APPEARING OLD

Acts As a Bar to Profitable Employment.

You cannot afford to grow old. In these days of strenuous competition it is necessary to maintain, as long as possible, one's youthful appearance.

It is impossible to do this without retaining a luxuriant growth of hair. The presence of dandruff indicates the presence of a burrowing germ which lives and thrives on the roots of the hair, until it causes total baldness.

Newbro's Herpicide is the only known destroyer of this pest, and it is as effective as it is delightful to use.

Herpicide makes an elegant hair dressing as well as dandruff cure. Accepted no substitute—there is none. Sold by leading druggists. Send five stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. $1 bottle guaranteed. G. W. Mahood, special agent.

RESORT TO THE LASH.

Here is another brutal character whose misconduct has been brought to the notice of the court. His name is Ryndress, and he lives on a farm near Toronto. His wife offended him and he ordered her to strip and stand in the centre of the floor while he horsewhipped her. He lashed her until he tired; rested, ordered her to stand out and lashed her again. Then he had her wash the cuts with salt and water. This was about midnight. The next day she left the house, told of her treatment to a neighbor, and this neighbor had the man arrested. Now he is in jail awaiting trial.

What the criminal code may prescribe is not apparent, but what it should prescribe is beyond all doubt. The court should put a horse whip into the hands of some one who has the strength to use it well, and the brute should get what he gave to his defenceless wife. He should be whipped until the man who wields the lash is tired. Time should be taken for a rest, and the punishment then resumed, and continued until the skin of the woman beater is pretty well scarred and cut. Then he should be given a bath of salt and water and sent to his cell.

The Whig is not at all vicious in its disposition, but it holds that the brutal instincts of some men must be curbed, and the lash is the only thing that will do it.

FIGURES WILL DECEIVE.

Mr. Crothers, M.P., has been giving an account of his stewardship, and in a speech at Rodney claims that he was the means, at one session of the house, and as a result of one speech, of saving the country $2,000,000. Wonderful man!

One day during the large leisure he had upon his hands, he wandered through the departments, and discovered that some of the civil servants were late in reporting for duty. He made a mental note of it, and when the salaries of the clerks were under discussion, protested against the increase on the ground that what was needed was a lengthening out of the hours and a longer day of service. He had an odd admirer in the house, but he had not a marked following. His own party voted for the increase of salaries, and Mr. Foster led in the advocacy of increases where they were not championed by the house committee.

But the alleged saving of $2,000,000. What of it? A writer in the Ottawa Free Press takes issue with Mr. Crothers upon the subject. The average salary was not $1,577, as stated by Mr. Crothers, but about $1,000. The total expenditure upon the inner service at Ottawa before the advance was $3,000,000. The advances did not exceed $400,000. The addition to the working hours, with some of the clerks, the routine staff, is an hour and a half daily. Now, if the whole year only cost $3,400,000, how could the saving (by an hour and a half) be $2,000,000?

The contention is absurd, and yet it is by resort to such talk that Mr. Crothers has undertaken to magnify his importance in Elgin. Figures won't lie, it is said, but they will deceive.

SHORTER CANADIAN CREDIT.

There are few, if any, more active agents in the consular service of the United States than H. D. Van Sant, consul at Kingston, Ont. Mr. Van Sant makes frequent and interesting reports to the department and touches not only on matters of purely local interest, but on subjects that affect the entire dominion. In a recent letter, says the Watertown, N.Y., Standard, he advises that the tendency in the Kingston district of Canada, and the same is probably true generally, is to shorten the usual lines of credit. He states that while the difference between the average American and the Canadian credit rate has been reduced from four months to three months, with two per cent. off for cash in thirty days. This rate does not apply on all lines of American goods sold there, some goods being sold for cash only, while in exceptional cases long terms are extended. The rate of exchange is six per cent. and one-fourth of one per cent. on discounts at the leading banks, on approved drafts or notes. The importer of American goods is buying largely on a cash basis, and substantially the same rates of credit prevail on both sides of the border, the difference of thirty days applying in certain lines only.

The stability and financial responsibility of the Canadian merchant of reputation and established rating can usually be depended on, and his general credit as a rule is a safe guide. If oftentimes takes him longer than the American to build up his business to the point of success and soundness, but when his credit is once established he is careful not to lose it.

Information about new houses is more expensive to obtain and credit should be granted to only a reasonable extent after investigation. Long terms of credit to certain houses of this class sometimes bring sale payments finally, but often result in a shortening of trade. However, dealers in large lines of American goods in his district are generally of solid financial rating, and we have seldom heard of American losses through credits to Kingston merchants.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

A nuisance of recent development is the peddler who rings the door bells as he passes up the street. The housewife, busy and aggressive, would rather give him kicks than patronage when they see who is the disturber and annoy.

The Young Turks are reported to have discharged over 27,000 old employees since they obtained control of the government at Constantinople. They are real Ontario Tories in their appetite for other peoples' jobs, at least.

Cohalt has had many discouragements, many knocks, but it is to-day, after a few short years, the greatest silver camp, the greatest mining camp in the world. And it will continue such while the present men and capital is at its back. It has tided all the abuse of its rivals.

The Montreal Herald says the Northwest wheat crop will be 140,000,000 bushels, but there are a lot of real farmers who would like to see a hundred millions counted and in the barn. In this connection the Saskatchewan Phoenix says a dry spell for a few weeks would be something of a desirable change.

Mackenzie and Mann are planning a great railway system, which in time will link the important points of Ontario and Quebec with the west. Kingston would like to be one of the Ontario points on the line. The Board of Trade might get busy in the matter. Verona will be on the line, and why not further south?

IT IS NOT LIKELY

That Sydenham Street Will Go Through.

"It is too bad that the city could not open up Sydenham street clear through to Princess street," remarked a prominent citizen, last night, in speaking of the action taken by the city council to have the street extended from Johnson street to Brock street. Several others expressed a similar opinion, but from what can be learned, there is no chance whatever of this being done. The building opposite Sydenham street, on Princess street, has been torn down, and preparations made for a new building. There was some talk of the city purchasing the property clear through to Brock street, and making a roadway, but it is understood that the price offered for the property would not suit the owners.

City Hall Light.

In reply to the complaint that the light in the city hall dome was not strong enough to benefit the marines, it was pointed out to-day that the light would be better a little later on, after some changes had been made. It was also pointed out that the marine department had cut off its grant for the light and that marines should register their complaint in this direction.

REMARKABLE RECORD

FOUR CENTURIES OLD IS LONDON SCHOOL.

St. Paul's to Celebrate Next Month Anniversary of Its Foundation.

London, July 21.—There will be a school anniversary next month which is of interest not only to the "old boys" and they are several thousands strong, but every "old boy" of any of the many grammar schools scattered over England. It is the 400th anniversary of St. Paul's.

The reason why interest in the festival should be so widespread is that St. Paul's when it arose in 1509, under the shadow of the cathedral whose name it bears, was the first sign of the great renaissance of learning in England, the later fruits of which were shown in the founding of the Henry VIII and Edward VI grammar schools.

All the 153 boys of the original foundation were taught in one room, when Cole's friend, William Lily, the great grammarian, was the first high master. Now, the red brick building at West Kensington, to which the school was removed a generation ago, contains everything that the modern schoolboy—or his examiners—could ask.

Lord Curzon, chancellor of Oxford University, is going to add to the number of the school rooms by opening a block of laboratories and other apartments which cost about $50,000 to build.

St. Paul's Girls' School, which grew out of the foundation—an educational development which would have surprised Cole—has no history to tell, but it is going to give a glimpse of that of the old school in a wonderful masque.

It is a tribute to woman's power to keep a secret that, although the girls have known the masque is to be for nearly a year nobody else but their headmistress and her staff knows any more than that it is to portray a dream of Dame Colet, the founder's mother, in her garden at Stepney. There will be special music during the masque, composed for the occasion by Gustav Von Holst, the singing master.

CANADA'S AGENT IN JAPAN.

Was Up Against All the Other Nations.

Ottawa, Ont., July 21.—Complaints have been received by the government from the British colonial office and the British ambassador at Tokio regarding the methods adopted by W. T. R. Preston, lately Canadian trade commissioner in the Orient, while working to establish and develop Canada's trade with Japan.

Mr. Preston, who is at present at Ottawa, when seen, said that when he went there and began to push Canada's interests—which was his business—he found himself up against the whole foreign commercial element, particularly Great Britain, Germany, and the United States. It was not only he, he said, they objected to Japan buying from Canada, what she had been purchasing from them, but they feared the application of the larger principle, the disturbance of the present condition of trade in the Orient, which they claimed, by Canada's attempt to do without the middlemen.

Mr. Preston said the agents of the foreign commercial powers indulged in a campaign of abuse of himself which lasted for months, and also complained to their several governments, but that the only result was good for Canada, in that the country got enough advertisement to make her as well known from Tokio to Hong Kong, as any other commercial power.

The complaints to Britain, Germany, and the United States, said Mr. Preston, "went to the effect that the advocacy of Canadian interests was going to have the tendency to change the whole market in the east."

Up till this time the trade with Japan had been done through agents in Japan, and Canada proposed to deal directly.

Mr. Preston may not go to Holland for some months yet. He will represent Canadian interests there.

GIFT BY THE CHURCH

To Charles Dalton For Past Good Offices.

On Tuesday evening the Dean of Ontario, F. W. Sparrow, was one of St. George's cathedral, wardens, and R. F. Harvey, called at the home of Mrs. W. B. Dalton, taking with her a travelling clock as a gift for her son, Charles, who left for Vancouver to-day. The clock is brass and is set in a handsome leather case, and tells out the hours in a sweet and mellow voice. It bears the inscription, "Charles P. Dalton, from friends in St. George's cathedral."

Mr. Dalton has been one of the most faithful workers the cathedral ever had. He has been sub-organist, librarian in the Sunday school, worked in many of the young people's societies, and has many a time done the work of an expert when the organ has gone on strike, and put it in working order. So that the gift was merely a sign of much appreciation of Mr. Dalton's services by the clergy and congregation. His move by his bank means good promotion for him, however, so that regret at his departure is tempered by congratulations over the recognition of his ability.

A Visitor in The City.

Rev. O. L. Kilborn, M.D., chief of the Methodist staff of missionaries in China, is in the city visiting his brother, Dr. R. K. Kilborn, King Street. It is seven years since he was here before. In that time the mission work has widely extended and now over fifty missionaries are busy in the province of Sze-Chuan, and buildings, owned by the church, are found in many centres. Dr. Kilborn will speak to-night at the mid-week service in Queen street Methodist church.

Grass growing in the city is not rapid this year and householders do not rush the lawn mowers as much as usually occurs.

MONTREAL PRODUCE MARKET.

Prices Paid For the Various Products.

Montreal, July 20.—The market for cheese, last week, closed strong, with prices advanced all over the country, as high as 1 1/2c. per lb. having been paid at some points, although the great bulk of the cheese was sold at about 1 1/4c. The advance was caused by an increased demand from Great Britain, which came rather unexpectedly, and seemed to have been brought on by the large number of lot offers that were made during the first part of the week, and a large proportion of rather dubious of the future, and inclined to look for a further decline in the market instead of the advance that eventually materialized. The British trade were induced to come on at the low prices, believing that there was little prospect of any further decline, and a large proportion of the purchases made had been put away here in cold storage, which indicates that they have considerable faith in the future of the market.

The demand this week, however, has fallen off again, and trade is quiet with prices generally easing off. This morning at Campbellford the cheese offered were not all sold, the highest price offered being 1 1/4c., at which price a few hundred were purchased, and then the quotation dropped back to 1 1/2c. The salesmen were not inclined to accept the lower price offered, and decided not to sell. In the afternoon at Stirling, however, there was no improvement in the tone of the market, and prices were still lower, the top price at this market being 1 1/4c., with some buyers only prepared to pay 1 1/4c. per lb. The market will continue easy unless there is a speedy improvement in the demand from the other side.
