THE SPORT REVIEW

THE GREATEST RACE EVER SAILED

In Kingston Harbor Was That of Saturday, When Kathleen Beat Crescent—Henry Cunningham's Long Yachting Career.

It was no mistake of Henry Cunningham that the yacht Kathleen, after rounding the home buoy on Saturday, did not immediately come about and cross the finish line. As the Kathleen commenced to round the buoy at the close of that sensational run home with the Crescent, of Watertown, Mr. Cunningham gave the order to his crew to haul in the sails. When he put the tiller down hard, the Kathleen did not respond, but ran along the line with the jib full and mainsail shaking. The fact of the matter was that the main sheet man had fainted, and was lying on the deck when the order to haul in was given. Skipper Cunningham had to round up the Kathleen with the rudder, and got her over the line just in the nick of time.

Mr. Cunningham has been an amateur yachtsman for nearly half a century, but he says in all that time has never known of such a sensational finish as that between the Crescent and Kathleen on Saturday. The first yacht he ever sailed was about the size of the Kathleen, and she capsized and sank out in the harbor during a small, and those aboard had to swim to shore. Later he built and sailed a boat against the noted Kingston yachtsman, Alexander Phillips, and finished second in the race. Another boat he built and sailed was the Zetela, owned by the late Police Magistrate Strange. The Garfield and Emma were two of the old boats he handled.

After nearly half a century of yacht sailing, Mr. Cunningham seems to be at his best. He admits that the Whirl, of Toronto, is a faster boat than the Kathleen, and yet he beat the Whirl twice, with the famous Amelius Jarvis as his opponent helm-man. Of the three boats Mr. Cunningham candidly rates the Whirl as first. The Kathleen is a better boat than the Crescent, he says.

The race against the Crescent last Saturday ranks as the greatest. Mr. Cunningham ever sailed, and he has sailed a good many in his long yachting career.

Dealers say that fishing tackle is in great demand these days, in fact one dealer sold out all he had, and got in new supply. This would go to show that there are a great many out fishing. The fishery inspector says that more licenses have been taken out than this time last year.

Fell Out Of The Boat.

Yesterday afternoon, a party was coming over from Barriefield, in a skiff, just at the time of the accident at the Cataraqui bridge, and in getting out of the boat, one of the women had the misfortune to tumble into the water. She was in no great danger, as willing hands soon pulled her into the boat, but she suffered a rather cold bath.

Miss Shaw's Pupils.

Miss Shaw's pupils successful at Toronto Conservatory of Music examinations: Intermediate piano, junior history, first class honors; primary harmony honors, Miss Eileen Wright; junior counterpoint, honors, Miss Jennie Montgomery; junior piano, honors, primary rudiments and harmony, Miss Mabel McAuley; junior piano, Miss Edna Lake; junior piano, Miss Hazel Brown; junior piano, Miss Kathleen Simmons; primary rudiments, Miss Francis Johnson.

Though the Whirl was welcomed in the George cup contest, the Kingston and Watertown clubs weren't anxious that the Toronto boat should win the cup. It's not an easy matter for these two small clubs to take a fleet so far as Toronto. If the George cup ever gets to Toronto it might remain there a long time.

Wedding In Crosby.

On Wednesday evening, June 30th, a very pretty house wedding was held at the home of Mrs. Larkins, North Crosby, on the occasion of the marriage of her eldest daughter, Calista Moore, to Bert, Quincey, of Rochester. The nuptial knot was tied by Rev. G. C. Wood, Newburg, in the presence of about fifty guests. The bride was given away by her brother, Edmund Moore, and came to place leaning on his arm, promptly at eight o'clock. She was elegantly dressed in white batiste, and carried a bouquet of white lilies. Miss Ida Moore, sister of the bride, acted as maid-of-honor, and Clarence H. Carr, her cousin, as best man. After the ceremony the company repaired to the dining room, where full justice was done to an ample repast. Then a very enjoyable evening was spent. The bride was the recipient of many beautiful and costly presents, showing the esteem in which she was held. The happy couple will visit among friends for a few days before taking up residence in Rochester, N.Y.

Toronto is interesting to note that the Whirl of the R.C.Y.C. won the final race at Kingston on Saturday, this being the first of the series that she did win. Mr. Jarvis of Toronto sailed her, so one might expect something of her. Mr. Jarvis would sail a soap plate with a match for a mast if there was any element of sport in it.

Guelph Mercury—On Dominion Day, in 1879, the Guelph lacrosse players were defeated at Orangeville in the longest and hardest game they ever played. Play started at half past two and did not finish until after seven o'clock. Guelph won the first game in eleven minutes, while Orangeville got the next three in twenty-one minutes, twenty-one minutes and two hours and fifteen minutes.

At Elmira, N.Y., on Monday, Eugene Tremblay of Montreal and Phil Gould of Corning, N.Y., wrestled two hours and five minutes on a draw for the lightweight championship of America. Neither men secured a fall. Tremblay, the title-holder, was on the offensive during the entire time, Gould being on the mat all of the time with the exception of about five minutes.

HAD TO USE MAP

To Convince Toronto Man That Kingston Had Water.

A Whig reader writes:

"Toronto has a little expanse of water, which, for courtesy's sake, they call a 'harbor,' but which, in reality, is about the size of Navy Bay, over near the Royal Military College, in the proximity of this point to their city, as well as the sun bar, which is erected Hanlan's that they advertise their town as 'The Watering Centre of Canada.' A local canoeist, who attended the regatta, in Toronto, a few days ago, applied to the bagagemaster at Union station for a rate on his canoe, which he was bringing back with him.

After turning over many books, and looking up various records, he stated that as there was no water in the vicinity of Kingston, the canoe would not get as hunter's or settler's effects, but would be chargeable at the full rate.

The canoeist gently informed the bagagemaster that if he would only accompany him to the Limestone City, he would show him more water in five minutes than he would see in or about Toronto in a day, at which news the 'trunk wicker' seemed greatly surprised.

And when Toronto was laid before him that he was convinced.

Then Toronto boasts of her educational features."

HAD WRONG IDEA.

Thought Money For Fine Went to the Complainant.

Some people have a queer idea of things. A case of this kind was shown in the police court, yesterday, when a woman, who had been fined for using abusive language, said that she would go to jail for ten days before she would pay. She had the money, but declared that she would not let "that woman," meaning the neighbor, who had her summoned, have any of her money. "I would rather go to the jail for the ten days," she added, "than let her get a cent of my money." She had the wrong idea of the whole thing, and when informed that the money did not go to the woman, but that it went into the hands of the court, she was quite willing to pay for her freedom, and did so without further argument.

Suggests A Revision.

Ex-Ald. Bassham thinks the waterworks regulations should be revised so that people who shut up their houses for the summer can have the water left on without having to pay the full quarter's rates.

He suggests that only the general rate be charged in such cases, and the extras be struck off.

Many people, he says, prefer to have their water left on, even if they are away.

He doesn't think that the people should be dealt with as if they could not be trusted.
