SCRAMBLE FOR SEAT

NEW SCOTTISH PEER TO RULE IN CANADA.

John Sinclair to Succeed Earl Grey As Dominion's Governor General.

Edinburgh, Feb. 20.—Mr. Sinclair, who now goes to the House of Lords, will occupy the position of secretary for Scotland only temporarily. His peerage is but a preliminary to his appointment as governor-general of Canada, in succession to Earl Grey, who retires at the end of this year.

RIGHT HON. JOHN SINCLAIR.

The bye-election in Forfarshire, which Mr. Sinclair represents in the House of Commons, has for some time been anticipated, and the chief Scottish liberal agent, A. D. Wood, in London last week, presumably in consultation with the prime minister. The seat is by no means so safe, as the minority of 3,519 at the last election, apparently shows. It is recognized by the liberal organizers that the majority was an exceptional one, not only on it not being repeated, but there is fear that it may diminish almost to vanishing point.

Much will depend on the candidate chosen. The master of Elibank, the Scottish liberal whip, makes no secret of the extreme difficulty of finding an eligible Scotsman to come forward as a liberal candidate, and the Scottish electors are getting tired of the fatigues of Englishmen on the Scottish electorate.

The unionists are admittedly much better prepared for the fight than their opponents. Their candidate, R. L. Blackburn, K.C., has been in the field for over a year, and has made himself well acquainted with the constituency, which is a wide and scattered one and cannot adequately be covered in a month's campaign. Mr. Blackburn is a brother-in-law of Lord Strathcona, one of the largest and most influential landowners in the county.

Nowadays where there's a will there seems to be a way to break it.

PRAYED FOR IDEAL HUSBAND.

Got a Mere Man—Court Promptly Gives Divorce.

Paris, Feb. 20.—A curious divorce case came before the tribunal of the Seine recently, in which the judge granted freedom to the husband because his wife demanded too many good qualities in one man. She was a teacher of French, with a literary spirit and a sentimental soul. He was the composer of several little songs and played a flute in a Paris music hall. She fancied that a man who could play trills like a nightingale would be the Romeo she had imagined. After two days of marriage she lost her affections, and so did he, especially after he found the following extraordinary litany written in her hand:

Saint Mary, let me marry.
Saint Privat, let him be a soldier.
Saint Augustine, or a doctor.
Saint Anatole, or a schoolmaster.
Saint Benjamin, of his assistant.
Saint Nicholas, don't forget me.
Saint Blaise, I shall be pleased.
Saint Simeon, I am the eldest.
Saint Colette, don't let my younger sister marry first.
Saint Simon, I should like him to be fat.
Saint Amateur, I will take him whatever his complexion.
Saint Fabian, let him have a bit of money.
Saint Proximus, let him have a good position.
Saint Angela, let him be faithful.
Saint Leander, let him be tender.
Saint Apollinaris, let him be good tempered.
Saint Gregory, don't let him drink.
Saint Thomas, don't let him smoke.
Saint Philomena, let me be the master.
Saint Madeline, don't put it off to next year.
Saint Ferdinand, I have waited so long.
Saint Eucharis, let me have him this winter.

UNEXPECTED OWNERSHIP.

Does Hecate Strait Belong to Canada.

Vancouver, Feb. 20.—Vancouver fishery interests were surprised at the receipt of a letter by the secretary of the board of trade from Charles M. Hayes, president of the Grand Trunk, relative to the protection of the fisheries of the British Columbia coast, especially those north and west of Prince Rupert.

The dominion government is now building a vessel, and proposes to rent another, providing the protection called for. The minister of marine also states that "it is now conceded that Hecate Strait, as well as Dixon Entrance, belongs to Canada."

The board of trade has wired Ottawa to obtain confirmation of the latter statement, for its enforcement means a radical change in the present policy and instructions of the Kestral and other cutters of fishery protection service. If Canada enforces this proposition scores of halibut fishing schooners now operating from Seattle and other American ports will be excluded from the fishery grounds.

WILL DRIFT FOR YEARS

AMUNDSEN INTENDS VISITING FROZEN NORTH.

Will Voyage in the Old Fram, Which Will Be Equipped For Seven Years' Stay in Regions of the Pole.

London, Feb. 20.—Roald Amundsen, the famous polar explorer, calmly announced to a meeting of the Royal Geographical Society last night at Burlington House his determination to undertake a five years' drift across the polar sea.

The announcement, needless to say, was enthusiastically received, and Mr. Amundsen was warmly congratulated. He left his home bound to quite the end of a long paper which dealt in detail with the problems to be solved by an expedition of the polar basin: "My plan, he said, is as follows: With the Fram-equipped for seven years, and a capable crew, I shall leave Norway in the beginning of 1910. We shall make for San Francisco around Cape Horn, taking in coal and provisions at the former place. We shall then shape our course for Point Barrow, the most northerly point of North America, which I hope to reach by July or August. From this place the last news will be sent home before the real voyage begins. On leaving Point Barrow it is my intention to continue the voyage with as small a crew as possible.

"We shall then make for the drift ice in a direction north by northwest, where we will then look for the most favorable place for pushing further north. When this is found, we shall go as far in as possible, and prepare for a four or five years' drift across the Polar Sea."

"Throughout our voyage up to this point I intend to make oceanographic observations, and from the moment the vessel becomes fast in the ice a series of observations will be begun, with which I hope to solve some of the hitherto unsolved mysteries.

"What I expect to find in the unknown part of the polar sea, I will say nothing about at present. Some people have put forward theories of great masses of land, others of small.

might perhaps also have put forward my theory, but think I wiser to refrain from doing so until I have investigated matters at closer quarters.

With the utterance of these modest words, the explorer sat down. The hope was expressed that at a meeting not later than 1917, the Royal Geographical Society would be listening to a recital of a successful expedition.

Some surprise may be expressed that the Fram is going on yet another voyage in the polar seas, for she was built in 1893 and has been laid up for a number of years. But the vessel is found to be as sound as when she was built, and, considering that she came home from Nansen's long voyage without a scratch, after withstanding the enormous pressure of ice, no better ship could be found for the purpose.

EVIDENCE OF TRAIN ROW

To Be Heard at Brockville on Monday.

Newboro, Feb. 18.—Constable Dyer, Brockville, was in this locality on Wednesday, serving the summons on a number of participants in the drunken row on the train from Brockville, here on February 4th, in which car windows were broken and other damage was done to the cars. Nine parties along the line have been summoned on different charges and five witnesses also called. The trial is set for hearing before Police Magistrate Deacon, in Brockville, on Monday morning.

The Delta hockey team have challenged the local septette to play for the Beatty cup, a trophy which was won by the Newboro team four years ago. The locals are willing to defend their right to the silverware, and a couple of interesting games will likely be played on the rink here during the next few weeks.

"Artful Dodger" in Court.

New York, Feb. 20.—Two thirteen-year-old adepts in the light-fingered art gave a demonstration of their skill in the court of special sessions, at the trial of Henry Kaufman, who was found guilty of teaching the boys to steal. While one of the youthful demonstrators held at his side a woman's shopping bag, the other loosened the pocket catch and snatched the booty with an ease and swiftness that astonished even the hardened habits of the criminal court.

Cause Of Explosions.

Spokane, Wash., Feb. 20.—Gas generated by heat from black oil, a by-product of petroleum, used as a lubricant on bearings, and not smut in wheat, as generally believed, is the sole cause of explosions in threshing machines. The use of hard, castor or china-nut oil eliminates all danger of fire or explosion, no matter how much smut there is in the grain. That is the theory advanced by Silas Priett, Colfax, Wash., a threshman of twenty-five years' experience.
