WHAT ENGLISHMAN SAW

COCKNEY IN CANADA AND CAUSE OF FAILURE.

Emigrants From London Too Particular About Their Employment—What An Englishman Tells His Countrymen.

London, Jan. 9.—The Englishman in Canada, but more especially the Londoner in Canada, continues to be a faithful source of discussion in this country. This has reference to the question of the unemployed and the difficulty of many immigrants in securing work of any kind in Canada. The subject had somewhat died out, but was recently revived by the letter of an Englishman who had been in Canada and described his own observations in Toronto.

This party observed that the Londoner out of work in Canada was not willing to adapt himself but was inclined to be fastidious about what he undertook in the way of work to such an extent that Canadian employers of labor lost all sympathy for them and finally gave them a wide berth. According to the writer in the Times, the Englishman in a broad sense did not come under this general condemnation; it was the Londoner who was the prize offender. There are exceptions as have been pointed out by other correspondents of the Times. For instance, John Smith, a Canadian emigration official in London, writes:

"My lengthy residence in that dominion and personal contact with many thousands of Britons, official and personal, lead me to suggest that in one paragraph your correspondent is not quite correct. He says 'The Englishman who succeeds is hardly ever a Londoner; the Englishman who fails completely is almost always a Londoner.' If this has reference to Londoners going on farms he is perhaps not so very astray, because men, whether from London or any other part, whose opportunities are limited in the home country, who wish to remain within the British empire, but who will not be afraid of taking off their coats, bending their backs, soiling their hands and working cheerfully."

BECOME BRITISH TERRITORY.

France May Lose Its Little Colony in Gull.

London, Jan. 9.—The announcement received here from St. Pierre, Miquelon, that the French colony wants to separate itself from France on account of its dissatisfaction over the school question, has aroused some interest here as to the future political fate of the island. There are three things the Miquelon people can do, either through their lot with Newfoundland, Canada or the United States. The latest proposition is from the States. A London paper discussing the matter says:

"It is an ill wind that blows nobody any good, and it seems to us that the ill wind that is afflicting the French Islands off Newfoundland ought to blow good to the ancient colony. The trouble in the islands is caused by that old cause of strife, the education question. Nine-tenths of the population of the island is Roman Catholic, and the expulsion of the Christian Brothers under the church separation bill in 1904 was bitterly resented. The bitterness has not been cured by time and so threatening has the attitude of the population lately become that a French warship has arrived and deposited a garrison on the island. The islanders look across the strip of sea that separates them from Newfoundland where they see each denomination with its own schools, and their anger to maintain the right to maintain their own free school is increased. A further grievance is that the prosperity of the island has been declining for years, owing to the bad fisheries, the alleged neglect of France, the abandonment of the Newfoundland treaty here, under the Anglo-French

THE TRIAL OF DINIZULU THE ZULU CHIEF AND SOME OF HIS ADVOCATES.

The trial of Dinizulu, Cetewaye's son, for sedition began at Greytown, late in November, after being postponed for many months on account of the chief's illness. The trial is being followed with great interest in South Africa and is expected to last some time. Hundreds of witnesses have been called on both sides. The figures in the illustration, reading from left to right are—The Hon. W. P. Schreiner (Dinizulu's leading Counsel) Eugene Renaud (Counsel Dinizulu), R. P. Samuelson (Counsel) and Miss Colenso who has warmly expounded the cause of the Zulu chief.

STRENGTH FOR WEAK GIRLS.

Can Be Had Through Rich Blood By Pink Pills.

There comes a time in the life of almost every girl when sickness attacks her. The strain upon her blood supply is too great, and there comes headache and backache, loss of appetite, attacks of dizziness and heart palpitation, and a general tendency to a decline. The only thing that can promptly and speedily cure these troubles is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. This is the only medicine that actually makes new, rich, red blood, and a plentiful supply of rich blood is the one thing needed to maintain the health of growing girls and women of mature years. The truth of this statement is proved in the case of Miss Esther E. Sproule, Teanumville, N.S., who says: "At the age of sixteen years I left my country home to attend high school. The close confinement and long hours of study nearly broke me down. My blood supply seemed to be deficient, and I grew pale and depressed. I was dizzy nearly all the time, and pimples broke out on my face. I was altogether in a miserable condition and it seemed impossible for me to continue my studies unless I found a speedy cure. I tried several medicines prescribed by the doctor, but they proved useless. My mother urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I finally consented to do so. I had hardly finished the second box before a change for the better took place, and the use of a few boxes more fully restored my health, and I have since been well and strong. I feel that I cannot say too much in favor of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I strongly recommend them to other ailing girls."

You can get these pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

LATEST ENGLISH CRAZE.

It is a New Game Called Pop-In-Taw.

London, Jan. 9.—England is in the throes of a new game craze and Pop-In-Taw is its name. The game is played by four persons. Each has a flat, wooden span and five hollow steel balls. In front of each player is placed a cone with a hole at top, into which a ball can be dropped. The four players start together, and the game is to pick up the balls with a spade as one picks up a tennis ball with a racket, balance them, and drop them into the cone. The player who first gets the five balls into his cone wins the game. There is a knack in picking up the balls, which a lawn tennis player soon discovers. Simple, though it is, the attraction of Pop-In-Taw is irresistible. Demonstrations in large shops all over the country. In many of the west end shopping establishments tables have been set apart where novices may practice the game. C. H. Parker, the inventor of the game, is in Paris introducing Pop-In-Taw to novelty loving Parisians. His general manager said yesterday: "We are selling 10,000 sets every day. The only difficulty is to turn them out fast enough. Pop-In-Taw will out-distance Ping Pong in popularity. The name has puzzled many Pop-In-Taw enthusiasts. Pop in requires no explanation; Taw is a north country word for marbles."

MANY DON'T KNOW

HEART AFFECTED. More People than Aware of It Have Heart Disease.

"If examinations were made of everyone, people would be surprised at the number of persons walking about suffering from heart disease." This startling statement was made by a doctor at a recent inquest. "I should not like to say that heart disease is as common as this would imply," said the expert, "but I am sure that the number of persons going about with weak hearts must be very large."

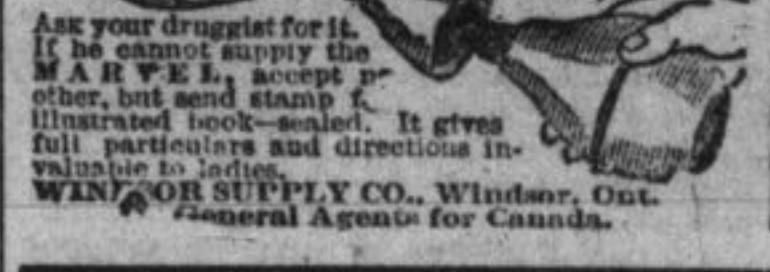

"Hundreds of people go about their daily work on the verge of death, and yet do not know it. It is only when the shock comes that kills them that the unsuspected weakness of the heart is made apparent."

"But undoubtedly heart weakness, not disease, is more prevalent nowadays. I should think that the stress of living, the wear and rush of modern business life, have a lot to do with heart trouble."

There is no doubt but that this is correct, and we would strongly advise any one suffering in any way from heart trouble to try a course of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. Price 50 cts. per box or 3 boxes for $1.25, at all dealers or will be mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

FLUTTERING OF THE HEART.

Mrs. G. M. White, Willamstown, N.E., writes: "I was troubled with weak spine and fluttering of the heart. I was so bad I could scarcely lie down. I procured a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and they helped me so much I got another box and it has made a final cure. I cannot speak too highly of them. I think they are worth their weight in gold."

Thought Britain Could Not Export Direct to Canada.

London, Jan. 9.—Ministerial ignorance about Canada has once more been brought to notice and this time Lloyd-George, chancellor of the exchequer, is the offender. A C. Morris, in a letter to the Times, shows him up in the following manner:

"After reading Lloyd-George's extraordinary speech in Liverpool, a performance that one associates with the Marble Arch, but not with a cabinet minister, one is almost tempted to look for some excuse, and perhaps the most charitable suggestion would be that the hot atmosphere consequent on the closing of the windows to keep out these all-pervading feminine appeals, was responsible for so much 'hot air.'"

"With the bewildering medley of 'facts,' with the quotations or rather misquotations from Mr. Wyndham, I have no doubt others will deal; I can only say that such a speech is a perfect God-send to candidates. But before Lloyd-George starts, in a very superior manner, lecturing Mr. Wyndham on trade questions, he would do well himself to call at the office and get a few pamphlets," for instance:

"He (Mr. Wyndham) never told them that for five months it was because of the St. Lawrence was frozen, that we cannot export direct to Canada. He gave them to his audience of 6,000 people as if they were the facts of the case. He did not know these are some figures somebody gave him, but he really owes an apology to his audience." (Cheers.)

"So, does Lloyd-George, and by sending it up to Liverpool in the same envelope he would save a penny. Why, pray, cannot we export direct to Canada? We can, of course, and do all the year around. Has Lloyd-George never heard of St. John, New Brunswick, or Halifax, Nova Scotia?"

"And yet, was he not once president of the board of trade, and, therefore, minister responsible for our overseas commerce?"

"Nothing, as I found out during a six years' residence in Canada, is so frequently charged by Canadians against our ministers as their abysmal ignorance of Canada and the things Canadian, and Mr. Lloyd-George, in his latest effort, only gives further substance to this charge."

"Canada may probably want, and certainly deserves, an apology, too."

STATE AIDED EMIGRATION.

Only Salvation of the English Unemployed.

London, Jan. 9.—A plea for state-aided emigration to Canada is made in a London paper by a party signing himself "Britisher." He says: "I am fully convinced that the only hope of industrial salvation for the workers of these islands lies in the settlement of our surplus working population in the overseas states, and in some form of fiscal reform. Why cannot our government arrange that all able families who are willing to make new homes overseas shall be allowed as a matter of right the chance to do so? Surely the empire, as well as the mother country, and the individuals, would all benefit in the long run. I for one would jump at the chance to carve out a future for my boys and girls. But I would ask, How am I to get them there without assistance. I contend, sir, my boys and girls would be more welcome in Australia and Canada than foreigners, but you see, I have never started my family to save money, and hence I have no money saved. I trust some able pen than mine will take this matter up, and help to bring about a practical system of state organized emigration."
