

THE COMMON APPLE A GREAT SOURCE OF HEALTH

The Juice of the Ordinary Apple is One of the Best Things in the World For Keeping the Blood Pure.

Few people there are but enjoy a ripe, juicy apple. But how many realize that it is a medicine as well as a treat? Apple juice has a very marked effect on the kidneys, increasing their power to throw off the waste products of the body, called urea, and thus prevent Rheumatism, Sciatica, Neuralgia, and similar troubles that come from poisoned blood. Similarly, other fruits stimulate the action of the liver and bowels—others of the skin. Combined, they keep the blood pure—the body clean and healthy. To get this effect, however, one must eat a great deal of fruit, or better, eat a little fruit and take "Fruit-a-tives."

"Fruit-a-tives" are tablets in which the juices of ripe fruits, with their medicinal value intensified, are combined with valuable tonics. They act directly on Bowels, Kidneys and Skin and put them in perfect condition—thus ensuring the thorough elimination of all waste matter and poisons from the body. Trial box 25c. Regular size 50c—6 boxes for $2.50. Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

IN FORT HENRY Was a Soldier in the Patriot's War.

GEORGE H. KIMBALL

HAD A MOST INTERESTING CAREER.

Taken Captive By British—Joined in Movement to Free Canada and Was Twice Wounded in Battle of the Windmill.

Watertown N.Y., Times. In the person of George H. Kimball, who died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. William Knox, in the town of Brownville, on Thursday, aged eighty-nine years, eight months and twelve days, passes one of the last, if not the last of the commissioned officers who served in the Patriot war in the late thirties, when patriots from the United States endeavored to throw the yoke of British rule from Canada. Mr. Kimball's career was romantic in the extreme and he was twice wounded in the famous battle of the Windmill, the last stand of the patriots.

At the breaking out of the Patriot war in 1837, Mr. Kimball interested himself in the cause and at the battle of the Windmill had a commission as second lieutenant, signed by William Lyon McKenzie, one of the leaders of the rebellion. William Johnson was the dominant spirit in the rebellion on the American side and in February, 1838, Mr. Kimball took a force of 140 men to Clayton to meet Johnson, an attack on Kingston being contemplated. The force was equipped with guns, taken partly from the Watertown arsenal. The expedition ended ingloriously. The forces went to Hickory Island for drill, leaving the arms and ammunition at Clayton. The sheriff of Jefferson county, Abner Baker, seized the equipment and brought it back to Watertown.

When it seemed assured that the people in the provinces of Canada would rise and join forces with the patriots from the states, Mr. Kimball with a force of 100 men assembled at Sackets Harbor in November, 1838, to take passage down the St. Lawrence river in the ship United States. They were not allowed to board the ship and marched to Clayton, where they boarded the Charlotte and landed a council of war took place which Mr. Kimball attended, and it was decided to attack Prescott, aided by a large force which was expected to assemble at Ogdensburg, composed of citizens from the United States and patriots from Canada. On arriving at Prescott the schooner was towed to the dock. An alarm was made by a sentinel, and the boats, which were not securely fastened, drifted down stream. The one bearing Mr. Kimball stuck on a sand bar and remained there for hours. Mr. Kimball and a party of men took the ship's yawl and rowed to Ogdensburg, where they found a scow with some artillery, small arms and provisions. The scow was run alongside the stranded schooner and a small body of men boarded her and dropped down to Windmill Point, where possession was taken of the stone windmill and sent by houses, which were strongly fortified. Only 200 men were in the little garrison, but they were determined and imbued by the bravery of Mr. Kimball.

On the 14th of November the British regulars came from Prescott and attacked the garrison, losing many men in the attempt. An opportunity was given the men to leave for Ogdensburg, but only half a dozen accepted the offer. In the second assault the regulars were reinforced by 1,200 militia. In speaking of the night some time ago, Mr. Kimball said: "One ammunition covey out and we waited for the hand to hand conflict. The British soldiers had bayonets and we had none, but we had to meet them. I saw a comrade stabbed through the body after he had fallen on the floor and another man shot down after he had stopped fighting. I came out of the battle with a bullet through the knee and a bayonet stab through the thigh. We were all taken to Kingston and confined in the fort. I was sent to the hospital and kindly treated. While a prisoner at Kingston I had an experience which has always given me food for thought. Newspaper men are pretty good fellows. I used tobacco in those days and of course was deprived of it in prison. One day a party of gentlemen came to the fort to see us. While they were there I was turning my pockets inside out to get a scrap of the weed. One of the men asked me what I was looking for and I told him. He took a cigar out of his pocket, handed it to me and we got into conversation. I spoke very frankly of my connection with the patriot movement on this side and gave an honest statement of how myself and my companions happened to be in it. Without telling who he was he took my name and promised to see me again. Next day he was back and brought a supply of tobacco. One day he handed me a copy of the Kingston Chronicle and I was surprised to see my story of the war in print. He then told me he was the editor of the paper. We became very good friends and he visited me often, not forgetting to bring me a supply of tobacco. One day he came in with a party of men, among whom were Col. McDonnell, Sir Allan McNab and other Canadian officers. Some one in the party proposed that they select a man from among the prisoners and make an effort to bring me a supply of tobacco. This was agreed to and the Kingston editor selected me. In a few days we were notified that their efforts were successful and we could go home. There were 18 of us in the party thus selected, and we were joined by as many more who had been equally lucky through another channel. The whole party came back together. We were received for by the sheriff of Jefferson county at Cape Vincent, and that ended our connection with the Patriot war to free Canada."

THE SPORT REVIEW. The Longboat Victory Still a Topic of Interest. The Maple Leafs defeated Winnipeg in the Winnipeg professional league by 13 to 8. An Ottawa paper says that "Marley" Walsh will be the best goal-getter in the E.C.H.A. Dorando has accepted an offer of $10,000 for a three-cornered Marathon race at Los Angeles. The New York yellow journals had Longboat's Indian girl and some chiefs present in buckskins, blankets and war paint. "Tommy" Burns has posted $5,000 that he will defeat Johnson and a like sum that Johnson will not stop him in twelve rounds. London Advertiser: Probably Longboat owed his victory last night more to his Indian ancestry than to what "civilization" and white men have done for him. A New York William Hoppe, the billiardist, announces that he has deposited with John Kelly $1,000 as a forfeit or side bet for a billiard match with George Sutton. Secretary Hewitt reports a kick or two on the O.H.A. groupings, but nothing alarming. Pictou wants Cobourg in with them but the latter preferred to stay with Port Hope. There is trouble in the ranks of Brockville's city hockey league owing to the action of the executive in changing from the O.H.A. rules to the rules of the E.C.H.A., which will govern this season's schedule. The Catholic Amateur Athletic association, which won the championship last winter, has withdrawn on the ground of being a purely amateur organization, and not desirous of mixing with professionals. Lou Marsh, of Toronto, who handled Longboat in the big race and knows what he is talking about, says this about the New York newspapers: Longboat was not interviewed by a single newspaper man after the race, yet every paper came out with stories of the race purporting to be by the Indian's own lips. Dorando wore the same red pants he wore in England and when he beat Hayes. The Indian, superstitious, refused to wear a new suit, but ran in his old Irish-Canadian jersey, with its green maple leaf and orange harp. "I never lost in my Irish clothes," he said, and his handlers had to humor him. The New York Giants were the greatest sufferers in the way of disciplined baseball players last season. In the National league all told there were ninety-four removals from games, sixteen suspensions and one fine. Of this number the Giants drew twenty-two removals; one fine and three suspensions. Boston was close behind, with twenty-one removals, one fine and three suspensions. Flanagan states that Stratton will be sent to come to Longboat's terms, and that is for a race twenty miles or over. He had offered the Englishman three races at twenty, ten and fifteen miles before the race at New York with Dorando. He says that he is not going to rush the Indian into matches, now that he is at the top of the heap, where he belongs. "They are coming to us now, and they'll have to listen to our wants." Toronto Star: Longboat has a trainer in a member of his own race, who holds a good position in Toronto—an Indian who has interfered with Longboat's affairs many times. When he heard the Indian was to marry Miss Maracle this knacker wrote a letter to her brother painting the Indian in the blackest colors, and advising him to keep his sister out of a marriage with the runner. This letter was sent to Longboat by the recipient. It worried Tom. He could not sleep. He confided in Tom Flanagan. He wired for her to come on immediately and she did. She and Tommy talked it over and she assured Tom that "every knock was a boost." Tom, contented, went back to training, and was as happy as a lark, but he says he'll punch this chap in the jaw the first time he lays eyes on him.

STYLISH MITRED MINK COAT

WORN BY MISS BEUTHLE IN 'THE BOYS AND BETTY'

A small fortune is represented in this magnificent garment, in which scores of little animal skins are matched in a most effective manner. The marvelously clever fur work is particularly noticeable at the bottom of the coat, where the skins are arranged to give a graceful, rounded effect. The big, multi-accompanying this garment shows the fancy just now for a multitude of little tails, too many being scarcely possible, according to this year's fads.

PITH OF THE NEWS.

The Very Latest Culled From All Over The World. Alfred Baker was found dead in bed at Peterboro. A rising against all foreigners is threatened at Canton, China. The Montreal Terminal railway is asking permission to build an elevated railway in Montreal. The British parliament completed the session's business on Saturday and will be prorogued for two days. Two Chinese laundrymen were murdered at Winnipeg, and the crime is attributed to high-binders. It is announced in official circles that the Quebec legislature will be called to meet on January 27th. A detachment of Royal Canadian Engineers has been ordered from Wolsley Barracks, London, to Toronto. The reported sale of the Montreal Witness to W. R. Hoarst, of the American, New York, is emphatically denied by Mr. Dougan. Charles Kreier, an Italian, traveling with his wife and two children from Peterboro, Sask., to Virginia, was murdered and robbed near Graham, Va. At Philadelphia, James Curren, aged eighteen years, was killed in a boxing bout with Benjamin Barnett, aged seventeen years, at the Broadway Athletic Club. The Duke of Westminster has informed aged men and women drawing pensions from his estate that these pensions will be discontinued at the end of the present year. The International Harvester company has informed the United States committee, now investigating the tariff question, that they no longer need the tariff on farm machinery. Some further official figures have been given out, showing that the total value of the western grain yield this year is $125,000,000, about $30,000,000 in excess of the value of any previous years. The Provincial Steel company, with headquarters at Cobourg, has been incorporated. The provisional directors are: Robert Heath, Bidolph Grange, Staffordshire; F. W. Cook, Grange, Philadelphia; Rev. William Beattie, N. F. Macphail and W. L. Allen, Cobourg.

Township Politics.

There is likely to be some excitement at the municipal elections in the Front of Leeds and Lansdowne. In certain quarters there appears to be a feeling that this year's council has been extravagant in its operations, and this feeling will likely develop some opposition to those who seek reelection. Noah Peck, reeve, will retire, it is expected, and Major Bowen, deputy, is looking to step into the chair. There may be opposition to this plan, as it is said Norman Webster will also try for the position. Oscar Landon has announced himself a candidate for the deputy-reveeship against all comers. Messrs. Corner and Webb will be in the field again for election as councillors.

ECZEMA

CUROL is the Reliable Remedy for this Most Tormenting and Irritating Skin Disease.

In CUROL we have the embodiment of the best healing properties known to the medical world. CUROL goes to the root of the difficulty with a determination which is simply marvelous. It first eradicates every particle of disease and foreign matter. Having accomplished this, the healing is often only a matter of days. The healing done by CUROL is well done, for it positively will not heal until the wound is clean and free from impurities. Not so with salves containing Zinc, Mercury, Lead, etc. These poisonous lives may heal quickly, but do a great deal of damage by driving the impurities into the body, causing very serious consequences. You should shun such, and use only a salve free from these harmful minerals. Such a salve is CUROL. There is a total absence in CUROL of rapid, fatty substances, so often found in cheap ointments, and does not clog, or become hard. It is immediately absorbed by the skin, and thus penetrates to the seat of the disease. This fact alone makes CUROL popular. It is pure, and we have no hesitation in saying the best 25 cent salve on the market. We ask you to prove this statement by sending coupon for a free sample.
