BARRIEFIELD RUMPUS

TWO WOMEN FINED AND BOUND OVER.

Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Esford the Principals—Magistrate Hunter Declares He'll Never Again Try a Barriefield Case.

An interesting case, to the residents of Barriefield, was tried at the village hall of that place on Tuesday afternoon before Justices of the Peace Hunter and Rae. As a result, Mrs. Ann Smith and Mrs. Mary Ann Esford were each fined $5 and costs of fifteen days in jail, and bound over to keep the peace for a year in a bond of $50. The case arose from a scrap that occurred on Thursday, October 7th, and both women had marks to show that they had been in the mixup. Mrs. Smith having a black eye and marks in other places. The first charge of assault was laid by Mrs. Smith, who was represented by C. R. Webster, and a counter charge of assault and using gross profane and insulting language, was laid by Mrs. Esford, whose interests were looked after by A. B. Cunningham. Numerous witnesses were examined for both sides, and at parts the evidence became so sensational that it was taken behind closed doors.

The first charge of assault was laid by Mrs. Smith, who was represented by C. R. Webster, and a counter charge of assault and using gross profane and insulting language, was laid by Mrs. Esford, whose interests were looked after by A. B. Cunningham. Numerous witnesses were examined for both sides, and at parts the evidence became so sensational that it was taken behind closed doors.

The first witness called was Mrs. Smith, who is over seventy years of age. She has lived in Barriefield for over forty years, and her only trouble seems to be that she has a very fluent flow of English and a tongue ever ready to give it utterance. Mrs. Smith said that about eleven o'clock on the day in question, Wesley Esford, son of the accused, began throwing stones at her dog, and she came out and sent him home. Mrs. Esford then came down herself and used threatening language to the witness, but did not hit her. Later witness said she was going from one door to the other of her cottage out of a basket, when Mrs. Esford ran out of her house and taking hold of her left hand beat her with her right over the head and face, and at the same time used a few words that were not at all complimentary. Witness said she called for help, but it was not forthcoming.

"I did not hit Mrs. Esford at all," said the witness. When asked by Mr. Cunningham how many times she was hit, witness could not say, replying: "If you were being given a good paddling would you take time to count the blows?" The next witness was Mrs. Robert Grey, a neighbour of Mrs. Smith's. She said she heard Mrs. Smith call for help on Thursday morning, and running up, found her on the ground with Mrs. Esford a foot step away. When Mrs. Smith got on her feet, Mrs. Esford called out, "If you say anything more about my mother I will come back and murder you." She was dared to do it by Mrs. Smith and accepted the challenge according to the witness, who saw the accused come up to Mrs. Smith, grab her with her left hand and deliver a few telling blows with her right. Witness saw Mrs. Smith after the affair and could tell plainly that she had been roughly handled.

Miss Mary Warrington, another neighbor of Mrs. Smith, told the same story as the previous witness. She saw the entire proceedings from the time the Esford boy threw stones at Mrs. Smith's dog. To Mr. Cunningham witness said that Mrs. Smith had a very bad tongue.

The first witness called by Mr. Cunningham was Mrs. Esford. Her story of the beginning of the fray was quite different from the one previously heard by the court. She said that on Thursday morning, her brother was walking by Mrs. Smith's house, when her dog ran out and bit him, and he kicked at it. Witness told him to stop because Mrs. Smith would come out and sure enough, out she came. What she said to Mrs. Esford was so vulgar that the witness refused to repeat it in open court, and the magistrate, lawyers, principals and witnesses retired to another room, while the large audience impatiently kicked their feet in the half. William Esford, James Esford and John Duffy Jr., were also examined behind closed doors.

After the evidence was all in, the judges again made an appearance that the public might hear the addresses of the lawyers, which were strong and to the point. After careful deliberation the magistrates found the parties equally guilty. Mrs. Smith, guilty for using profane and insulting language, and Mrs. Esford guilty for hitting Mrs. Smith, so that each one was equally fined and bound over to keep the peace for a year.

Before the dissolving court, Magistrate Hunter, who has settled so many cases in the hamlet of Barriefield, informed the people that he would never try another case at Barriefield, so they need not come to him.

ON GARBAGE BY-LAW.

City of London Will Vote on One in January.

Kingston is not the only place that has been endeavoring to get a proper garbage system. In London, Ont., in January next, a by-law will be presented to the ratepayers.

Some time ago, a delegation of ladies there representing the Mothers Club of the city, waited upon the board of health and asked that a garbage system be installed in London. The board reported favorably in the matter, and a report was sent to the council. One of the committee took the matter up, but referred it back. Now, the board of health will ask for a by-law to be submitted to the ratepayers. The Mothers' Club in that city will now wage an active campaign in favor of the scheme.

AN ENGINEER RELEASED.

Because He Failed to Pass Color Test Trials.

The railway companies are getting very particular about their engineers, who are given severe tests to prove their efficiency. An inspector visited Kingston a few days ago and as a result of his coming one local engineer of long experience was ordered to give up his cab at once, as he failed to pass the color test trials. Another was allowed to run one more year, when he will retire.

Heed Persistent Backache.

Dull, heavy pains in the back or side, as well as a sudden "catch" or "stitch" in the back shows some contested or irritated condition of the muscle or kidneys. The trouble is usually called lumbago and may disappear at times. But these troubles are signs of a poisoned condition of the blood that are apt to lead to chronic rheumatism or serious kidney disease. The remedy needed is Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure. It removes the source of the trouble. It expels uric acid from the system, helps the kidneys and enriches the blood. Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure is a great blood purifier and spring tonic. In bottles, 50c, at J. B. McLeod's Drug Store, corner King and Brock streets (Wade's old stand), and corner Princess and Montreal streets.

Iron for the Blood.

Doctors agree that iron is an important element for the blood, and that its deficiency is the cause of anaemia, run-down conditions, and a general weakness. The best way to administer iron is in the form of VINOL, which is a combination of two world-famed tonics, the medicinal elements recovered from fresh cod's livers and tonic iron. George W. Mahood, druggist, Kingston, Ont.

Looking for A Lad.

The police are on the lookout for a young lad named Vincent Connolly, living on Stephen street, who has been missing from his home since Tuesday afternoon. The lad's parents are very anxious and cannot imagine where he is. When he left home he was wearing a dark coat, light trousers and a black cap. His relatives searched for him on Tuesday afternoon and Tuesday night, but could not locate him.

On "Prohibited List."

There are at present one hundred names on Inspector Wright's "prohibited list" and for some time the list has contained about this number. The names are all published in a little booklet, copies of which are given to the police, hotels and liquor stores. From time to time new books have to be issued, as there are a great many changes. A person only goes on the list for a year at a time.

Looked Like Intended Suicide.

The citizen who was brandishing a fierce-looking razor, says it wasn't suicide, but course he was thinking about. Needless to say, his wife bought him Putnam's Corn Extractor and hid the razor—very wise, because Putnam's cures in twenty-four hours; try it.

A Cold October Day.

The weather changed greatly on Tuesday afternoon and became very chilly. At night there was a very vigorous west wind. This morning was like a raw November day, a fine mixture of snow and rain falling at intervals. The temperature dropped to about 40 degrees. On Oct. 11th, 1906, there was quite a fall of snow.

UNDER THE CITY DOME

STREET PAVING REPORT NOT READY.

Question of Local Improvement in Connection With All Road Work to Be Considered—New Street Lights—Oil Roads.

People are asking what the city council is doing about street paving. The board of works is not yet ready to report on this matter. It has engaged L. B. Malcolm, of the School of Mining, to canvass the owners of the blocks that will be paved if the signatures are sufficiently signed, and Mr. Malcolm is at work. He is conversant with the paving question, having been assistant city engineer of Guelph for two years. By the end of next week, he will likely be ready to report to City Engineer Craig the results of his canvass. Then the board of works will be able to see "where it is at," and how to proceed. If sufficient signatures are not secured to proceed with paving under the local improvement system, it will be up to city council to either pass a by-law by a three-fourths majority or rebuild the downtown roads with some cheaper kind of material, such as granite.

The sub-committee of the board of works has a number of things to consider in connection with the paving scheme. It will take up the question of hereafter building all roads by local improvement, that is, requiring owners of property on all streets to pay their portion of the cost of new roads whether built of limestone macadam or permanent pavement. If this is done, it will be unnecessary to submit a by-law to the people in January to raise money for macadam roads in the residential sections.

The Extra Arc Lights.

The residents of two sections in particular will be glad that some extra street lights are at last to be installed, and these sections are at the corner of Union and King streets and Arch and Union streets, two localities that are decidedly dark for places that are so largely travelled. The five lights are all that can be installed this year, as the light plant cannot supply more at present. The additional five will bring the number up to 155.

Oiling Of The Roads.

The oiling of some of the roads is favourably commented upon by the citizens. There is no doubt that the oiling has improved the surface, by making it harder. The small amount of oil put on has done a good deal to oil the dust. Double the amount of oil would just about put the dust out of business. The street watering carts are not adapted for oiling purposes, as the sprinklers get clogged, but they have been of service enough to show what $75 worth of oil will do on over a mile of roadway.

COAL MEN BUSY.

Cool Spell Brings About a Rush of Orders.

The coal men are the busiest people in the city these days, and in their case the old saying, "Tis an ill wind that blows no person good," is true.

The cool spell which set in yesterday was the means of bringing in a great many orders to the coal dealers, and, of course, everyone wanted coal delivered right away. A great many people wait until the very last minute before putting in an order for coal, and then they expect it to be put in just at the time they make the request.

Stoves and furnaces are now being overhauled, and men engaged in this work are having a very busy time.

Gathering Of The Clans.

Postmaster James Stewart has a guard posted outside some boxes of feather he has received for St. Andrews day. He has called a meeting of his Scottish countrymen for Friday evening, in the City Council chamber, to prepare for St. Andrews night orgies. It's been weeks till that day, but the Scotchmen always like to have plenty of time to ponder over what they should do. Whether a banquet, a ball or a concert will be held, Secretary Stewart could not say.

On Account Of His Wife.

It is said to have been on account of his wife that Henry Bremer, the penitentiary prisoner, became despondent and attempted to suicide in the prison on Tuesday. Bremer is recovering from his injuries and will be around again shortly. He will be tried for his rash act.

The management committee of the board of education had several conferences about Collegiate Institute matters and a lively discussion is promised by some of the members when the matter comes before the board.
