MULOCK GIVES HIS JUDGMENT

In the Case of the North American Telegraph Co., vs. Bay of Quinte Railway-Award to Defendants.

Chief Justice Mulock has given judgment in the case tried here of the North American Telegraph Co. vs. hay of Quinto Railway Co. In this action, plaintiffs claim under the terms of two agreements the right to free transportation by all the ordinary passenger trains running over defendants' railway, for their inspectors, nemen and repairers, when travelling for any purposes whatsoever, and they allege that such transportation was refused them, whereby they were obliged to pass a large sum of money for railway fares for these employees, and this action is brought for its recovery. The defendant company denied the plaintiffs' right to such unlimited transportation, and admit limited right, which, they say, they were at all times ready and willing to grant, and they counter-claim for certain relief. The judgment reads : 4

In my opinion, the words "construction and maintenance," qualify the words, "inspectors, linemen and repairers," and also the words, "their olls and stores." If such is not the legal interpretation of the clause, then it would provide two different kinds | The plaintiffs' claim is dismissed, with auteed; charges moderate. of free transportation, namely, limited transportation for the men ter-claim allowed, and items (c) and and limited transportation for the (d) disallowed. Owing to the divided tools and stores. It does not, I think, success in respect of the counter-claim. admit of such interpretation. The only loo gosts of the counter-claim Napanee, Mabee, 15; Prescott, Me- object of such free transportation is clearly stated, namely, construction and maintenance. I think the defendants were not bound to furnish unlimited passes, as demanded by the plaintiffs, but only such free transportation as was reasonably necessary in connection with the plaintiffs' work of construction and maintenance. There is no evidence to show that the fares paid and here sucd for were for trips in respect of which the plaintiffs are entitled to free carriage for their employees. For this reason alone the action must fail. But, even if this were shown, are there any circumstances in this case which would entitle the plaintiffs to succeed in an action > in substance the nature of this act-For reasons stated, I am of opinion that the plaintiffs are not entitled to recover the moneys in question, and that their action fails. As to the counter-claim: As to item (a), damages because of failure on the part of the plaintiffs to keep their telegraph lines in working order, as proved by the evidence, for three years. I reward defendants $900. As to item (b) namely, damages because of plaintiffs not erecting and maintaining a tele graph line between Tweed and Bannockburn. I find the defendants are entitled to $7,736.24 damages. On payment of this amount, the line built by
