CRESCENT THE VICTOR

Beat Kathleen by About Twenty-Six Seconds.

The Whirl Was Four Seconds Behind the Kathleen—Finish of the George Cup Race Was Pretty.

It was a great race that the Crescent of Watertown, N.Y., won here, on Thursday, when she led the Kathleen, of Kingston, and the Whirl, of Toronto, to the finish line by twenty-six and thirty seconds respectively, in the first of the George cup races. It was conceded to be anyone's race on account of the light wind, and the finish was made just fifteen minutes before the time limit expiration. All three boats were sailed by the best yachtsmen the three cities represented could produce—Judge Reeves on the Crescent, Henry Cunningham on the Kathleen, and the renowned Amelius Jarvis, of international repute, on the Whirl. Hence the very best was got out of the boats.

There were four entries in the contest for twenty-footers and under: Whirl, of Toronto; Kathleen, Tespi and Chirya, of Kingston. The Tespi sustained an accident and dropped out. In rounding the home buoy at the end of the first round, the Chirya fouled the buoy, and was declared out of the race. The Whirl proved itself to be a fine heavy weather boat, and led the Kathleen from start to finish. The course was twelve miles to windward and return, three miles each way. The start was made at 2.45. The summary was:

	First Round	Second Round
Whirl	3.59.00	5.00.30
Kathleen	4.09.00	5.04.05
Chirya	4.01.25	(declared out)

The race for twenty-footers and over started at 2.30 o'clock and had only two entries, the Ontario, of Watertown, and the Isis, of Kingston. The latter was sailed by Lieut.-Col. Frank Strange, now of Ottawa, who was warmly welcomed back to the Kingston club house, where he was a leading yachtsman for years. "The skipper" didn't do a thing to the big Yankee boat. The Isis had time allowance, but won easily without it. The course was fifteen miles and triangular. The times:

	First Round	Second Round
Isis	3.47.45	4.49.04
Ontario	3.48.18	4.53.29

Crescent Rounded Properly.

There was a dispute as to the rounding of the home buoy by the Crescent at the end of the first round. The Watertown boat swung around the buoy nearly while the Whirl followed by the Kathleen rounded the buoy outside and came round the buoy as well. This made probably 500 yards difference in distance. The Crescent, however, rounded quite properly. The other two skippers wanted to be on the safe side, and each led about two minutes by their uncertainty. This practically gave the Crescent the race. The outer punt was merely placed in order to create a finish line between it and the buoy. The buoy was the proper turning point.

Jarvis Towed the Whirl.
Amelius Jarvis, the great Canadian yacht skipper, came down from Toronto on Wednesday evening on his fine schooner-yacht with a party of friends. In tow of his boat was the Whirl, Toronto's fast twenty-footer, which took part in the George cup race, yesterday.

Kathleen Won To-Day.
The second race for the George cup started at eleven o'clock, this morning, a wait being made in the hope that the breeze would freshen, as it generally does after noon. The course was again triangular from the home buoy to Simcoe Island, thence to the asylum buoy and home, buoying being passed to starboard. The Kathleen was first to cross the line, Henry Cunningham spinning around the buoy as neatly as could be. She was closely followed by the Whirl, while the Crescent made a rather unfortunate start. The times were: Kathleen, 11.00.02; Whirl, 11.00.07; Crescent, 11.00.27. The yachts had the same skippers as yesterday. The wind was very light, from the north-west.

The Kathleen led to the first buoy, where the three closed up. The Whirl passed the Kathleen, but only for a moment, as the Kingston boat started off at a lively clip, and soon put a good distance between herself and the other two yachts. The Crescent was second. The second buoy was rounded with the Kathleen again in the lead. It took four tacks after two-thirds of the second leg had been covered by a straight run, to bear down on the asylum buoy. The Kathleen rounded the second buoy three minutes ahead of the Whirl and 3.05 ahead of the Crescent.

The run to the home buoy was accomplished in good time. The yachts rounded thus: Kathleen, 12.27.10; Whirl, 12.30.05; Crescent, 12.30.25. The wind had freshened considerably when the boats started on the second round. The three yachts maintained their relative positions throughout the second round, only that the Kathleen increased her lead on the Whirl and the latter left, the Crescent farther behind. Not once was the Kathleen headed. She led to and at every buoy. Her skipper, Henry Cunningham, practically won the race on the first and second legs of the first round. He headed in towards Simcoe Island and got the wind he figured was there. In generalship, the Kingston veteran outdid Jarvis and Reeves.

The finish was: Kathleen, 1.48.55; Whirl, 1.53.28; Crescent, 1.56.30.
Another race will be sailed Saturday morning. At present the yachts stand thus by points: Kathleen, 5; Crescent, 4; Whirl, 3.
Judge Reeves acknowledges that Amelius Jarvis, of the Whirl, could have jockeyed the Crescent and thrown the race to the Kathleen on Thursday, but he says the Toronto skipper "used us white."

WANTS MORE MONEY.

Daughter of King Leopold May Sue Buyers
Berlin, June 30.—Princess Louise, the daughter of King Leopold of Belgium, and the former wife of Prince Philip of Sax-Coburg-Gotha, is occupying a modest apartment in the Hotel Bristol, in Berlin, and trying to struggle along on an allowance of $10,000 a year from the Belgian government.

Her attorney in Brussels has issued a heart-rending appeal, stating that this sum is altogether too little and beneath the dignity of a princess. Louise, he says, needs at least $100,000 a year. Apparently with a view to inducing some plutocratic speculator to come to the princess' relief, the attorney insists that King Leopold can disinherit his daughter and so to the extent of one-fourth of her legal inheritance.
If the king keeps on selling his valuable paintings, the princess will attempt to get financial redress from the buyers. She will also seek to contest the validity of the transfer of the king's estates to his physician, Dr. Thirard.
The lawyer cherishes the hope that the Belgian government, which has received such lavish presents from the king, will in the goodness of its official heart, find some way of giving Princess Louise a stipend that she will regard as compatible with her royal dignity.

DESERVED TO WIN.

Worked in Ditch All Day—Won a Race.
Woodstock, Ont., July 2.—Peter Isaac, a full-blooded Indian, did a remarkable longboat stunt at the sporting meet held here. Isaac worked all day digging a ditch for a farmer by whom he is employed. At six o'clock he quit work, put his running suit in a parcel, walked over five miles to Woodstock, went in the five-mile race and won it from a field of five competitors in twenty-eight minutes, leading all the way and taking things easy. Then he walked home again with his prize, a gold ring. He said after his performance that he was not in the least tired.

PENALTY WAS SEVERE.

Priest Imprisoned For Breach of Rules.
Minsk, Russia, July 2.—A Catholic priest of Minsk, named Zentovich, has been condemned to imprisonment for six months, and to be deprived of his parish, for having baptized the child of a Catholic father and an Orthodox mother according to the rites of the Catholic church. The father of the child was sentenced to one month's imprisonment.

How Accident Happened.

Napames, July 2.—A distressing accident happened, Wednesday morning, at a barn-raising, on the farm of Charles Asseltine, about six miles from Napames, when D. Murney Parks was instantly killed. About seven o'clock in the morning the men attempted to put a beam in place, and as they were short-handed, the beam slipped and struck the unfortunate man on the side of the head, killing him instantly. A wife and one daughter are bereft. The deceased was about forty-seven years of age and a prosperous farmer.

RAN OVER CHILD.

Oklahoma City, Okla., July 2.—While driving his harvester through his fields near Ural, Okla., John Nichols, a well-to-do farmer, ran over his little daughter, killing her instantly. The child had walked into the wheat and fallen asleep. Not until the father had driven twice around the field did he discover the child's body.

TOWNS DESTROYED.

WIPED OUT OF EXISTENCE BY EARTHQUAKE.
The Casualties at Messina Were Ten Killed and Seven Injured—Panic Now Prevails at Messina.
Rome, July 2.—Information has reached here that Messina, Rigo and other places, in Southern Italy, have been wiped out by earthquake. There have been thirteen shocks there, varying in intensity, but mostly slight, during the past twenty-four hours. In the earthquake area, Reggio, Villa San Giovanni, Mileto and some other towns felt them equally with Messina. It is officially announced that the total casualties at Messina were ten killed and seven injured, including a lieutenant, two cabiniers and two soldiers, who were hurt while engaged in rescue work. A mother and child also were killed. The usual panic prevails at Messina and the people are abandoning their temporary shelters among the partly standing masonry of buildings.

Address of General Superintendent Carman.

UNVEILED MEMORIAL

AT THE GRAVE OF BARBARA HECK, NEAR PRESCOTT.

A Great Tribute Paid to the Mother of Methodism on This Continent—Glowing Periods of a Master of the English Language.

Rev. Albert Carman, D.D., general superintendent of the Methodist church of Canada, spoke, on Dominion day, at the unveiling of the memorial stone, to Barbara Heck, in the Blue church cemetery, west of Prescott. His eloquent sentences were listened to by a large company with marked attention.

REV. ALBERT CARMAN, D.D.

Wonderful are the ways of God among the sons of men, he said. Marvelous are His agencies, wise His designs, inscrutable His forces, and stupendous His acts. It does look as though it might be true that He hath chosen the foolish things of the world to confound the wise, the weak things of the world to confound the strong, which are not to bring to nought things that are.

The other afternoon I looked upon an entrancing scene. Our hospitable lieutenant-governor, on the slopes and terraces of Government House, Toronto, was entertaining in royal ostentation the National Council of Women. Truly here was lofty bearing and gorgeous display. Here was official dignity and wealth; here was scholarship and renown. According to the city papers, "these were the women that did things that brought things to pass." And they were the papers that heralded it all abroad. These were the women of large plans and earnest effort in moral, social and even in political reform. And governors, and premiers, and judges, and mayors, and legislators, and merchant princes, and eminent professional men were honoring the occasion with blandest speech and courtliest smile. All, no doubt, noble, intelligent, generous women, with high ideals, and engaged in generous, noble work. If any of them had their way, unimpededly, they would lift our human race to higher levels. And their way they will get, as woman always does, if their admirers and flatterers can give it to them.

We are met here to-day to pay due respect and honor to the memory of a woman of somewhat different type and general course of life and manners. What ambitious newspapers during her humble earthly career blazed abroad the glories of Barbara Heck? What governors feted her and her lowly classmates? What bands of music celebrated her praises? What statesmen and princes caredered about her wooden bench in the shades of the forest and the shelter of her log cabin? There were ladies in the lieutenant-governor's proud company that recent afternoon who had more gold in their garb and more expense in their attire at one display than Barbara Heck ever dreamed of in the three score and ten years. These fabled, had more experience of the world, more academic training and more social prestige than Barbara Heck in her simplicity would have thought could have fallen to the lot of mortal woman. And yet Barbara Heck sat at the cradle as the mother of Methodism, both in the United States and Canada; and so in many places of the peopling and populous nations of earth throughout many succeeding generations of men.

The incomprehensible movements of Divine Providence, no less manifest in the Palatines in Ireland, than in the Jews in Egypt in the arms of Jacob and Moses—in both cases the seed of the Kingdom of God—this quiet girl, Barbara Heckle, converted under the preaching of John Embury and Paul Heck, in 1760, embarked at Limerick for New York, then a city of a few thousand people, Louis XIV of France, like Pharaoh of old, could ravage and enslave, but the mighty God has such kings—in decision. Out of Egypt He brought His son; the banished Palatines, protected within the strong lines of the victorious Marlborough, and planted ultimately on Irish soil, he brought the seed of the mightiest evangelism in North America. Why repeat here to-day that oft-told story of the rise of Methodism in New York city. Barbara Heck had spiritual visions and convictions of duty given her by the living word, by the Holy Ghost, and she was true to her convictions. She rallied the lapsed Embury to his work, and of her kindred and friends founded the first Methodist class, on this continent. In the growing city and colony the holy cause increased in strength. Capt. Webb and other friends joined them, and they took a large hall, and soon after built a church, Old John street church, New York. You can see there to-day and see with your own eyes a blessed memorial of the work of God. In loyalty to the crown and the throne of Great Britain, despite the king's mistakes, and the misdirections of his ministry, the living God took so to Montreal at the time of the Revolutionary war and subsequently to Augusta, Upper Canada, where again she planted Methodism, and gave us the start of our work in these provinces and this vast dominion.

Now what have we on this American continent as the fruitage of such a sowing? Did it ever happen before or since that the living God took so unsuspecting an agency, and made it the starting energy of so mighty results. But a feeble hand can touch the button when the electric current is all aflow, and the ponderous wheels and tense belts set the machinery in motion. Given the material, the product abounded. Methodism, born of America, in the spirit wield an incalculable moral and spiritual energy. What has come of it? See Methodism in her various branches, north and south, east and west, with about two hundred annual conferences, with over sixty thousand traveling preachers, with over seven million communicants, and a constituency of thirty millions, with 250 universities, colleges and seminaries, having property, say at forty millions, and nearly as more in endowment, with hundreds of millions in church property, with vast publishing houses, multiplied and extended missions, deaconess homes, and benevolent funds by millions. Well may a man stand amazed and say deep in his overawed soul, What hath God wrought? And all this begun both in the United States and Canada by one and the same devout and godly woman, Barbara Heck. Truly Methodism may well give open way to godly womanhood. Methodism, born of America, on the American continent, may well gather her richest ripened sheaves, and what brought all this to pass?

Barbara Heck's sympathetic biographer, our own beloved and revered Dr. Withrow, lays much stress upon her "Old German Bible," the old Bible always with her, day in and day out, and on her lap as sitting she died and entered into her glory. Yes! The old German Bible. This Bible, not of Wellhausen and Kuenen, but the Bible of Martin Luther and Philip Melancthon, the Bible with which they fought the errors of their time, the same Bible and held in the same loyal affection, as the Bible of John Calvin, and John Knox, and John Wesley. Yes, it was the old German Bible of whose springs and fountains she perpetually drank. It was not the new German Bible of our time, or the modern Bible, the Bible of too many professors and schools. It was the old German Bible, whose streams rose fast by the throne of God and refreshed her thirsting soul. The Spirit of the Word, the Spirit in the Word, the Spirit by the Living Word was the strength of her soul. And there is nothing better to-day. There is nothing else so good to-day, nothing else that can preserve to our Methodism her power and her glory.

And think of the style and substance and kind of Methodism that Barbara Heck nurtured, and that nurtured her soul, that invigorated her and her kindred in the service of their God. They had faith. To them faith in God was the primal, the indispensable element and energy on the human side, in the Christian religion. Faith was to them the spiritual faculty that opens the soul to God, and keeps the soul in communion with God. Faith, faith in God's view of it, and in the view of the holy apostles; faith in the revealed, the unseen, the spiritual and the eternal. These are the realities to a living faith, the faith that secures obedience. Eye hath not seen them, nor ear heard, they are of the spirit, eternal. And so they held to repentance and trust, and atonement, and pardon, and cleansing, and an indubitable experience of peace with God. And they proved all these things in their daily walk and conversation. It will be a sad, sad day for our Methodism, if we abate one jot or tittle from these rich possessions and convincing demonstrations of our quiet-minded, plain, devoted Methodist people, such as we this day honor.

KILLED IN LAP.

Danbury, Conn., July 2.—Miss Sadie Williams, New Fairfield, escaped unharmed when a bolt of lightning killed a dog that lay in her lap. Miss Williams, the daughter of Oscar B. Williams, who has a country home near Neversink Pond, was sitting on the veranda when the storm came. The dog, alarmed at the thunder and lightning, ran to her to seek protection.

Miss Williams took him in her lap and was trying to calm him when there came a flash of lightning and a ball of fire which traversed the veranda from end to end. Miss Williams was dazed by the flash. The dog, unharmed by the lightning, lay dead at her feet.

BUSY AT PARK

Celebration of Dominion Day at Napames.

MANY FINE EVENTS

THE DRIVING PARK WAS CROWDED ALL AFTERNOON.

The Five Mile Marathon Race Taken By Deseronto Man—Napames Won at Ball—The Horse Races—An Accident and a Fire Reported.

Napames, July 2.—Dominion day celebration passed off most successfully in Napames. This yearly event is looked forward to with much anticipation. The different events were put off in the park, which was crowded all afternoon. The weather man could not have been kinder to us for not a cloud marred the blue of the sky all day, and with the cool breeze which was blowing the park was a most delightful place to spend the afternoon.

One of the interesting events was a Marathon race of five miles. There were six starters, but only four finished, and in the following order: Dwyer, Deseronto, a prize of a $15 clock; Cole, Deseronto, a $12 silver pitcher; Foster, Napames, an $8 suit case. Time 28.3 minutes.

A ball game between Napames and Kingston resulted in a score of 13 to 11, in favor of Napames.

The Citizens' band, Pictou, rendered choice music during the afternoon. During the ball game an accident happened to the young son of J. E. Robitaille, Deseronto. The ball struck the little fellow square in the face and it is feared that the injury may cause him the loss of his eye. Drs. Leonard and Brisco rendered every assistance.

About twelve o'clock, yesterday, the firmers were called to a fire on Piety Hill. A frame house occupied by Mr. Lessard, was completely destroyed. The wind was blowing a gale at the time and the firmers did heroic work in not allowing the fire to spread. It was confined to the house which, with its contents, was a total loss.

Admiral Told He Had Failed to Establish His Case Before a Committee of Experts.

LONDON, July 2.—Admiral Lord Charles Beresford appeared before the London Chamber of Commerce, in his favorite role of a candid critic of the naval administration. The effect of his speech, however, was to a certain extent discounted by the apparently authoritative announcement that the admiral had failed to establish his case before a committee of the cabinet and experts appointed at his own request, which has been sitting for some weeks past. Nevertheless the admiral again declared that the situation in the navy was more serious than was generally known, and he said that in order to put the empire in a state of safety by March, 1914, Great Britain would have to build ten battleships, eighteen second class cruisers, eighteen cruisers for the protection of commerce, twenty-four vessels of a new type larger than torpedo boat destroyers, and four floating docks, as well as replenish the depleted stores of ammunition, coal, etc., and add 16,000 men to the personnel. This programme would necessitate an expenditure of from $275,000,000 to $300,000,000.
