

MR. HERMAN DYING OF STONE IN THE BLADDER

Gin Pills passed the Stone

513 James St., Hamilton. Four years ago I was taken down with what the doctors called inflammation of the bladder—intense pains in the back and loins, great pain and difficulty in urinating. The pain was greatest in the region of the bladder, and the attacks, which became frequent, amounted to unbearable agony, and I became so weak that I could not walk across the floor. Doctors could do nothing to help me. My wife read in the paper about Gin Pills and sent for a box. From the very first I felt that Gin Pills were doing me good. The pain was relieved at once, and the attacks were less frequent. In six weeks the Stone in the Bladder came away and the pain stopped entirely. I have had no return of the trouble and have not lost a day's work on account of it. I cannot express myself strong enough when I speak of what Gin Pills have done for me. When I remember how I suffered, and how now I am healthy and well and strong and able to do a full day's work, I feel I should speak and tell other sufferers of my experience and of the wonderful merits of Gin Pills.

JOHN HERMAN.

THE MOWAT SANITARIUM.

The project of the Sir Oliver Mowat Sanitarium, for consumptives, appears to be assured, thanks to the energy of its originator, Mr. Welch, who thus far has the promise of $10,000 in subscriptions. It is aimed to raise considerably more, by the present plan, and then to make a systematic canvass of the people in every ward. Many small amounts may be secured, and in the aggregate they may amount to three or four thousand dollars. This is a reasonable conclusion. If $1,100 can be picked up on tag day when only a few can be reached, surely three times as much can be had by a painstaking effort and one which will reach every taxpayer.

A MAN OF NERVE.

Charles W. Morse, of New York, is a financial magnate though he is a convict, and liable to atone for his indiscretions by a long term in Atlanta prison. The convict is the bankrupt ice king, whose manipulations of a bank, of which he was the president, led to its suspension. Morse was engaged in many enterprises which required large capital, and because he was reputed to be worth $20,000,000 he had unlimited credit and used it to the disaster of others as well as himself. He deserved severe punishment. It fitted his crime, and there can be no palliation of any act which involves the bankruptcy of a bank, its stockholders and depositors.

And yet there is something about Morse one must admire. It is the optimism which stays with him in prison, which helps him in his cell to plan for a new start in life, which aided him, during his few weeks of freedom on bail, to clean up earnings amounting to $6,500,000, and with them wipe out all his indebtedness except $500,000.

He is not cast down by a present reverse, the affirmation of his sentence, but he diverts the tedium of imprisonment by devising schemes for the recovery of his future and his freedom. His only hope lies in the exercise of the executive clemency, and it has been shown to men less worthy of it. Morse bids fair to redeem his character, good name and place in society.

BRODEUR AND HIS REFORMS.

The industry of Hon. Mr. Brodeur is having its effects. Political malice has been shown towards this man to a degree not often witnessed in Canada, but it has not affected his usefulness. He was not long in office when it became apparent that his methods should be improved. Here was one of the largest spending departments in the government, and it was encumbered with a routine and unbusiness-like and unprogressive. It was no small contract to reform the department when it involved the labour of thousands of employees.

He did what many manufacturers and directors of large plants are doing every week, he engaged a firm of accountant engineers to investigate the department and suggest how it might be modernized. The work of these experts occupied considerable time and was rather expensive. Mr. Brodeur has been lashed, metaphorically, because he did not make some sort of a contract and in that way keep down the cost. It may have been impossible to do this. One can understand that the cleverest of men might well hesitate, or refuse, to undertake a task whose magnitude could not be accurately measured. The work of the accountant engineers was well done, and if the system which they recommended be carried out the business of the department will be up-to-date.

It was while the experts were at work that the first royal commission reported, and reflected upon the marine department. It was Mr. Brodeur who demanded to know who were at fault, and who quickly removed those who were discredited by the Riddell commission. It is Mr. Brodeur who has followed this by abolishing the patronage list, by ordering supplies by tender, and by establishing a purchasing department through the merits of which the government is being served as well as any private corporation. The man who is doing all this is the minister of marine, and, if the Toronto News is their mouthpiece, the

DEEPLY HUMILIATED

WERE THE SCIENCE FRESHMEN OF QUEEN'S.

Science Year '12 on the Warpath—Used Famous Two-in-One Mixture on Their Brothers of '13. Oh ye feeble, faltering, foolish freshmen! Why left you your homes in year '13? Ye surely knew that the fates would be always against you, and did not see that the calendar, yesterday, again reminded you that you were men (to be) of misfortune and that your impending doom was fast approaching!

As the science class in junior English was coming to a peaceful close, this morning, this awful slogan rang through the corridors of the new arts building, striking terror into the hearts of the poor unfortunates. The freshmen were soon seized, bound hand and foot, but not without putting up a splendid fight. One fair freshman with the words of Shakespeare's fish upon his mind, cried out: "Unhail me, gentlemen, or by the gods I'll make a ghost of him who taps me."

But all such appeals were made in vain. They were carried to the gymnasium, where the "Havana" custom was employed, and relieved of the major portion of their outer garments. Edwin Elliott was there with the "two-in-one," and he "put it all over them." These beautiful looking objects were then carried out and artistically arranged on the stone steps, photographed and transferred to the arts building to meet their professor in mathematics. The formula under consideration, this morning, was that of "two-in-one." This being higher mathematics, it will perhaps be a few days before the members of the class "absorb" it. The balance of the hour was spent in demonstrating the principle that "meekness is commendable."

The "scrap" was, without doubt, the most successful and, incidentally, the most civilized that has been conducted in Queen's in many moons, and the committee who had the affair in hand, Messrs. Atwood, Taylor, Gibson, Alderson and Sturms, are to be heartily congratulated.

It is hoped that the sophomores will not allow this historic institution of the "rush" so long associated with college life and something which makes for that spirit of unity for which Queen's claims to stand, to pass away. Their diagnosis if the case is poor and they can only be designated as faulty physicians, if they decide to dispense with the scrap.

HOLDS UP BOTH HANDS

For Street Paving and Will Sign Petition. This morning, City Engineer Craig received the following letter from Mayor W. D. Morris, of Ottawa, regarding street paving. It was an engaging mixture to receive, and is worth reading by the property owners. Mr. Morris writes as follows: "Ottawa, Oct. 13.—Dear Mr. Craig: Your letter to the Standard Bank re the putting down of a permanent pavement on Ontario street has been forwarded to me by the bank, as I some time ago bought the Polgar block from them.

"In reply I may say that I am quite willing to sign a petition to the council for a permanent pavement on Ontario street, the cost of same to be along the lines set out in your circular to the bank, and in this connection may add that I congratulate your department and council in arriving at a decision to permanently pave at least a few of your principal business streets. It is a step in the right direction and I trust that every taxpayer will be found willing to join hands with yourself and council in such an up-to-date and necessary public improvement.

"I may also add that I would be willing to sign a petition for the paving of Clarence street. In my opinion this street should be paved simultaneously with Ontario for at least a block or two. Once you put down a few blocks of good permanent pavement in your city, the public, on noting the advantage of such will be led to strongly support a policy of permanent street improvement on a more extensive scale. From personal observation I can say it is the one thing needed above all others.

"You have a beautiful city, and the council and public should join heartily in any improvement which would tend to beautify the good old Limestone City of which I am proud to say I was at one time a resident taxpayer."

COTE DECLINES POST.

Will Not Become Deputy Minister of Marine. Montreal, Oct. 14.—Thomas Cote, until yesterday managing editor of La Presse, will leave for Europe early next week. Contrary to what has been stated Mr. Cote will not be appointed deputy minister of marine, he having declined the nomination.

It is now stated that Mr. Desbarats, who has been acting in the capacity of deputy minister of that department since Col. Gourdeau's resignation, will be officially appointed to the post. It is stated that Thomas Cote will be appointed Canadian commissioner at Paris, France, in place of Hon. Hector Fabre, the present commissioner, who has asked the government to relieve him.

OUT FOR SECOND TIME

A. A. Jordan is Again a Candidate.

The Durham Chronicle says it understands that A. A. Jordan, principal of the provincial model school, Kingston, is a candidate for a second term on the advisory council of education. Mr. Jordan, it says, was for nine or ten years the efficient principal of Newford public and model schools and during that time, it is within the mark to say, no other school similarly conditioned had a higher standing or turned out pupils better equipped for life's battles, so far as the public school course was concerned. In the teaching days it was our privilege to meet Mr. Jordan at teachers' conventions, and, without flattery, we found him a man among men, a man of sound views on education, a vigorous debater and a fluent speaker, an Irishman with a keen sense of humor, and sufficient wit to give it characteristic expression. We have been told that he is one of the best men in the council, and a sound champion of the public schools and public school teachers. He has a full grasp of the questions at issue, and he ought to be elected for a second term. It is safe to say every teacher in Grey county will give him a vote, and if his sterling qualities were known over the province we would wager a new silk hat he would climb the poll higher than either Cook or Peary.

Mr. Jordan is principal of the Victoria and model schools, and has been in Kingston since 1907. He has done efficient work during that period and the Whig heartily endorses the sentiments expressed above, and hopes that he may be elected by a larger majority than before.
