Don't Let This Summer Slip Away Without Your Getting A Home.

If you don't act in this matter now, the chances are another year will roll around before you get a sufficient grip upon your determination to take the initial step.

That means that there will be a whole lot less desirable locations from which to choose, for the really choice selections are going to cost you more money every year you wait.

If you intend to build this year, now is the time to go about it.

The early buyer gets the choice.

THE SPORT REVIEW AT THE POLICE COURT THERE'S AN INCREASE

VICTORIAS AND IRISHMEN CLASH

On Saturday In An Important City League Baseball Game - Junior Vics. to Play at Wolfe Island.

On Saturday afternoon a fast game of ball will be played here when the Victorias and Young Irishmen will meet in a city league game in the cricket field. At present the Vics lead the league and if they win this game the cup is theirs. They will certainly put up a great scrap for it. On the other hand, if the Irishmen win they will be tied for first place and another game will put them over the hill to the silverware. The boys are tied with the Irishmen for second place and have equal chances with them of winning out the series.

Junior Vics. vs. Wolfe Island.

In the junior series the Victorias have the cup as they have not lost a game since the league opened. They play on Wolfe Island this week for a purse of $25 and a side bet of the same amount. They are going up against a senior team but should win out.

Sporting Notes.

Ruehbach has won thirteen straight games for Chicago.

Just when Toronto had pennant visions, the Maple Leafs struck the to-togean.

There are no easy things in the Eastern Baseball League this season. Second division clubs are as hard to beat as the teams on top.

"Joe" Kelley, the Toronto manager, made five hits out of as many times at the bat in Jersey City, Sunday, and still his team didn't win.

Rochester has dropped five out of the last six games. The addition of McComell and Osborne at an outlay of $2,800 does not seem to have helped the Hustlers.

In a 125-yard professional foot race for $100 a side, at London, Eng., Postle, the Australian crack, finished first. Eastman, of Canada, was fourth. Time, twelve seconds.

"Long Distance Running" is the title of a comprehensive work on that subject by Alfred Sprubbs, who deals with his subject, interestingly, and gives many helpful hints from his long and distinguished career on track, road and cross-country.

Some well-known Canadian athletes have entered in the weight events at St. Andrew's Society field day on August 12th, at Detroit. Among these are Joseph O'Neill, of Ridgetown, and Malcolm and Ronald Lee, two other Ontario athletes. Nearly all the athletes, dancers and pipers who competed at the Caledonian games at Milwaukee will also be there. A number of athletes from Ohio are also expected.

TWO WOMEN FIGURE IN AN IN DRUNKENNESS IN THE CITY OF KINGSTON.

ASSAULT CASE.

One Claimed That Her Waist Was Pulled Off Her Back and Produced Waist in Court—Member of "Indian" List Had to Pay a Fine.

When John King was accused of being drunk in the police court, this morning, he pleaded for a chance, stating that he had a job to go to. However, John was too disorderly when arrested to be allowed to go free, so the magistrate imposed a fine of $1 and costs, or ten days. John was the person who had to be taken to the lock-up in a dray, because he was so drunk.

John Hennessy, an "Indian," was in trouble. Inspector Wright was on hand, ready to prosecute, but Hennessy put in a plea of "guilty," and thus shortened the proceedings. "Yes, I had a few drinks," was the way Hennessy explained the case before the magistrate, and he was put in the box to tell where he had been given the liquor.

"Where did you get the liquor?" asked the court.

"I met a fellow down the street on Monday," said Hennessy. "I asked him to get me a bottle and he said that he would."

"Who was the man?" asked the magistrate.

"I don't know. He came from Belleville."

"How do you know that?"

"Because he told me so."

"What did the man look like?"

"He appeared to be an English fellow."

This closed the cross-examination, and the magistrate said that he would impose a fine of $20 and costs.

"The next time try and find out where you get your liquor," were the magistrate's closing remarks.

"She struck me on the shoulder, and tore the waist off my back," so said a clergy-stead resident to the magistrate when she charged a neighbor with assault.

"Have you the waist with you?" asked the magistrate.

"Yes, I have," replied the complainant, at the same time holding up to view the fragments of what was at one time a shirt waist. It was in three pieces.

The defendant denied having committed an assault. J. McD. Mowat appeared on her behalf.

The complainant said that yesterday morning the defendant had accused her of throwing water on her children. Witness said she threw water on the steps, but not on the children. There was some altercation then, and witness claimed that her neighbor struck her, and then pulled her waist off her back. Witness and a friend did their best to push the woman away, and after they succeeded both went into the house and closed the door.

The defendant then picked up a rocking chair, which was on the steps, and struck it against the door, and the chair was smashed into pieces. Witness admitted picking up another chair and was about to strike her opponent when she thought better of such action, and put the chair down. When the defendant went away, witness went to the police station, and had a summons issued against her.

Another witness told of the defendant striking the plaintiff, and also said that she had been annoyed by children of defendant's calling her names.

The defendant denied striking the complainant and charged her with striking her. Children of defendant were also called, and they swore that plaintiff had struck their mother. Three children were called and each swore that their mother had been assaulted.

There was also a counter charge, but Magistrate Farrell dismissed both. He could not satisfy himself on the evidence which had been given, but felt satisfied that perjury had been committed.

TO LOCK-UP IN DRAY.

Had To Use Conveyance For A Drunken Man.

Yesterday afternoon Constable Armstrong ran across a man who was very drunk, and unable to take care of himself, at the corner of Wellington and Bay streets. The poor fellow was "all in, down and out," as the saying goes, and it was useless for the constable to endeavor to get him to the police station alone. A call was sent to the police station, and Constable Driscoll appeared on the scene. A passing dray was then called into service, and the two constables were then able to put the poor unfortunate fellow into the dray, and then proceeded to the police station, a bunch of children following out of curiosity.

The drunken man showed some fight when he heard the station, but he was soon in one of the cells, and in such a condition, it was the best place for him.

Kingston has no patrol, and when a conveyance is needed, a cab or dray is called into service, and in police court the next day, the accused is called upon to pay for his ride. This, of course, is far cheaper to the city than to have a patrol, as it is not required very much, as a general rule, and it would mean a good deal of expense.

EYE SERIOUSLY INJURED.

John Orr, Gas Maker, Underwent Operation.

On Tuesday morning John Orr, Princess street, head gas maker at the city plant, was seriously injured at his home and will be laid up for some time. He was cutting or moving a piece of stone when a small particle flew up and hit him in the left eye, lodging there. Dr. O'Connor examined the wound and said the sight was slightly effected and ordered an operation. The operation took place to-day in the General Hospital when the piece of stone was removed. It will be about ten days before Mr. Orr is able to resume work.

Would Save Much Coal.

If the city property committee would place a metal ceiling in the police station, four feet lower than the present one, ten tons of coal would be saved each winter. The investment in a low ceiling would pay.

A Separation Granted.

Died In General Hospital.

Mrs. Robert Vanallen, ninth concession of Thurlow, died in the general hospital, Kingston, on Tuesday, after undergoing an operation. She was fifty years of age and was born at Marmora. Her husband, six sons and two daughters survive.

The City Clerk Ousted.

The city clerk will be next to be ousted from his office in the city buildings. When he gets back again he will walk on a new floor, gaze upon new painted walls and kalsomined ceiling, and be no longer afraid of the plaster falling and hitting his cranium.

Has The Summer Departed?

Did the summer really depart with the heated spell that ended Monday night? The unanimous hope is that it did not. This cool wave has had quite an effect on the boats and street cars. It is surprising what a change of weather will do. Three more weeks of good warm weather are wanted.

No Chinaman Has Yet Paid.

Not a Chinese laundry proprietor has yet paid the new tax levied on laundries. Every Chinaman is agreed that he shouldn't be asked to pay and he hates to think of paying $25 for the half-year. He'll pay only when he finds that he must. The British owners of the Imperial laundries, the only ones conducted by white proprietors, have paid. The yellow men are still hanging on to their dollars, and are unanimous in objecting to the tax.

Lively Dog Fight.

A lively dog fight on Princess street, between Bagot and Montreal streets, caused a good deal of excitement last night, about 9.15 o'clock. The dogs got busy just as the crowds were coming out of some of the theatres, and women and children who became frightened, scattered. A police constable had to use his baton on the dogs to stop the fight. They parted, but in a few seconds were at it just as bad as ever, and had to be separated again. Quiet was afterwards restored.

Have You Seen Them?

Have you seen this circle of lights that were to be put around the city dome bell? If you have you've seen more than anyone else has. A scrutiny of the bell fails to reveal the lights to the ordinary seeker. If they are there they haven't been ablaze yet. Alderman Angrove, chairman of the property committee, hasn't seen the lights yet. The light, heat and power committee got Manager Folger to figure on the cost and sum "forgot all about it."

Police Station Repairs.

Everything is topsy-turvy at the police station; these days. The much-needed and long-looked-for repairs are being made. The walls have for a long time needed cleaning, and a staff of men are now busy at it. The two police rooms, as well as the offices of the chief and police magistrate, are being attended to. Last spring the water came through the roof of the police station, and left the walls in an awful shape, practically unfit for habitation, and it was about time that something was done.

Car Was Broken Open.

Monday night, when a freight train, on its way to Toronto, pulled into the outer junction station, it was found that the door had been broken open, and that some of the merchandise had been stolen. The local police were notified, and a couple of constables investigated, but no arrests were made. The car, no doubt, was broken open at some other station. The company has had considerable trouble of this kind, and detectives have been at work endeavoring to put a stop to it. Just a few weeks ago a G.T.R. detective was in the city looking up evidence in a car theft.

A dead beat always gets more credit than he deserves.
