

The Daily British Whig

YEAR 76-NO. 158.

KINGSTON, ONTARIO, THURSDAY, JULY 8, 1909.

LAST EDITION

WILY CHINKS

They Fascinate Many Of The Young Girls.

SHE IS ENAMORED

A SUNDAY SCHOOL TEACHER IN DIVE.

Celestial Admirer Arrested on a Serious Charge—Chinese Adepts in Art of Love-making—Another Teacher Waiting For Bracelet.

GETS MOST FROM CANADA.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 8.—Sarah Crew, a teacher in a Chinese Sunday school connected with the Second Presbyterian church, there, was sent to the House of the Good Shepherd, to be held as a witness against Lee Kulk, keeper of a Chinese dive, and a pupil of the young woman. The youthful teacher of the Chinaman was arrested in his half-restaurant and half-dive last Saturday, but the preliminary hearing was not held until Wednesday morning.

When Lee Kulk was arraigned the girl was asked to testify against him. She broke into tears, deploring that the Chinaman always had treated her kindly, had given her presents, and that she had no desire to be instrumental in sending him to the penitentiary. After much questioning Miss Crew acknowledged that she first became enamored with Lee Kulk while teaching him the ten commandments. Each Sunday Lee would bring her some little present varying from a fan to a bottle of Chinese wine. He always treated her with the greatest of courtesy, she said, and finally requested her to call at his alleged restaurant. She began calling at the dive several weeks ago and finally allowed her yellow admirer to caress her. That was the beginning of the fatal end when the police broke into the place, last Saturday, finding Miss Crew in the embrace of her admirer.

In closing her tale Miss Crew declared that the Chinese are adepts in the art of love-making, and that by their ingratiating manner and pigeon-toed English are able, if given the opportunity, to win the heart of almost any American girl.

Kulk was held under $1,000 bond on a charge of seduction, his American sweetheart being but seventeen years of age. There are several other charges to be lodged against him if this does not hold.

During the preliminary hearing of Kulk, Superintendent of Police McQuade was laboring with Miss Lillian Ray, another teacher in the Chinese Sunday school, endeavoring to persuade her to give up teaching. "I will do it next week, perhaps," she answered. "My Chinaman promised me a handsome bracelet, and I propose to get it."

Consolidation Of Companies.

Watertown, N.Y., July 8.—The Babcock company will soon begin the manufacture of automobiles, and to that end a consolidation of the Babcock company and the Watertown Carriage company has been effected.

The Babcock company will manufacture automobiles only, the carriage end of the business being taken care of by the Watertown Carriage company. George H. Babcock, will act as president; William Mills, secretary and treasurer. The combined capitalization represented is about a million dollars.

To Let $10,500,000 Contracts.

Albany, July 8.—The "Barge Canal Bulletin," for June, just issued by State Engineer Williams, shows that at the beginning of June contracts covering eighty-eight miles of canal and estimated to cost $10,500,000 were about to be let. Work amounting to $36,544,877 was under contract, of which $10,471,418 worth had been done.

Taft's Landlord Dies.

Boston, July 8.—Robert D. Evans, aged sixty-seven, the landlord of President Taft, and his next door neighbor in Beverly, and a director in a large number of "milling" companies died at the Massachusetts Homeopathic hospital, of injuries received by being thrown from his horse last Wednesday. He was born in St. John, N.B.

DAILY MEMORANDA.

Stevens America to Ogdensburg, S.M. Friday.

Bibby's Theatre—Big Cowherd Drama "Bon's Kid"; "Policeman's Romance"; "The Slavery"; or "The Adventures of a Coal Miner". J. Douglas Banker, in Illustrated Songs.

DOULTON WARE

Just opened all the newest designs and latest effects in this celebrated maker.

Don't Miss Seeing Them.

Robertson Bros.

TWO BOYS SHOT.

Wounded From Ambush While on Way Home.

New York, July 8.—Two small boys returning home to West Hoboken, N.J., last evening, after a swim off the west shore of the Hudson river, were mysteriously fired upon as they traversed a road at the foot of the Palisades. One of them was mortally wounded, the other's left hand was torn away and the sight of his left eye destroyed.

The little victims, William and Alfred Kirschner, twelve and nine years old, respectively, dragged themselves half a mile, bleeding profusely, and fell exhausted at the feet of a pedestrian. At an hospital the boys said the shots were fired from a clump of trees along the road. A shotgun apparently was used. Several shot penetrated Alfred's neck and he has little chance to recover. Police were scouring the woods along the Palisades last night.

HER FORMER HUSBAND LEFT MUCH PROPERTY.

Mrs. Douglas Declared She Never Heard of Her Husband Getting a Divorce Until After He Was Buried—The Decision of the Supreme Court.

Spokane, Wash., July 8.—Urged by her relatives to attack a divorce granted in Illinois, forty-two years ago, Mrs. Anna Douglas, an aged and infirm resident of Los Angeles, will be apprised in a few days that the supreme court of the state of Washington, has decided she is neither the wife nor the widow of the late Hiriam L. Douglas, who died in Spokane in 1900, leaving a valuable estate. They were married in Michigan in 1883 and separated five years afterward, when Douglas went to Illinois, where he instituted an action for divorce, alleging desertion. The records show the decree was granted. Douglas came to the Northwest in 1888 and located on a homestead in Spokane county. He was killed in a runaway accident two years later, when his daughter and her husband, George W. Teller, began to develop the farm, making it a valuable property. To establish herseip, Mrs. Douglas alleged she never heard of the divorce, until after her husband's death, asserting also that it was void because it had not been signed and that it was procured by fraud.

Practical tests are now being made in Prague, and it is reported that the military authorities are extremely satisfied with the result. Further tests will follow, when the shield will be fired at by machine guns.

Spokane, Wash., July 8.—Urged by

her relatives to attack a divorce granted in Illinois, forty-two years ago, Mrs. Anna Douglas, an aged and infirm resident of Los Angeles, will be apprised in a few days that the supreme court of the state of Washington, has decided she is neither the wife nor the widow of the late Hiriam L. Douglas, who died in Spokane in 1900, leaving a valuable estate. They were married in Michigan in 1883 and separated five years afterward, when Douglas went to Illinois, where he instituted an action for divorce, alleging desertion. The records show the decree was granted. Douglas came to the Northwest in 1888 and located on a homestead in Spokane county. He was killed in a runaway accident two years later, when his daughter and her husband, George W. Teller, began to develop the farm, making it a valuable property. To establish herseip, Mrs. Douglas alleged she never heard of the divorce, until after her husband's death, asserting also that it was void because it had not been signed and that it was procured by fraud.

Practical tests are now being made in Prague, and it is reported that the military authorities are extremely satisfied with the result. Further tests will follow, when the shield will be fired at by machine guns.

Spokane, Wash., July 8.—Urged by

her relatives to attack a divorce granted in Illinois, forty-two years ago, Mrs. Anna Douglas, an aged and infirm resident of Los Angeles, will be apprised in a few days that the supreme court of the state of Washington, has decided she is neither the wife nor the widow of the late Hiriam L. Douglas, who died in Spokane in 1900, leaving a valuable estate. They were married in Michigan in 1883 and separated five years afterward, when Douglas went to Illinois, where he instituted an action for divorce, alleging desertion. The records show the decree was granted. Douglas came to the Northwest in 1888 and located on a homestead in Spokane county. He was killed in a runaway accident two years later, when his daughter and her husband, George W. Teller, began to develop the farm, making it a valuable property. To establish herseip, Mrs. Douglas alleged she never heard of the divorce, until after her husband's death, asserting also that it was void because it had not been signed and that it was procured by fraud.

Practical tests are now being made in Prague, and it is reported that the military authorities are extremely satisfied with the result. Further tests will follow, when the shield will be fired at by machine guns.

Spokane, Wash., July 8.—Urged by

her relatives to attack a divorce granted in Illinois, forty-two years ago, Mrs. Anna Douglas, an aged and infirm resident of Los Angeles, will be apprised in a few days that the supreme court of the state of Washington, has decided she is neither the wife nor the widow of the late Hiriam L. Douglas, who died in Spokane in 1900, leaving a valuable estate. They were married in Michigan in 1883 and separated five years afterward, when Douglas went to Illinois, where he instituted an action for divorce, alleging desertion. The records show the decree was granted. Douglas came to the Northwest in 1888 and located on a homestead in Spokane county. He was killed in a runaway accident two years later, when his daughter and her husband, George W. Teller, began to develop the farm, making it a valuable property. To establish herseip, Mrs. Douglas alleged she never heard of the divorce, until after her husband's death, asserting also that it was void because it had not been signed and that it was procured by fraud.

Practical tests are now being made in Prague, and it is reported that the military authorities are extremely satisfied with the result. Further tests will follow, when the shield will be fired at by machine guns.

Spokane, Wash., July 8.—Urged by

her relatives to attack a divorce granted in Illinois, forty-two years ago, Mrs. Anna Douglas, an aged and infirm resident of Los Angeles, will be apprised in a few days that the supreme court of the state of Washington, has decided she is neither the wife nor the widow of the late Hiriam L. Douglas, who died in Spokane in 1900, leaving a valuable estate. They were married in Michigan in 1883 and separated five years afterward, when Douglas went to Illinois, where he instituted an action for divorce, alleging desertion. The records show the decree was granted. Douglas came to the Northwest in 1888 and located on a homestead in Spokane county. He was killed in a runaway accident two years later, when his daughter and her husband, George W. Teller, began to develop the farm, making it a valuable property. To establish herseip, Mrs. Douglas alleged she never heard of the divorce, until after her husband's death, asserting also that it was void because it had not been signed and that it was procured by fraud.

Practical tests are now being made in Prague, and it is reported that the military authorities are extremely satisfied with the result. Further tests will follow, when the shield will be fired at by machine guns.

Spokane, Wash., July 8.—Urged by

her relatives to attack a divorce granted in Illinois, forty-two years ago, Mrs. Anna Douglas, an aged and infirm resident of Los Angeles, will be apprised in a few days that the supreme court of the state of Washington, has decided she is neither the wife nor the widow of the late Hiriam L. Douglas, who died in Spokane in 1900, leaving a valuable estate. They were married in Michigan in 1883 and separated five years afterward, when Douglas went to Illinois, where he instituted an action for divorce, alleging desertion. The records show the decree was granted. Douglas came to the Northwest in 1888 and located on a homestead in Spokane county. He was killed in a runaway accident two years later, when his daughter and her husband, George W. Teller, began to develop the farm, making it a valuable property. To establish herseip, Mrs. Douglas alleged she never heard of the divorce, until after her husband's death, asserting also that it was void because it had not been signed and that it was procured by fraud.

Practical tests are now being made in Prague, and it is reported that the military authorities are extremely satisfied with the result. Further tests will follow, when the shield will be fired at by machine guns.

Spokane, Wash., July 8.—Urged by

her relatives to attack a divorce granted in Illinois, forty-two years ago, Mrs. Anna Douglas, an aged and infirm resident of Los Angeles, will be apprised in a few days that the supreme court of the state of Washington, has decided she is neither the wife nor the widow of the late Hiriam L. Douglas, who died in Spokane in 1900, leaving a valuable estate. They were married in Michigan in 1883 and separated five years afterward, when Douglas went to Illinois, where he instituted an action for divorce, alleging desertion. The records show the decree was granted. Douglas came to the Northwest in 1888 and located on a homestead in Spokane county. He was killed in a runaway accident two years later, when his daughter and her husband, George W. Teller, began to develop the farm, making it a valuable property. To establish herseip, Mrs. Douglas alleged she never heard of the divorce, until after her husband's death, asserting also that it was void because it had not been signed and that it was procured by fraud.

Practical tests are now being made in Prague, and it is reported that the military authorities are extremely satisfied with the result. Further tests will follow, when the shield will be fired at by machine guns.

Spokane, Wash., July 8.—Urged by

her relatives to attack a divorce granted in Illinois, forty-two years ago, Mrs. Anna Douglas, an aged and infirm resident of Los Angeles, will be apprised in a few days that the supreme court of the state of Washington, has decided she is neither the wife nor the widow of the late Hiriam L. Douglas, who died in Spokane in 1900, leaving a valuable estate. They were married in Michigan in 1883 and separated five years afterward, when Douglas went to Illinois, where he instituted an action for divorce, alleging desertion. The records show the decree was granted. Douglas came to the Northwest in 1888 and located on a homestead in Spokane county. He was killed in a runaway accident two years later, when his daughter and her husband, George W. Teller, began to develop the farm, making it a valuable property. To establish herseip, Mrs. Douglas alleged she never heard of the divorce, until after her husband's death, asserting also that it was void because it had not been signed and that it was procured by fraud.

Practical tests are now being made in Prague, and it is reported that the military authorities are extremely satisfied with the result. Further tests will follow, when the shield will be fired at by machine guns.

Spokane, Wash., July 8.—Urged by

her relatives to attack a divorce granted in Illinois, forty-two years ago, Mrs. Anna Douglas, an aged and infirm resident of Los Angeles, will be apprised in a few days that the supreme court of the state of Washington, has decided she is neither the wife nor the widow of the late Hiriam L. Douglas, who died in Spokane in 1900, leaving a valuable estate. They were married in Michigan in 1883 and separated five years afterward, when Douglas went to Illinois, where he instituted an action for divorce, alleging desertion. The records show the decree was granted. Douglas came to the Northwest in 1888 and located on a homestead in Spokane county. He was killed in a runaway accident two years later, when his daughter and her husband, George W. Teller, began to develop the farm, making it a valuable property. To establish herseip, Mrs. Douglas alleged she never heard of the divorce, until after her husband's death, asserting also that it was void because it had not been signed and that it was procured by fraud.

Practical tests are now being made in Prague, and it is reported that the military authorities are extremely satisfied with the result. Further tests will follow, when the shield will be fired at by machine guns.

Spokane, Wash., July 8.—Urged by

her relatives to attack a divorce granted in Illinois, forty-two years ago, Mrs. Anna Douglas, an aged and infirm resident of Los Angeles, will be apprised in a few days that the supreme court of the state of Washington, has decided she is neither the wife nor the widow of the late Hiriam L. Douglas, who died in Spokane in 1900, leaving a valuable estate. They were married in Michigan in 1883 and separated five years afterward, when Douglas went to Illinois, where he instituted an action for divorce, alleging desertion. The records show the decree was granted. Douglas came to the Northwest in 1888 and located on a homestead in Spokane county. He was killed in a runaway accident two years later, when his daughter and her husband, George W. Teller, began to develop the farm, making it a valuable property. To establish herseip, Mrs. Douglas alleged she never heard of the divorce, until after her husband's death, asserting also that it was void because it had not been signed and that it was procured by fraud.

Practical tests are now being made in Prague, and it is reported that the military authorities are extremely satisfied with the result. Further tests will follow, when the shield will be fired at by machine guns.

Spokane, Wash., July 8.—Urged by

her relatives to attack a divorce granted in Illinois, forty-two years ago, Mrs. Anna Douglas, an aged and infirm resident of Los Angeles, will be apprised in a few days that the supreme court of the state of Washington, has decided she is neither the wife nor the widow of the late Hiriam L. Douglas, who died in Spokane in 1900, leaving a valuable estate. They were married in Michigan in 1883 and separated five years afterward, when Douglas went to Illinois, where he instituted an action for divorce, alleging desertion. The records show the decree was granted. Douglas came to the Northwest in 1888 and located on a homestead in Spokane county. He was killed in a runaway accident two years later, when his daughter and her husband, George W. Teller, began to develop the farm, making it a valuable property. To establish herseip, Mrs. Douglas alleged she never heard of the divorce, until after her husband's death, asserting also that it was void because it had not been signed and that it was procured by fraud.

Practical tests are now being made in Prague, and it is reported that the military authorities are extremely satisfied with the result. Further tests will follow, when the shield will be fired at by machine guns.

Spokane, Wash., July 8.—Urged by

her relatives to attack a divorce granted in Illinois, forty-two years ago, Mrs. Anna Douglas, an aged and infirm resident of Los Angeles, will be apprised in a few days that the supreme court of the state of Washington, has decided she is neither the wife nor the widow of the late Hiriam L. Douglas, who died in Spokane in 1900, leaving a valuable estate. They were married in Michigan in 1883 and separated five years afterward, when Douglas went to Illinois, where he instituted an action for divorce, alleging desertion. The records show the decree was granted. Douglas came to the Northwest in 1888 and located on a homestead in Spokane county. He was killed in a runaway accident two years later, when his daughter and her husband, George W. Teller, began to develop the farm, making it a valuable property. To establish herseip, Mrs. Douglas alleged she never heard of the divorce, until after her husband's death, asserting also that it was void because it had not been signed and that it was procured by fraud.

Practical tests are now being made in Prague, and it is reported that the military authorities are extremely satisfied with the result. Further tests will follow, when the shield will be fired at by machine guns.

Spokane, Wash., July 8.—Urged by

her relatives to attack a divorce granted in Illinois, forty-two years ago, Mrs. Anna Douglas, an aged and infirm resident of Los Angeles, will be apprised in a few days that the supreme court of the state of Washington, has decided she is neither the wife nor the widow of the late Hiriam L. Douglas, who died in Spokane in 1900, leaving a valuable estate. They were married in Michigan in 1883 and separated five years afterward, when Douglas went to Illinois, where he instituted an action for divorce, alleging desertion. The records show the decree was granted. Douglas came to the Northwest in 1888 and located on a homestead in Spokane county. He was killed in a runaway accident two years later, when his daughter and her husband, George W. Teller, began to develop the farm, making it a valuable property. To establish herseip, Mrs. Douglas alleged she never heard of the divorce, until after her husband's death, asserting also that it was void because it had not been signed and that it was procured by fraud.

Practical tests are now being made in Prague, and it is reported that the military authorities are extremely satisfied with the result. Further tests will follow, when the shield will be fired at by machine guns.

Spokane, Wash., July 8.—Urged by

her relatives to attack a divorce granted in Illinois, forty-two years ago, Mrs. Anna Douglas, an aged and infirm resident of Los Angeles, will be apprised in a few days that the supreme court of the state of Washington, has decided she is neither the wife nor the widow of the late Hiriam L. Douglas, who died in Spokane in 1900, leaving a valuable estate. They were married in Michigan in 1883 and separated five years afterward, when Douglas went to Illinois, where he instituted an action for divorce, alleging desertion. The records show the decree was granted. Douglas came to the Northwest in 1888 and located on a homestead in Spokane county. He was killed in a runaway accident two years later, when his daughter and her husband, George W. Teller, began to develop the farm, making it a valuable property. To establish herseip, Mrs. Douglas alleged she never heard of the divorce, until after her husband's death, asserting also that it was void because it had not been signed and that it was procured by fraud.

Practical tests are now being made in Prague, and it is reported that the military authorities are extremely satisfied with the result. Further tests will follow, when the shield will be fired at by machine guns.

Spokane, Wash., July 8.—Urged by

her relatives to attack a divorce granted in Illinois, forty-two years ago, Mrs. Anna Douglas, an aged and infirm resident of Los Angeles, will be apprised in a few days that the supreme court of the state of Washington, has decided she is neither the wife nor the widow of the late Hiriam L. Douglas, who died in Spokane in 1900, leaving a valuable estate. They were married in Michigan in 1883 and separated five years afterward, when Douglas went to Illinois, where he instituted an action for divorce, alleging desertion. The records show the decree was granted. Douglas came to the Northwest in 1888 and located on a homestead in Spokane county. He was killed in a runaway accident two years later, when his daughter and her husband, George W. Teller, began to develop the farm, making it a valuable property. To establish herseip, Mrs. Douglas alleged she never heard of the divorce, until after her husband's death, asserting also that it