive—Watch For It Saturday.

On Saturday next, the 12th inst., the Christmas number of the Whig will be issued.

For some years this extra edition has been published as each holiday season rolled around, and its popularity has increased with the years.

Not the least interesting of the subject matter is the story of the growth of the British Whig, told in both picture and story.

We would especially call the attention of our readers to the advertisements appearing in this holiday number.

After hearing the evidence the judge gave a verdict for the plaintiff. The next case on the blotter was Craig vs. Mallet.

THE COUNTY COURT THE CASES HEARD BY JUDGE PRICE.

Two Actions For Possession of Land—J. L. Whiting and a Female Witness Debated the Question of Twins.

The regular sittings of the county court and court of general sessions opened at the court house on Tuesday afternoon before Judge Price.

In addressing the grand jury, his honor said that there was only one case to occupy their attention at this sitting, but it was a serious one, bearing a case of assault on a guard by a prisoner in the penitentiary.

The first case called was Johnson vs. Johnson. J. L. Whiting appeared for the plaintiff and J. McDonald Mowat for the defendant.

Under cross-examination by Mr. Whiting an interesting passage occurred between the lawyer and the witness, Mrs. Henry Johnson, wife of defendant, who was confronted with her evidence taken at the time of examination for discovery.

"None of your business," replied Mrs. Johnson, in an indignant tone. "None of your business," replied counsel. "What is a year after?"

After hearing the evidence the judge gave a verdict for the plaintiff. The next case on the blotter was Craig vs. Mallet.
