AN OLD SAYING.

Showing How Cause and Effect Are Never Far Removed.

It is an old saying, "Where there's honey there's bees"—not less true recently, "Where there's dandruff there's germs and to push the inference still further we may truly say "Where dandruff cured Newbro's Herpicide has been at work."

The reason of Herpicide's isolation as a genuine cure for dandruff lies in the fact that it attacks and destroys the root of the whole trouble—a parasitic germ which feeds upon the material which nourishes the hair follicle.

Other so-called remedies are not directed at this true cause of the disease. Accept no substitute, there is none! Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. One dollar bottles guaranteed. G. W. Mahood, special agent.

ECZEMA LODGES IN THE SKIN

Not a Blood Disease—Cured By Oil of Wintergreen Compound.

For many years eczema was supposed to be a blood disease and was erroneously treated as such, but now the best authorities agree that eczema is only a skin disease and must be cured through the skin. The eminent skin specialist, Dr. D. D. Dennis, first discovered the eczema germ, and his discovery was quickly taken up in both Germany and France.

To kill the eczema germ and at the same time heal the skin, Dr. Dennis compounded oil of wintergreen, thymol, glycerine, etc. The remedy is a liquid, not a mere salve, hence it sinks right into the pores of the skin. Washing with this oil of wintergreen compound seems to take the itch away at once; soon the scales drop and the disease disappears. The prescription has now been used as long as to have proven its absolute merit.

For free sample bottle write to The D. D. D. Laboratory, Department K. W., 23 Jordan St., Toronto. For sale by all druggists.

RIOTS IN OTHER DAYS

SMITH-TUPPER FRACAS IS BROUGHT TO MIND.

Last Friday's Disturbance in Commons is Matched By Incident of the Seventies.

Ottawa, April 5.—While it is admitted that the incident of Friday night was the most disorderly that has ever taken place in this country. It was the closing day of the Mackenzie parliament of 1874-8, and the Pacific scandal was the question that had split the house into two hostile camps. Just at the time that the common usher of the Black Rod, Donald A. Smith (now Lord Strathcona) rose to a question of privilege and objected to a remark of Sir John A. Macdonald, who, he said, "insinuated that the bill (supreme court bill) was merely an arrangement by which the government could reward a member of the house for his servile support, and that this member had been compelled to admit that he was interested in this monopoly."

"I mentioned," said Mr. Smith, "that there was not one relative of mine who drew one sixpence of public money, who held any place in the public service, and said, perhaps, it might be otherwise with those connected with and related to the right hon. gentleman."

Mr. Smith then proceeded to read from a newspaper report of the speech of Charles Tupper (Sir Charles) at Orangeville, and Mr. Tupper complained that Mr. Smith should refer to the matter at the moment that Black Rod was coming to the door, when there would be no opportunity to reply.

"A more cowardly thing I have never seen ventured on in the house," said Mr. Tupper.

This raised a storm, and amid cries of "Order," Mr. Smith said: "The charge of being a coward I throw back on the hon. gentleman."

The gist of the Tupper speech at Orangeville was that "when he (Smith) came to the conclusion that the government was going out, he made the bolt, and he (Tupper) had no doubt that he had had a great deal of reason since for congratulating himself on having jumped as he did."

Sir John's Denial.

Sir John and Mr. Smith discussed at some length some of the events leading up to the bolt of Mr. Smith in 1873, and to the Smith version Sir John replied: "There is not one single word of truth in that statement; not one single word of truth. The honorable gentleman is now stating what is a falsehood."

Mr. Smith: The honorable gentleman says that he did not say so; certainly the spirit within him said it, for the words came out of the honorable gentleman's mouth. If he did not say so, the "spirit" within him did.

Several times Sir John denied having uttered the expression complained of, and then Mr. Smith observed: "The honorable member for Cumberland the same evening told me that the right honorable gentleman was not capable of knowing what he said, and will he deny?"

This caused another uproar, and Mr. Tupper appealed to the chair. Was it competent for Mr. Smith to detail private conversations, while falsifying them? "And his word passes for nothing here or elsewhere," he added.

Mr. Tupper complained that this was a "cowardly abuse of the privileges of the house," while the speaker held that while detailing private conversations might be improper, it was not unpardonable. Mr. Tupper claimed the right of a reply, but he was denied it by Mr. Smith, except to make an apology. While the heated belligerents were further discussing the bolt of Mr. Smith, the sergeant-at-arms announced the arrival of the Black Rod, and the speaker called the commons to the red chamber to hear the message of the governor-general. The rest of the proceedings are described by Hansard as follows:

Coward—Coward—Coward.

Mr. Smith: He knows—
Mr. Tupper: Coward, coward; sit down.
Mr. Smith: He knows—
Mr. Tupper: Coward, coward, coward.
Mr. Smith: You are the coward.

STOMACH COMFORT.

When the Stomach Rebels, Headache, Indigestion and Nerve Pain Follows—Mi-o-na Brings Relief.

Just as soon as you are done eating the healthy stomach commences to churn the food around and mixes it thoroughly with the juices of the stomach.

If the food is not churned it lays heavily on your stomach, turns sour and causes all kinds of distressing symptoms, such as headache, indigestion, stomach pain and dyspepsia. Mi-o-na helps the stomach to properly mix the food.

John S. May, of Isabella street, Belleville, Ont., says: "For over seven months I was in constant agony with a case of nervous dyspepsia and indigestion that medical skill could not relieve. I was weak and had lost much weight through loss of appetite and suffering. My meals would fill me with gas and a feeling of oppression across the stomach, and all up the left side, left me in a miserable condition. I was restless at night and as tired and unrefreshed at the morning as on going to bed. A choking sensation in my throat was always constant when lying down, and my heart seemed to flutter and pound as though it were coming out through my side. I was benefited from the first two days' use of Mi-o-na. I began to feel like myself again, my appetite returned and the depressive feeling left me. I can enjoy my meals without the least worry of weight and can sleep the night through in comfort."

Go to G. W. Mahood, the druggist, and get a 50 cent box of Mi-o-na Tablets. Money back if Mi-o-na does not cure.

Some honorable members: Order.
Mr. Smith: Nay, further, there were two gentlemen, members of this house.

Some honorable members: Order.
Mr. Smith:—The day after that fourth November—
Mr. Tupper: Coward, coward.
Mr. Smith:—Who came to me with a proposition to throw over the right honorable gentleman and the present member for Charlevoix if I would consent to give up the position I had deemed it my duty to take in the house the evening before, and would support the government by voting against the amendment of the honorable member for Lambton.

Some honorable members: Order.
Mr. Tupper: Mean, treacherous coward.
Mr. Smith: Who is the coward? The house will decide. It is yourself.
Mr. Tupper: Coward, treacherous—
Mr. Smith: I could not support them.

Mr. Speaker: Admit the messenger.
Sir John A. Macdonald: That fellow Smith is the biggest liar I ever met.

The Gentleman Usher of the Black Rod was then admitted and the session was at an end.

Hansard closes the incident, but it is a matter of common knowledge that on the way to the senate chamber Sir John remarked: "I can lick that man Smith quicker than hell can search a feather."
