DELAWARE DESCRIBED

BY A FORMER KINGSTON RESIDENT.

Produce is Higher in Price Than in Ontario—Fall Wheat Successfully Grown—Farm Work Easier.

Newark, Delaware, Aug. 30.—(To the Editor): I have received many letters from friends near the Limestone City, enquiring about Delaware, its climate, soil and general desirability as a place of residence, and as they are readers of your excellent paper, I can reach them all, through your columns.

We left Kingston, March 8th, travelled by the New York Central lines to New York city; then crossed the city by subway train and the Hudson river to Jersey City by ferry, continuing our journey to Newark, Del., by the Pennsylvania railway.

A subway train can be reached from the corner of the depot at Forty-second street, and by taking a subway train at Fulton street, it is only a short walk to the ferry.

The tracks at Grand Central are being lowered and one tunnel is already in to the Jersey side, so it will soon be possible to pass right through New York city without coming to the surface.

After leaving New York, the snow soon began to be less in evidence, and before reaching Newark, Del., all trace of snow and ice had disappeared, and since March 9th we have seen neither, except on the ice waggon. Nor has an overcoat been necessary except when driving, since that date.

We noticed plowing being done shortly after our arrival, though, owing to unsettled weather, it was some time later before seeding was done.

All seeding is done on spring plowing here. The seasons being longer, there is no such haste to get seed in the ground as there is in latitudes farther north.

Fall wheat is very successfully grown here, and as practically every farmer grows it, the work in spring is greatly lessened and work is distributed over a greater portion of the year, which greatly lessens the hard work of farming.

Wheat always follows corn in the rotation, and corn is harvested in time for wheat to get a proper start before killing frosts come.

Good farmers raise from thirty to forty bushels of wheat and from sixty to one hundred bushels of corn per acre, according to the season.

The growing season is fully two months longer here than in Eastern Ontario. Crimson clover is sown in the corn at the last working, to be plowed down for wheat and catch crops are often sown for purposes of fertilization.

The soil is mostly red clay, is easily cultivated and responds readily to good cultivation.

There were days during the summer when I thought the sun quite hot, but reference to the weather reports showed the thermometer registering fully as high in New York, Pittsburg, Chicago, St. Paul, Toronto and Winnipeg, and there has not been a half dozen nights that a blanket covering was not necessary.

Unpaved roads has been the chief drawback to the state in the past, but during the past two years a good start has been made and this year Newcastle county is spending a half million dollars in paving its roadways and nearly that amount is being spent in the other two counties.

I had been led to believe that flies and mosquitoes were very troublesome here, but have found them less troublesome than in Ontario.

Delaware is essentially an agricultural state and Wilmington, with 90,000 population, is the only large town. Dover, the capital, has between 4,000 and 5,000 people, and Newark, the seat of the state college, has about 2,500.

Delaware College has an annual appropriation from the federal government, which increases each year, and is doing fine educational work. All branches being taught, except law and medicine.

The state experimental farm is located here. It is under a very competent director, Dr. Hayward, and is doing very excellent work in the interests of the farmers of the state.

Farm prices are not low here as compared with Ontario, but when the tax rate, the climate, the transportation facilities and the markets are taken into account they are low indeed.

Farm labor commands about the same rates as in Ontario, but all produce is much higher in price, resulting in greatly increased profits to the farmers.

Educational facilities are good throughout the state and attendance is compulsory for children under fourteen years of age, and the schools and books are free to all residents of the state.

The people of the state extend a cordial welcome to all desirable people, who want to make a home among them.

We have met people here from almost every state in the union, as well as from Canada, and I have yet to meet one who has expressed himself as dissatisfied with his change.

I had the pleasure of meeting at Dover, Mr. Soper, formerly of Bowmanville, Ont. He is a member of the state legislature and is called "The Apple King of Delaware." He has become very wealthy here, though he told me he had not a dollar to start with.

We send you kindly greetings, Mr. Editor, and through you to our many friends in and about Kingston.—Very truly yours, J. W. SUDDARD.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Two Physicians Both Agree on the New Scientific Dandruff Treatment.

Dr. W. G. Alban, of Walla Walla, Wash., says: "I find Herpicide all that is claimed for it as a dandruff cure. I shall prescribe it." Dandruff is a germ disease and you can't cure it unless you kill the dandruff germ; and you can't do that unless you use Newbro's Herpicide, the only preparation in the world that destroys the parasites. A delightful hair dressing; allays itching instantly; makes hair glossy and soft as silk. It is a sure dandruff destroyer.

SETTLERS IN WEST

ARE BEGINNING TO BUY LAND FOR THEMSELVES.

Can't Get Good Locations By Homesteading, Says An Official of the C. P. R.

Montreal, Sept. 2.—"We can see the finish of the day of free lands for settlement in the west not far away now," said Frank T. Griffin, land commissioner of the Canadian Pacific. "There will probably be some good free lands for the next year or two, but after that the settler who wants any sort of suitable location will have to buy his land. Settlers looking for free lands will be forced away back, far from railway communication, and the time during which free lands will be available will depend upon how far yet the wheat producing section of the map can be rolled northwards. Probably this will prove to be much more extensive that we imagine to-day, but within a very short time settlers will either have to buy land or go to the far north of Alberta or Saskatchewan."

As a matter of fact, Mr. Griffin stated that the proportion of settlers who bought land was continually increasing, while the number of homesteaders was comparatively dropping off, owing to the steady way in which all the available land within easy access was being taken up. The land sales of the Canadian Pacific during the past year had shown a decided increase over those of previous years, owing probably to the better class of settlers who are coming over.

"The talk of a big harvest has, of course, affected our land sales," said Mr. Griffin, "and the results of this year's operations have been decidedly good. A marked feature of the year's sales has been the number of men who bought land in districts where there are still free lands. The chance of getting 100 acres for nothing naturally appeals to the settler, and a great many have bought land this year in such a location that they could also take up a quarter section. This has been particularly the case in southern Alberta and parts of Saskatchewan, notably in the country west of Weyburn, which is the starting point for the C.P.R. line to Lethbridge."

As a result of the increasing demand and decreasing supply of free lands, Mr. Griffin stated that there had been a steady appreciation in the prices of land throughout the west, the figures running from $10 to $25 an acre, according to the location and quality of the land. There had also been a very active demand for irrigation lands in the Calgary district, where the prices ran from $25 to $30 an acre."

Writing For The Stage.

Chicago Tribune.

Does your lot in life content you? Are they coming as you like?
Are you satisfied with just a daily wage?
When your barber shop is idle or your hands are on a strike,
Have you ever thought of writing for the stage?

Perhaps your are a plumber and it's rather dull in summer;
Some congenial task your labor might engage.
While you're waiting for an order to repair a broken pipe
Have you ever thought of writing for the stage?

Or perchance you are a tinsmith, or a janitor maybap,
Or a writer for a daily printed page.
Whatever be your station or your daily occupation,
Have you ever thought of writing for the stage?

Improve each idle minute. There is fame and fortune in it.
You may be the georgemcohan of your age.
Nearly everybody tries it, so we venture to advise it.
Have you ever thought of writing for the stage?

Good Crops In Far West States.

Spokane, Wash., Sept. 2.—Sixty-five million bushels of wheat, 35,000,000 bushels of oats, and 15,000,000 bushels of barley is the extent of the grain crop predicted for Washington, Idaho and Oregon this season by millers and bankers who have made a close study of the situation in the three states. The hay crop, including alfalfa, will be the largest in the history of the North-West, and in addition the growers in the Yakima valley in Washington will make 15,000 bales of hops. The crop is high grade and free from defects.

Plain Talk To Mother.

Winnipeg Tribune.

"It is a crying shame of the age that thousands of young girls are being brought up in idleness to lead lives of uselessness instead of usefulness. Mothers are largely responsible. They are interested in the time when the 'society buds' come out; that is the expression, is it not? Too many thousands of our growing girls are reared like mere butterflies, ready, however, to set a pace for the comparatively small salaried young man, who may marry one of them, that will drive him to despair. The country is full of such instances. By all means teach the girls to be useful. One wholesome, healthy girl, trained to cook a meal and perform house work, is worth a score of the "butterflies," with a genius for nothing but genteel loafing."

The Best Heritage.

Good health is one of the first requisites to success. Prolonged application to any subject cannot be sustained without well-fed nerves.

If nervous energy could be secured by a large cash payment, every person could make a big effort to find the money.

By reason of well-directed study, assisted by practical experience, a way has been found to supply energy to aded and overwrought nerves, without its costing a fortune.

Pure, fresh air, exercise, and eating the simplest foods will produce this desired result.

Among foods for human consumption none contain the necessary elements to sustain life in greater quantities than milk and wheat.

Orange Meat, which is made from the whole wheat, thoroughly steam cooked, malted, flaked and toasted, contains the necessary elements to sustain life in greater proportions than any other cereal.

Orange Meat and milk is a perfect food.
