System Poisoning Constipation

Do Not Be Satisfied With Temporary Relief—Cleanse the System And Make Cure Lasting with Dr. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

Constipation begins with the bowels but it does not end there. You must also consider the way it affects the liver, the kidneys, the digestive system and in fact the whole human body. Headaches, backaches, aching limbs, indigestion, biliousness, kidney derangements and the most serious diseases imaginable often have their beginning with constipation of the bowels. There is one treatment which has a direct and combined action on the bowels, the liver and the kidneys and gets these organs into good working order in remarkably quick time, and that is Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. They afford relief quickly, but they do more than that. They positively cure constipation, and insure lasting regularity of the bowels by setting the liver right. Policeman Peter C. Morris, 10 Wascana Avenue, Toronto, Ont., states: "I was troubled for years with habitual constipation and have spent considerable in so-called remedies and can gladly say that I have been completely cured by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and shall be pleased to personally recommend them to any person who wishes to overcome me. "I sincerely seem wise to trifle with medicines, which merely afford temporary relief, when by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, you not only get prompt relief, but also a thorough cleansing of the whole excretory system and lasting benefits by the restoration of the health and activity of the liver." Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25c a box, at all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

MANY DON'T KNOW HEART AFFECTED. More People than Aware of It Have Heart Disease. "If examinations were made of every one, people would be surprised at the number of persons walking about suffering from heart disease." This startling statement was made by a doctor at a recent inquest. "I should not like to say that heart disease is so common as this would imply," said the expert, "but I am sure that the number of persons going about with weak hearts must be very large." Hundreds of people go about their daily work on the verge of death, and yet do not know it. It is only when the shock comes that kills them that the unsuspected weakness of the heart is made apparent. "But undoubtedly heart weakness, not disease, is more prevalent nowadays. I should think that the stress of living, the wear and rush of modern business life, have a lot to do with heart trouble." There is no doubt but that this is correct, and we would strongly advise any one suffering in any way from heart trouble to try course of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. Price 50c. per box or 3 boxes for $1.25, at all dealers or will be mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

FLUTTERING OF THE HEART. Mrs. G. M. White, Williamstown, P. E. I., writes: "I was troubled with weak spells and fluttering of the heart. I was so bad I could scarcely lie down in bed. I procured a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and they helped me so much I got another box and in a few days I am cured. I cannot speak too highly of them. I think they are worth their weight in gold."

DOINGS IN STAGELAND "THE INNER SHRINE" TO BE PRODUCED. It Is a Story Of San Francisco Just Before the Earthquake "Ben Hur" Will Go On the Road Again Next Season. Miss Annie Russell is to star, next season, in John Corbin's play, "Husband."

Francis Wilson will next season appear in "The Bachelor's Baby," a farce written by himself. Miss Margaret Anglin will appear in the fall in dramatization of "The Awakening of Helena Ritchie."

"The Saddle-maker," a new play by Edward E. Locke, author of "The Climax," will be produced next season. Miss Adeline Genevieve will introduce the ballet "The Dryad" into the musical comedy now being prepared for her next season.

Although practically in retirement, William Gillette is by no means idle. He is working on a comedy drama intended for early New York production.

Henry B. Harris will produce a new comedy by Kellett Chambers, next season, called "An American Widow," with Miss Grace Filkins in a leading role.

Miss Amelia Bingham is to go to London with her novel vaudeville offering, "Big Moments from Great Plays," making her English debut on July 19th.

"The Henrietta" will be revived next season by the Jeffersons, William and Joseph. They will appear in the parts attached to the fame of Robson and Crane.

Bertha Kalish is to continue as a star next season. She will spend the summer reading some new plays, and will begin her tour the latter part of September.

It is announced that E. H. Sothern and Miss Julia Marlowe will be co-stars for the ensuing three years, resuming the partnership that was so successful a few years ago. Falstaff, in either Part I of "King Henry VIII," or "The Merry Wives of Windsor," and Coriolanus are said to be the next roles that Mr. Mantell will add to his repertoire.

With Charlotte Walker in one new play and Madame Nazimova in another, Eugene Walter, author of "Paid in Full," "The Wolf" and "The Eastward Way," will have no occasion to worry over his new productions.

In the fourth century actors received, in many instances, enormous salaries. It is reported that Polus, an Athenian, received one talent (about $1,200) for two days' performances.

DUKES WORTH MILLIONS.

Westminster and Bedford Have Nearly $2,000,000 Between Them. Speculation was rife a few days ago concerning the identity of the two millionaires who are credited in the Statistical Abstract of the United Kingdom with possessing between them the enormous sum of $2,619,000. These two fortunate persons are probably the Dukes of Westminster and Bedford.

The Duke of Bedford, who is known among his intimates by the nickname of "Hatband," owns the larger portion of Bloomsbury and the whole of Covent Garden, including the market, which is reputed to bring him £50,000 a year. The Duke and Duchess of Bedford care little for society, and the only occasions on which they appear are at rare intervals in the Bedford box at Covent Garden Opera, and at Prince's Skating Rink in Knightsbridge. At Woburn Abbey, their principal palatial residence, there are private zoological gardens. The Duchess of Bedford is a Fellow of the Zoological Society. The earl is greatly taken up with all the varied interests of his property, and is the author of a book on "The Management of a Great Estate."

It is doubtful whether the Duke of Westminster realizes exactly what he is worth. He is probably the most wealthy territorial magnate in the kingdom, counting amongst his properties the valuable Grosvenor estate, which is situated in the heart of the West-end.

The Grosvenor family represents one of the few remaining sets in London society that may be described as strictly exclusive. They live in a world of their own. Outsiders for them do not exist, nor will they willingly tolerate the presence of anyone who by birth and breeding does not belong to the privileged class. This exclusiveness is probably the result of the successful marriages made by the Grosvenor girls into exalted families.

An idea of the duke's colossal wealth can be gained by an inspection of his splendid town mansion, which is a treasure-house filled with objects of priceless value. Many people are content with a clock which costs a sovereign or two, but that which tells his Grace of Westminster the hour possesses a pendulum which in itself is worth £48,000, for it is set with forty-eight flawless diamonds, each valued at £1,000. The Duke of Westminster is a popular sportsman, and is known amongst his particular friends as "A Or," a nickname conferred on him to commemorate the famous racehorse of that name owned by his grandfather, the late duke. Socialists and others may forgive him his great wealth when it is stated that fancy foods have no favor in the Westminster household. Simple dishes are always provided, such as mutton cutlets, milk puddings, fruit tarts, and so on. Much of his vast wealth is derived from ground-rent. He grows rich because he can't help it.

One good turn deserves another engagement on the vaudeville circuit. A woman wouldn't mind being poor, if none of her acquaintances were rich. Everybody's business is nobody's business except the busybody's. A barking dog never bites—while he is barking.

It Penetrates Deeply. Any deep-seated pain, any strain or bruise of muscle or tendon will be cured quickest by the use of Smith's White Liniment. It penetrates deeply into the muscles and tissues and banishes pain or inflammation. If you have backache, muscular rheumatism, lumbago, etc., try this remedy to-day. Large bottles, 25c., at Wade's Drug Store.

How They Disagree. An editor and his wife disagree with each other materially according to an exchange. She sets things to rights and he writes things to set. She reads what others write and he writes what others read. She keeps the devil out of the house as much as possible and he retains him and could not go to press without him. She knows more that he writes and he writes more than she knows.

Treated in Aberdeen Infirmary. Mrs. James Alexander, of Pleasant Grove, Utica, U.S.A., writes: "I had asthma in its worst form, and had the best of medical skill obtainable, was treated also at the Royal Infirmary in the city of Aberdeen. But I obtained little relief. It was difficult to take any exercise without bringing on violent coughing. In 1888 I came to this country, but the asthma still clung to me, and for the past thirty years I have scarcely been free from it. I read about Catarthozone, and was just what I needed all these years and has given me better health than I have had since a girl. Catarthozone is a perfect cure. I have never had a single attack of asthma since cured by Catarthozone."

The dollar outfit of Catarthozone invariably cures: small trial size, 50c. All dealers or the Catarthozone company, Kingston, Ont.

In the ancient Greek theatres one of the most frequent means of effect in comedy, as well as tragedy, was the thundering machine, which consisted of hides inflated and filled with stones, which were beaten against metal plates.

The first labor union ever organized was composed entirely of actors, but afterwards dramatic authors, teachers of the chorus, musicians, and even persons of whom costumes were hired, were taken into the organization. This was in the fourth century, B.C.

Maud Rogers next season will be featured with Max Raymond in "The Young Turk," by Max and Aaron Hoffman. The production will be an elaborate one, with plenty of girls. Its scenes are laid in Constantinople.

Henry B. Harris has acquired the American rights to James Bernard Fagan's "The Earth," now being presented at the Kingsway Theatre, London. It is the intention of Mr. Harris to star Edmund Breese in this play. "The Earth" is the name of one of the scores of journals run by the leading character, Sir Francis Janion, an autocrat who used his wealth and influence for benefiting others to his will.

Grace Filkins, who has lately been appearing in "The Third Degree," now running at the Hudson Theatre, and who will be seen in one of the leading roles in Kellett Chambers' new comedy, "An American Widow," this coming season, sailed yesterday, on the Kron Princess Cecile for Europe. Miss Filkins accompanies her husband, Rear-Admiral Adolph Marx, who goes abroad on business pertaining to the navy.

Louis N. Parker, the English playwright, who has achieved some fame also as a director of historical pageants, is to discontinue his efforts in the latter field after this summer. Mr. Parker directed the Sherborne pageant in 1905, Warwick in 1906, Bury St. Edmunds in 1907, Dover in 1908, and Colchester and York this year. It is estimated that for these pageants Mr. Parker has rehearsed more than 12,000 amateur actors and actresses.

Lillian Russell will spend her vacation in Paris. She has appeared 566 times in "Wildfire," ending her trans-continental trip in Milwaukee. While on the Pacific coast she purchased a collection of ceramics worth $25,000. These she will install in the studio of her new New York home. She will return to New York in August to begin rehearsals of Edmund Day's new play for her, "The Widow's Might," not to miss Messrs. Klaw and Erlanger and Joseph Brooks will produce the play in September, at the Liberty Theatre in New York.

Hapley Holmes heads the new cast of "The Round Up," playing Maclyn Arbuckle's role of "Slim" Hoover. Klaw and Erlanger will open the season at the Colonial Theatre, Boston, September 6th. "The Round Up" will travel through the south and out to the Pacific coast next season.

"Ben Hur" opens its eleventh season under the management of Klaw and Erlanger, in U'Ga, early in October. Richard Buhler will play the title role. A new and enlarged production is being built. Twenty-four horses will be used in the chariot race. Only the larger cities in the east and Canada will be played.

Klaw and Erlanger and Joseph Brooks have arranged with Harper Bros. for the dramatic rights of "The Inner Shrine," a novel which was published anonymously. The author at present is engaged on a dramatization of the novel. Klaw and Erlanger and Joseph Brooks also have engaged Miss Lillian Albertson for the leading feminine role in a new play, called "Through a Window," by Gertrude Nelson Andrews. The action of the drama takes place in San Francisco on the evening before and the morning of the earthquake. The story deals with municipal fraud and its exposure. Both plays will be produced early in the fall.
