CARRIED JOKE TOO FAR.

Went Off in Soldiers Uniform and Was Arrested.

A joke is all right, at least when it is not carried too far. James Blake, a young man, found this to be the case, in the police court this morning. Blake attended a little gathering at a house on Wellington street, Friday night, and became somewhat under the influence of liquor. By way of a joke, before taking his leave, he changed his own coat and cap, and donned the coat and cap of a soldier, who was one of the guests. When the soldier noticed his loss, there was a flutter of excitement, and a search was at once commenced for the missing man. He was found parading the streets, and placed under arrest. In police court, this morning, he was accused of being drunk, and pleaded guilty.

"Do you want to enlist?" asked the magistrate of Blake, with a smile.

"No, sir; I do not."

"I will make it $1 and costs or fifteen days," replied the magistrate, who also stated that he felt sure that the accused had no intention of committing theft.

A Tea and Sale.

The board of management of the Y. W.C.A., held a tea and sale at the home on Friday afternoon. The rooms were bright with tulips and daffodils. Mrs. James Sutherland poured the coffee. Mrs. Charles McKay and Mrs. William H. Stevenson had charge of the flower, candy and home-made tables. Miss Grace Clark had a beautiful display of Turkish embroideries and linens. Miss Ness and Miss Bell received the guests, while Miss Drummond looked after the door receipts. The young ladies assisting were: Misses McCallum, Carnovsky, Kent, Hague, Noonan, Macnee and Stevenson. Miss Dorita Stevenson played several piano solos during the afternoon. A neat sum was realized.

Regarding Burial Certificates.

The local registrar of deaths wishes to point out the new law as regards permits for burial. The section reads as follows:

"No undertaker, clergyman, sexton, householder or other person shall engage in the removal, or burial of the dead body of any person before a certificate of registration of death has been issued by the division registrar. The fine for violation of this statutory provision may be $20 and costs."

Before a certificate of burial can be issued, the doctor's certificate as to the cause of death must be filed with the registrar.

The Bill of Lading.

The clause in the bill which has caused all the trouble is:

"Provided that the vessel shall not be responsible for shortage exceeding one-half bushel for one thousand bushels carried; the vessel to deliver all grain on board, collect freight upon actual out-turn, and make no claim for any over-run."

LADIES MUSICAL CLUB
PRESENTS GIFTS TO TWO MEMBERS.

Who Have Been Its Chief Workers
Miss Sarah Gibson and Miss Louise Singleton the Recipients.

The meeting of the Ladies' Musical Club, on Saturday afternoon, the last of the season, had an unusual feature added to its programme. The secretary, Miss Sarah Gibson, has retired, after years of faithful service, and the club, anxious to record its appreciation of her work, made her a handsome gift. This took the form of a leather handbag, silver-mounted, with silver monogram. Mrs. B. M. Gordon, honorary president, made a charming little speech of presentation.

There is yet another happy event to record, and this was the giving of a very beautiful remembrance to Miss Louise Singleton, on behalf of the club, which cannot reconcile itself to giving its favorite up, even to matrimony. Miss Shaw gave Miss Singleton a pair of solid silver candlesticks, bearing an inscription. Joining the club in its second year, Miss Singleton has, by hard work in the club's cause, happy, gracious, willing at all times, to do all she could for the club and its members, not to mention all the pleasant she ever gives by her rare musical gifts, endeared herself to everyone. And whenever she lights her candles they will remind her of the flame of affectionate esteem she has left behind her in the hearts of the club members.

Are Taking A Rest.

Chicken thieves, so busy during the week, have at last decided to take a rest. No clue whatever has been secured from the Chinamen as to the identity of the guilty parties, and no report of any other thefts have been received. It is a very difficult matter for the police to get information from the Chinamen, although they are informed that the birds had been stolen they consented to give them up without complaint. There has been so much chicken steaming that should the guilty parties be secured they would be given a stiff sentence. Not long ago a young man was given four months for such an offence.

Horace Not On His Calling List.

Atlanta Constitution.

"They say that Horace wrote his poems in praise of wine," the school teacher said to the Billville citizen.

"Who? Horace Greeley? Never known he write poetry."

"No, no—the other Horace, who comes from antiquity."

"Never heard tell of 'im, n'er the place he comes from; but it's my opinion, whoever he was, that he had mighty little to do with wine. His words on wine when the country has more 100-proof corn liker than it kin consume convenient, but, come ter think of it; the less said 'bout corn, new or old, in the north Georgy region, the better. The blamed ol' government is mighty watchful!"

Police Investigating.

For some time past boys who have not been attending school have created a good deal of trouble around Frontenac school and the police are endeavoring to stamp it out. It is only fair to the pupils of this school, in view of the fact that it has been so much in the limelight, to say that the scholars themselves have not been responsible for the bulk of the trouble. Boys congregate around the school grounds and wait for the other boys to come out at recess, and then it is usual for them to start a quarrel.

Demonstration That Failed.

A young man employed in a local wood yard had the first two fingers of his left hand cut with a saw a few days ago. He was working at a band saw and had the top of his second finger taken off. The foreman came along and when he saw the accident he said the young man must be careful and not get his hands so close to the blade. The man then went to demonstrate how close his hand was to the saw with the result that he lost the third finger at the second joint.

A Piece Of Flooded Track.

The K. & P. trains have still to pass over quite a distance of flooded track on this side of Parham. The spot in question is a sink hole, where thousands of tons of stone and timber have been sunk to fill in the place, but the sinking is still going on. The place may eventually have to be filled in with concrete.

Connect The Dead Ends.

The water works committee, on Monday, will likely discuss the question of having all dead ends in the water mains connected. This matter was reported upon at various times in late years by Superintendent Hewitt. The water service would be much improved by the connections.
