GRAND OPERA HOUSE.

"Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde"

Splendidly Produced.

There was a fine audience present at the Grand Opera house last night. Mr. Ryan and his company are growing in popularity as their reputation for high-class acting becomes known.

The dual character of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde, repulsive as Mr. Hyde is, always has an attraction for playgoers. The reason is interesting in account of the originality of Robert Louis Stevenson's grotesque creation and because such an opportunity for distinctive character acting is afforded in the expression of the double role.

Mr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde, held the boards at the Grand last evening, and Daniel Ryan assumed the leading part. His delineation of the amiable young doctor was clear cut and pleasing and he showed Hyde in a light that would satisfy the playgoer with an inclination for the most morbid and unshapely images.

The final scene Mr. Ryan assumed a part that only an expert in dramatic art could command, and it would be difficult to elucidate the emotion of the audience.

Mr. Ryan's support as usual did excellent work and the interpretation of the story was given in a way that most favorably displayed the ability and balance of the company.

The work of Harriet Duke, in the role of "Alice Leigh," was well worthy of commendation. As usual the play was beautifully staged. Everything about the acting and the setting were of the finished kind.

To-night the company present "The Merchant of Venice." At the matinee on Saturday afternoon "Don't Tell My Wife." On Saturday night "Salome" will be repeated by request.

Where Is The Man?

Brookville Times, Feb. 24th. Yesterday morning a young man hired a horse at the stables of Chant & Leggett, Athens, to drive to Henry Hollingsworth's cheese factory in that vicinity where he said he had been engaged as maker for the coming season. Not returning by evening, the owners became anxious and instituted a search without finding any trace of the man or the outfit.

The Brookville police were called up by telephone and given a description of the man and the horse and cutter. Mr. Leggett came to town this morning to further prosecute the search and shortly after noon the horse was found stalled at the Windsor Hotel on Perth street in good condition.

The proprietor states that a young man drove into the yard yesterday afternoon, riding a beautiful bay horse, which he had just purchased. The horse was stable and disappeared. After that all trace of him was lost.

The suspected thief is said to be about thirty years of age, 165 pounds, five feet nine inches, fair complexion, clean shaven. He wore a peak cap and dark overcoat.

Father Staley Comes Here.

Rev. Father Staley, assistant in St. Francis de Sales church, Smith's Falls, has been appointed to the archbishop's palace. Father Staley endeavored himself to the hearts of his people in Smith's Falls, and won the confidence and respect of the citizens generally. He has been active in all good work, says the News, and his departure will be greatly regretted by the young people. Next Sunday will be his last Sunday in Smith's Falls. He will be succeeded by Father Carey, late assistant priest at Gananoque.

Hard On Horses.

The present slippery condition of the roads make it very hard for the horses, and unless the horses are properly shod they are sure to have trouble. Yesterday a dozen or more horses suffered severe falls. A horse, with a very heavy load, fell at the corner of Clarence and Ontario street, and it was some time before it could get up on its feet. Another horse fell near the post office and had to be unharnessed and given a rest.

E. C. Brady, for the past year the energetic and successful representative of the International Correspondence Schools, of Scranton, Pa., has resigned that position and joined the local staff of the Canada Life Insurance Co. The schools have lost a good representative. Mr. Brady ought to do well in the insurance business.

Waltzing On Skates.

Did you ever try to waltz on skates? In Kingston, this pastime appears to be quite popular. At the skating rink, last night, several couples went through the waltz in a most creditable manner. The ice was in fair condition, and the band was present.

Suppose you resolve not to talk too much during the Lenten period.

Did Not Dispute Action.

Sanitary Inspector Gordon says he did not dispute the board of health's right to appoint him to summon the unvaccinated. All he said at the board meeting was that his duties as assessor would soon commence, and that he couldn't continue throughout the year to keep summoning persons to the police court. He wouldn't have the time to do so. As yet, the sanitary inspector has not summoned anyone, but has the matter in hand.

FAILED TO CONVICT

EDW. M'COY, GANANOQUE, FOR SELLING LIQUOR

In Gananoque Without a License—Cottages Broken Into on Tremont Park—The Young Couples Have Been Discovered.

Gananoque, Feb. 26.—In the police court, on Thursday, the case of Lieutenant Inspector F. B. Taber, of Montreal, against Edward McCoy, was given a hearing. The case has caused considerable interest as it deals with a phase of the law, which is seldom touched upon or infringed. The charge against McCoy was that of selling liquor within the municipality without a license. After hearing the evidence, it not being sufficient to convict, the case was dismissed.

James Taylor, Stone street, having occasion to visit his cottage on Tremont Park, found the place had been broken open and on investigation found several other cottages had also been dealt with in like manner. Upon further investigation several young lads, under fifteen years of age, sons of well-known residents of the town, were found to be the authors of the deed. Not wishing to suffer the consequences of their misdeeds, the lads left for parts unknown, but a clue was soon obtained and they will be called on to make suitable amends.

Rev. J. Tallman Pitcher's new Movement Bible class together with the official staff and teachers of Grace Sabbath school, had a banquet in the lecture room of the church last evening. The affair was the outcome of a competition between the male and female members of the class to bring it up to the century limit, the gentlemen having succeeded in bringing in the greater number of new members. The ladies of the class were therefore called on to provide the evening's entertainment which they did in a most satisfactory manner, some 150 sitting down to the good things so lavishly provided. The class was organized September 20th last, now numbers 180 on the roll, and has taken in class collection fifty-four dollars.
