

PURITY FLOUR

What Our Trade-Mark Means to You

It means that the flour contained in bags and barrels so trade-marked is decidedly whiter, a great deal stronger and more nutritious than other flours.

It means that the flour has been properly aged to mature its full strength.

It means "More bread and better bread" and better pastry, too.

It means elimination of uncertainty—"your money back" if Purity fails to give entire satisfaction.

Costs more than the other kind, but worth the difference.

FASHION AT AN AFTERNOON TEA

The use of all-over embroidery in combination with net is the latest fad of fashion. Paris has hit upon the happy idea and now many of the daintiest house frocks are heavy heavy eyelid embroidery combined with fine white net.

The little "matinee hat" on the guest in the picture who has come for tea, is another Parisian notion just introduced here. This hat is of gold cloth and strings of jet beads wound into a trimming effect.

WILSON'S Invalids' Port

combines in an agreeable and nutritious Oporto grape wine the unique Medicinal properties of specially-selected Cinchona Bark.

It is the only preparation on this market that has received as many written endorsements of Canadian Practising Physicians who testify to its worth.

"Bronchitis"

is generally the result of a cold caused by exposure to wet and inclement weather, and is a very dangerous inflammatory affection of the bronchial tubes.

The symptoms are tightness across the chest, sharp pains and a difficulty in breathing, and a secretion of thick phlegm, at first white, but later of a greenish or yellowish color.

Neglected Bronchitis is one of the most general causes of Consumption.

Cure it at once by the use of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup.

Mrs. D. D. Miller, Alford, Ont., writes: "My husband got a bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup for my little girl who had Bronchitis. She whooped so loudly you could hear her from one room to the other, but it was not long until we could see the effect your medicine had on her. That was last winter when we lived in Toronto.

"She had a bad cold this winter, but instead of getting another bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, I read a horse made receipt which I got from a neighbor but found that her cold lasted about twice as long. My husband highly praises 'Dr. Wood's,' and says he will see that a bottle of it is always kept in the house."

It is put up in a yellow wrapper, three pine trees the trade mark, the price 25 cts.

Be sure and accept none of the many substitutions.

BURIED CIVILIZATION

Relics of the Lake Dwellers of Prehistoric Times.

London, Feb. 12.—Dr. M. A. Stein, the leader of the Indian Government Mission to Central Asia, reached London yesterday and described his expedition in Central Asia involving three years' travel, and the covering of 1,000 miles in some of the wildest and bleakest regions of the earth's surface. By a curious irony of fate the explorer received his only serious injury on the very last day of his work when engaged in surveying an unknown range at the altitude of over 20,000 feet. After this accident the explorer had an arduous mountain journey of eighteen days before he could receive medical assistance. He then underwent an operation from the results of which he is still lame.

The story of his excavations amid the sites of buried and ancient civilizations is among the most fascinating of modern records. One result of his untiring energy in mysterious borderlands he has been exploring is the discovery of knowledge from a geographical point of view of this part of the world, which is shown by the fact that he has prepared no fewer than 130 sheets of maps of the standard size of a scale of four miles to the inch.

Discussing his work the explorer said: "As an example of the difficulties to be overcome, I may mention that for the sake of exploring the region which lay on a long-abandoned ancient trade route from China to the north end of the Taklamakan, I had to keep fifty men for over three weeks at work at ruins which were situated eight long marches from the nearest drinkable water. This was a period of extreme hardship. The wind was awful, almost beyond description, and the thermometer ranged down to forty-eight below freezing point. The traces of ancient river beds, which were marked by dead trees, and which we crossed again and again, gave striking proof of the desiccation which had overtaken the whole of the region. The finds of implements of the stone age in a region far beyond any water, fire or salt, called up pictures of a life like that which might have been lived by lake dwellers in prehistoric periods.

"Perhaps the most fascinating part of the archeological work was that which was carried out during the spring and early summer of 1907 in the desert which extends between the salt marshes of Lob Nor and the Tun Huang oasis, marking the extreme west of the Chinese province of Kansu. There I was able to trace over a distance of more than 300 miles the remains of that ancient frontier wall which at the end of the second century before Christ had been constructed by the Chinese for the purpose of

Foul Breath

Made Pure and Sweet By the Use of Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges.

Trial Package Sent Free.

Do not go among your friends with a breath so odorous as to make your presence distasteful. Foul breath is capable of easy removal if you will take a little time to overcome it. Generally foul breath comes from one of two causes, impure gases or foul digestive fluids.

Charcoal is the strongest absorbent of foul gases known. It positively attracts poisons, and neutralizes their evil effects.

A noted French physician swallowed stychaine enough to kill three men and with a teaspoonful of charcoal removed the bad effects of this terribly swift poison.

"A little charcoal in a bed-room or cellar will make foul air pure. Pure willow charcoal mixed with honey are the component parts of Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges and pure breath is the result of their use after meals. Simply dissolve two or three after meals and at bed time and foul breath flees at once. No matter how you cause these gases, whether by bad food, alcohol or abuse of the stomach, Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges will stop gas making and sweeten the breath.

They are perfectly harmless and the eating of a box would cause you no inconvenience whatever.

Charcoal is hard to prepare for the stomach because it must be strong and pure and most people will not take it unless made palatable. Stuart's inimitable process presents charcoal to the taste and system in all the nicety desired.

Choice virgin willow is burnt into desirable charcoal; this is mixed with pure honey and the combination is compressed under tremendous pressure into a lozenge of great pleasantness and efficiency.

Don't let your bad breath make people cross the street to avoid you; go to the nearest drug store and buy a box of Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges today, and eat what you will. Two or three after the meal will sweeten your breath at once. If you want proof of this fact send us your name and address and we will send you a trial package by mail free. Address F. A. MISERY OF SHOP GIRLS.

Startling Declaration By Pastor of City Temple.

London, Feb. 20.—Rev. R. J. Campbell, of the City Temple, recently created a furore among the London shopkeepers by his deliverance of a sermon in which he made the assertion that they were responsible for the misery of their female help; they paid such low wages that they expected these women to make a livelihood by immorality. He was challenged by the shopkeepers to prove his statements. At Liverpool he has made the subject the theme of his discourse.

Recently he said he had stated—from ample rubbish heaps which the Chinese soldiers had left. The distribution, organization and commissariat arrangements of these frontier forces can be exactly traced in the official orders, indent, and other relics which I found, and many curious details of life along this miserable frontier can still be recovered.

One of our most profitable finds was the exploration of what was proved to be a treasure cave. Literally crammed with ancient manuscripts, paintings and other Buddhist remains. These had been deposited and hermetically walled up in a side chapel of one great Buddhist sacred cave. Here I found the whole of a large temple library, with other valued relics, which had been deposited there toward the end of the tenth century of our era, evidently to save them from a threatened barbarous invasion, and which have ever since remained absolutely protected, both against men and the ravages of the desert.

The manuscripts which we recovered from their imprisonment of centuries frequently dated in their oldest portions as far back as the first century after Christ, but owing to the great mass of the records, it was quite impossible to make a thorough examination. The books were done up in bundles, and were practically as fresh as when deposited. The number of manuscripts exceeds 4,000, and, as far as can be told, are approximately in about seven different languages. The way in which this great treasure was discovered was one of romantic interest, and was only possible through the exercise of the greatest secrecy.

"After a return to the northern parts of the Tarim basin during the winter of 1907-08 I made more opportunity for exploration at a number of spots along the great caravan route, and this still further increased the collection of frescoes and ancient sculptures, etc. Then came a hazardous march right through the Taklamakan from north to south during which the endurance of all of us was put to a severe test. My camels had to march for nearly two weeks without water and practically without food, and this alone enabled us to arrive safely at the point where the Karim river discharges into the sands. Great regions of dead river courses, which the river had formed since early periods, formed, perhaps, the most dismal ground which it has ever fallen to my lot to visit. Imagine hundreds of square miles covered with absolutely dead, dense shrub, and by the giant skeletons of great popular and other trees which had been left behind by the ancient courses of the ever-changing river. It was a veritable "tropical" dole, stricken with death, and the dead and useless forests, with no trace of life except the tracks of wild camels, made a scene which can never be forgotten."

FINGER RIPPED OPEN

Mr. Daniel McDougall, 124 Creighton St., Halifax, N.S., says:—"I was pulling a piece of meat off a hang nail when I received a nasty wound. One of my fingers got caught in the hook and the flesh ripped open to the first joint. I suffered much pain, and try how I would could not get it healed, or prevent the flesh from peeling off. Just at this time I received a sample of CUROL. It stopped the pain at once and the next morning the wound looked nice, so I continued using this wonderful Salve until the finger was healed completely. I cannot praise CUROL too highly for it did wonders for me."

Accidents will happen in every path of life and once the tissues are lacerated it is an easy matter for disease germs to make entry into the blood. Once they are permitted to do this (for the air is full of microbes all too ready to enter the body) they commence their deadly work and the effect of the latter is apparent to everyone—every mother, wife or sister should therefore protect the lives of their families by keeping on hand a Box of CUROL, the greatest antiseptic healing, and soothing Salve the world has known. The timely use of CUROL prevents festering and blood poison for no microbe or disease germ can live where CUROL is. As a pain reliever it is a marvel and never fails to soothe and then heal.
