ST. GEORGES DEFEATED

BY THE JUNIOR 14TH REGIMENT TEAM.

The Score Was 9 to 4—Team Work Was Poor—Brouse, of the 14th Scored the Last Five Goals, in Ten Minutes.

The first game of the Junior O. H. A. series was played at the covered rink on Friday evening between the 14th and St. Georges. The ice was in perfect condition...

In practice before the game Hyland was hit over the eye with the puck looking after a nasty goal. It caused him much trouble through the game...

In the first half the Saints set the pace, and charged the soldiers' goal, but men were there for the purpose of looking after just such chances...

When the soldiers started to fire a volley of bull's eyes, the Saints were lost, and when Brouse at last found his pace and started to work no one could touch him.

DEAD ON ROADSIDE SUNDAY SERVICES

NIMO CURTIS FOUND FROZEN TO DEATH.

Was Discovered Early Saturday Morning, Lying in the Snow With Horse and Cutter Close By—He Was a Bartender in City.

To be found frozen to death, lying on the roadside, within a very short distance of his home, was the sad fate of Nimo Curtis, employed as a bartender at the Brunswick hotel, Ontario street, kept by Louis Langhart.

Mr. Curtis, who was about thirty-five years of age, had not been working the past week, being on a short vacation. He was in the city on Friday, and left in the evening to drive out to his home. This appears to have been the last known of his whereabouts, until he was found on the roadside by Mr. Mellow.

COMMAND IS OVER.

The 14th P.W.O. Rifles Commandant Retires.

Lieut.-Col. R. E. Kent, whose command of the 14th Regiment, P.W.O. Rifles, expires on Monday, has served twenty-eight years in the Canadian militia. On September 5th, 1877, he entered the Royal Military College for a military training.

Col. Kent will be gazetted to the command of the 7th Infantry Brigade, which includes the 14th, 46th, 47th, 49th and 57th Regiments, so that he still remains in the service.

You are invited to see Nordheimer pianos on view in Kirkpatrick's Art Gallery, 159 Princess street. Also Canadian representatives for Steinway & Son's, New York. Catalogues on application.

Queen's will have these preachers for coming Sunday services: Jan. 24—Rev. Dr. Ramsay, Ottawa. Jan. 31—Prof. S. Matthews, D.D., Dean of Divinity School, University of Chicago.

"San Toy" Will Be on the Board's To-Night.

There are a number of well-known New York favorites in the Imperial Opera company which comes to the Grand to-night, Chief among these are: "San Toy," Collins, Agnes Caimon; "Henry Girard," Violet Callie and Hallen Mostyn. Collins became a Broadway favorite several seasons ago when he succeeded William Norris as star in "The Country Girl," and later James T. Powers in "San Toy."

There is no funnier comedian than he in America. In the four and a half months' run which this company enjoyed at the Royal Alexandra theatre, Toronto, he endeared himself to the patrons of that theatre and was one of the most popular comedians ever in that city. Henry Girard, the clever baritone, is the composer of "The Alaska," which was the rage in the western states last season. He is writing scores at present for two musical pieces which are to be produced in New York this spring. One of them is for Frank Daniels, Mr. Girard has been seen in leading roles in comic opera for many years and his magnificent voice has won him success everywhere he has appeared. He became famous as leading man for Miss Lulu Glaser, in her all-star production of "Dolly Varden." Hallen Mostyn has for years sung roles of the oriental potentate type and was starred in "Wang," taking the place of DeWolfe Hopper. As Yen-How in "San Toy," he is decidedly in his element. Agnes Caimon-Brown is a clever prima donna.

AN OYSTER SUPPER A BIG EVENT IN SYDENHAM ON WEDNESDAY.

The Night Was Fine and the Attendance Was Very Large—The Good Work Done By the Order.

Wednesday night, Sydenham lodge of the A.O.U.W., held its annual oyster supper and tea in Wesley hall. The night was a fine one, and the crowd was large. The Ladies' Aid has a great reputation for fine cooking of cakes and pies, and sustained it handsomely.

After supper Dr. Tovei took the chair and introduced the two speakers of the evening, District Deputy Longmore and General Organizer Chater, who spoke of the good work done by the order throughout the land, and paved the way for many new additions to the local lodge. The programme was enlivened by several very excellent recitations from Miss Eva Griffith, a finished elocutionist of the best schools, including Boston.

The following officers were publicly installed by District Deputy Longmore, and General Organizer Chater: P.M.W., Adam Davy; M.W., Charles Truscott; foreman, Bert. Sims; overseer, Frederick Peters; financier, Harvey MacNamara; recorder, Wesley Davis; treasurer, Clifton Knapp; guide, William H. Davey; inside watch, J. S. Pratt; outside watch, Frederick Truscott. Sydenham lodge is flourishing at the present time, has about 100 members, and always money in the treasury.
