GENERAL WAS PLEASSED WITH SHOWING OF TROOPS AT BARRIEFIELD.

Glad to See a New Rifle Range—A Scheme in Outpost Duties to Be Carried Out This Afternoon.

Major-General Lake, K.C.M.G., C.B., inspected Camp Barriefield, on Tuesday and was more than pleased with the good showing made. In the morning he inspected the infantry brigade, composed of the 16th, 40th, 41st and 49th regiments. He was greatly pleased with the proficiency and general appearance of the volunteer troops. The general stated he was also pleased to see that after ten years the men were using service ammunition at target practice on a decent rifle range.

In the afternoon the cavalry brigade, the 4th Hussars, was inspected, as well as the 9th brigade, Canadian Field Artillery, composed of the 5th and 8th field batteries, under Lieut.-Col. Rathbun.

The general expressed himself as particularly pleased with the cleanliness of camp, as was also Lieut. Col. Jones, hon. surgeon to the governor-general and director of general medical services. Both inspected the field ambulance corps and found everything in fine order. General Lake left again for Niagara where he will inspect the troops in camp.

Everything passed off very quietly at camp on Tuesday, most of the men being busy with inspection. In the afternoon the 16th regiment were out on the Heights skirmishing, and the 5th field battery were down on the compass. The signaling corps were scattered all over the field and were all doing fine work.

The 40th regiment paraded for musketry at 8:30 o'clock this morning at the butts and the 4th Hussars paraded at two o'clock for the same purpose at the butts.

The 16th and 40th regiments, and one squadron of the 4th Hussars, paraded in front of the 47th regimental lines at 5:30 o'clock this afternoon for the purpose of carrying out a scheme in outpost duty.

The inspector general visited the new pump house at the camp and was greatly pleased with the new arrangements. General Lake saw the pumps working and the tanks filled. The water is pumped from two wells, 172 feet deep, by two five horse-power pumps, into two tanks, each holding 7,000 gallons. The camp used about 14,000 gallons every twenty-four hours, and one tank is always held in reserve. The water from the tanks is used for everything, even to fill the watering carts for sprinkling the roads. The new plant was installed by Elliott Bros., and is one of the finest at any Canadian camp, sufficient to supply 5,000 men and horses with good pure water. In previous years many complaints were lodged about the water, but this year not one murmur has been heard since camp opened.

The track team of the 47th Regiment are counted on as winners of the sports on Thursday.

Capt. Healey's tent is headquarters for the visitors to the gallant 47th.

Serget Charles Hall, of the 14th Regiment, is brigade sergeant-major with the 6th Infantry Brigade.

On Tuesday afternoon one of the Ross rifles was stolen from the ranges, and up to five o'clock, had not been recovered. A search was made through some of the tents.

Both officers and men are more than satisfied with the quality of food served them. The men say there never was any better handed out, and the officers say that they receive all they are entitled to, of good wholesome food. One old soldier, who has been in camp for several years, told the Whig that the food could scarcely be improved upon. "Only those who are not used to good food do the kicking," said the soldier.

The Kilties band, of Kingston, will visit the camp this evening as guests of the officers of the 9th artillery brigade, and will play a programme of music.

The medical officer for duty Thursday is Lieut.-Col. E. Kidd, 4th Hussars. The range medical officer for duty Thursday is Lieut. C. E. Wilson, A. M. C., 7th Veterinary Officer for Thursday is Vety. Lieut. McCormack, 5th Battery, C. F. A.

Major R. A. Helmer, A. A. G. for musketry, has arrived in camp and will inspect today various regiments at musketry practice.

The 47th and 49th regiments, and one squadron of the 4th Hussars (to be detailed by the O. C. 4th Hussars)

PORTICO DIFFICULTY A SUGGESTION AS TO HOW TO MEET IT.

Majority of the People Seem to Favor Allowing Encroachment—What Concrete Mixers Would Save in Walks.

It is suggested that the vexed portico encroachment question be submitted to the people. Those who favor such a method of settlement say that the vote in favor of allowing a certain amount of encroachment over the street line in cases of improvements to old houses would be overwhelmingly carried, for the community's expressed view seems to be that there is no harm in allowing people to improve their premises by erecting porticos a little out on city property, where the walk is some distance away from the line of buildings.

The only method that could be adopted if further portico encroachment is to be allowed would be to treat each block separately, and a by-law would have to be passed making the city engineer sole arbitrator. A line beyond which no porticos could be erected in this block or that block could be fixed, as applications were received for permission to encroach. Every block would have to be treated separately, as the same conditions scarcely exist on any two blocks.

Can Build Cheaper Walks. If the board of works, with the sanction of the city council, orders a couple of concrete mixers for walk purposes, it will likely be August 1st before they are in use. However, even from that time the city could save $350 on the balance of the walks to be constructed. Next year the sum of $1,200 would be saved on the walks. By using concrete mixers, which are guaranteed, they do the work at less than half the cost, of mixing it by hand. Ald. Clugston objects to introducing the mixers if they do away with labor. Only four men would be laid off the concrete walk construction gangs if the mixers were introduced. It is the old question of displacing manual labor by machinery. Other cities are using the mixers, and if they come up to the guarantee, it is likely Kingston will fall in line, for the people will demand cheaper walks if it is possible to build them.

Nothing Yet Done. Nothing has yet been decided about providing for the loss of the Union street campus, which will be utilized for the two new buildings to be erected at Queen's University. It is now the plan to double the size of the university athletic ground. With a club house built there, the football requirements would be met.

Purchased Property. Ex-Ald. Samuel Harkness has purchased three lots, near the corner of Johnson and Toronto streets, from Frederick Burn, who is located in Saskatoon, and another lot from a local party. On the corner lot he will erect a residence at a cost of $4,000. It is stated that there is quite a boom in the sale of property in this vicinity.

Child Fell Off Wagon. The four-year-old son of Thomas O'Connor, lower Bagot street was the victim of a serious accident late on Monday afternoon. He was having a drive on a wagon and fell off, before the driver could catch him. A wheel struck the child on the head. When picked up it was found that his head and face were cut and bruised. The little fellow is in a serious condition.

Your Stomach Warns You. Some organs can get out of order without your knowing it, but not the stomach. Pain, heartburn, water-brash, belching or a sense of fullness tell the story at once. Sold For $100. J. K. Kilburn, of Cape Vincent, N.Y., and Henry Parnell, Watertown, N.Y., as receivers of the A. Booth & Co., fish dealers, sold to Thomas Lynch, Chicago, for $100, the company's property in this district. A. Booth & Co. went into bankruptcy last summer. Mr. Lynch has bought up claims aggregating some ninety per cent. of the creditors of the company. There was no competition in the bidding.

Carries Seeley's Bay Brick. The Seeley's Bay Supply and Construction company desires to contradict the statement that appeared in the Whig on June 14th, to the effect that the steambarge Westport was unloaded from the piano factory loading brick. They state that the firm has never carried any brick from Washburn to Kingston; that the boat is owned by their company, and that she carries brick made by the Seeley's Bay Supply and Construction company only. The Whig gladly makes the correction.

Large Paid Up Insurance Policy. The North American Life Insurance company offer Mr. deCarle, of Brockville, on a maturing fifteen-year, endowment policy, $3,928 of paid-up insurance. Mr. deCarle had a risk of $1,000 carried on his life for fifteen years, worth at least $12 a year, equaling $180. This, added to the paid-up policy, gives him a return of $4,108 for $979.50 paid in.

W. J. Fair is the district manager for this company, and would be pleased to give full particulars to intending insurers regarding this contract.

Dancing On The Green. Col. William F. Cody, the original and only Buffalo Bill, and three fine riders from his cowboy staff, will perform the quadrille on horseback, with four young western girls as one of the numerous diversions with the Wild West and Far East. It is a very pretty performance. What with the big battle scenes, the infantry and cavalry drills, the "bucking bronchos," musical elephants, the Oriental specialties, and the skilful shooting of Buffalo Bill and Johnny Baker, the Wild West and Far East will afford interesting and diverting entertainment.

Good And Bad Correspondents. In business life letters are answered daily—hundreds of them. Business men make it a point to never let their correspondence get in arrears. But in private and social life it is usually different. We are all apt to think it is unnecessary to be prompt with social correspondence. It might look too businesslike. Nevertheless, our social duties should require attention just as promptly and as neatly as our business affairs, and every household should be in possession to handle social correspondence easily. Some ladies, particularly, put off answering letters because they do not have a supply of neat stationery, because they are shy on good pens or because their visiting-cards are unfit to enclose, or some trifling excuse. There is really no reason for the lack of good stationery or fine printing or excellent writing-materials. Neatness predominates in all styles of modern stationery used for social purposes. The finest engraved cards, the best monogram stationery, the neatest envelopes, etc., can be had in great variety and at modest prices, at the British Whig office.

What is Found About the Wharves.

The schooners Mary Ann Lydon and Bertha Kalkins cleared for Oswego.

The steambarge Navajo arrived at Napanee, from Oswego, with coal. Capt. Corkey is in Kingston to-day.

There were no arrivals or departures reported by the Montreal Transportation company to-day. There is very little grain moving.

As a result of the heavy fog last night, nearly all the vessels due to clear, had to tie up for the night. They were able to get away this morning.

Suits That Do Not Suit. Almost any man would say off-hand that a tailor-made suit was far better than a ready-made one, but is this the rule? It must be remembered that there are some awfully poor tailors, just as there are some awfully poor fabrics.

The work of the really high-class tailor is conscientious and artistic and their work is very often despicable. The suits they produce are "made to measure," but nobody with taste would ever believe it. They are ill-fitting, poorly sewn, badly lined with cheap stuff and are execrably finished.

On the contrary, the better grades of ready-to-wear suits are of fine material, made by competent tailors who understand what "style" means, are fashionably cut and finished with a care and attention to little details which are not visible in the work of the cheap tailor.

It is far safer if one cannot afford to pay a high-priced tailor to make a classy suit, to get the best grade of ready-to-wear suits. They fit well and wear well, without losing shape, and they are infinitely better tailored and finished than the suits that are made by cheap tailors.

This is readily observed in any of the many dressy men who buy their suits of Roney & Co., Princess street.

Late Rev. Bro. Matthew. Rev. Brother Matthew, vice-president of St. Michael's College, Santa Fe, N.M., died last month. Deceased, whose family name was Arthur Smith, was sixty-five years of age, and was born in Kingston, attended the Christian Brothers' school, where he, in his fifteenth year, entered the Novitiate of the Brothers in Montreal, and during his religious career he taught school in New York and in the old St. Patrick's Academy, Santa Fe. He was at the head of academies or colleges at different times in Rochester, N.Y., Chicago, Ill., Peoria, Ill., Prairie du Chien, Wis., New Orleans, La. Eighteen years ago he was sent to Santa Fe for his health and in all those years he never left the territory.

In Memory Of A Mariner. A headstone is to be erected this week at Catarqui cemetery over the grave of the late Capt. George Murray, who died a year ago, at the advanced age of eighty-six years. Capt. Murray was a mariner for over half a century, and was once well-to-do but lost his savings in various ways. Two old friends, Joseph Doyle and William Hastings, collected enough money from the citizens for a headstone and to see the little grave left. The late Capt. Murray was an upright citizen, "as fine a man as ever lived," said one who knew him, and the headstone is placed over his grave in kindly memory.
