GENERAL'S WIFE SLAIN FOR IDOL'S EYE.

Remarkable Story That Chinese Vengeance Was Responsible For Mysterious Crime in England.

London, Eng., Oct. 12.—The American public may still remember the mysterious murder last year of the wife of the aged Gen. Luard in the grounds of their country home in Kent, and the subsequent suicide of the husband. It is believed that the reason for the general's wife's murder was largely responsible for his act.

The case is as much a mystery as ever. But an extraordinary story has reached London from an English officer serving in the far east which suggests a solution of the affair.

Mrs. Luard's body was found stripped of its valuables, which included, according to the official account, a net purse, two ordinary rings, and "an antique diamond ring, said to be over 100 years old, with a very large diamond in the centre and encircled with other diamonds. No trace of this stolen property could be found in all England. But now comes the story that in a Chinese temple an idol which for many years has been short of an eye, is now once more perfect.

Gen. Luard, on his wedding day presented to his bride an antique ring in which was set the precious stone that had been carried off long ago from a Buddhist temple. All through her happy married life, Mrs. Luard wore that ring. Through all these years death was ever near her, if the story be true that the worshippers of the despoiled god were sworn to restore the jewel to their divinity, cost what it might.

On the fatal day, a hand stretched out from nowhere, was upon Mrs. Luard and she died. It may be because of the violation long years ago of a Buddhist temple, the name of which she had never heard, with something of Oriental magic, the murderer vanished. Through the corridors of police he slipped, carrying the relic which for centuries men of his race had sought and the acquisition of which would make him a hero or saint among his people.

TRIP ABOVE CLOUDS.

Edgar Mix, Relates His Experiences.

Paris, Oct. 12.—Edgar W. Mix, of Columbus, Ohio, the winner of the international balloon race for the Gordon Bennett trophy, which started from Zurich on Sunday, has sent the following account of his memorable voyage to the Associated Press. His despatch is dated Warsaw, and says, in part:

"Leaving Zurich on Sunday, at 3.57 p.m., we were able to recognize our route only as far as Constance. Thence to the finish the weather was so thick that direction could be determined only by compass.

"The passage of the Bavarian Alps through rain and clouds was thrilling. Once we swooped down the mountain-side with frightful velocity, plunging into a chasm of fog, which seemed bottomless. It was as if the earth had opened to swallow us up. The basket several times crashed through the tree-tops. When clear of the mountains we moved at a lively rate. The guide-rope dragged over farmhouses, breaking files and chimneys. The peasants rushed out with cries and imprecations. A few hours later we recognized several villages, and then the town of Konigsstadt.

"We sighted a balloon to the eastward with peasants hanging on the guide-rope.

"After passing over Konigsstadt we rose through the clouds to an altitude of 4,600 metres (about 15,000 feet) and saw above the clouds a balloon to the north, about 100 metres higher up. We began to descend at 1.40 p.m., emerging from the clouds about 400 metres above the town of Waldenitz, and we released east of Jentzsch elevations of ballast and half of our provisions, to keep clear of the roofs, but as it was, the drag-rope dragged over the wires of the fort and railroad station, creating consternation among the yelling population.

"We rose again to 1,800 metres near Breslau, throwing overboard the life-savers, mattresses and the remainder of our provisions. Gradually we continued to descend after reaching that altitude until six o'clock in the evening. With good equilibrium we managed to keep aloft until three o'clock on Tuesday morning, when the balloon landed and became wedged between pine trees in the forest of Guttau.

Minister As Tobacco Sampler.

London, Oct. 12.—The Rev. George Halston, president of the Essex Congregational Union, and a member of the Danmow board of guardians, officiated as tobacco sampler during the consideration of the annual tender. He tried various brands of shag with a "church warden" pipe, and recommended the acceptance of a tender which was not the lowest.

Women In German Universities.

Berlin, Oct. 12.—Women are now allowed admission to full matriculation in all German universities except that at Rostock. The total number of women entered in all universities for the summer half year just closed was 1,432, as compared with 1,108 for the winter half year of 1908.

A BOON TO MOTHERS.

When Children Are Injured!—Apply Zam-Buk.

Children are always sustaining cuts, bruises, burns, etc., and not infrequently contract ringworm, scalp diseases, and similar skin troubles at school. Mothers will find Zam-Buk without equal for all these accidents and diseases.

Mrs. Thomas Allen, 455, Water Street, St. Mary's (Ont.), says:—"My daughter Mildred, 4 years old, was severely burned by falling on a hot flat iron. She was burned on the head, instep, and on the thigh very badly. I at once applied some Zam-Buk, which eased the pain, and in the course of a few days the wounds were thoroughly healed."

Mrs. George Aldridge, 12, Louise Street, Stratford, says:—"While playing barefooted about the yard my son Bertram, 6 years old, stepped on a broken glass bottle, which cut very deeply into his big toe. The cut was so deep that I sent for a doctor and had the foot properly dressed, a doctor leaving a lotion to be applied daily. Under this treatment, however, the wound seemed to get no better, and the contrary inflammation set in. A kindly neighbor recommended Zam-Buk. We obtained a supply, and after a few applications the pain seemed to rest better, and the pain was very much reduced. In a few days, under the Zam-Buk treatment, the wound assumed a better appearance, and from that time healing was very rapid. Inflammation and soreness were finally completely banished, and in ten days the first application of Zam-Buk, we took the bandages from the foot. I feel sure that but for Zam-Buk the child would have had a very bad time, and might have had to sacrifice the toe."

Not only for cuts, burns, bruises, etc. is Zam-Buk effective, but also for serious skin diseases such as eczema, ringworm, ulcers, etc. It also cures poisoned sores, chronic wounds, bad bites, festering sores, chapped hands, cold sores, frost-bites and all skin injuries and diseases. Druggists and stores everywhere sell at 30c a box, or post free for price from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto; 3 boxes 81.25. You are warned against harmful imitations sometimes represented to be "just as good."

Tragic Mishap To Actress.

Paris, Oct. 12.—Mlle. Juliette Rossi, a young actress of the Theatre Antoine, met with a terrible accident in Paris this morning.

She was cleaning a pair of gloves with benzine too near the gas stove in her flat, when the benzine caught fire and blazed up. She rushed shrieking out of her flat and down the stairs, where a neighbor had the presence of mind to wrap a blanket around her.

She is horribly burned, and both her hands will probably have to be amputated. She is but twenty years of age.

Second Killed In A Duel.

Naples, Oct. 12.—An extraordinary duel was fought between Signor Tocco Pazzo, of Naples, and Signor Aniello zi Nicola, a money lender, of Rome. The two combatants exchanged forty revolver shots, but neither was injured. The four seconds, however, were all wounded, and one has died in hospital.

Killed By A Straw.

London, Oct. 12.—An inquest held yesterday by the Ely coroner disclosed the fact that William Parson, aged sixty-seven, an agricultural laborer, died from the effects of running a straw into his hand while thatching a stack. The medical evidence showed that the primary cause of death was blood poisoning.

FATHER CARRIES HIS SON TO HOSPITAL.

"I Am Game," Says the Boy—Retains Consciousness Till After Operation is Performed, When He Becomes Delirious.

Wilmington, Del., Oct. 12.—With his maimed child in his arms a father, who was a physician, in an automobile raced forty-two miles with death and pain, although death may yet gain a victory over the surgeons.

William H. Jacobs, Jr., eleven years of age, the son of Dr. William H. Jacobs, of Millington, Md., jumped on the rear of a wagon to go after chestnuts. His leg got caught in one of the wheels and was literally torn off at the knee. The father was summoned, and when he arrived he found the boy tightly entangled in the spokes and axle.

The little fellow was courageous, however, and was able to give his father directions how to liberate him. He did not lose consciousness at any time, and his first words to his father were: "Don't let mamma see my leg. It will worry her."

As only an operation could save the boy's life, Dr. Jacobs hurriedly obtained an automobile, and accompanied by Dr. N. Jeter, began the dash for the Delaware hospital, in this city. It was a record-making run, the time being one hour and forty minutes over bad roads. This included six stops of some length on route, when his father was compelled to administer hypodermic injections of strychnine and whiskey to keep his boy alive.

At the hospital the boy's leg was amputated at the thigh by Dr. A. Draper, with Dr. Jacobs and Dr. Jeter assisting. Last night it was announced the little victim would probably die. Although broken down with anxiety, the father refused to leave the bedside of his boy. There he anxiously watched every change. The mother is also at the hospital.

Before leaving Millington the lad kissed his mother good-bye and said: "Don't worry, mamma, I am all right. I am game." The father and mother were in tears, but the former retained his composure sufficiently to utilize his ability as a surgeon.

Throughout the trip, the boy, although suffering intensely from pain and from thirst due to loss of blood, did not lose consciousness. Since coming out from under the influence of the ether used in the operation he has been delirious.

FINE EGG LAYING HEN.

A Wolfe Islander Praises The Brown Leghorn.

Wolfe Island, Oct. 8.—(To the Editor): Will you kindly spare me space in the columns of your valuable paper to sing the praises of the modest Brown Leghorn hen? I have at present twenty in my flock, all single comb Brown Leghorns, except three or four nondescripts. I am obliged to keep for hatching purposes. There were twenty-five at the beginning of the year, but the others died or were killed. I figure them at twenty-two hens for the whole nine months, which I think is a fair average, considering the fact that they reared four broods of chicks.

They laid 2,948 eggs between January 1st and September 30th, an average of one hundred and thirty-four (134) eggs a hen. The eggs sold amount to $47.57, or considerably over $2 for each hen, besides all the eggs that were needed for home consumption. And they are still laying. The last week in September they laid over five dozen eggs, so that I am in hopes of raising their average to 150 before the year is out.

They have had no special care, had not even a comfortably warm hen house and were closely yarded from seed time until after harvest.

Some people object to the Leghorn on account of the size of the eggs. Now how long ago I read in one of the agricultural papers that the standard weight for number one eggs was to be not less than twenty-four ounces to the dozen. I weighed a dozen of mine, just out of the day's eggs without picking or choosing, and they tipped the scales at twenty-five ounces.

Of course anyone who raises poultry for market would do well to look for a larger brood, but I have yet to find the hen that with the same kind of care and the same amount of food will outlay the Brown Leghorn.—MRS. JESSIE M. MARLOWE, Wolfe Island.
