A FINE ELECTRIC ROAD
IS NOW MANAGED BY J. M. CAMPBELL

Formerly of Kingston—It Runs From Rochester to Lockport—The Travel is Large and the Scenery Beautiful.

A few days ago, a representative of the Wig had the pleasure of taking a trip over the Buffalo, Lockport and Rochester electric railroad, of which a former Kingstonian, J. M. Campbell, is president and general manager. The new road was opened in November last, and now regular trains are running from Rochester to Lockport, a distance of fifty-seven miles. The road is conceded to be one of the finest electric roads in New York state, and from the business handled it seems as if the public was firm in this opinion.

The new road runs nearly all the way from Rochester to Lockport along the famous Erie canal, upon which millions are now being expended by the United States government, in widening and deepening the waterways. The country through which the road runs, is beautiful from all points of view, and as a farm and fruit-producing district, is of the best. As the car speeds along, great orchards of peaches, pears, apples and other fruits meet the gaze, well kept and bearing fruit. The line runs through several towns and many villages on the road to Lockport, and all are typical flourishing United States hamlets, possessing many advantages that Kingston does not enjoy, paved streets and other conveniences in towns of ten and twelve thousand population. In every case the new road runs along the main streets of the towns, something that the steam trains cannot do.

From a passenger's standpoint, it is certainly far nicer to travel by the electric road, and nothing is lost, but much gained by it. There is no dust, no jarring, and very little noise, and one goes just as fast as on the trains and also sees far more than by being locked up in a coach. The cars on the road are all of the latest design and everything for the comfort of the passengers is on hand. About twenty cars are now on the daily run and new ones are daily making their appearance.

Mr. Campbell has his office at the main barns and stops about a mile out on the line. Here the cars are run at night, and also for repairs. A large car shop completely equipped is on hand, and here the new cars are wired and made ready for service.

Mr. Campbell has been away from Kingston about two years, but during that time has built up one of the finest roads in New York state and his efforts are being crowned with success, as would be quite apparent to anyone who watches the crowded cars that run in and out of Rochester every few minutes during the day and well into the night. Before long the road will be running into Buffalo, and the friends of the manager in Kingston wish him every success across the line.

POLICE WILL COLLECT

The Laundry License Fee For Half Year.

The city treasurer has asked the chief of police as inspector of laundries to send out and collect from the laundry proprietors the license fee, which will be twenty-five dollars for the half year. That will mean the collection of $100 for the six months ending December 31st. The fee is payable at once.

The clause in the laundry by-law, through which Ald. Nickle says a coach and four can be driven, is as follows:

No person shall carry on the business of a laundry, unless and until he shall procure a license so to do, for each laundry works (viz., place where any laundry work is done), conducted by him, and no person shall receive, collect, or deliver laundry work, except as an employee of a licensed laundry, unless and until he shall procure such license, and every person so licensed shall be subject to the provisions of this by-law.

City Solicitor McIntyre does not concur in the opinion that a coach and four can be driven through his by-law, which, it is understood, is drawn on the lines of Toronto's by-law. The clause, the solicitor says, clearly states that every place where laundry work is carried on must secure a license, but the by-law "shall not apply to or include women carrying on a laundry business in private dwelling houses and employing female labor only nor shall this by-law apply to or include such dwelling houses."

Many people have asked about the beautiful quartette sang, unaccompanied, in St. Luke's church, on Sunday, by Mrs. H. A. Betts, Miss May Newman, Rupert Brown and Alexander Pardee. The music is an exquisite setting to "When The Calm Of Night Is Falling," by R. R. F. Harvey, organist at St. George's cathedral, the words being written by a Mr. Brownlow, at one time on the staff of the British Bank, who has since entered into rest.

THE REMAINS EXHUMED

At Napanee, and Thomas Ewart's Identity Established.

William Ewart, Robert and Thomas Campbell relatives of the late Thomas Ewart, Jr., killed on the railroad near Napanee, went up to Napanee to interview Chief Graham as to the particulars of the unfortunate young man's death. The body was exhumed and identified, but it was found impossible to remove the remains to Cataract cemetery as was intended. The relatives of the deceased are very grateful to Chief Graham for the trouble he went to in trying to prove the identity of the young man and also for his courtesy to them while in Napanee.

POOR OLD MAN OF NINETY

Wished to Beg in the Streets of Kingston.

John Lacroix, a native of Montreal, ninety years of age, called upon Mayor Cooper at his office in the city buildings this morning to ask for permission to beg on the streets. The mayor could not accede to his request and gave him a pass over the G.T.R. to Napanee. The old man says he's tired of life and wishes to go as he's alone and without means. When sixty-five years of age he underwent a critical operation, and the doctors told him he would die, but he declared he would live to water their graves. And so he has. He has grandchildren in London, Ont., and the mayor advised him to go to them.

GOT ONE YEAR TERM
EMIGRANT ATTACKS HIS FORMER EMPLOYERS

Assaults Farmer and Wife, and Handles Them Severely—Gets Year in Jail.

Smith's Falls, Ont., July 14.—An emigrant named George McVeety, recently dismissed from the employ of Jeremiah O'Donoghue, a farmer living on the road to Lockport, returned about six miles from here, returned and made a vicious assault on Mrs. O'Donoghue, who was alone in the house. He struck her with a stick over the head and then hurled her from the verandah. Her cries brought her husband, who was in the barn a short distance away, speedily on the scene and then McVeety attacked him. He grabbed his former employer by the throat and threw him to the ground. The result probably would have been very much more serious had not two of the hired men chanced to come home to dinner just at that moment. They beat McVeety off and he succeeded in making his escape until Saturday, when he was arrested by Chief of Police Edwards, of Smith's Falls. He was brought before Magistrate Sparham and was sentenced to one year in Central prison with hard labor. McVeety is considered a dangerous character, and steps are being taken to have him deported at the expiry of his term.

TAKEN IN CHARGE.

Threatened to Kill Members of His Family.

The police last night took in charge a middle-aged man, a German, living on Clergy street west. He is believed to be of unusual strength, and will be examined by a doctor. Last night, so it is alleged, he put all his family out on the street and threatened to kill them. He spent the night in the cells and his case will be enquired into during the day. As a general rule he is quite peaceful, but when in one of his angry spells is very violent, and it is then that the police have to interfere. The case is indeed a most pitiable one. The man was confined in Rockwood asylum for some time and it may be that he will have to go back to the institution. A few months ago the police had a call from this home to quiet down the accused.

BOUGHT FOLGER PROPERTY.

W. D. Morris Secures Former Folger Bank.

Ex-Mayor W. D. Morris, Ottawa, who is here on a visit to his brother, John Morris, Ottawa, took a notion, this morning, to buy some Kingston property, having heard of the improved conditions here, and purchased from the Standard Bank the property at the corner of Ontario and Clarence streets, formerly owned by the Folgers and used as a banking establishment. The property is one of the best down town sites for offices, and Mr. Morris may later on erect a larger building upon it.

"I bought that piece of property just half an hour ago," said Mr. Morris to a Whig representative. "And what do you think? That fellow there pointing to his brother, John, is now my tenant."

Jap Soldiers In Kingston.

The Japanese soldiers are in Kingston, showing how their army would invade the United States. It's at the Bijou, and the drama is something like "An Englishman's Home." A young Japanese officer engages as butler in the house of an American general. His accomplices kill the general and steal the army signalling code. There is some fine jiu-jitsu work when the Japanese butler ties a young American officer up in a knot. A Japanese air ship is worked into the plot. Finally the Japanese fleet arrives and the army is landed. The succeeding manoeuvres are very striking, and there are several horse battles before the end of the picture is reached. There are two comedies, "The Tramp and the Sideboard Bed," and "The Practical Jokes of Two Room Mates." "Take Your Girl to the Ball Game" is sung by James Douglas Bankier, the Scotch tenor.

Permission Granted.

W. G. Craig & Co. have received permission from the dominion railway commission to build a spur line from the K. & O. railway tracks near the foot of Brock street, across the road into their yard, so that cars may be loaded and unloaded. As soon as this spur is laid, a new concrete walk will be constructed from Ontario street to Folger's wharf.

In London, Hon. Mr. Brodeur said, in an interview: "We all expect good results from these discussions on important matters. Be assured, Canada will not be behind in the work of defence."

Four R.C.H.A. Officers Ill.

It is reported that four R.C.H.A. officers at Petawawa camp are ill with diphtheria. No official report has yet reached Lieut.-Col. Burstell, commanding the R.C.H.A., or Lieut.-Col. H. R. Duff, P.M.O. Another report said the officers had tonsillitis. The information was brought here by a person who came from Petawawa.

Taking Infantry Course.

M. Shurtleff, a graduate of Queen's School of Pedagogy, and who formerly taught school at Garden Island, has been appointed a junior teacher in the Lindsay high school. He is now taking a course in the London School of Infantry and will have charge of the cadet corps of the Lindsay school, receiving extra salary.

Old Time Runner Here.

Ex-Police Constable James McLaughlin, of the local force, is visiting friends in the city. Mr. McLaughlin has been constable at Shen's theatre for some time past. "Jim" will be remembered as one of the fastest runners the city ever produced at a quarter or half mile distance. He had many hard races but generally came out on top. Although Mr. McLaughlin has gained much in weight he is in good condition and could yet run a good hundred yards.

English Novelist Here.

Kirk Munroe, a well-known English novelist, came up from Ottawa last evening on the steamer Rideau Queen, and was delighted with the Rideau scenery. Mr. Munroe is on a tour of Canada, in the interests of Scribner's Magazine, and will go right through the North-West. Part of his trip will consist of a thousand mile journey in a canoe, with two Indians, through the Hudson's Bay territory. He will write about land conditions in the Canadian west and north. Mr. Munroe left last night for Toronto. He expects to return to England in September.

BIG FAIR AT WINNIPEG

To Mark in 1912 the Selkirk Centenary.

Charles F. Roland, secretary of the Canadian exposition, and Selkirk centennial, which is to be held in year 1912, at Winnipeg, is in the city today. Mr. Roland was one of a delegation that waited upon Sir Wilfrid Laurier, ten days ago, with a view of getting government aid in what is intended to be Canada's first world fair. Interviewed on the subject, Mr. Roland said: "The committee which has had charge of the exposition are the leading men of Western Canada. They have been working on the project now for over nine months, investigating in a business-like manner every point, and they are now satisfied that such an exposition would be a good investment for Canada in her development. The exposition would attract thousands of people who could be got here in no other way. Some would come from curiosity and would end by becoming either investors, settlers, or free immigration agents, who would give the good news to their friends at home who are looking for new opportunities or a new location. Some would come looking for new openings for business, and would probably, attracted by the opportunities here, be induced to open up some new industry in Canada for the investment of surplus capital, of which there is plenty in Europe."

"They would, no doubt, view with amazement the exhibits of Canadian resources, and would travel over Canada and view with interest the actual locations of such, and seeing the absolutely gilt-edged nature of the security they could get for their money, would, without doubt, arrange for the investment of large sums, which, next to the urgent need for population, is the greatest need of Canada."

"Shoving to the world what we have, would have the effect of increasing the worth of Canadian bonds when offered in foreign markets, either of the dominion or provincial governments, as well as those of our cities and towns throughout Canada."

"The kings of finance, or their representatives would come, and view for themselves our wonderful resources and the undoubted security which they will have behind money advanced."

"We believe, and are sure, that the time chosen for the holding of a Canadian exposition, in 1912, is most favorable and opportune."

Thirty-six cities and towns in the west have already co-operated by appointing local committees to work in conjunction with the central committee at Winnipeg.

Montreal, Toronto, St. John and Halifax Board of Trades have also given the exposition their unanimous and hearty support, all of which has assisted in placing before the dominion the necessity of having generous aid in order that the exposition will be a credit to Canada.
