MAYOR GOLDING DEAD.

He Passed Away After Brief Ill

Brampton, Ont., Oct. 21.-Mayor James Golding died suddenly at residence, Wellington street, at mid night, last night, of heart failure. Mr Golding was in apparent good health all summer, but Wednesday of this week he took a slight cold, which settled on his lungs and acute indigestion set in. Death, however, was quite unexpected. Mr. Golding was one of Brampton's leading citizens and his residence here dated from boyhood. He was for many years chairman of the public school board, was mayor for two terms, when a young man, and was completing a second term of two years as mayor when he died. He survived by his second wife and two New Device to Cheapen Product

CURE HAM BY ELECTRICITY Told Of.

Chicago, Oct. 22.-Ham curing by lectricity is one of the new wonders of the age, as told of at the convention of the American Meat Packers Association. The idea originated with a half years ago. A ham he cured by the electric process at that time, declared, to-day, is as good now the day it got the electric bath.

The meat is placed in large vats fill ed with a pickle composed of sugar, salt; and saltpetre, and an electric current is passed through the vat. The new method will mean cheaper ham.
