REAL LIVE PERSONS

WEREMISS MARIONELLIOTT AND COL. WARBURTON.

They Accompanied Miss Florence Kinrade on Her Singing Tour, and to Various Other Places.

Hamilton, Ont., March 19.—Thomas Hobson, the Kinrade family solicitor, this morning, handed out some information which proves that Miss Elliott, who Miss Florence Kinrade said accompanied her on her singing tour and to Richmond and other points in Virginia, and Col. Warburton, to whom Florence stated her mysterious friend was later married, were living personalities. The lawyer produced a clipping from the Ledger Dispatch, of Norfolk, Virginia, published May 14th, 1908, in which, in the society news, appears an item stating that Mrs. J. Wells, Fairfax avenue, gave a charming reception in honor of Miss Florence Kinrade, a charming Canadian girl. There were fifty-seven guests present and Miss Marion Elliott and Col. Fred G. Warburton, the paper says, were two of the guests.

George Lynch Staunton, K.C., the other solicitor for the family, refuses to divulge the names of the two witnesses who, he claims, saw the murderer leaving the Kinrade home. He does not want the persons interviewed by newspaper men. He says Crown Attorney Washington, this morning, informed Mr. Staunton that he would subpoena any people likely to shed light on the case, but the crown attorney had not received any names up to noon to-day. The jury threatens to close up to-night at twelve o'clock. They recognize that Mr. Blackstock is tireless and will refuse to make an all-night session of it. The four witnesses scheduled for this evening are the three doctors and Motorman Stone.

Looking For Son.

H. Dalton, living at Belleville, is anxious to know the whereabouts of his son, George, whom he has not heard from since last August, and has asked the police to assist him. He is twenty years of age, five feet seven inches in height, fair complexion, and of slight build. It was reported that the young man was in Ottawa, recently, and an effort will be made to locate him there.

LIVINGSTON'S

THE HALLS OF QUEEN'S

OPINIONS EXPRESSED BY LEADING STUDENTS

At the Final Y.M.C.A. Meeting of the Session—The Shortcomings of Students Were Plainly Pointed Out.

The last meeting of the Y.M.C.A. for this session was held in Convocation hall yesterday afternoon. According to the custom followed for several years in the past the meeting was in charge of the final year men in arts, theology, science and medicine. D. C. Ramsay, M.A., of '09, divinity, was in the chair, and after devotional exercises called on several members of final year to address the meeting. M. Y. Williams, of '09, science, took for the subject of his remarks, "Breath," referring more especially to breath as applied to higher things. Students come to college and look upon professors as men of experience, who are competent to instruct them, but why should not Queen's men look also to the Great Teacher and get even a broader knowledge. A. J. Donnell, of '09, arts, said that college life was not merely a preparation for life as many supposed, but was life itself. Many men come to Queen's with certain ideals but these were often forgotten and the student was to become a totally different person. The Y.M.C.A. should not merely be a bureau of information but, like Christ Himself, should be found "going about doing good."

R. J. McDonald, M.A., of '09, divinity, was next called upon. He said that, in spite of all the philosophy and all the science, the highest criticism, the life of Jesus Christ is just as beautiful as ever it was. What ever may be learned here makes the life of Jesus Christ more real to us. The speaker thought greater success would be achieved in Y.M.C.A., if the preparing of programmes were left to those not taking philosophy or theology. We must be honest with ourselves. The true man and truly reverent man is he who faces the problems of life because he believes that God is true.

W. Dobson, of '09, arts, spoke of the various offices a man was called upon to fill in college life. He criticized the system in vogue of making examinations and strongly recommended that officers for various college organizations should be nominated by a nominating committee.

R. C. Jackson, of '09, theology, was the last speaker and gave a very forceful address. He said that one of the losses of college life, he must get away from the centre of indifference and cast away selfishness, and if he does not learn to do this in college, the chances are he will never do so.

GAVE FINE ENTERTAINMENT.

Cooke's Church Choir Entertained on Thursday Evening.

On Thursday evening the members of Cooke's church choir, gave a concert and "pic social," and the affair was a grand success. It was given by the choir, for the purpose of raising funds for the purchase of new music, and although there was a good attendance the programme was one that merited a cordial audience. The members of the choir are deserving of the hearty support of all the congregation. The refreshments were all that could be desired, while special mention should be made of the pies, which were "just like mother used to make." Members of the choir attended to the needs of the company in an able manner.

Rev. Dr. MacTavish acted as chairman of the evening and the programme included solos by Miss Dempster, Gannaque, Mrs. Evans, Miss Tweedell, Mayor Couper, Henry Crumley, Lieut. Col. Galloway, recitations by Miss Bawden; selections by a quartette, composed of Mrs. Evans, Miss Ross and Messrs. Lemmon and Telfer, and also selections by McAuley's orchestra.

Snake Farm At The Bijou. Did you ever see a snake farm? They are common things in the Oriental island of Java, and to-day and to-morrow the snake farmers are at their daily toil at the Bijou. It's a strange and queer sight to see them juggling with the big boa constrictors, whose hides are finally turned into shoes, card cases, pocket books and so forth. There is also a very powerful drama, "The Safe Robber," or foiled by hypnotism. This is an excellent picture drama with a strong heart-interest. A rollicking comedy is "The Loves Of Miss Flirt." You can't help laughing at it. It's a good one.

A Family Bereaved. An exceptionally bright and promising child, aged ten years, daughter of Mrs. Joseph Graham, Earl street, died on Monday morning at the general hospital, of scarlet fever. Last week the deceased and her two brothers and four sisters were removed from their home to the hospital, suffering from scarlet fever. Little Mildred succumbed to the malady and was tenderly laid to rest in St. Mary's cemetery. The other children are convalescing rapidly. The bereaved mother and her afflicted family have the sincere sympathy of a large circle of friends.

Voluntarily Discontinued. Finding that the residents and merchants on Princess street were annoyed by the phonographs in front of five cent theatres E. Bruce Frazier, manager of Wonderland, voluntarily discontinued his phonograph service early in the month, and a number of days before the petition against the machines was presented to council. Mr. Frazier states that it has been for some time his personal opinion that the music was more of a nuisance than a help, and has just succeeded in convincing his company that his views were right.

FARMERS UP IN ARMS

AGAINST CLOSING OF MONTREAL STREET.

An Indignation Meeting Held at Sunbury—Shown That Dr. Edwards' Scheme Would Injure County and Benefit Only G. T. R.

That Dr. Edwards, M.P. for Frontenac, has made one of the biggest mistakes of his life in advocating the closing of Montreal and Division streets at the G.T.R. railway crossings, instead of building a subway at the junction, is very evident, when the farmers of Storrington township held an indignation meeting in the Sunbury village hall, on Thursday evening, to protest against closing up of the above two highways leading to the city. The feeling against such a scheme, for which Dr. Edwards is responsible, according to correspondence from the Grand Trunk Railway company and the engineer of the Dominion Railway Commission, is very strong, in fact it amounts to indignation that the farmers for Frontenac would advocate a scheme that would mean injury to both county and city, and gain to the Grand Trunk Railway company, as will be shown further on. The meeting was presided over by ex-County Councillor Robert Shannon, of Sunbury, and there was a thorough discussion of the matter. Ald. R. F. Elliott, of Kingston, was present, at invitation, to address the meeting and explain what was proposed. He had the plans and estimates of both schemes, and gave the farmers all the information in his possession. The meeting, on motion of Christopher Langwith, unanimously passed a resolution condemning any scheme that would close up Montreal street. The resolution pointed out that that road had been used by the farmers of Storrington and Kingston and their fathers for generations, and long before the Grand Trunk railway existed. Another resolution was passed respectfully inviting the members of the railway commission to come to Kingston and meet the farmers of Frontenac in regard to the matter. As the question has become one of vital importance to the interests of county and city, it is not improbable that the railway commissioners will take a trip here to see the farmers at the meeting that the only party that would benefit by the scheme of Dr. Edwards would be the Grand Trunk railway company. It was figured that the G.T.R. would be in pocket no less than $30,000 by not having to build a subway at the junction, and if Division and Montreal streets were closed. The estimates are as follows:

Montreal street subway—Cost to G. T. R., $18,000; cost to city, $6,000; cost to county, $6,000; total, $30,000. Dr. Edwards' diverted scheme—Cost to G.T.R., $5,900; cost to K. & P. railway, $4,100; cost to city, $5,400; cost to county, $5,400; total, $20,800. By closing of Montreal street crossing a watchman would be dispensed with. His salary of $500 a year would equal capital of $10,000. The closing of two other railway crossings was figured as equalling a saving of another $5,000 to the G.T.R., so that the total saving would be $30,000. As the K. & P. railway is brought into the diverted scheme, the C.P.R. will protest.

United action in opposition to Dr. Edwards' scheme will be required on the part of the city and county. There will be a joint meeting of the city finance and streets committees and the county roads' committee in the city buildings next Tuesday afternoon. Reeve Rankin, of Kingston township, has called a meeting of the farmers in the school house at Glenburnie for Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock to discuss the question. Kingston township farmer writes: "The farmers seem to be greatly exercised over this matter as the proposal would interfere with long standing rights. The county and city should stand together to protect their rights."

PERSONAL MENTION. Movements Of The People—What They Are Saying And Doing. Henry Doyle, Picton, left to-day, for Utica, N.Y. Miss Ruth Boyd, 400 Brock street, is visiting at Parkdale, Toronto. Leslie Davis and William Deline, Napanee, left to-day for Watertown, N.Y. Miss Florence Whitney, Queen street, has returned from an extended visit to Hamilton. Dr. Edward Ryan lectured in Cornwall on St. Patrick's night on a trip through Ireland. George B. Smith, of Buffalo, was in the city, to-day, renewing acquaintances. He is on his way to Montreal. John Brennan, engineer of the tug "Trudeau," arrived in the city, to-day, from his home in Kingsville, to put the tug in readiness for the season's work. William Smith, foreman of the Northern Lumber company, has returned from a trip west where he secured five cars of lumber for the company. Mrs. F. McKenzie left, yesterday, for Kingston, where she will spend few days with her daughter, Miss Kathleen, who is undergoing treatment in the hospital for ear trouble under Dr. O'Connor, of that city. Mrs. Hilton Smith and children, of London, Ont., who have been on a short visit to Mrs. Scott, Johnson street, left, Wednesday noon, on the flyer for Winnipeg, their future home. They will stop over in Chicago and Milwaukee en route. William Gannon, an employee of the T. F. Harrison Co., met with an accident while crossing the bridge from the company's show room to the factory in the rear. His foot caught and he was thrown to the ground. Dr. Muddell attended to him and sent him to the Hotel Dieu to recover.
