 Dynamite Discovered in the Coal Taken Aboard the Battleships—The Accident Theory Was Abandoned.
 London, Aug. 19.—Proof of a deliberate attempt to destroy at least three English warships, has leaked out, today, by the men investigating the discovery of dynamite in the coal taken aboard the battleships Lord Nelson, and Victorious and cruiser Duke of Edinburgh.
 No verdict has been announced, but it is known the investigators found the dynamite to be different from that used in coal. It was found, too, that the coal came from different mines, thus disposing of the accident theory.

WILLIAM H. MILLER DEAD.
 The City Auditor Passed Away This Afternoon.
 The news of the death, at two o'clock, on Thursday afternoon, of William H. Miller, city auditor, at his home, on Alfred street, was a great shock to his friends, who did not know that he was so seriously ill. Mr. Miller came home two weeks ago from a visit to his daughter, Mrs. (Dr.) Berkeley, at St. Alban's, Vt., and felt very fatigued. He left his duties in charge of R. J. McClelland, assistant city engineer, and was confined to his home ever since. A few days ago it was seen that his illness would likely prove fatal, but the end came very suddenly this afternoon. Mr. Miller was last at his office on July 6th.
 The late Mr. Miller was a native of Newburgh, and son of the late Cephas Miller. Early in life he became a clerk. Later he was in the drug business. In 1866, he became attached to the Queen's Own Rifles, when it was ordered to Niagara at the time of the Fenian raid. Many years ago, he moved to Kingston, and became manager of the Gardiner Biscuit factory, and continued as such after the business was taken over by R. J. Carson. In the big fire of 1899 he worked so hard to save the books of the concern that he received a severe chill that seriously affected his throat. In 1901, when some of the city officers were combined, he was appointed city auditor, and continued in that office till the time of his death. He was a faithful official, and his close attention to his duties has saved the city a good deal of money during the past few years. It was Mr. Miller who was practically responsible for preventing the payment of $1,000 voted by the board of health to the medical health officer last December. He found through the city solicitor, that the grant was illegal, and took the necessary steps to hold it up.
 Mr. Miller is survived by his wife and two daughters—Mrs. Berkeley, of St. Alban's, Vt., and Miss Mahel, at home. Mrs. Aylesworth, wife of the minister of justice of Canada, is his sister.
 Deceased was a man of decision and firmness. He took time to reach conclusions and when he decided he was adamant. He was of a kindly disposition, fond of friends to whom he could talk with frankness. He was generally domesticated. Home to him was the best place on earth. He was a staunch liberal; in addition he was a vigorous fighter for the cause and in Kingston he also took considerable interest in elections. He was a Methodist, a member of Queen street church. His father was one of the oldest Methodists in the Bay of Quinte district. He was a member of various fraternal societies, including the Masonic order.
 The flags on the city building are flying at half-mast out of respect to the memory of Kingston's faithful auditor.

 A POPULAR LAMENT.
 Where Would Society Be If One Was Judged For the Sins of Others?
 "O, I tried one of those hair tonics sometime ago and it never did me a bit of good."
 That is what many people are saying to-day when they refuse Herpicide a trial.
 It would be as sensible to say "I never travel on a railroad because I often see collisions mentioned in the papers."
 Newbora's Herpicide is specially made to destroy the germ that is living on the roots of your hair.
 That is why it is so exceedingly efficacious—it is there for the sole purpose of ridding the hair of this parasitic growth, after which the hair grows as nature intended.
 Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. One dollar bottles guaranteed. G. W. Mahood special agent.

HOGS SLAUGHTERED WERE SUSPECTED OF HAVING CHOLERA.
 Government Veterinary Inspector-General Gave the Order—Not Sure of the Disease, But No Chances Are Being Taken—Garbage is Elamed.
 Special to the Whig.
 Ottawa, Aug. 19.—At the order of Dr. Rutledge, veterinary inspector-general of the agriculture department, forty-three hogs owned by farmers just outside the city limits, have been slaughtered. It is supposed they had been cholera, but is not certain yet. The usual government two-thirds compensation will be allowed. Five herds of hogs outside the city are also quarantined. The officials blame the custom of collecting city garbage and taking it outside the city to feed to hogs for the trouble. In view of the fact, that with the exception of a few isolated cases in British Columbia, this disease had been stamped out in Canada, the authorities are being especially active in their precautionary measures. Though not yet sure it is hog cholera, they are not taking any chances.

TO DESTROY SHIPS PROOFS ARE GIVEN OF DIABOLICAL PLAN.
 Dynamite Discovered in the Coal Taken Aboard the Battleships—The Accident Theory Was Abandoned.
 London, Aug. 19.—Proof of a deliberate attempt to destroy at least three English warships, has leaked out, today, by the men investigating the discovery of dynamite in the coal taken aboard the battleships Lord Nelson, and Victorious and cruiser Duke of Edinburgh.
 No verdict has been announced, but it is known the investigators found the dynamite to be different from that used in coal. It was found, too, that the coal came from different mines, thus disposing of the accident theory.

WILLIAM H. MILLER DEAD.
 The City Auditor Passed Away This Afternoon.
 The news of the death, at two o'clock, on Thursday afternoon, of William H. Miller, city auditor, at his home, on Alfred street, was a great shock to his friends, who did not know that he was so seriously ill. Mr. Miller came home two weeks ago from a visit to his daughter, Mrs. (Dr.) Berkeley, at St. Alban's, Vt., and felt very fatigued. He left his duties in charge of R. J. McClelland, assistant city engineer, and was confined to his home ever since. A few days ago it was seen that his illness would likely prove fatal, but the end came very suddenly this afternoon. Mr. Miller was last at his office on July 6th.
 The late Mr. Miller was a native of Newburgh, and son of the late Cephas Miller. Early in life he became a clerk. Later he was in the drug business. In 1866, he became attached to the Queen's Own Rifles, when it was ordered to Niagara at the time of the Fenian raid. Many years ago, he moved to Kingston, and became manager of the Gardiner Biscuit factory, and continued as such after the business was taken over by R. J. Carson. In the big fire of 1899 he worked so hard to save the books of the concern that he received a severe chill that seriously affected his throat. In 1901, when some of the city officers were combined, he was appointed city auditor, and continued in that office till the time of his death. He was a faithful official, and his close attention to his duties has saved the city a good deal of money during the past few years. It was Mr. Miller who was practically responsible for preventing the payment of $1,000 voted by the board of health to the medical health officer last December. He found through the city solicitor, that the grant was illegal, and took the necessary steps to hold it up.
 Mr. Miller is survived by his wife and two daughters—Mrs. Berkeley, of St. Alban's, Vt., and Miss Mahel, at home. Mrs. Aylesworth, wife of the minister of justice of Canada, is his sister.
 Deceased was a man of decision and firmness. He took time to reach conclusions and when he decided he was adamant. He was of a kindly disposition, fond of friends to whom he could talk with frankness. He was generally domesticated. Home to him was the best place on earth. He was a staunch liberal; in addition he was a vigorous fighter for the cause and in Kingston he also took considerable interest in elections. He was a Methodist, a member of Queen street church. His father was one of the oldest Methodists in the Bay of Quinte district. He was a member of various fraternal societies, including the Masonic order.
 The flags on the city building are flying at half-mast out of respect to the memory of Kingston's faithful auditor.
