HAVE A GOLD BRICK

A MONSTER ENGINE THAT WILL NOT HAUL.

What the Designer Has to Say Over the Matter—A Steamer is Be Towed to Montreal.

Montreal, July 17.—Officials of the Canadian Pacific railway are worried over the disposal of a gold brick in the shape of a monster locomotive, which was built in the Angus shops, at a cost of approximately $25,000. The locomotive was completed a week or ten days ago and taken out for a trial-run between Hochelaga and Mile End, but to the consternation of the many officials who had gathered to see this most wonderful of all locomotives, it refused to haul, and after many fruitless attempts it was taken back to the Angus shops and the officials returned to their respective duties. Mr. Vaughn, under whose supervision the locomotive was designed, said, this morning, that he had no statement whatever to make regarding the locomotive, but said, through his secretary, that the only trouble with the engine was that it was too heavy and that it was taken to the shops in order that the weight might be reduced.

St. Peter, on Thursday, following the accident to its gear, is now being towed to the city. It is expected the vessel will arrive to-day. It will, immediately, be placed in the dock for repairs, and the officers of the line expect to have the steamer on the route in a few days.

A CLERGYMAN'S BRIDE.

A Pretty Event at Fall River, Mass.

There was a pretty wedding in Fall River, Mass., on June 22nd, when Miss Grace Worth Burrell, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Richmond Burrell, was married to Rev. Richard Herbert Bennett. The bride wore white merrilline, and a tulle veil fell over her pretty face. The gown was trimmed with lace. The bridesmaid, Miss Grace Burrell Gifford, wore white silk. Mrs. Burrell, the bride's mother, was in green merrilline, and Mrs. Bennett wore white net over green. The groom has a special interest for Kingstonians. He is a nephew of Mrs. T. R. Carnovsky, and a grandson of the late Rev. F. B. Stratton. He has just graduated from Yale, taking high rank, and receiving the highest appointment in the junior list, that of the philosophical oration. He has a beautiful voice, and while visiting his aunt here some years ago, sang in Brock Street Methodist choir, and numbers many friends in town, for his attractiveness are many. Mr. Bennett has just been appointed to the charge of the Methodist Episcopal church, at Clinton, Conn., and will take up his pastorate when his wedding trip is over.

BULLET'S FLIGHT

Windsor, Ont., July 17.—Harry Crooks discharged a Flebert rifle at a sparrow, near his home. The bullet missed the bird and struck Miss Lizzie Smith, walking on the street. The ball glanced from Miss Smith's neck and broke a window in a house nearby. Miss Smith is not seriously injured.

OFF "INDIAN" LIST.

Eighteen Kingstonians Set Free This Month.

Inspector Wright's "Indian" list is decreasing in number, these days. Already this month eight names have been taken off, the members having served a year on the list, and at the end of the month ten more names will be taken off, making in all eighteen. These men, of course, will not be put on again, unless their conduct warrants it. While the "Indian" list could not be expected to help all, it has to a great extent, assisted a great many to keep on the straight and narrow path. A great many have asked to be put on the list themselves.

A young man, who has been drinking quite heavily of late, called upon the inspector, last night, and told him if he (the inspector) ever noticed him under the influence of liquor again, he was to put him on the list. The inspector will oblige him.

Of late, the inspector's band have been quite orderly, at least police court records will show this to be so, as there has not been a case before the magistrate in some time.

FELL OFF THE BRIDGE.

Lad Had a Narrow Escape From Drowning.

While watching some men fishing at Cataragui bridge, about five o'clock, on Friday afternoon, Willie Gowan, aged eight years, son of James Gowan, Barrack street, fell off the bridge, into the water, and but for the prompt action of a young Englishman, whose name could not be ascertained, but who, it is understood, is employed at the Royal Military College, would probably have gone to a watery grave. He was near by at the time, and when he noticed the youngster fall in, without waiting to remove any of his clothing, jumped in after him, and succeeded in pulling him out.

The Man

On Watch.

Now that the town council has seen fit in its great wisdom to require the washhouses to pay for the privilege of extracting dirt from clothes and other sundry articles, the Lampman advises every place in the town where cigarettes are sold should pay for the privilege of injecting poison into the body and soul of the youth of this generation. The wash houses and the whiskey houses have to pay a big license tax. Why should the sellers of "cedin nalls" not be made to contribute to the town revenue as well? Surely, the Lampman says, if, as Town Councillman Chown declares, the Chinese laundry houses are "dens of vice," the cigarette shop is, in a way, worse. The Lampman every day sees even prominent men of this town going about the streets with cigarette marks upon them. He sees it in their discolored fingers, in their nervous temperament and in their weak, clammy hands. There are probably 100 places in town where cigarettes are sold. If each of these places had to pay half a hundred dollars for the privilege, the town council would receive a revenue of $5,000. Here is something for Town Councillman Nickle to advocate.

It takes a brave man to be a judge at a baby show, and so the Orange-men elected two of the Lampman's old friends, John Elmer, of the fire department, and Col. George Hunter, deputy sheriff. The former has faced fire and smoke, and was deemed capable of facing angry women whose progeny failed to win the prizes. The sheriff's deputy has also faced fire, and has gained a reputation as an arbiter of differences between husband and wife. That the two judges did their duty fairly, the Lampman says, is evident, because in one class they gave the first prize to a Catholic baby. Such a judgment at an Orange picnic here forty years ago would have caused a riot, but not so now. It seems the Lampman that when a Catholic baby has the nerve to appear at an Orange picnic, and enter the baby show contest with the challenge that it is better than the Protestant babies, and when two Orange judges declare that the Catholic baby is of a better make than the Protestant babies, then there is no need of the Orange order.

Why is it the dominion government does not give the town council a lease of Cedar Island for a park without imposing a whole lot of provisos? The Lampman asked me. He pointed out that along the river front, land has been given by the government to various private parties without having a provision attached that a ferry service must be regularly run and that the fare shall be only five cents. The street car company was given a lease of Ontario Park. And yet when the town asks for the use of Cedar Island, it has to be loaded down with a batch of requirements.

THE TOWN WATCHMAN.

THE RAMONA IS FAST.

The Folger Ramble Yacht is a Beauty. The steamyacht Ramona, of the Folger fleet, went to Clayton, to-day, and began her summer cruise. She is out that along the river front, land has been given by the government to various private parties without having a provision attached that a ferry service must be regularly run and that the fare shall be only five cents. The street car company was given a lease of Ontario Park. And yet when the town asks for the use of Cedar Island, it has to be loaded down with a batch of requirements.

NO QUORUM ALL WEEK.

Civic Committee Unable to Do Business. The civic finance committee was called to meet last evening but a quorum of members did not attend. No less than four civic committees were called during the week, and not one of them could do business, as there wasn't a sufficient attendance of members.

The city's business is thus held up for the city officials have no power to pay accounts or to do certain necessary things. A special sanction has to be given them, and if the council fails to meet next Monday evening business at the city hall will only accumulate. Aid. Twissell's motion, and there has been a quorum present at the close of last Monday's council meeting, would have remedied matters as it provided for chairman of committees ratifying accounts, and for the mayor calling special council meetings.

It looks as if the majority of the aldermen had gone fishing. The finance committee has made no provision for the extra money required by the fire department, and nothing can be done there till the money is provided.

Was Bicycle Stolen?

Police Constable Craig is looking for the owner of a bicycle, which he picked up on Princess street, on Wednesday night. No reports have been received of a bicycle having been stolen in the city, but it may be that the wheel was taken from some outside place, and deserted in this city. The wheel is in good condition.

DRAMATIC READINGS

Given By Mrs. R. Labadie of New York.

The fair day on Wednesday enabled Mrs. R. Labadie to give her reading from "The Servant In The House" out of doors at "On-gwa-na-da," and the couple of hours spent under the trees, in sight of the lake, thus proved very enjoyable.

Of the play, by Charles Rams Kennedy, so much has been said by newspaper and magazine, that little remains. It had a great vogue in New York, where it was put on last winter. Its teaching is the power of wise, loving-kindness in the regeneration of people and the purifying of their surroundings. The characters are the vicar, who has come from the people, but has risen to eminence by his brain, his eloquence and the influence of his wife, the sister of the worldly-minded Bishop of Lancashire; Robert, the vicar's drunken brother, the latter's daughter, brought up by the vicar, and the Bishop of Benares, the vicar's Christ-like brother, who takes the place of butler, and as "The Servant In The House" transforms worldliness into spirituality, and selfishness into self-sacrifice.

Mrs. Labadie has a powerful voice, with a great deal of "tone," its contrasts depth being well suited to the interpretation of masculine parts. The fresh youthful voice of the vicar's niece was also imitated excellently. Mrs. Labadie, who it is said has had some training as an actress, has been giving readings which have been very popular, for some years in the States. Her husband is also a dramatic reader of much ability.

On Friday afternoon Mrs. Labadie again pleased many people by her rendering of scenes from Ibsen's "A Doll's House," at Mrs. George Richardson's, University avenue.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Apology For the Publication of Some Names. Kingston, July 16.—(To the Editor): Although late, I beg to offer my apologies for the publication in the Whig of the name of certain business men of Princess street who were kind enough to assure me that the kind phrases were not personally objectionable to them, although out of a spirit of good nature they had signed the anti-graphophone petition circulated by the ladies, and also a list of persons who signed both petitions. These lists were to have been privately printed for me to be sent by me to the aldermen. Their getting into the columns of the Whig was due, I presume, to a mistake and misunderstanding. I feel especially sorry for this, as I had assured one of the gentlemen in question that his name would not be published by me.—A BURROUES.

WAS TAKEN IN CHARGE

For Trespassing on Property of the G.T.R.

People who loiter around property of the Grand Trunk must beware. All offenders will be prosecuted. In police court, this morning, William Day, who claims Delta as his home, was accused of loitering around the yards at the outer station. He admitted that he had been on one of the flat cars. Late last night the police received a complaint about Day, and Constable Craig, who was sent out, placed him under arrest. When searched at the police station, Day had a pint flask of whiskey. He told one of the police constables that he was just out on a holiday trip. The magistrate gave him a remand to July 22nd.

With The Fishermen.

The city clerk is the greatest fisherman in the city buildings, being a companion of James Buts, the expert from Houston, Texas. These two can catch bass in any part of the harbor. The chief of police made an attempt yesterday to do some fishing, but hauled in only a few minnows and a one-pound eel.

Going To Camp.

The 9th artillery brigade, comprising the 5th and 8th field batteries, commanded by Col. E. W. Rathbun, will leave for Petawawa on Monday. The brigade will spend about a month under canvas. The Kingston squad will be up to full strength.
