TAX ON OUTSIDE INSURANCE.

Fielding Resolution Carried As to Duty.

Ottawa, May 17.—In the house of commons Mr. Fielding proceeded with his resolution authorizing the tax of fifteen per cent. upon insurance risks placed in unlicensed companies prior to proceeding with the insurance bill.

Hon. John Taggart and Dr. Sproule, although high protectionists in general, took strong objection to this proposal tax on insurers.

G. H. Parley, himself a large insurer, said that the majority of Canadian insurers preferred to insure with Canadian companies, but there are certain risks which could not be covered by Canadian companies.

H. H. Mitchell frankly announced that the proposal was a protective one. The more business the Canadian insurance companies did the lower would be the rates, and he believed that the result of the new tax would be to bring more business to the Canadian companies. The England mutuals were now getting the cream of the business.

The resolution was adopted. The resolution was adopted.

BREAKING OF LOG BOOM

And There Was a Loss of Great Many.

Montreal, May 18.—Word has reached Montreal, from Grand Pile, on the River St. Maurice, north of Trois Rivières, of the breaking of log booms and the loss of 400,000 sticks as the result of high water.

The river is ten feet above normal, owing to recent heavy rains and melting of snow in the interior. It was realized that the booms at Grand Pile, further down, would not hold the runaway logs and they were opened, but an attempt will be made to recover as many of them as possible at Shawinigan Falls or Trois Rivières. The loss to the Laurentide Paper and Pulp company and the lumbermen will be considerable.

BIG FIRE THREATENED

TO BURN QUEBEC IMMIGRATION BUILDINGS.

The Stage Was Confined to the Engine House—The Quebec Firemen Had a Battle, But Finally Confined the Fire.

Quebec, May 18.—For a time this morning it looked as if the immigration buildings on the Louise Embankment would be wiped out by a fire which had broken out in the engine house situated in rear of the upper end of the Canadian building, and also adjoining the department of the United States officials. The fire was discovered about half past two o'clock. The fire brigade was promptly on the spot, and lost no time in getting to work.

When the firemen reached the burning building it was a mass of flames. The fire gave every indication of spreading to the adjoining building, the main immigration shed, and proving most serious. The firemen immediately got a couple of steam engines to work, and with several streams of water, managed, after a hard battle, to confine the flames to the building in which it broke out.

There was a considerable amount of excitement about the sheds, but fortunately there were only a few immigrants and these seemed to take the matter quite coolly. The engine room was totally destroyed and the loss will prove undoubtedly quite heavy.

Immune From Arrest. Washington Star. In Washington, in the capital of the nation, there reside 200 men who, with their households, have absolute immunity from the laws of the land, even though they commit crimes of the first degree. They may shoot down the man who injures them; they may, if they see fit, paint the equestrian statue of General Phil Sheridan a vivid pea green, yet the hands of Uncle Sam must be kept from their shoulders, and were it not for the terrified policeman or other servant of the law who undertakes to bring them to justice once they have declared their official connections. These men who are so clothed in immunity are the members of the diplomatic corps, and their shield is international law. It is provided in the laws of nations that they must answer before the tribunals of their own countries for the offenses they commit here in Washington, but that they shall not be tried by any court of the United States.

One, who used to be a belle had three children, did all her own work and hadn't been to the theatre or out riding since she was married. Another, whose husband was a promising young man at the time she was married, was supporting him. A third didn't dare say her life was her own when her husband was around, and a fourth was divorced. After visiting them and hearing their woes the heroine of this little tale went home, got pen, ink and paper and wrote an answer to the young man. You may think it was refusing him, but it wasn't. She said she could be ready in a month.

WERE BURIED ALIVE.

Two Workmen's Awful Death in Michigan Mine.

Negaunee, Mich., May 18.—A horrible accident occurred at the Mary Charlotte copper mine, yesterday, the victims being two miners named Victor Lord and Edward Yamanen. Both were literally buried alive when several tons of earth fell and engulfed them while they were at work many hundreds of feet below the surface. The alarm was given immediately, and all the workmen organized into a rescue party, but many hours passed before the diggers were able to reach the bodies.

The expressions upon the faces of the dead men showed plainly that the end had been a most terrible one, and had only come after minutes of suffering, which must have seemed like hours.
