SPLENDID AUDACITY.

New Zealand Telling of Unity of Empire. London, May 22.—Before a brilliant gathering at the annual dinner of the Royal Colonial Institute, last evening, Alfred Lyttelton, who presided, said the true way to get a great imperial navy was to foster the national spirit of the dominions. What needed to be developed, however, was not merely a sense of nationality, but a comprehensive patriotism, embracing the empire as a whole. Mr. Lyttelton emphasized the splendid audacity of New Zealand in announcing to the world the unity of the empire.

TRAGIC NEWS FOR A BRIDE.

Mrs. H. E. Curry Receives Word of Her Husband's Drowning. On Friday afternoon at half past five o'clock, J. P. H. Ferris, Queen street, received a telegram stating that his son-in-law, Henry Earle Curry, had been drowned on Friday morning at Lake Superior Junction. At the time Mrs. Curry was calling on Mrs. (Prof.) J. M. Lanoz, next door to her parents' residence, and she was summoned home to have the tragic news broken to her. It was a terrible shock for the young wife, who collapsed, and had to be attended by Dr. Kilbourn.

It is only a little over two weeks ago since Mr. Curry returned to his post about eighty miles back of Port Arthur, where he was engineer in charge of a section of the Grand Trunk Pacific railway construction. He had visited his wife here for over three weeks, and intended returning about the end of July. He was a son of Frederick Curry, of Windsor, Nova Scotia, by whom the news of his death was telegraphed to Kingston.

The deceased was a stalwart young man, scarcely twenty-five years of age, very quiet in disposition, and popular with his friends. In 1905 he graduated from the Royal Military College, and since had been engaged in survey work. No particulars of the drowning had been received up to Saturday morning. Mr. Ferris thought that his young wife's companion must have been drowned, as he would have telegraphed to Kingston had he been on the spot. The ice is just breaking up in parts of Lake Superior, and it is surmised that a party of surveyors, under Mr. Curry, probably broke through at some point, and may all have been drowned. It was customary for them to cross the ice. The late Mr. Curry was a strong swimmer, and it is therefore presumed that he had no chance to save himself.

It was only last September that Mr. Curry was wedded in Queen Street Methodist church to Miss Alma Ferris, who has the sincerest of sympathy from a wide circle of friends in her sore bereavement. Mr. Ferris received a telegram this forenoon, which stated that Mr. Curry had met death while crossing unsafe ice, which gave way. The telegram stated further that he was drowned before anyone could reach him, and that his companion had a very narrow escape. The body was recovered, and the remains will leave for Fort William to-night for Kingston.

DRAW THEM CLOSER.

The Bonds Uniting Ports of the Empire. London, May 22.—Hon. Arthur Balfour, the leader of the opposition in the House of Commons, in a meeting of the Working Unionist and Tariff Reform Association, had stress on the importance of drawing closer the bonds which united the different parts of the British empire. He said: "I do not think that anyone can contemplate the whirl of forces, which are slowly shaping our destinies in one and another portion of the world, without seeing the vital necessity that the empire should draw its different members closer together and make all conscious of our common needs and destinies and common perils. I am, no pessimist, but I say, quite distinctly, that in the life-time of many of us we may be faced with great national difficulties in which it would be absolutely of vital importance that every fraction of this empire should work together, with unity, toward preserving everything we hold dear in common."

Mr. Anderson will leave the company shortly, and return to New York, where he will rehearse with Miss Maude Adams under the management of Charles Frohman. The Auxiliary also substantially aided the directors in furnishing the building, by providing twenty-four new steel lockers, by carpeting the floors and repainting the interior of the building.

The gratitude of the ladies was expressed from various sources. Mr. Robert Meek, the secretary, gave her financial report—$289.82 was the total amount raised, and a balance of $22.23 remains on hand.

HORSE FELL ON A BOY.

But Fortunately the Lad Was Not Badly Hurt. On Friday evening a young lad named William Bryant, Earl street, was the victim of a serious accident, and it is a miracle that he escaped with his life.

Lieut.-Col. Cunningham's horse, and got on its back. The horse reared up and the lad pulled up on the curb rein, causing the horse to topple over backwards, and before the lad could get his feet out of the stirrups the horse was over on top of him. When the bystanders rescued the lad he was unconscious, and a hurry call was sent for Robert J. Reid's ambulance, which was quickly on the scene and took the victim to the hospital.

Dr. Ross examined him, and found that his bones were broken. Three stitches were necessary to close a wound in his head and he received a very bad strain, being hurt internally. He returned to the hospital shortly after being taken there and Saturday morning was slightly improved. Those who were standing near and saw the accident thought that the lad was killed.

HIS NINETYETH BIRTHDAY.

Rev. Dr. Wardrop Preached His Final Sermon.

Rev. Dr. Wardrop, of Montreal, brother of Mrs. Samuel Dyde, University avenue, was in town last Sunday, May 16th, where he celebrated his ninety birthday by delivering a sermon—and this is said to be the final one that he will preach—in Chalmers church where he ministered from 1869 to 1893. There was a great audience to hear the venerable ex-pastor who is greatly beloved and respected by all.

It is emblematic of the life of the venerable preacher, the pulpit platform was banked with fragrant flowers. A mass of pink roses, which occupied the centre of the appropriate birthday offering of a committee of ladies of the congregation. This committee started out with the idea of selecting nine roses—one for every birthday—but after this was done someone insisted on adding to the gift, to represent the years which it is hoped he will still be spared. If the wish thus expressed realized he will see far more than the century mark. At his request the roses were carefully preserved after the services, and distributed to the residents of the General Hospital and Elliott Home.

His text was Deut. viii, 2, and from him preached a sermon of peace and good will towards men, so characteristic of all his life and utterances. The discourse was impressively given with fluency and with scarcely a reference to notes. He recalled his ministrations in Ottawa, under Genl. Dr. Wardrop, one of the staunchest friends of Queen's University and has been one of its trustees for a great many years.

Board Has Absolute Control. Kingston, May 22.—(To the Editor): What do the property owners think of the Board of Health's latest proposal (as reported in your columns) to do away with the existing pits and dry earth closets? As I understand it they intend first to make a start in the lower section of the city and gradually extend the restriction to the entire town. This will cost about $100 a house and the property owners ought immediately to make known their views on the matter to their representatives in the city council.—TOWNSMAN. The Board of Health has absolute control in this matter.—Ed.

CAN GIVE NO ESTIMATES

Of Loss of Life and Property By the Massacre. Rev. D. Macallum has received two more letters from his son, Rev. F. W. Macallum, who is engaged in missionary work in Turkey, in which he makes further reference to the awful massacre there. One letter is dated, Adana, April 19th, and the other was written at Mersine, on April 28th.

The writer says that no estimate can yet be made of the loss of life and property. The villages and towns have suffered terribly, and many of the preachers have been killed. Terrible stories of the massacres in the surrounding towns and villages are told by the few survivors. Most of the men were slaughtered, while women were wounded in trying to protect their husbands.

Contracts Awarded. The contracts for the several trades required in the erection of three brick houses, on the corner of King and Johnson streets, for Dr. Isaac Woods, have been awarded as follows: carpentry and joinery, R. N. E. McFarlane; masonry, J. W. Linton; painting and glazing, T. W. Milo; plumbing, tin-smithing, steam heating and gas fitting, Elliott Bros. Wm. Newlands & Son are the architects. The work of tearing down the old buildings has commenced.

Cheered Mayor Couper. Although Mayor Couper at present is a very busy man, yet he kindly gave up an hour and a half of his valuable time Friday afternoon to the pupils of Rideau school. Mrs. Richardson having been called away unexpectedly at the last moment, the mayor took his place as chairman, and not only discharged the duties of that position to the satisfaction of all, but delighted the children and teachers by his rendition of two patriotic songs—"Greeting to the King," and "The Veteran's Song." He was given three rousing cheers by the children, who greatly appreciated his kindness.

Successful Candidates. The Associated Board of the Royal Academy of Music and the Royal College of Music, the chief examining body of Great Britain, have just held their annual examination in Kingston. The following pianoforte candidates were successful: Muriel Metcalfe (higher), Nettie Johnson (lower), Grace Paul (elementary). The same three candidates, with the addition of Sophia Lipman, were successful in theory.

Mrs. Pratt, of Brockville, will spend the 24th of May with Mrs. Raven, Princess street.

POWER BELOW COST IS SUPPLIED THE STREET RAILWAY.

Light Plant Committee Does Not Feel Like Continuing This Arrangement—To Get Specifications For Reconstructing Gas Tank.

The civic Light, Heat and Power committee finally got together on Friday afternoon after two no-quorum meetings, and considered important matters awaiting attention. There were present Ald. Elliott (chairman), Carson, Rigney, McKay and McCartney.

The street railway power agreement received an hour's consideration. Since the last agreement was made between the city and the company on July 31, 1905, the city has been supplying the railway with power at the rate of 1.66 cents a kilowatt, at the switchboard, the company's engine and generator being used, the city supplying labor, coal and oil. This agreement relative to power was for a term of four years, which expires on July 31, and the railway company, with power, and the city's meter, at the rate of 1.66 cents a kilowatt, at the switchboard, the company's engine and generator being used, the city supplying labor, coal and oil. This agreement relative to power was for a term of four years, which expires on July 31, and the railway company, with power, and the city's meter, at the rate of 1.66 cents a kilowatt, at the switchboard, the company's engine and generator being used, the city supplying labor, coal and oil.

The discussion showed that last year it cost the department 1.87 cents to manufacture the power. Thus the power was supplied at 21 cents below actual cost. The 1.87 cents included only the working account, coal and oil, and no depreciation on the plant.

Ald. Carson, Rigney and McKay wanted to know what the cost would be if all charges were included. The superintendent said that at the consumer's meter it cost 2.16 cents a kilowatt, but he had not figured on the cost of everything combined.

It was shown that in 1907, it cost at the switchboard 1.94 cents to supply the street railway company with power, and in 1908 only 1.87 cents. There was thus a satisfactory reduction in the cost of manufacture.

The manager was requested to prepare a statement showing the total cost of manufacture, at the switchboard, to include charges for depreciation, etc. Last year, the manager reported that the street railway company used 31 per cent of the plant's output; in 1907, it used 29 per cent. The only additional help required for the supplying the street railway was an oiler who was paid $600 a year.

The plant, with power, supplied the railway with power for about $650 less than it cost to manufacture it. Ald. Rigney remarked that if the oiler could be dispensed with, or if the street railway company would pay his salary, the present rate of power could be continued.

Manager Folger, at the request of Ald. Rigney, was also to prepare a report on the condition of things if the street railway should not be given power.

It was shown that in 1905 when the agreement was made with the street railway, J. M. Campbell had figured the cost of power supplied at the switchboard as 1.95 cents a kilowatt.

City Solicitor McIntyre, who was called to the meeting, was asked as to the portions of the agreement which the light plant committee had to deal with, and he stated that the power clause was all. The remainder of the agreement ran from fifteen to twenty-five years from July 31, 1905.

Several of the members took a strong stand that the street railway should be supplied with power at a figure less than it cost to manufacture it. The fixing of a rate will not be done until the manager brings down further information to the committee.

The gas tank also received a lengthy discussion, and it was finally decided to get specifications from an expert for the reconstruction of the concrete foundation which has been giving so much trouble through leakage. The committee will advertise in Kingston, Toronto and New York papers, asking tenders for the reconstruction of the tank.

It was decided to light four incandescent pillar lamps to be installed in front of the court house, by the county property committee, for $75 a year. The pillars will be of iron, and will light up the court house walk and grounds.

Tenders ordered to be called for: 1,500 tons hard coal screenings; 1,500 tons soft coal screenings; 1,000 tons brick mountain screenings.

The manager reported a number of applications for gas supply, but in nearly all cases there were not sufficient signatures. Only two sections, on Queen and Montreal streets had the required number of signatures.

The Time Extended. C. T. Dickson, collector of inland revenue, has received word from the department at Ottawa that the issuance of stamps to be attached to proprietary or patent medicines in the hands of dealers on April 1st, and manufactured prior to that date, has been extended till August 15th.

Paying rent is a good deal like losing money into a waste basket. Fix a home, McCallan.

Repairing and upholstering attended to at James Reid's.

10 lbs. new figs, 50c., or 43c. by the mat. Gilbert.

The 14th Regiment had another march out, Friday evening, and manoeuvred on the cricket field.
