We are perfectly justified saying that Kingston was never so well supplied with House Furnishings as it is at the present time. Furniture for every room in the house in artistic designs, at a moderate cost.

In selecting our Carpets for this fall we have been very careful to secure up-to-date designs and colorings. Our Brussels and Wiltons have been most successful. A great deal of the success is due to the quality of the goods.

Our new Drapery Department is making new friends every day. Fine Point Venise-Brussel, Duchess, Battenberg and Swiss Curtains are here in abundance together with Silks, Verdures, French Tapestry, Monks' Cloth, Velour and Serges, for Portiers and over Curtains.

HELD MASS MEETING

Y.M.C.A. WORKERS GATHER AT OPERA HOUSE.

T. F. Best, Hamilton, Delivered Inspiring Address on "A Call to Men"—Young Men Wanted For Christian Service in the West—Series of Sunday Services to Be Held.

There was a fairly good attendance at the men's mass meeting, held in the opera house, on Sunday afternoon, by the Y.M.C.A. The fine, warm weather, no doubt, was the means of keeping quite a number away. The meeting was a most profitable one, and the announcement was made that the local association would hold a series of Sunday afternoon meetings during the winter season. The chief speaker was T. F. Best, general secretary of the Y.M.C.A., at Hamilton, and he gave an able, and inspiring address under the title, "A Call to Men."

Rev. G. A. Wilson, of Vancouver, B.C., superintendent of home missions, was also on the platform. Mr. Wilson is here representing the Presbyterian church, and is making a tour of Eastern Canada, in search of men, who will volunteer for Christian service in the west. Young men anxious to take up the work, are requested to leave their name with Secretary Nelles, at the local Y.M.C.A.

Also on the platform, were city ministers and Y.M.C.A. workers. A special programme of hymns had been prepared for the service and they were well rendered by the men, everyone joining heartily in the singing. Rev. Charles A. Sykes opened with prayer. Afterwards, Mr. Wilson was introduced by Mr. Nelles, and addressed the meeting. He pointed out the rapid development of the resources of Canada, her minerals, timber and fisheries, and her splendid agricultural opportunities which were attracting an immense number of people, so that last year 51,324 homesteads were taken up, which placed side by side, would make a belt of land, nineteen miles wide, stretching from Winnipeg to the Rocky Mountains.

He stated, also, that between Lake Superior and the Pacific coast, one hundred languages were spoken, showing the diversity of races now finding their way into Canada. He described the mission work among the loggers, on the Pacific coast, where seven thousand men were laboring, many of whom were ostracised from society, because they had given way to some form of temptation. These men were worth restoring to society.

He appealed for a greater number of workers. One hundred men were urgently needed in the west this winter. Young men, strong in body, alert in mind, with a passion for saving men, and unless a larger number of men were willing to sacrifice their commercial opportunities, the church would never be able to keep pace with development of the west, and a lower type of national life would result.

Elmer Davis announced, on behalf of the religious work committee of the association, that arrangements were being made for a series of Sunday afternoon meetings during the winter. Dr. Anglin, afterwards introduced Mr. Best.

Mr. Best put forth a strong appeal for the unsaved and pointed out God's strong love for His people. God was willing and able to save every person. In order to be saved we must first surrender ourselves to Him; we must not rebel or show opposition. After we surrender, then we would receive His salvation. Salvation always followed close on to the surrender. Then came service. A special call had been made for workers in the west, but there was no need to wait for this as there was plenty of work to be done at home, in the factories, in the shops, in the homes, and in the streets. There were many opportunities for Christian service. The greatest thing a man could do, was that of serving God for his fellowmen.

But how often one turned away from the call, believing at the time he was too busy, to take up the work. Too busy, in creature's terms, perhaps. But God would call again, but it was not better to accept the first call.

The meeting closed with the benediction pronounced by Rev. Mr. Selkirk.

AT THE GRAND.

"The Bachelor" on Saturday, a Delightful Play.

"The Bachelor," a comedy by Clyde Fitch, was presented at the Grand, Saturday afternoon, and evening, and delighted two good audiences. There are seven people, in the company, and every part was well played. The story centres around the life of a man who imagined himself a confirmed bachelor, but who fell in love with his stenographer, and marries her. Charles Gentry takes the part of the bachelor, and his work is good. Miss Ruth Maycliffe, the stenographer, is a pretty girl, and carried out this role to perfection. She was much admired. There is a little tilt between the two lovers, brought about by "Billy," brother of the young lady, but, like all plays, it comes out all right. Ralph Morgan showed marked ability in taking "Billy's" part. Miss Annie Buckley, as the Swedish servant, and Charles Lantz as the office boy, were both excellent.

"The Honeymooners."
"The Honeymooners" comes to the Grand, on Tuesday, with the original Broadway production. It will be presented by a powerful cast of metropolitan favorites, assisted by forty of the cleverest and prettiest chorus girls who ever left New York. It combines melodrama and music, there being a strong story and no less than twenty musical numbers. It is said by critics that "The Honeymooners" is the strongest musical production on the road this year.

CITY COUNCIL BUSINESS.

Two Interesting Matters to Be Considered.

Two questions of interest will come before the city council, at this evening's meeting, the street railway power, and the laundry by-law. It is anticipated that the new rate of 1.20 cents a kilowatt for the street railway company, for three years, as recommended by the light, heat and power committee will be agreed to. The amended laundry by-law was given a second reading at the last meeting fixing the fee at $10, instead of $50, as in the present by-law, and providing that laundry locations must be acceptable to the police commissioners before licenses are issued. The third reading of the by-law will be moved this evening and it may be carried. The vote will likely be close whichever way it goes.

Of Vital Importance.

Those who have rheumatism in any form should not delay in curing it. These troubles never get better of themselves and become stubborn and chronic if neglected. It is of great importance that an effective remedy be selected. Most remedies fail. Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure always cures. It is easy to buy, easy to take and prompt and certain in results. Sufferers will save time, suffering and needless expense by securing this remedy at once. It is endorsed by all who have used it. Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure is a great blood purifier and spring tonic. Boys Made Their Mark.

A number of men employed putting down a cement walk, at Reginald Road, and Montreal street, were out on the sabbath, on Saturday morning. On Friday night, after the men left their work, some boys—or perhaps girls—got very busy, and while the cement was soft, scratched their initials on it. The initials are "G.B." and "M.D." and now everyone with these initials will stand a chance of being spotted as the guilty parties. Naturally, the workmen were very mad when they went to work, and found what had been done. The police were notified, and a sharp lookout will be kept in the future for all "markers."

Improving The Water Front.

Brookville authorities have been officially notified by the street government engineer, with headquarters in Toronto, that a dredge would arrive there on the 15th inst, and commence work at once removing two old C.P.R. piers and thus improving the appearance of the river front. Kingston has long tried to get rid of the old, unsightly K. & P. piers and the M.T. Co's sunken barges in the harbor, and thus improve the appearance of its water front, but the obstructions still remain, as many a motor boat owner can attest. If the government will act on Brookville's request, why not on Kingston's?

Dandruff Banished.

A Footballer Surprised.

A large and jovial gathering sprang a surprise party on William Bingham, of Rideau street, on Saturday night, on his return from Joyceville with the C. L. C. football team. The evening was spent in singing and dancing, and everybody voted Mr. Bingham as good an host as he is a footballer.

Mrs. J. A. Howard, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Foden, left, on Saturday, for Toronto, where she will spend a week before she returns to her home in Hamilton. She was accompanied by her husband and children. Velvet collars, My Yaket.

REPLY OF DR. THIRD

TO QUESTIONS ASKED BY PROF. CAMPBELL

Regarding The Tuberculosis Hospital—Discusses Any Intention of Being Discourteous—Why General-Hospital Site Was Chosen.

Kingston, Oct. 11.—(To the Editor) Prof. Campbell returns to the attack and accuses me of not answering his questions. In a somewhat hurried interview I omitted to deal with one of his questions—that regarding the Straubenzie property. I shall deal with that in this article. But before doing so permit me to say I had no intention whatever of being discourteous to Prof. Campbell. I said he was Prof. French, that there might be no doubt in the minds of the citizens regarding his identity. Prof. Campbell seems to forget that he has to provide quarters for a large section of the citizens long before he ever sniffed our "moist air"—the air he affects so much to despise. This is my explanation. It is also my apology.

Now as to the Straubenzie property. On the outset I must tell Prof. Campbell that the committee considered the Straubenzie site. Some arguments were advanced in favor of this site, but the objections to it were so outweighed by those that would secure it from the list of proposed sites. In the first place the house is absolutely unsuited for a tuberculosis sanatorium. It would have to be razed to the ground. In addition to erecting a new building for patients the committee would be forced to provide quarters for a superintendent and for nurses.

Nor is that all. If we are going to adopt modern methods in fighting tuberculosis we must have, not only a modern building, but modern equipment. The sanitarian naturally asks about water supply, sewage disposal, lighting, etc. There is no public water supply on the Straubenzie property, no sewage system, no electric lights, no gas. The tallow dip and coal oil lamp could scarcely be expected to do service in a modern building. But the initial outlay for the property, and for the erection and equipment of suitable buildings, is not all. The committee, after careful consideration, estimated that the cost of maintenance of a tuberculosis sanatorium on the Straubenzie site, would easily double that of a similar institution on the hospital lawn.

Let me place them in the extra administration expenses in connection with a tuberculosis building on the hospital grounds. It is well known that twenty-five per cent. of the total annual expenditure of a hospital appears under the heading "administration expenses." If we are not endeavoring to bring patients suffering from tuberculosis to the hospital, these patients are already there, and are to be found at this moment in every department of the hospital, save in the Neckle wing. We simply wish to place them in a separate building, where they will be properly treated, and placed under proper supervision. This is precisely what the governors of the hospital have done in the case of scarlet fever and diphtheria patients.

This is no experiment. The shack on the hospital lawn has been in operation for over six years and the percentage of cures is as high as that obtained anywhere in the world. The shack accommodates but two. We wish now to extend the privileges to a quarter number of our afflicted citizens. Under one alias, or another, tuberculosis claims in Canada about one victim every hour of the 365 days in the year. It is no mean enemy. It will not do for us to rush on to the field with antiquated artillery or antiquated methods, for death is the penalty of failure. Fancy a general going into battle to-day with some of the guns bolted up in our parks, yet that is precisely what Prof. Campbell would have us do in our fight against tuberculosis. No, Mr. Editor, we will wage war on a larger scale. Only when thoroughly equipped with modern weapons. We refuse absolutely to use the flint lock when the Ross rifle can be obtained. Mr. Welch informs me that the handsome sum of $10,350 has already been subscribed towards the erection of the "Straubenzie" Memorial on the hospital lawn, and that the subscriptions are still coming in. Surely the citizens have spoken.—JAMES THIRD.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Sorrow Over the Destruction of a Giant Elm Tree.

Kingston, Oct. 8.—(To the Editor) There is a lamentable lack of appreciation of the beautiful in nature with some of our citizens, and there is in consequence a grievous destruction of beautiful trees here and there.

A little street on the western confines of the city rejoiced in the possession of a magnificent elm-tree, one of the survivors from the primeval forest, which lend so much of distinction and beauty to the streets of our city. It now lies prone, a victim of the obstinacy which delights in destruction. The owner of the yard in which it grew when expostulated with, he was about to begin this work of vandalism contemptuously replied: "Oh, what is the use of the tree anyway? Useless sylvan gods and goddesses! The worthy citizen could not, it is true, gather cabbages from its wide-spreading branches, nor would he discover potatoes among its gigantic roots but man does not live by bread alone. The divine forester had devoted hundreds of years to the nurture and development of that tree. It raised its glorious head nearly a hundred feet from the ground.

It rivalled as far as a tree might, the towered splendour of St. Mary's magnificent spire. It was an historical monument of Canada's development from the rugged grandeur of its primeval forests to its present rapidly developing greatness. It was, moreover, a "thing of beauty," and might have been a source of joy to generations yet unborn, for it was in the full vigor of maturity, sound at the heart, and straight as a dart. It is now destroyed, and will make a few cords of firewood for the cut-throat men who caused its downfall. There were sad hearts along the street on the day of its slaughter.

And if this lament will avert a like destruction in other quarters the writer of this letter will be a happy person.—SYLVANUS.

THREE FIRE CALLS.

But Only Smoke Was Discovered—No Damage.

The firemen had three calls between 4:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon and four o'clock Sunday afternoon, but luckily none were dangerous. The first was a telephone call from the Northern Crown bank, at 4:30 Saturday. A little smoke in the cellar was found, but no fire was discovered, and the smoke soon cleared away.

The next came at 7:35 o'clock Saturday evening, when a telephone call was received from the corner of York and Division streets, that there was fire on a telephone pole. The firemen found no fire, and once again returned to the stations after a useless run.

On Sunday afternoon, at three o'clock, a telephone call was received that there was smoke in the cellar under the Bijou Theatre and Swift's insurance office, Prince street. The men from the lower station responded, and found the same condition of affairs, as in the bank. A little smoke with apparently no cause.
