A McLean Wedding.

McLean, Feb. 26.—A very pretty wedding took place Tuesday, February 23rd, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Brown, when their youngest daughter, Maud, was united to Overton Godfrey, of Mountain Grove. At three o'clock to the strains of the wedding march played by Stewart Vanvolkenburg, the youthful bride attired in a pretty costume of white India mull trimmed with lace and ribbons, and leaning on the arm of her father, took her place beside the groom. She was assisted by her niece, Miss Sophia Rawley, and Charles Brown, brother of the bride, acted as best man. Rev. Mr. Halpenny, Methodist minister of Sharbot Lake, performed the ceremony, after which the young couple received hearty congratulations. The guests numbering 125 were then invited to partake of the good things provided for the occasion. The evening was spent in social intercourse; music and singing was furnished by Wagarville Jubilee Club. The presents which were numerous testified to the high esteem in which the young couple are held.

Fortunes In Ireland's Peat.

Chicago Inter-Ocean. It is now on the increasing scarcity of timber, from which almost all paper is made, it is of interest to know that excellent brown paper is produced from peat, and in all probability this can be bleached. Peat is, in fact, wood put through one process, that of partial disintegration. There are 2,500,000 acres of peat in Ireland, covering one-seventh of the entire surface, and averaging fifteen feet in depth. As an acre contains 1,500 tons of solid peat, and can be brought from 21 upward, while a ton of brown wrapping paper costs $8 to $10, some idea may thus be formed of the neglected wealth of Ireland. Probably half the wood used for paper making is converted into brown paper. The use of peat would arrest the destruction of forests. Since the new and successful processes for cooking peat and recovering the by-products have been discovered, peat as a fuel in manufacture will enter largely into Irish industries.

The Deadly Level Crossing.

Home Journal. The appalling disregard of the value of human life by the railroads of this country is frequently the cause of comment in the old land, where, if they had as many fatalities in a year as we have in a month, there would be a public uprising. The inadequacy of the protection of human life both with regard to those who use public conveyances and those who are compelled to cross the highways is shocking. Within a few weeks from all over the country have come reports of people killed while merely crossing over the tracks. It seems incredible that level crossings should be tolerated anywhere. That they should be unprotected in cities or towns but shows how callous are our people to encroachments upon our rights.

INVITED KOCH TO DRIVE.

Vanderbilt paid a graceful compliment to E. von der Horst Koch by inviting him to drive the Viking coach next season on its daily runs between London and Brighton. Mr. Koch has accepted the invitation and early in April will go to London to assist Mr. Vanderbilt in completing preparations for the opening run, which is to be made in May. The Venture and the Viking will be kept on the road all through May, June and July, and Mr. Koch expects to be on the box practically every day during the season. It will not be the first time that he has driven the Viking.

Michael McFarland who tendered his resignation as town councillor on Tuesday evening last is canvassing No. 5 polling subdivision for signatures for a certificate for application for shop license in Gananoque from the district of South Leeds. Mayor Donevan at the session of the town council this week, opposed strongly the motion of Reeve Britton, seconded by Councillor Bullock, re the passing by the council of a by-law limiting the number of shop and tavern licenses for the municipality as requested by License Commissioner Cornet. On the motion being put it carried by four to three, and was consequently given its first reading. The regular session of the council falls on March 2nd, too late to be of any use for this year, as the law says it must be held by March 1st. A special session cannot be held, except at the call of the mayor, and he being opposed to the motion will of course not call a special session.

RUNNING GAMBLING HOUSE.

Portrait of Mrs. L.L. Baldwin, President of the California Club. Mrs. A.W. Scott, one of the leading names of the club. FONG UKLIAH and AH SAM. San Francisco, Feb. 27.—Local society leaders, several hundred of them, must appear in police court, next Wednesday morning, and testify in the case of Ah Sam, a Chinaman, who is accused of running a gambling house. This shrewd and resourceful Oriental, who conducts what is known as the Asiatic Club, in Chinatown, where his fellow-countrymen gather and while away the hours of the night, when taken into custody by the minions of the law determined to have the society folk who are members of the leading clubs of the city, come to court and testify that he was no more guilty of gambling than they were. One day last week a squad of policemen marched through the fashionable quarters of the city. They rang doorbells, and in each case asked for the lady of the house. When the woman answered to their names formidable looking documents, summoning them to make their appearance in the police court, were held out by the policemen. To say that the women in almost every case were shocked in putting it mildly. The experience of Mrs. Edward L. Baldwin, president of the California Club, was similar to most of the others.
