LURE OF LOVE

"No Vote No Husband" Is The Slogan

TO ENLIST CUPID

IS THE PLAN OF THE SUFFRAGETTE.

The Man Who is a Believer in Equal Suffrage is to Be Aided in His Endeavors in Winning His Suit—The Interesting Campaign.

Spokane, Wash., July 19.—"No vote, no husband," is the slogan of 250 marriageable girls who have just organized the College Equal Suffrage Club, of Spokane, under the presidency of Mrs. Z. W. Comerford. Each member has taken a solemn vow to convert her suitor to woman's rights before entering upon an engagement.

The plan to enlist Cupid into the ranks of an ally was originated by a half dozen timid members, who, after several conferences, persuaded Mrs. Comerford to launch the movement and recruit the membership to 500 before the beginning of September.

This does not mean that the methods introduced by Mr. Adam when he first met Miss Eve are to be barred here, but that the valiant knight must break customs instead of laws and gain for his lady love the privilege to cast her ballot if he is to have the warmth of satisfaction in his game of wooing.

While our members are not going to be quite as radical as the Chicago girls," said Mrs. Z. W. Comerford, "there will be absolutely no encouragement to those who do not believe in the suffragist's cause. We expect to start a school for conversion. The girls will not be pledged to refuse a suitor who is not a suffragist, but it is expected that every member will use her best endeavors to win the man for us."

"It is pretty well understood among those who are in earnest in this campaign that the man who is open to conviction on the matter of equal suffrage will be the one who is to encounter the most difficulty in winning his suit. That we believe is one of the strong points in our campaign.

"Political economy will be another feature. We intend to take up all the problems just as men do, and there will be debates and discussions at our regular meetings. It may be that these will eventually work themselves into public meetings and will be one of the factors in suffragist work in Spokane and throughout the state of Washington.

"We have practically all the suffragists in Spokane lined up in the work, and it may be we shall extend the campaign throughout other parts of the country, and in this we believe we have the best plan of conversion that has yet been devised.

"In this connection we shall make an attempt to enlist every unmarried girl in Spokane, believing that as Rev. Anna Shaw says, 'in the young blood there is strength.'"

"If the young women get into this work, as we believe they will, they will be able to convert many more young men than would otherwise come to the support of the equal suffrage movement. They are willing to risk a few of their chances on the issue, and I know of many who are so sincere they will do so without hesitation."

Had Seized Toll House—Then Dressed in Keeper's Uniform and Overpowered Persons Who Came Along.
Berlin, July 19.—Brigands held the highway between Augustowo and Lipsk on the Russo-German border, all one day last week, and captured some fifty or sixty travellers, whom they relieved of money, estimated in the aggregate at $25,000. Most of the victims were horse dealers on their way to the annual horse market at Lipsk.

One of the exploits of the highwaymen was to seize a toll gate house. They bound the keeper and his wife, and stationed one of their number, dressed in the gatekeeper's uniform, outside the gate. Peasants were allowed to pass on the payment of the usual fee, but prosperous-looking travellers were overpowered and robbed, and then imprisoned in the attic of the gatekeeper's house or the out-building, while their horses and vehicles were assembled in the walled court yard.

After the total of forty persons relieved of their money had sufficed, the brigands gathered together the best animals and made their departure, but before they left they shot dead in sight of the others a man named Fabl, of Augustowo, who had offered resistance. The son of the gatekeeper returned late in the afternoon and released the prisoners.

The German government has taken up the matter with the Russian authorities.

MONGOLIAN BLOOD BARS HIM.

Navy Hero Refused Citizenship in United States.

New York, July 19.—Unusual interest is being taken in the federal building in the case of William Knight, a seaman of the battleship Connecticut, whose application to become a citizen of the United States, although he has been in the navy for twenty-seven years and received from congress a medal for bravery in the battle of Manila Bay, under Admiral Dewey, was denied by Judge Chatfield, in the United States court in Brooklyn. Despite the ruling of Judge Chatfield, the consensus of opinion of those connected with the naturalization bureau is that Knight has a good chance of winning his case against the government on appeal.

Knight's application for citizenship was denied on the ground that the naturalization laws expressly state that those persons in whose veins there is blood of a race other than black or white cannot become citizens of the United States. Knight's father was an Englishman and his mother was half Chinese and half Japanese.

CANADA AN EXAMPLE.

English Speaker Envis Such a Happy Land.

London, July 19.—Sir K. Parks, speaking on the land tax question, said that he had been lately in a happy country where problems which perplexed us were not brought under the consideration of the legislature. When we are told sometimes to copy New Zealand or Germany, he thought we might with advantage turn our eyes to the growing, prosperous dominion of Canada, where such land regulations as are now being proposed here would not be tolerated for a moment.

MAMMOTH FISH.

Hunt is acting as guide on the houseboat Dora, owned by Captain D. H. Hass, and was fishing for bass when he hooked the big fish. The prize measured six feet and three inches, and was shipped to New York.

Then He Rubbed Them Over With Salt and Water—The Cruel Brute Has Been Sent Up For Trial—The Wife's Awful Story.

Toronto, July 19.—W. N. Rhindress was committed for trial by J. J. Barkley, J.P., Georgia township, for assaulting his wife, occasioning actual bodily harm.

The defendant pleaded not guilty when arraigned. He will come up before the county judge next week.

"He said he was going to give me a whipping," stated Mrs. Rhindress in giving her evidence. "He asked me if I would rather live or take a whipping. He ordered me to take off my clothes. He said to me when I was undressing that if I didn't hurry up it would not be well for me."

"He then got a whip, and shut all the doors so no one could hear. After he had given me six stripes he rested a while. He then told me to get on the floor and get some more.

"After that he hung up the whip, and told me to get some salt and water so he could wash my wounds. They bled all that night.

"He whipped me because he thought I was away with Wilbert Ruttle. He said he would do it again."

The prisoner was brought to Toronto from the village of Udon, where he appeared before Mr. Barkley, and is now awaiting his trial.

She also says she fears her husband will do her some bodily harm. She asks for the full possession of her property which belonged to her before her late marriage.

In a moment women's dresses caught fire like paper. One woman became a pillar of flame and dashed out shrieking with pain and fright. There was an instant stampede. People scrambled over the barriers, and, panic-stricken, rushed down the banked track, where the competitors in the race ran over them before they were able to stop, and were themselves thrown and badly hurt. MURDERER NOW MARRIED.

Man They Could Not Hang Tokes to Matrimony.

London, July 19.—A romance that interested nearly all of England has just culminated in a marriage in Devonshire when John Lee was married to the head nurse of the infirmary in Newton Abbott village.

Lee has the name in England of "the man they couldn't hang." Just twenty-three years ago he was convicted of the murder of the woman by whom he was employed as butler at Babbacombe, and a sentence of death was passed upon him.

He escaped, unharmed, although several attempts were made to hang him at the Exeter jail.

The gallows in each instance refused to act, and three times when the condemned man had taken his stand upon the drop it failed to fall. The remarkable part of it all was that previous to the actual tests the mechanism always worked perfectly.

The news of the inability to execute John Lee spread throughout the country, creating a great sensation, and making famous the Babbacombe murderer. So great an impression was made that Lee's sentence was commuted to penal servitude, and he was released a year ago, after doing twenty-two years of his time.

Don Carlos took up arms in 1839.

He was frequently invited by the French royalists to put forward his claim, but he always abstained from doing so. His heir, his son, Don Jaime, is an officer in the Russian army.

A GREAT REVIEW

A DISPLAY OF BRITAIN'S FIGHTING POWER

On the Thames and Before the Eyes of London—The Admiralty's Heroic Sedative For the Panic of Britishers.

New York, July 19.—A London despatch says that one hundred and forty-eight British warships dropped anchor in the Thames river, on Friday night, the array extending from the estuary at the south end of the river to Westminster bridge, in the heart of London. The total tonnage of this fleet is 750,000, its cost is $310,000,000 and it is officered and manned by 42,000 of the picked sons of the nation. More warships, 165 to be exact, assembled for the naval review at St. Helens in 1877, but at least thirty of those could neither steam nor fight, and were there simply for show purposes. The fleet now converging on the Thames is without a useless or obsolete unit. Everyone of the 148 vessels could go into battle at a moment's notice.

The object of this extended and superb display of Britain's fighting power afloat is largely that of an anti-panic show. Unanimous anxiety in every quarter of Britain. Anxiety in the higher circles as to condition of the country's defence has bred apprehension and pessimism throughout the body politic.

The mighty armada on the Thames, the assembling of which had been saddened by the loss of a submarine in the North Sea, Wednesday night, is the admiralty's heroic sedative.

"They have made the country think that we have no navy," says Admiral Fisher. "The British millions may now line up along the Thames, to see the boats and see the great reality for themselves."
