CONCERT A SUCCESS

ALL THREE ARTISTS PLEASED A CRITICAL AUDIENCE.

Miss Beatrice Tandy Has Been Congratulated on Bringing Such An Excellent Company to Kingston—Audience a Fashionable One.

A success was the concert in the Opera House, on Thursday night, and Miss Beatrice Tandy is being congratulated on bringing the company here. Miss Eva Mylott, the tall Australian contralto, with her wealth of ruddy hair, came highly recommended and she will carry away with her from Kingston many commendatory words. Her voice is mellow, very free from throatiness, and she sings with smoothness and in an entirely effortless way. In an audience there is always a difference of opinion as to which is a diva's most taking number, but most people, last night, enjoyed the Kashmir song, Rubenstein's "Thou Art A Lovely Flower," and "When The Roses Bloom," the best of her lighter numbers, while the recitative and aria from Rienz, brought her an enthusiastic encore to which she responded with a little Irish song. Great regret was felt that she was unable to sing "Starlight," the song written by Miss Tandy to Geoffrey O'Hara's music, the score having miscarried in the mails. Miss Mylott's closing number, "Angus Macdonald," brought her back to a pleased audience, and she sang, with much sympathy and feeling, "O That We Two Were Maying."

As for Miss Moroney, the accompanist, she may not be a perfect technician, but the gods bestowed upon her the gift of music, and she plays as if she loved it, and, naturally, people like to hear her. The well-known "Nachtstücke," (Schumann) was beautifully played, and so was the Persian song. She was at all times happy in her accompaniments, and particularly so in the rippling arpeggios in the accompaniment to the "Swan Song," played by Mr. Nicolai as an encore.

The latter delighted the 'cello lovers, especially with his Serenade and Chanson Napolitaine, and the audience called and called for an encore to Lamento, but Mr. Nicolai was obdurate and merely bowed his thanks to every outburst.

The audience was a fashionable one. The patronesses of the affair were: Mrs. Cornelius Herminingham, Mrs. J. B. Carruthers, Mrs. J. C. Connell, Mrs. Hiram Calvin, Mrs. Daniel Gordon, Mrs. T. D. R. Hemming, Mrs. Norman Stuart Leslie, Mrs. Iva Martin, Mrs. George Richardson and Miss Carrie Waldron.

THE ORPHEUM THEATRE.

Large Crowds Continue to Attend This New House.

The new Orpheum theatre drew large crowds at performances last evening. Despite the bad weather the people turned out well to patronize the popular vaudeville house. "Bob" McLaughlin was again the headliner, his turn making the hit of the evening. His songs were good, the "Brassville Band" being about the best, and his jokes were all side splitters. Al. S. Wilson again made himself a favorite with his character songs, "My Cousin Caruso" being a hit.

Once again Mr. and Mrs. "Nick" Hughes proved themselves fine comedy entertainers. Mr. Hughes' imitations of the old darkey was exceptionally fine and as on Wednesday night he had to respond to several encores, Lampe Bros., comedy acrobats and singers, were fine, their donkey turn making a good hit. The first matinee was held this afternoon.

ENGINEER LOST MONEY.

Fifty-Five Dollars Stolen From Him on Steamer.

Second Engineer Barry, of the steamer Rosemont, was at the police station this morning complaining about the theft of $55 from his pockets on the boat. The man said he was paid on Thursday and left the money in one of his pockets when he was at supper. A man well known in police circles, is suspected of the theft, as he was working on the boat and left hurriedly last evening, without getting his money, saying he would return at three o'clock this morning to go on watch, but he failed to show up. The engineer was quite sure that this man robbed him but lacks any sure proof.

IT WILL BE SCARCE.

Another Butcher Speaks About Beef Market.

"There is one thing sure," said a well-known local butcher, to-day, "and that is that there will be no good beef offered cheap this winter." He added further, that the price of beef would be away up, confirming the information given the Whig by some of the butchers, last week. This butcher lives out in the country, and he has sided up the situation, so boarding-house keepers must prepare for stiff prices, all the winter. The scarcity in stock is the cause. Beef is now selling at 6c. to 8c., by the carcass, and cuts from 6c. to 15c.

The amount received in royalties from the various mines under the control of the railway commission for eight months is $99,607, compared with $27,032 for the corresponding eight months of 1908.

Physicians recommend "Catspaw" rubber heels, as they will relieve kidney trouble, cure backache and headache. They won't slip. Shoe dealers and repairers.

"For lame backs," Belladonna plasters, fresh, at Gibson's Red Cross drug store.

The net earnings of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario railway for the eight months, ending August 31st, were $419,049, compared with $147,258 for the same period last year. "Genthol and eucalyptus" cough tablets are sold at Gibson's Red Cross drug store.

DECISION TO-MORROW

IN THE CASE OF ALD. GRAHAM AT COURT.

Magistrate Farrell Will Make an Inspection of the Steps-Council For Defence Says That There Are Many Cases For Officers Against the City.

Magistrate Farrell will, in police court, to-morrow, give his decision, in the case of Ald. Graham, who is charged with a violation of a city by-law. Evidence was concluded in the case at this morning's session of the police court, and at the close, A. B. Cunningham, counsel for Ald. Graham, asked the magistrate to inspect the now-celebrated steps, which have caused all the trouble, before giving his decision. The court consented, and so, this afternoon, Magistrate Farrell will visit the new houses at the corner of Brock and Barrie streets, erected by Ald. Graham.

When the case opened, this morning, Mr. Cunningham recalled City Engineer Craig, who told about the walk being constructed in 1905. There was no great drop in the walk as had been contended.

Mr. Cunningham said that the city should give and take more in a matter of this kind. The present case was one of extreme hardship. If the lawyers of the city would take up the matter with citizens, they could get many cases against the city, for having no steps. He claimed that there was not a day that the city could not be found negligent in some way. Across from his own house, there was a hydrant in the middle of the sidewalk, which had no right to be there. If the city intended to press charges of this kind, then the citizens would press theirs against the city.

"But there is no use threatening in that way," remarked Mr. McIntyre. "The hydrant, no doubt, had a right to be where it was."

Mr. Cunningham said that steps in front of the city light plant, on Queen street, obstructed the walk. The engineer did not know about this. Mr. McIntyre said that this encroachment was not twelve feet, not even twelve inches.

A witness was called who owned the property at the corner of Brock and Barrie streets thirty years ago, but his evidence went to show there were no steps at the present character there at that time.

Ald. Graham said that yesterday he had a carpenter take a level of the sidewalk and that the crown of the road was four inches higher than the walk.

"I might ask, if it is not too much," said Mr. Cunningham to the magistrate, "that you take a look at the place before you pass sentence. I suppose that we are technically guilty."

Mr. Cunningham added that if the city treated citizens in this way the city should expect the same treatment from citizens. Mr. Graham was, perhaps, guilty of a breach of the by-law but there were hundreds of cases which were ten times more flagrant than his that could be found.

"I can secure one hundred cases of a much more flagrant character inside of one hour," said Mr. Cunningham.

Mr. McIntyre pointed out that he was not desirous of prosecuting. Engineer Craig told him about Ald. Graham's case and had asked him if he considered that it was a breach of the by-law and he told him that he considered that it was. The city engineer was not responsible for violations in years past. He was sorry to have to enforce the by-laws but it was his duty and that of the city engineer to see that they were carried out.

"But are you willing to prosecute 100 others if I furnish you the names?" asked Mr. Cunningham.

Mr. McIntyre said that it was not his duty to act in this way, but any cases brought up by the engineer he would certainly act upon. He did not consider that it was his duty to advise in the matter. The whole question was this, where is it all to end? The city could not allow people to go on with these encroachments.

The magistrate said that a great deal of the trouble might be avoided if the city council passed a resolution requiring that there should be specifications submitted of all sidewalk work. He could well understand the position of the city engineer in the matter. A person might come to that official and ask for a privilege similar to that given to Ald. Graham and be refused, whereupon the person would want to know why he had been refused permission and another granted it.

The magistrate then stated that he would visit the houses before giving his decision and the case was allowed to stand over.

GIVEN THIRTY DAYS.

He Stole Suit Case of Capt. Bell's.

Special to the Whig.—W. J. Guthrie was, this morning, sentenced to thirty days in jail, for stealing a valuable suit case from Capt. Bell, Kingston. The suit case was taken from the train at Union station, and the contents divided between Guthrie and Evans, a porter, who is awaiting trial.

Kitties Band Concert.

The Kitties' band held a concert at the Kingston skating rink, Thursday evening, but on account of the rainy weather, the attendance was small. The band rendered several selections, and the St. Andrew's Highland Cadets, under Sergt.-Major Keith, of the Royal Military College, gave some drill exhibitions. Mayor Couper rendered a solo, and Thomas Bowie executed several Scotch dances.

Contagious Cases Scarce.

The city has been remarkably free from contagious diseases cases during the past six months. There have been only two or three light cases in the contagious ward of the general hospital in all that time. At present the contagious department is closed.

Fall and Winter Importations.

Prevost, Brook street, has received all his tweeds, chevots and vicunas for suitings; also a great variety of overcoating for his order department. His $18 suit and overcoats made to order surpass anything he ever had yet.

Received A Bad Fall.

A visitor to the city received a bad fall at the corner of King and William streets, near the Frontenac Club building, last evening, by tripping against the walk as he stepped from the asphalt crossing, which is a little below the walk level. The gentleman fell headlong and was painfully hurt about the arms and body.

Tribute To A Queen's Man.

Quite a tribute has been paid Prof. William B. Munro, of Harvard University, who is one of Queen's University honor arts graduates of 1896. President Lowell, of Harvard, is in New York attending an educational convention, and Prof. Munro is acting president during his absence.

Heavy Rain Thursday Evening.

The rain on Thursday evening was something fierce. At intervals between 6:30 and 10 o'clock, it came down in sheets, particularly between 8 and 9:30 o'clock, when the lightning was very vivid. It was an odd kind of a night, and was followed by a bright and cool Friday.

Street Paving Petition.

The road paving canvasser is meeting with success in his visits to the property owners on the streets scheduled to be paved. It is understood that if a good majority of the resident property owners sign the petitions for paving, the council will likely put through by-law on a three-fourths vote, and pay no attention to outside corporation or company owners of properties. Those at home are the ones interested most.

Over 4,500 In Kingston.

During the past three years this great number has been gradually distributing itself through Kingston. It is being felt more and more each year. If it were to disappear it would be greatly missed. In many cases it could not be replaced. In fact it is the greatest cough cure that has ever been sold. Everybody knows it and everybody recommends it for you know Best's Short Stop cures all coughs always and costs but 15c.

Kingston Interested.

The many Kingstonians who viewed the recent Hudson-Fulton celebration in New York were unaware of the fact that the steamer Clermont was built in the shipyards of which James Clute, brother of Mrs. James H. Metcalfe, of this city, is one of the proprietors. Mrs. Metcalfe's nephew, James Clute, Jr., was the engineer of the first steamboat during the celebration, and was personally thanked by Governor Hughes for so successfully handling an engine of such an antiquated type.

Sports At Y.M.C.A.

A game of basketball will be played on Saturday night, between the collegiate class, and the business boys' class.

The members of the fencing class will meet, to-night, when the election of officers will take place. It is the intention to have the club meet every Friday night.

The juniors will hold another "hickory-nut hyke," on Saturday morning, and William Manhard will be in charge. The boys will live at nine o'clock.

Scottish Rite Visitors.

The local ancient and accepted Scottish Rite lodges (the Kingston Lodge of Perfection and the Rose of Sharon sovereign chapter) were visited on Thursday evening by illustrious Deputy, Senator William Gibson, of Beamsville, representative of the supreme grand council, Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite, accompanied by illustrious Bro. George Moore, of Hamilton. After the lodge work a social time was spent. This morning, Dr. A. W. Richardson, T.P.G.M., of Kingston Lodge of Perfection, and Rev. R. J. Craig, accompanied the visitors on a drive about the city, a visit being paid to Queen's University.

Anglin-Albright Wedding.

A very pretty wedding occurred on Tuesday, October 12th, at the home of the bride's parents, Walkerton, Ont., when Miss Gertrude Albright was united in marriage to Charles S. Anglin, of Kingston. The bride wore a lovely gown of white pointed d'espirt on princess and carried a bouquet of white roses. Her bridesmaid, Miss Mabel Goodfellow, of Toronto, was gowned in pink silk and also carried white roses. Little Miss Margaret Wilson, of Montreal, niece of the groom, made a charming flower girl. The wedding march was played by Miss Mabel Albright, the bride's sister. The groomsmen was Rev. Hugh D. McCaughey, of Tottenham, Eng. Mr. and Mrs. Anglin were the recipients of many handsome presents. On their return to Kingston they will take up residence on Wellington street.
