THE ANT.

Facts About One of Nature's Most Industrious Creatures.

When spring comes with all its wealth of opening buds and new flowers, the ant is preparing for a season of profitable industry.

It comes out of its winter quarters and locates a new home where it can store away during the summer months the sustenance for the long winter days.

Just as industrious as the ant—but in a different way—are the countless "industrial" germs which burrow into the scalp and eat away at the roots of the hair.

As they burrow away dandruff forms and if the germs are not all killed belch results.

Newbro's Herpicide is the only known remedy that kills the germs.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. One dollar bottles guaranteed. G. W. Mahood, special agent.

MOVING SEASON

Don't let another one catch you living in a rented house. There is neither pleasure nor profit in occupying another man's home. The rent paying keeps you dissatisfied. The profit goes to the other fellow.

"Rent" is but a modern term for "tribute" and the familiar term "landlord" simply the old feudal title "Land Lord" in disguise.

The modern installment plan of paying for a home lets the man with limited means in. He can wipe out the indebtedness he assumes with payments no greater than those that now go for rent.

If you are interested in the home proposition, do not fail to consult this agency.

'T' WAS A FINE AFFAIR

BANQUET OF ST. JAMES' YOUNG MEN'S CLUB.

Young Ladies of the Church Provided a Fine Spread For the Occasion—An Interesting Toast List Was Carried Out.

The school room of St. James' church was the scene of a very pleasant event, last evening, it being the second annual banquet of St. James' Young Men's Club. The room was decorated with the club colors, garnet and blue, and the tables were set in the form of an "E," covers being laid for forty.

The jolly party sat down at nine o'clock and it is needless to say, did full justice to all the many good things provided. A letter was read pressing his regret for not being with them through ill-health, but he wished them every success, and hoped to see them as closely in touch with the church in the future, as they had been in the past.

William Dalby, a past president, occupied the chair, and acted as toast master.

The first toast was to "The King," and all arose and sang the national anthem.

"Canada" was proposed by Mr. Allan, Harvey Milne replying.

"St. James' Club," proposed by Frank Hamilton, Nelson Gibson and George Sargent.

"Other Clubs," proposed by the president, Frank Partridge, responded to by Allan Haffner.

"Sports," proposed by Richard Atkinson, was responded to by Rupert Day.

"Absent Members," proposed by Nelson Gibson, responded to by Richard Clarke.

"The Press," proposed by Robert Treaner, responded to by Albert Shannon.

"Our Grub Committee," proposed by George Sargent, was responded to by Richard Partridge.

"Our Guests," proposed by Frederick Wilson, brought a reply from Herbert Treaner, and last, but not by any means the least, "The Ladies," proposed by William Dalby, Frank Newman and Vernon Green responding.

During the evening, a recitation was given by George Sargent, two piano selections by Herbert Treaner, and several selections by the Bethel quartet, composed of Messrs. Allan and Frederick Haffner, Frederick Wilson and William Thompson. The affair came to a close at 11:30 by the singing of God Save the King. Much credit is due the young ladies of the church for their assistance in making the evening as pleasant as possible for the young men.

A SOLDIER ATHLETE

Has Made Rapid Promotion in the Service.

Canadian Courier, Toronto.

Lieut.-Col. A. B. Cunningham, of Kingston, is one of the successful younger men of that military city. He was born there, took his college training there, and has practised there since his call to the bar, in 1894. He first came into prominence as a football and hockey player, in the days when Queen's had usually one or more championship teams. While at Osgoode Hall, Toronto, he maintained his reputation as one of the highest-class athletes ever produced in a Canadian college. Cunningham's name stood for fairness to friend and opponent alike.

After his college days, Col. Cunningham took up militia work as the natural hobby of a robust and active citizen. He cemented his connection with the militia by marrying a daughter of Col. W. D. Gordon, now commanding the Eastern Ontario military district. Rapid promotion makes him lieutenant-colonel of the 14th Regiment, the Princess of Wales' Own Rifles, at an age when most militia officers are still captains. He will never be long enough a soldier to regret having been an athlete.

MARINE INTELLIGENCE.

What is Stirring in the Port Just Now.

The crane on the dredge Sir Richard is being put into shape for work. The dredge will commence operations in a few days.

The steamer Stranger made two trips to Gananoque, yesterday. In order to meet the wishes of some of the Howe Islanders, the afternoon boat will leave Kingston at three o'clock, instead of four.

CAME TO PENITENTIARY.

Two Youthful Burglars Sent From Ottawa.

Among the latest arrivals at the penitentiary, are two young burglars, sent from Ottawa, James Murray and John Smith. Murray was given seven years for robbing a store, and two years of a confinement sentence for stealing a sample case from an hotel. For being implicated in the store robbery, Thomas McKay was sentenced to five years, and two years concurrent on the sneak theft charge. Both men had a bad record, at Ottawa. They do not appear to be at all affected by their sentence.

A Smart Runaway.

A farmer's horse attached to a spring wagon ran away on Thursday night, on Princess street. The rig collided with a telegraph pole at the corner of Princess and King streets. This made the animal slow down and it was quickly captured.

The Public Enthusiasm.

Begging In The City.

Complaint has been made about a man with an unusual amount of nerve going around the city begging, from door to door, and the police have been notified. At several houses where he called it is alleged that he was very saucy and gave considerable trouble.

An Operation Necessary.

Rev. Ernest Clark, who has been chosen to succeed Dean Biedwell as headmaster of Bishop's College school, Lennoxville, has been taken with severe illness, and cabled requesting to retire from the duty. But he was called back to with judgment, in the hope that he will be benefited by an operation and be able to take charge in September.

Away Several Months.

A gentleman who has been out of the city for several months and who has just returned, says it's a privilege Kingstonians should appreciate to have a hat store like Campbell Bros', where you can select your hat from such a large stock and where they have such reliable makes. He waited until he reached Kingston to purchase one of Campbell Bros' stylish derbies.

Going West To Teach.

Quite a number of students are leaving the city every day for different parts of the dominion. The examinations are nearly over, and every day the members of some year finish writing and are at liberty. A great number of students are, this year, going west to teach school during the vacation. Good situations have been secured for them by the college authorities.

Her Sacrifice.

The Peterboro Examiner, speaking of Miss Marguerite Carr-Harris' proposed entry upon Labrador mission work, with Dr. Grenfell, says: "Miss Harris, in resigning the comforts of home, the refined associations of society and all that contributes to the normal delights of civilized life is making a great sacrifice, but in so doing she is following the example of the great Sacrificer who made such a life the highest and noblest; the most beneficent to humanity, and the richest in result and reward."

A Narrow Escape.

Wednesday afternoon some small boys were playing around the pier in Macdonald park, when one of them was accidentally shoved into the water. The other lad's cries attracted the attention of Mrs. Kay Smith, formerly Florence Treaner, passing along King street. She hurried to the scene and after a struggle and a cold bath succeeded in rescuing the child. As Mrs. Smith hurried home the mother of the lad was unable to thank her for her good deed, but wishes the Whig to extend a mother's sincere thanks.

Want A Military Parade.

A great many people are asking for a military celebration on Victoria day. Such a parade, with troops from Canadian and American towns, draws more people than any other thing that can be given. It would make a difference of from six hundred to a thousand in the number of passengers coming from the other side, as the people follow the soldiers. Last year, without any visiting troops, or without any military parade, the people seemed to leave early in the morning. A good military parade takes up nearly the whole morning, and would not cost much more than the other amusements used in its stead, yet it would benefit merchants, hotel-keepers and the city in general.

EXPECT GOOD SEASON

BRIGHT PROSPECTS FOR DAIRYMEN THIS SEASON.

Many of Cheese Factories Are Already in Operation and Rest Will Open in a Week—Price of Cheese on Cheese Board.

The dairymen in the Kingston district are looking forward to a good season this year. Of course, it is rather early to make predictions but this, however, is the general opinion of the men engaged in the business, and is expected that the most gratifying. Dairymen believe that there will be an abundant supply of milk this year. "We hope to have one of the best seasons we ever experienced," is the way one man put it to the Whig yesterday.

A few of the cheese factories have opened up, and inside another week they will be all in running order. The first meeting of the Frontenac cheese board was held on Thursday, but there was no cheese to be boarded and although it was decided to hold another meeting next Thursday it is not expected that there will be much cheese offered on the board for another two weeks.

It will be of interest to note that last year the cheese board opened up on April 16th, just one day later than this year, and that cheese sold at 11 1/2c. For the whole season the highest price paid for cheese was 22c, and this was for white cheese.

AT THE GRAND.

"The Virginian" Presented on Thursday Night.

A most delightful story of the west is given in "The Virginian," produced at the Grand last night, before a fair-sized audience. The company presenting it was a most capable one. W. S. Hart, who takes the part of "the Virginian," the big, burly cowpuncher, made good; but in delivering his western talk was a trifle slow sometimes, and lowered his voice so that it was very difficult to hear him. However, his effort was good. As Molly Wood, the school teacher, Miss Mabel Wright was charming, and two other characters, Frank Campau as "Trampas," and Charles Gilbert as "Spanish Ed," are deserving of special mention. The latter showed marked ability in "The Landing in Horse Thief Pass." The hold-up scene is very realistically presented. The school teacher falls in love with the Virginian but there are many exciting events before the two are married, as Trampas is an enemy of the Virginian. The student fell in the last act, is especially effective.

The Burns-Johnson Contest.

"Tommy" Burns says "I want another chance," and many people who view the moving pictures of the remarkable contest which took place between the Canadian champion and the colored fighter, "Jack" Johnson, at Sydney, Australia, on December 26th, 1908, will agree with him. The pictures are to be exhibited for the first time in Canada at the Grand, on Monday and Tuesday, April 19th and 20th, matinees and evenings.

William Faversham.

William Faversham, one of the popular stars of our time, will present "The World and His Wife," at the Grand, on Wednesday, April 21st. Charles Frederick Nirdlinger's play, "The World and His Wife," is an adaptation of Jose Echegaray's Spanish masterpiece, "The Great Galeoto." Mr. Nirdlinger's drama was given a single performance by Mr. Faversham in Boston, last year, when starring in "The Squaw Man," and achieved an astonishing success. One critic at the time stated sentimentally that "The World and His Wife" is not only a great play, but good entertainment as well.

Ordered Horse Home.

Dr. Nichols, V.S., and Inspector Arnie went to the corner of Earl and King streets, this morning, to look at a carter's horse. They decided the horse was unfit for work, and the owner was ordered to take it off the street. He said he would comply with the law and not work the horse.

GIFTS TO ORGANIST

MISS LOUISE SINGLETON REMEMBERED.

For Fourteen Years She Was With Queen Street Methodist Church—Was Loyal and Devoted in Her Work.

On Thursday evening, Miss Louise Singleton, the efficient organist of Queen Street Methodist church for the past fourteen years, was presented in view of her coming departure from the city for Winnipeg, by the congregation with cabinet of silver tableware, and a suitable inscription on a silver plate on the cover. In addition to this the choir gave her a case of pearl handled knives and forks with her initials on them.

The presentations were made in the church, following a supper tendered to the choir by the ladies of the congregation. At eight o'clock many of the church folks were present and enjoyed an hour or more in social intercourse, with light refreshments.

John Nicolle acted as chairman and introduced a programme of speeches and music. At the proper moment C. D. DeCarteret read an address, breathing sincere regret at Miss Singleton's removal and expressing appreciation of her loyalty and devotion in past years. Mrs. Robert Crawford handed over the cabinet.

Capt. R. Crawford made reply, in his efficient manner, for Miss Singleton, after which addresses were made by Messrs. G. A. Bateman, W. S. Gordon, W. J. Crothers and Rev. W. H. Spring. All making felicitious remarks both of the organist and her excellent choir. The address presented read:

"Regretfully Queen street congregation parts with you, even though it confidently entrusts into other keeping your comfortable self.

"We had no thought, no suspicion, and yet how guileless we were—that a time would soon come when good-by should be said. We had felt you were a part of the church; you had grown with it, had been a real active part of it, and as such we felt secure in our treasure, but now—and justifiably so—we find ourselves forestalled, our dreams dispelled, and the reality to be faced that 'one like her will be hard to find.'

"As a congregation we have rejoiced in the success that has attended the musical part of the services. We can identify relief upon your good judgment, your loyalty and devotion, your wise forethought and intuition, and beyond all, your rare musical accomplishments, all these had been patent for years that you had early imbibed the spirit of carefulness and earnestness and your motto seemed to be 'What ever is worth doing is worth doing well.' We know that in entering upon your new relations, the same as fate and wise policy had been carried out.

"In all the years you have been associated with Queen street church, a willing, cheerful spirit has been manifest; with diligence and with a fervor that was infectious, you have kept in active touch with all the church's requirements, and have maintained, with remarkable vigor and harmony, a choir unequalled in the city. It has required work and watchfulness, and adeptness, and a whole-souled vigilance that, to-night, we commend, and sincerely sorrow that these blessed virtues we lose.

"With an artist's touch, with a skill and manipulation unexcelled, you have handled the somewhat boisterous instrument to our delight and satisfaction. A treasure we had in you, a treasure we lose. You have very fittingly exemplified the fact that organists are born, not made.

"And Now The Day is Over."

"With feelings, akin to desolation, we give you up your wish, not ours. Into other friendly care we lovingly, tenderly and mournfully place you and with the gift of a bridegroom we feel that we enjoy a day in the bonds of peace and hope and love."
