BAD DAY FOR M'GILL

ALL ITS FOOTBALL TEAMS DEFEATED.

Queen's Seniors Won By 19 to 12. Royal Military College Won the Intermediate Contest By 21 to 7—Queen's III Victors.

McGill's senior rugby team made Queen's work till the call of time to win Saturday's match, which resulted 19 to 12, in favor of the Presbyterians. It looked like a decisive victory for Queen's at half time, when the score stood 7 to 0, but McGill's dashing work in the third quarter, assisted by Queen's fumbling, put fear into the hearts of the spectators for five minutes. McGill's aggressiveness, however, was only momentary, for Queen's soon increased its lead and maintained it till the end.

Queen's presented the same team as a week ago, when it defeated McGill in Montreal by 18 to 3. McGill had several changes and was stronger. However, it was outplayed, and but for a couple of loose pieces of play on Queen's part, the score would have been more one-sided. About 1,200 people witnessed the contest at the university athletic grounds. The sky was cloudy and a squall threatened decidedly. There was very little wind.

In the first quarter, Queen's scored twice, on Williams' kicks. McAvinue received the ball at his line and accidentally stepped back over it, giving Queen's a safety. Williams booted the ball into touch-in-goal just as quarter time was up. Queen's, 3; McGill, 0.

Two more scores were made by Queen's in the second quarter. Moran dropped the ball between McGill's goal posts for three points, and Williams kicked over to Jack, who was forced to rouse, just as half time was up. Queen's, 7; McGill, 0.

McGill did some flash-work in the third quarter. Through loose play on Queen's part, McAvinue went through to Queen's twenty-five-yard line, where Leckie fortunately overhauled him and prevented a touch. Ross kicked over, and Dickson roused. Queen's, 7; McGill, 1.

Queen's again McGill made a dashing play. Williams kicked to McGill's goal line, and McAvinue returned to centre field. Dickson fumbled the ball, and on a dribble, which Williams failed to stop after a sprint with Black, the latter fell on the ball just over Queen's line, for a try, which was not converted. Queen's, 7; McGill, 6.

Queen's, however, increased its lead point by point. Williams kicked a touch-in-goal. Later Queen's lost the ball at McGill's goal line, but on the first scrimmage, McGill was pushed back over its own line for a safety touch. Queen's, 10; McGill, 6.

Williams wound up the quarter by booting the ball into touch-in-goal, right after a kick-off. Queen's, 11; McGill, 6. Queen's increased its lead at the beginning of the last quarter, when Moran, for the second time in the game, kicked a drop over McGill's goal at close quarters. Queen's, 14; McGill, 6.

BIG RUSH OF GRAIN

WAS RECEIVED AT THE M.T. CO'S ELEVATOR.

Several Grain Vessels Arrived From Fort William and All Were Unloaded Here—Marine Notes Gathered Along the Water Front.

The Montreal Transportation started off the week with a great rush of grain, three hundred and eighty-five thousand bushels having already arrived. All the wheat came from Fort William and was carried by the following vessels: Steamer Edmonton, 70,000 bushels; steamer Rosemount, 80,000 bushels; steamer Stormont and barge Hamilton, 160,000; steamer Rosedale, 75,000 bushels. All the vessels are unloading here and will clear for Fort William. Tug Emerson arrived from Montreal, with three light barges, and cleared for Montreal with two grain barges. Steamer Windsor passed down with coal from Oswego, for Montreal, at midnight, and had her cargo light for Kingston; tug Bartlett cleared for Montreal with three grain barges; tug Mary cleared for Montreal with three grain barges.

The steamer Key Port, while running into Glensora Mills, had three blades broken off her wheels and will most run into a schooner which showed no lights. He noticed the schooner in time to avoid a collision but it was a close shave and a serious accident was narrowly avoided.

The government steamer Bayfield is in port and will proceed on to Prescott where, on Sunday night, it will load up for the winter. The Bayfield has been on surveying work on Lake Ontario during the summer.

The schooner J. B. Kitchen arrived from Charlotte with coal for Richardson's. The steamer Aberdeen was at Folger's wharf, on Sunday night, on her way up. The steamer Alexandria will pass down to-night.

The steamer America has gone into winter quarters. The steamer New Island Wanderer is now on the Cape Vincent route. The steamer Dundas was down Sunday from Hamilton to Montreal.

The schooner Altha made her regular trip from bay points today. The schooner Mary Ann Lydon is due to-day with coal from Oswego.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE. "The Lily and The Prince" Drew Good Audiences. There were fair audiences at both performances at the Grand Opera House, on Saturday, to witness the presentation of "The Lily and The Prince." The incidents of this beautiful drama are laid in Italy in the early part of the sixteenth century; both Florence and Rome being the centres of the stirring events. Miss Lucy Blake, in the leading role of "Angela," has ample opportunity to display her marked talent and cleverness. In the several acts she held the intense interest of the audience by the manner in which she carried out her part. She had good assistance. The costumes were rich and appropriate to the time. The stage settings were magnificent, especially the fountain in the garden scene and the acquisition chamber in the castle of San Angella at Rome.

Notes of the Game.

Not one player was ruled off in the Queen's-McGill senior game, nor was there one ruled off in the Queen's-Varsity game here three weeks ago. The college play clean rugby.

On Saturday evening the McGill rugby, soccer and tennis teams were dined at the Royal Military College.

THE DANGER MARK
BY ROBERT W. CHAMBERS
Is a characteristically clever portrayal of New York's wealthy set where to amuse and be amused is the apparent aim of all. The story, tragic in its depiction of the shallow feverish desire for unhealthy excitement is told in dialogue, and there are few novelists of today who write better dialogue than Mr. Chambers. Here we have the life of two rich orphan twins, a boy and girl brought up by a Trust Co., and in ignorance of their wealth and without friends. When of age they are launched into the idle rich set and their fight begins, the girl's against inherited desire for alcohol which love alone helps her to overcome. Mr. Chambers has used the financial panic of two years ago with good effect. His characters include all types from the vicious immoralist to the most exquisite flower of refined womanhood. He does not mind words nor leave you ignorant of intended meaning of the "danger mark" in drinking and flirting. At times the story is repellent in its candid revelation of the lack of moral fibre, but it presents a truth that compels the attention. It is a story destined for an immense sale.
