that both are, therefore, within the jurisdiction of the parliament of Canada, the enterprise is by the bill declared to be for "the general advantage of Canada."

A liberal party, true to its history and traditions, cannot or should not consider, in federal legislation, any matter of a provincial character...

The public works department follows the marine department in stipulating that all contracts must be approved by the purchasing agent...

All the orators are not in the legal or political business. Some of the speakers at the Missionary Congress have won distinction by their eloquence and power...

The auditor-general has been criticized by the opposition because he has not denounced more public transactions and supplied the troupers with ammunition with which to make attacks on the government...

The world will certainly be evangelized in the next ten years if the rest of the Christian or church people take the missionary idea as seriously as the Canadians...

detail, until it was complete, in first-class order, lacking in no essential. Then it was for the council to consider the expediency of a new department...

EDITORIAL NOTES. The dead ends, in the water system, are declared to be a menace. Then why not remove them? It is for such work the depreciation account exists...

The mint, the establishment of which was regarded by the Doubting Thomases of parliament with so much anxiety, cleared $30,000 in 1908, and it was not a good year for making money...

The fire department is in need of new equipment—engines and ladders and hose. They will cost a lot of money. Where is it coming from? Is the water department robbed here? Or could it stand a further plundering?

The opposition idea is that a commission should be appointed to go through the departments fishing for scandal. A better plan would be to lay an indictment against any one who is reasonably suspected of wrongdoing...

The Man On Watch.

Although the Lampman strenuously kicks on paying for value not received, he thinks that the finance board of the town council showed more hindsight than foresight when they decided to fill the water works rainy-day fund in order to keep down the tax rate...

The Lampman can't see why a prisoner who confesses to wrong-doing and cowardly involves others should be given his freedom when others who did no more than he did are sent to prison...

It was with pleasure that the Lampman read that the Bishop of London had declared against the unnatural tone of voice used by clergymen in the Anglican service...
