LOVE AT FIRST SIGHT

Nephew of Chicago Meat Packer and Beautiful Heiress Elope.

Glances Led to a Midnight Wedding---Off on Honeymoon---Swift is Son of Famous Packer.

New York, May 22.—Julian W. Swift, nephew of the multi-millionaire meat packer, of Chicago, and a millionaire in his own right, who is well known in New York as a man about town, was married in Hoboken, Thursday night, to Miss Mary Emma Miller, a beautiful young heiress of Lafayette, N.Y., whom he met only three weeks ago.

The couple eloped from the Hotel Knickerbocker, unknown to the bride's father, and hurried to Hoboken shortly before eleven o'clock, in a large touring car. Only a few of their most intimate friends went with them.

Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Swift returned to the Knickerbocker, where an elaborate wedding breakfast was served, on Friday morning. Papa Miller did not learn of the marriage until later, as he is in Lafayette, where he has a magnificent country home.

None of the wedding party was familiar with Hoboken, hence there was a great time before Mr. Swift and his bride-to-be could locate a minister. They went to a police station and were referred to Rev. Dr. McDaniel, pastor of a Lutheran church. When they got there they found a double wedding ceremony going on, so they had to wait, and it was midnight before the knot was tied between Mr. Swift and Miss Miller.

Mr. and Mrs. Swift are off on their honeymoon. It is said they will go first to Wareham, Mass., where Mr. Swift has a large country estate. Mr. Swift is a breeder of fine horses and is an enthusiastic motorist. He has apartments at the Knickerbocker when in New York, but spends most of his time plying between here, Chicago and his home at Wareham.

Just how Miss Miller and Mr. Swift met has not been disclosed, but their friends say it was a case of love at sight. Miss Miller is twenty-six years old, about ten years Mr. Swift's junior. She is a blonde and is said to be worth several hundred thousand dollars in her own right. She came to New York recently on a visit.

DRIVING IT TO CANADA.

Declares Tariff is Killing Tanning Industry.

Washington, May 22.—Offering an amendment to further reduce the duty on quebracho, which is a chestnut bark extract used in tanning, to a quarter of a cent a pound, Senator Lafollette declared that the tanning industry was being driven to Canada, where quebracho is admitted free of duty. He declared that the oak and hemlock have been killed off so that now only the inferior chestnut is left, which could be used successfully to make an extract to mix with the imported quebracho.

By a vote of 29 to 38 the Lafollette amendment was rejected. By a viva voce vote, the duty recommended by the committee of half a cent a pound was agreed to.

JUST AT PUPPY STAGE

Too Many Boys and Girls Leave School.

President Elvidge Has Some Strong Opinions on the Uselessness of the Entrance Examinations.

Guelph, May 22.—"I think if I were an educational autocrat in Ontario I would wipe the entrance examination out of existence. It is one of the greatest evils we have to contend with in the rural schools," spoke President Elvidge, of the South Wellington Teachers' Association, in his annual address before the convention being held in this city.

"The height of many a child's ambition is to pass the entrance, and, sad to say, it is too often the height of the parents' ambition also. Why some parents would rather leave their boy $1,000 than to spend it upon his education is a mystery to me. His education would not make him a poorer farmer. The boy, by some effort, gains his entrance certificate at the age of eleven or twelve; proud parents, happy boy, pleased teacher, and—"Oh! Jim has got his entrance now, he got on well last year, and will be a great help around home, and there is nothing more he can learn at school now."

Little Progress In England.

Washington, May 22.—The slow advance of the faith in the British Isles was the subject of a report read at the conference of the Seventh Day Adventists. It was stated by Elder W. Bartlett that in thirty years the records showed 1,700 converts. In Ireland, he said, there had been less than 100 converts. He attributed this to the great strength of the churches of England and Rome in the British Isles.

That is our alternative to the poor law."

FOUND ON A RAFT.

Relic of the Missing Steamer Adelia Shores.

Detroit, Mich., May 22.—Wreckage belonging to the steamer Adelia Shores, lost on April 30th, has been found ten miles east of Muskegon by a Marquette fishing tug. It consisted of a part of the deck, thirty feet square, on which were a coil and an anchor, the latter bearing the name "Adelia Shores." In the coil was a woman's union card, made out by Peter Olson. A hole had been broken through the deck, and the coil stuck through it. It is thought that Olson used the coil to steer his raft, but had finally been washed off into the sea.

London, May 22.—In a recent political speech, the Earl of Ronaldshay, who represents the Hornsey division of Middlesex in the House of Commons, glibly the radicals of his constituency in connection with a bazaar inaugurated by the Countess of Granville. He referred to her as "a dumped American heiress who had been fortunate enough to secure a title." It seems that he has since realized that he said something impolite. In a speech, last night, he apologized, saying he had made the remark facetiously. He had no more to say seriously or as slight to the lady. Nevertheless he regretted it extremely.

Jeckyll and Hyde Party Who Worked in Day and Robbed at Night.

London, May 22.—A young man, William Parker, sentenced at the London sessions for being in possession of housebreaking implements, was said by the police to have been engaged in burglary whilst passing as quite respectable. He was first sentenced in 1904 to fifteen months' hard labor for housebreaking. At the time Parker lived in a small workshop which was fitted up as a builder's shop, and by means of a secret passage at the rear was able to get to the backs of houses in the neighborhood and commit burglary with impunity.
