

Breath Odors Removed by Charcoal

Onions, Tobacco, Decaying Food, Alcohol, Stomach Gases and Impurities Foul the Breath, Charcoal Purifies It.

A Trial Package of Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges Sent Free By Mail

The stomach and digestive canal of man fills with gases from fermenting and decaying food. Such gases impregnate the breath, filter through the system, spread disease and in large quantities extend the stomach so that it shuts off heart action and death sometimes results.

Pure, simple willow charcoal absorbs gas at once and stops impure food fermentation. It sweetens the stomach, kills the effect of all odors, such as liquor, tobacco, onions, etc., or at least prevents them from causing impurities to arise.

The willow is renowned for its curative properties and ancient legendary lore is filled with its use, by barbarians and civilized men. As early as 500 B.C., the ancient Chaldeans were sagely curing disease by charcoal and every monastery of the old world healed the sick and cured the drunkard by using powdered willow charcoal.

Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges are pure willow charcoal, compressed with honey into a delicious lozenge. They contain nothing but sweet willow charcoal and honey. One may eat a box of them and feel only benefit from so doing. Two or three after a meal will be a sufficient guard against bad breath and the same amount eaten just before bedtime will insure a pure breath upon arising the next morning.

Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges tone up the blood, the liver and the stomach. They are great laxatives also, but eating large numbers of them does not increase their effect in a painful manner upon the bowels.

They are gentle, powerful and pure and their popularity and tremendous sale give them the stamp of public approval. Go to your druggist, today, and buy a box, price 25 cents, send us your name and address and we will send you a trial package by mail free. Address F. A. UFFRAGISTS' FOES TO MEET IN CONCLAVE.

Mrs. Chamberlain, Mrs. Humphrey Ward... Lord Cromer.

London, Feb. 27.—A quiet organization which has made very little fuss, has been making enormous strides during the last few months. The Women's National Anti-Suffrage League will prove the interest it has awakened in Great Britain at its great meeting which will be held at the Queen's Hall on March 26th at 8:30 p.m.

Delegates from every branch will be present, and working women from all over England have been invited to attend.

Mrs. Humphrey Ward will be in the chair, and among the speakers will be Lord Cromer, Austen Chamberlain and Sir Edward Clarke.

The secretary of the league, Miss Pentley, gave an outline, yesterday, of how the work has progressed. Although the Women's National Anti-Suffrage League is only six months old sixty branches have been organized, and between sixty and seventy more are in course of organization.

Hundreds of applications for petition forms have been received at the league's offices in Caxton House, Westminster. Miss Pentley explained the object of the conference.

"The object of our meeting is to show that the women of the empire unite in opposing the granting of the parliamentary franchise to women," she said. "Their reason for doing so is because they do not consider this demand to be for the good of the empire to which they are proud to belong."

"We would ask all women, Is it not better to enlarge your legitimate sphere of influence in every way, to strengthen your hold on the great field of local government and to leave to men the political rule and maintenance of this vast and complex empire which men have created?"

SAVED BY THE QUEEN.

THE LARGEST LANDOWNER.

Sidney Kidman is Master of Over 31,000,000 Acres.

After his first visit to England Mr. Sidney Kidman, the millionaire, "cattle king" of Australia, left London, this week, for his home. Mr. Kidman is said to be the largest landowner in the world. He is master of over 31,000,000 acres, and has close upon 200,000 cattle and 10,000 horses.

During his stay in London Mr. Kidman has made himself the friend of the omnibus man. In fact, he is sending out four drivers, with their families, to his stations in Australia, paying their passages and giving them excellent wages out there. He is doing this also for twenty lads, including two pages from his hotel.

"Your omnibus drivers are fine fellows," he remarked recently. "I've done a powerful lot of omnibus riding in London on top of the omnibuses, talking to the men about their horses. I have said to some of them, 'You write to me if you want to go to Australia,' and four of them are going."

"The best horses in the world are in England, and the best treated. You feed them well, treat them well, and drive them well. The London omnibus and cab horses are the best in their class anywhere, and you see the finest driving. The English cattle, also, are as fine as can be found anywhere."

"But your farmers are, I fancy, behind us in Australia; the implements they use are not nearly so up-to-date as ours."

IS HIGH PRICED.

Will Cost $80,000 to Inaugurate Taft.

Mr. Taft's inauguration will cost about $80,000, reckoning on the basis of Mr. Roosevelt's, on which $83,000 was spent, says the New York Tribune. Its expenses will be paid by the people who attend it and buy tickets for the parade stands and the inaugural hall. If there is a deficit it will be met out of a guaranteed fund, subscribed to by business men of Washington. The only direct expenditure by the government will be a small appropriation for the extra policing and lighting of Washington. So far as the law of the land is concerned, it will be fully complied with if Mr. Taft and Mr. Sherman take a trolley car to the capitol, and, after being sworn in, stroll off into the country for a game of golf. The remainder of the ceremony, the parade, fireworks and inaugural ball, is the unofficial function of the people of Washington.

Mr. Taft's will be the thirty-first regular inauguration, not counting the unscheduled swearing-in of vice-presidents succeeding to the highest office through the death of presidents. The first inauguration was held in New York, the second and third in Philadelphia, and all of the remaining twenty-seven in Washington.

The Value Of A Trade Mark.

A trade mark is usually some one particular mark on goods to show their origin, but as a matter of fact any new, original quality, feature or characteristic of an article of manufacture, if widely known through advertising, becomes valuable as a trade mark and is protected by the courts.

That one article may have many "trade marks" that belongs to it alone! Thus for example in the case of Cascarets, Candy Cathartics, the name "Candy Cathartics," the expression "Candy Cathartics," the peculiar shape and color of box, the octagonal tablet, and the letters "U.C.G." on each tablet, all are expressive trade "marks" of that popular medicine, because they indicate their genuineness, distinguish them from imitations and have become universally known to the people.

The Little Red Ribbon.

By James Whitcomb Riley.

The little red ribbon, the ring and the rose.

The summertime comes and the summer-time goes.

And now a blossom in all of the land.

As white as the gleam of her beckoning hand!

The long winter months, and the glare of the snows;

The little red ribbon, the ring and the rose.

The summertime comes and the summer-time goes.

And never a glimmer of sun in the skies

As bright as the light of her glorious eyes!

Dreams only are true; but they fade and are gone—

For her face is not here when I waken.

The little red ribbon, the ring and the rose.

Minions only; hers only the dream and the rose.

I am weary of waiting and weary of

And my heart wears, too, all these

Moaning over the one only song that it

The little red ribbon, the ring and the rose.

I am weary of waiting and weary of

And my heart wears, too, all these

Moaning over the one only song that it

The little red ribbon, the ring and the rose.

I am weary of waiting and weary of

And my heart wears, too, all these

Moaning over the one only song that it

The little red ribbon, the ring and the rose.
