Daily Whig.

PURITY OF OUR WATER.

In turn the Whig has read this insignificant advice in the papers of Ottawa, Brockville and Peterboro—"Boil the city water," for domestic purposes.

Kingston is fortunate in its supply, drawn from the lake, and so from a great body which cannot be easily tainted. But our source of supply is practically that of Brockville, and typhoid fever there has demonstrated the necessity for a filtration plant.

By the way what has become of the report of a certain medical expert upon the pumping plant and intake pipe? It was referred to two specialists for their consideration, and it is time they were heard from.

OVERWORKING THE OFFICIALS.

The postmasters of Ontario, organized into an association, have been heard from respecting a complaint, and to the effect that they are overworking their clerks.

The result is that the postmasters must pitch in and work overtime continually, doing as one of them declares, double duty or two men's service, or they will drive their helpers and reduce them to slavery.

The government cannot afford to be accused of meanness, of parsimony, of oppression, while its postal department piles up its surplus year after year. Perhaps it is well that the complaint has been made.

THE SCIENTISTS ARE TALKING.

Members of the British Association, which has just had its seventy-ninth meeting in Winnipeg, expressed surprise that in the province of Manitoba there was not compulsory education.

Hugh Richardson, of the York school, advocated the passage of a compulsory school law. "Any country," said he, "which does not make provision for universal education is creating a serious problem in the future."

The chairman of the Winnipeg school board informed the British Association that its members were a unit with regard to compulsory education, but that the provincial government had refused to enforce it by legislation.

The advertisement is not a good one for Manitoba, but the British Association was in search of the facts and received them. Education to at least a limited extent should be made compulsory. It is in England; and the children of the poor are now being fed and clothed in London in order that they may enjoy the advantages that count so much for their future well-being.

Montreal's water supply is reported by Dr. Milton Hershey as unfit for drinking.

EDUCATING THE MASSES.

The recent speech of Mr. Asquith, premier of England, makes it clear that the imperial budget is not a crude thing, or a thing which has not been carefully calculated.

There was, too, the deficit from last year of $16,000,000. It could be met by borrowing money and casting the payment of it on posterity, by suspending the payment of the national debt, or by the addition of a higher tax on incomes.

The full demands for debt purposes, less £3,000,000, would be met, and all other demands of the nation, equitably and fairly, and for the future as well as the present. No class escaped taxation and no class was hit underly by it.

The speech is a very able presentation of the case. One is impressed with all the speeches of the British ministers in this great political tournament. He is impressed with the great lucidity of the speakers.

The result is that the postmasters must pitch in and work overtime continually, doing as one of them declares, double duty or two men's service, or they will drive their helpers and reduce them to slavery.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

An explorer's observations, it seems, do not furnish proof of his wanderings. His observations may have followed his dreams.

Pear's stock is rising, and Cook's is going down. The value of the exploration made by each will be established by their data.

The city council wakes from its long sleep next Monday. Some of the committees are already showing evidence of recurring consciousness.

The Quebec government is going to collect a royalty from asbestos. Quebec expects to profit largely by the business, of which it has a practical monopoly.

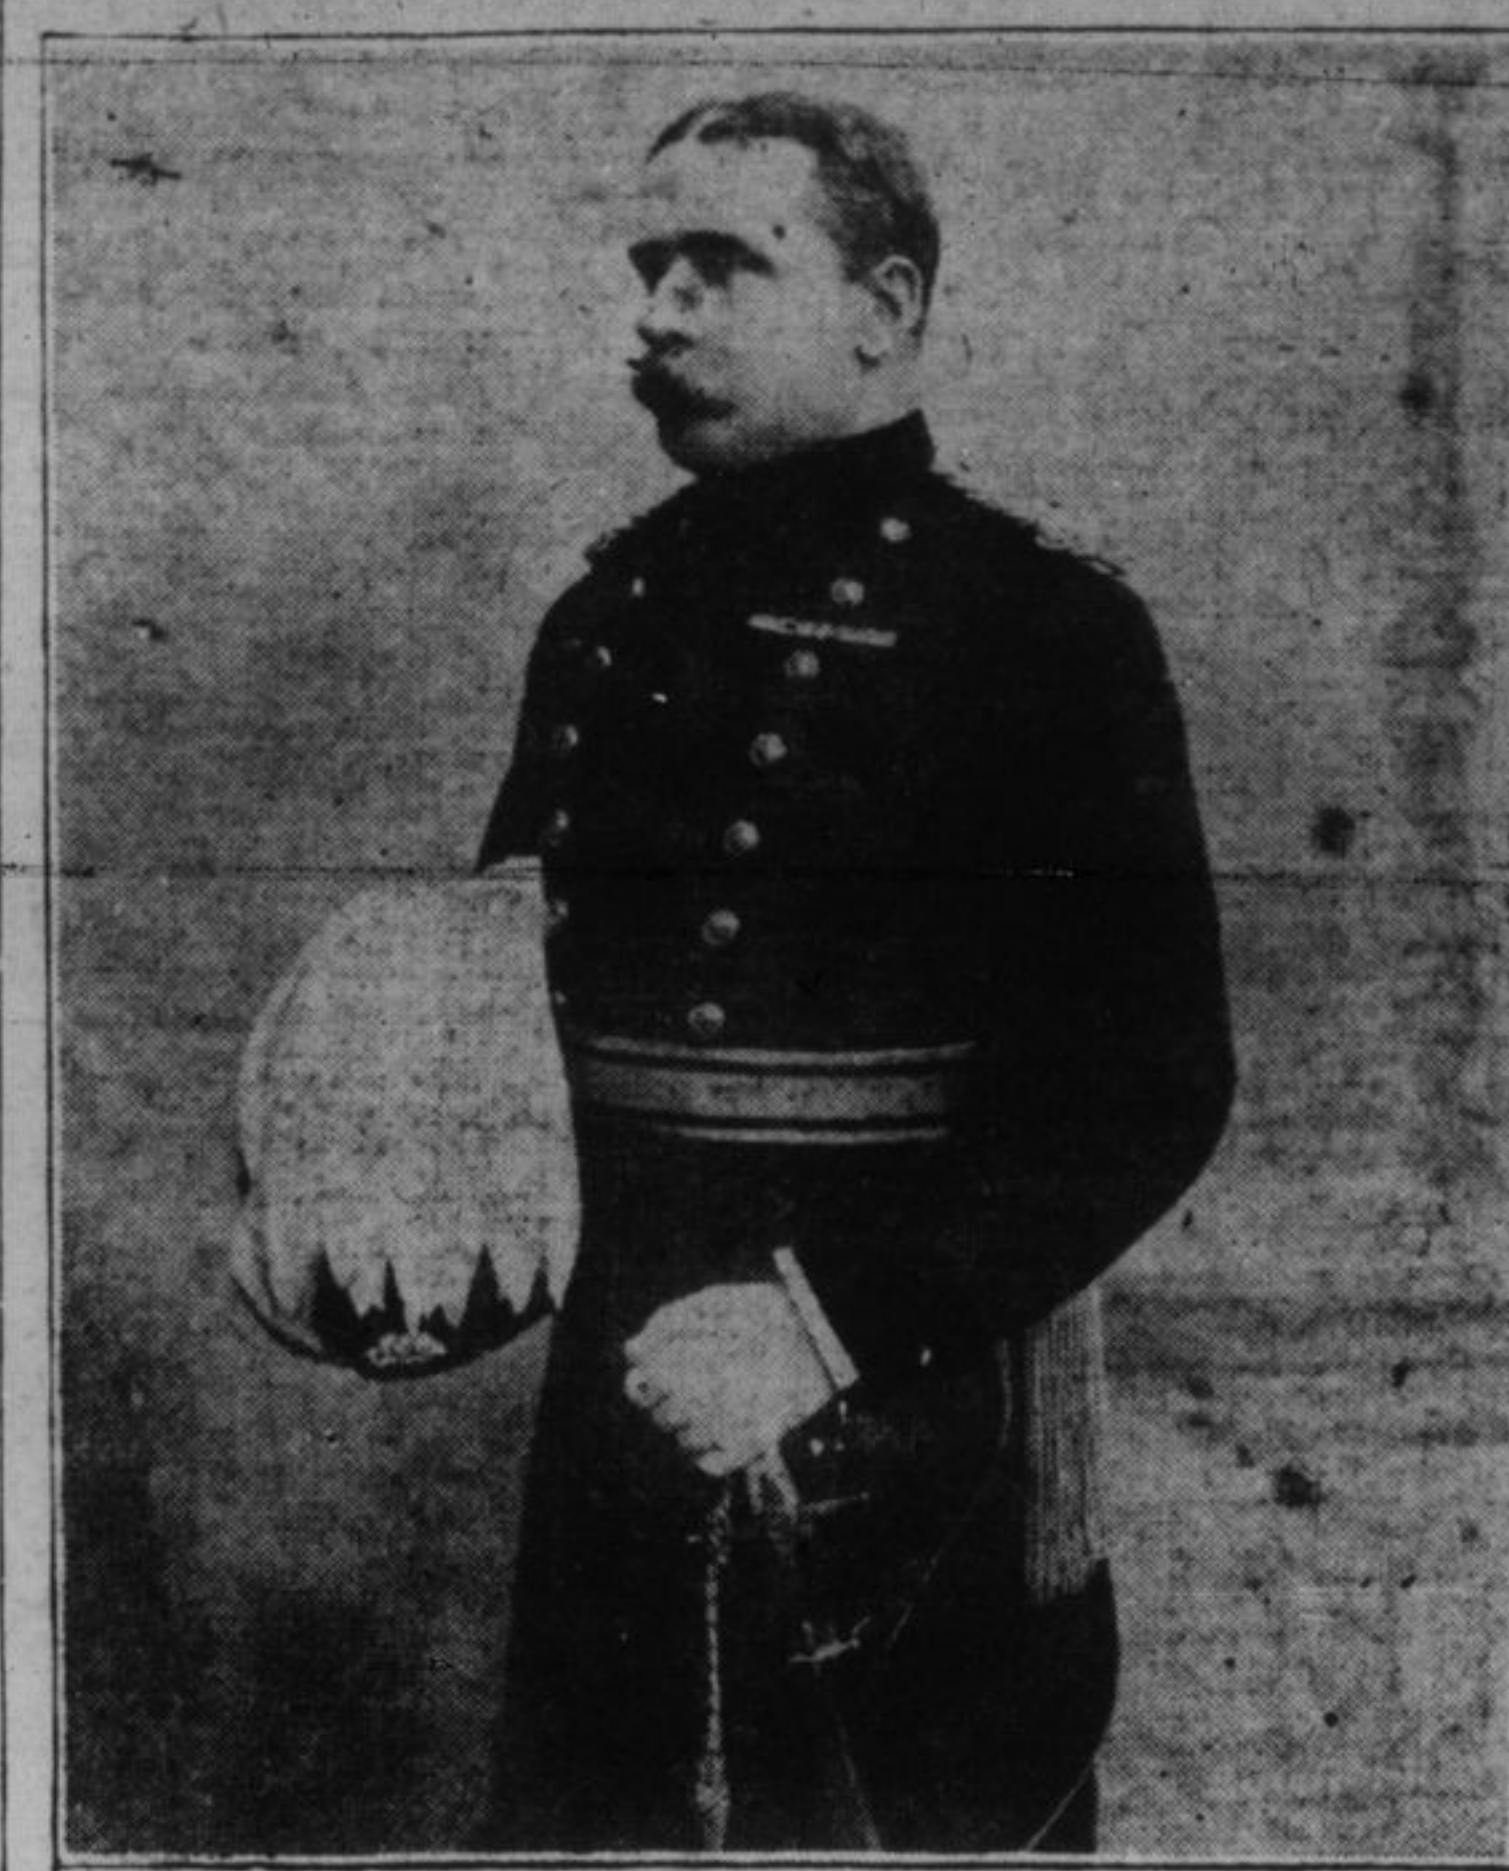

The later evidence before the Montreal Royal Commission is the more sensational. Graft was reduced to a science by some of the aldermen, and they worked most of the time in the open.

Canada's apple shippers cannot afford to practice any deception. The fruit to sell well in England must be what it is cracked up to be.

Insanity is increasing among the convicts of Pennsylvania because of their enforced idleness. There is no exercise like that of walking. Can't a prisoner be walked each day until he is tired? Weary feet, it seems, is restful to the brains of some men.

In one of the western states a law has been passed which forbids any man to wear conspicuously any emblem or badge of a secret society. It may be a good law. Men can get along without adornment, and they can be identified without jewels of any kind.

The Toronto News prints the rumor that the liberals are disposed to remove Mr. McKay from the lead-

THE REAL INCIDENT.

First Report Conveyed a Wrong Impression. Last Thursday night, William Carson and James Mahoney, two brave Highland laddies, were in Toronto, wending their way home from the exhibition, arrayed in the full splendor of their Gaelic costumes.

BLOOMFIELD LADY DEAD.

Mrs. Isaac Wilson Died at Rochester, N.Y. Bloomfield, Sept. 6.—There died at Rochester, on Friday last, Ruth Stickey, wife of Isaac Wilson. Mrs. Wilson left her home here about two months ago in company with her husband for Philadelphia, and on returning home was stricken with paralysis at Rochester.

On Aug. 25th, Willet D. Hawkin was quietly married in Wellington to Mrs. Vandewater. On Monday morning last Gordon Cahoon, son of Nelson Cahoon, Princeton, and Miss Mary Blake were married at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. (Dr.) Cahoon. Only a few of the immediate relatives were present and after the ceremony which was performed by Rev. Mr. Clegg, they left on their honeymoon by Niagara Falls.

H. S. Bull and wife, W. J. Cooper and wife, and Mrs. Ruben Saxon went to Quebec last week. Dr. Wilfrid L. Cooper and wife, of Detroit, are spending a few weeks visiting friends here. M. B. Trumpan and wife, H. A. Hamilton and wife, W. Green and wife, P. R. Demill, Charles Thompson and wife went to Toronto last week to attend the fair.

Work is progressing steadily building the streets of the village. Over a mile is now covered with crushed rock. The corporation have hired the fifteen ton roller from Belleville and it is here finishing the street as fast as it is gravelled. The new C.O.R. freight sheds are about completed and work has started on the new station which will be built of pressed brick. Tomatoes are late in ripening this fall and the factories have done very little canning of that product this year.

One of the greatest newspaper scoops in many years was pulled off last week when the New York Herald, twelve hours in advance of any other paper, printed the signed statement of Dr. Frederick A. Cook which gave in detail his trip to the North Pole. The article was protected by a copyright and only those papers which were willing to pay a fabulous price for the privilege were allowed to use it.

It is impossible to say just how much of that printing cost the Herald, but a conservative estimate places the amount at $25,000.
