"The sixtieth year's business of the Company--

This Company has six prominent business men on the Board of Directors representing the policyholders, and by reason of its strong reserves will not be obliged to use profits in future for purpose of increasing the reserve fund, and in the transition to its high reserve did not pass over a division of profits to its policyholders.

THE CANADA LIFE, since inception, has paid or credited to its policyholders $115.00 for every hundred paid by them.

A few illustrations of profits paid to Kingston policyholders:

THE OLD QUINQUENNIAL POLICY has always been popular with the insuring public—the new will be more popular, as the assured has the option of using the profits each 5 years either by taking cash or reduction of premium the succeeding five years, or by taking a bonus addition, which if left with the Company increases at not less than 3 per cent. Compound Interest, and every policy issued becomes an Endowment as soon as the profits plus 3 per cent. plus the reserve equals the face of the policy.

To have such results you must have "Canada Life Policies."
