VICIOUS HIGHWAYMAN

HELD UP THE BATH ROAD TOLL GATE.

Fired a Few Shots in the House and Scared the Inmates—Took All the Money He Could Find.

On Monday evening, just at dusk, the family of Charles Brown, toll gate keeper on the Bath Road, two miles from Kingston, were paid a visit by a masked highwayman, who, at the point of a revolver, demanded their money or their lives. The wife and three children, who were alone in the house at the time, were completely unnerfed by fright, and at the sight of the weapon and the sound of the harsh words of the robber, stood motionless, not being able to move. Again the demand for money was made, followed by a shot from the gun, the bullet entering the floor at the woman's feet. The mother, nearly prostrated with fright, was just able to point to the toll box in the window, saying that was all the money she had, and quickly grabbing box and money, about two dollars, toll taken in during the day, the robbers decamped, leaving behind him a string of vile oaths and threats for vengeance if he was followed or any alarm sent out.

It was some time after the man had left that Mr. Brown returned to find his family helpless from the ordeal which had been put through. He learned the particulars and at once notified the police and county authorities, giving as good a description of the man as possible. The children said the man was quite tall, wearing a dark peaked cap with shiny peak, light clothes, and patent leather shoes. When he fired the shot at the floor he necessarily put his hand down, and this showed that he had white cuffs, as one fell down over his hand. The people said he was well dressed, but had the voice and manner of a hardened criminal, one who was used to doing such things. An alarm was at once sent out, and all farmers in the district were on the lookout for the man, but he could not be located. A farmer from that vicinity told the Whig on Tuesday morning that it was understood the robber rode part of the way out to the gate with a farmer named Baker, leaving the wagon near the toll gate, saying he would walk the remainder of the distance. A sharp lookout has been kept for any signs of the man, but so far without success. It was plain that he attacked the toll gate, thinking there would be quite a lot of money in the house, and he also seemed to know that the man of the house was out, as he seemed quite fearless of interruption, and had no hesitation in discharging the gun, knowing there was no one near.

The farmers round about are greatly worked up over the affair, and promise a very warm reception to the masked individual if he shows his face again.

Annual Xmas Sale.
Chalmers Young Women's Society will hold a Christmas sale, Thursday, December 2nd.

Objects To Private Meeting.
There was talk of holding privately this afternoon's meeting of the light, heat and power committee, regarding the street railway. One member of the committee declares that he will oppose any privacy in regard to the matter.

Gananoque Girls Missing.
This morning the Kingston police received a telephone message from Gananoque, asking them to locate two girls, who ran away from their home to come to Kingston. The girls are Bessie Morton and Lena Baker, both aged fifteen. An effort is being made to locate them.

At The Princess.
The rage of the week, for two more days only, you can see the great Living Bronze Statue, the only city of its kind ever seen in this city. If you miss it you will be sorry. Ask your friends who have seen it. Also Claire Bogardus, the great singing and dancing soubrette. Our pictures are two fine comedies, "The Fall in Love With His Wife," and "The Two Mr. Whites." Full orchestra tonight.

Three With Typhoid.
George Lucas, district representative of the International Harvesting company, at Yarker, his wife and little daughter, Lulu, aged ten years, are ill with typhoid fever, and were brought to the Hotel Dieu to-day. James Reid's and S. Corbett's ambulances were called to the K. & P. railway station to remove the patients to the hospital. Their many friends wish for them a speedy recovery.

At The Police Court.
One drunk, a poor unfortunate, who has been on the downward path all summer, was the only offender, and when charged he could say nothing. His case was a most pitiable one. He shook from head to foot, as the result of his drinking, and it was very plain that a term in jail would do him good. The magistrate imposed a fine of $20 and costs, with the option of three months in jail, and it is probable that he will go to jail.

Had Fine Party.
The A. O. H. held its weekly euchre party in its hall, last evening, where a very pleasant time was spent. Miss A. Guirey was the winner of the ladies' first prize, and Mrs. Phillips the consolation. E. McQuaid won the gentlemen's first prize, while F. Corkey carried the honors of the consolation. After refreshments were served, dancing started and continued until one o'clock, to music furnished by Crosby & O'Connor's orchestra. Next Monday they will be the last euchre party before Advent, and the committee is preparing for a very pleasant evening.

Kingston Has A Chance.
A United States Saw Manufacturing company has decided to locate in Canada, and will decide between Hamilton, Toronto and Kingston. A representative of the company will be here shortly to look over the ground. Toronto and Hamilton parties are also after the concern. All that is asked for is a free site, and no bonus. Kingston affords easy access to the coal shipping points and this counts in its favor. The only other point is with regard to railway rates, and it will be up to the board of trade to handle this matter. The company would employ probably 800 or 1,000 people.

Great Day For Kingston.
The long-promised advent of the A and B batteries moving picture drama, "The Girl Scout," or "The Canadian Contingent in the Boer War," is at hand. The pictures will be shown to-morrow and Thursday at the Bijou Theatre. The drama tells the story of a Boer girl who started out to fight the British and fell in love with an officer in "A" battery, R.C.H.A. There is plenty of riding and fighting and an artillery battle at the end. The Boers in the picture are battery men in disguise. Sergeant Peppitt takes the part of the Boer general and personally defends the gun. It is Sgt. Harte who leads the Canadians in their attack on the Boer gun. The picture gives a vivid idea of how the Canadians acted on the field of battle. As the crowd in the evening will be large all who can are urged to attend the afternoon shows.

SIXTY YEARS WEDDED

MR. AND MRS. JOHN MOORE, QUEEN STREET

Celebrated Their Diamond Wedding Jubilee on Sunday—Mr. Moore Witnessed the Hanging of Von Shultz.

On Sunday, Nov. 14th, Mr. and Mrs. John Moore, 102 Queen street, celebrated the diamond anniversary of their wedding, being married on Nov. 14th, 1849, at the residence of Sydneyham, by the Rev. Mr. Allen, an English church pastor. Both fine old people, Mr. Moore eighty-six years old and Mrs. Moore eighty-four, are hale and hearty, in possession of all their faculties, and take as keen an interest as ever in all that goes on around them. They have had the pleasure of seeing their children, their grandchildren and great-grandchildren grow up around them. Mrs. Moore skillfully informed the Whig what she had eleven grandchildren and seventeen great-grandchildren. On Sunday the event was suitably celebrated at the family residence on Queen street, in many members of the family as could arrive in the city coming to join in the festivities.

Mrs. Moore, whose maiden name was Jane McWaters, was born in county Down, Ireland. When she was seven years of age her father died, and she was left in a sailing vessel, taking five weeks and three days to cross the ocean. This trip the aged lady has not forgotten as it was full of great grief to her. When the ship was close to the Newfoundland coast her mother died and she was buried at sea. When the ship had slowly proceeded as far as Quebec two brothers died, and they were buried at sea, as the law prohibited the remains being brought on shore. Mrs. Moore described vividly her trip from Quebec to Kingston, part way in wagon, part way in small boat, and part way on foot. When at last the tedious journey was over the remaining members of the family went to Amberst Island, to the portion now called Stella, where an uncle lived. Here they remained for some time when they removed to Storrington and lived there for many years. When Mrs. Moore died at Storrington it was nothing but a wilderness and life was anything but easy.

John Moore said he was born in Barrield and lived there for many years. The old man remembers still the stirring days of the first rebellion. When only a lad he made bullet holes at the fort under an artilleryman named Jakes.

"On the day Von Shultz, the rebel general, was hung," said Mr. Moore, "I was working in the fort, when Jakes came and told me the man was going to be hung soon. I went out to look and saw the gallows. Then I saw the two-wheeled cart coming up the hill, the two hangmen with white robes riding in the cart with Von Shultz." The old man vividly described how the condemned man mounted the gallows, had the black cap adjusted and laid the drop fall, taking his life. He told many interesting little things about the city in the olden days when the fort was being built, when the market square was different from what it is at present, and many other little stories of pioneer life.

The Whig extends its felicitations to the aged couple and wishes them many more years of happiness.

THE HALLS OF QUEEN'S.

Medical Dinner on the 26th—Arts Also to Hold Dinner.
By Our Queen's Correspondent.
At a special meeting of the Arts' Society, held on Monday evening, it was almost unanimously decided that the faculty this year should arrange for a function to be distinctively arts. The affair this session will assume the portion of a dinner, and for the carrying out of these plans a general committee, composed of the presidents and secretaries of the various years, was chosen. J. L. Nichol, M.A., will act as general convenor.

The election of officers for the Queen's Western Association was held Monday afternoon: Honorary president, Prof. Warren; president, J. E. Carmichael; vice-president, R. M. Mills; secretary, N. E. McDougall; treasurer, M. A. McKay; committee men, Alberta, W. McKenzie; British Columbia, C. Berry; Saskatchewan, H. C. Wallace; Manitoba, C. N. Urie.

The Aesculapian Society, at a special meeting, held on Monday, decided that the medical dinner, would be held on the evening of Friday, November 26th. These convenors of committees were appointed: General convenor, George Gibson; programme, R. M. Ferguson; musical, J. G. Bailey; reception, B. Thompson; invitation, D. Jordan; decoration, J. Neville.

The Lovana tea is one of the most pleasing events in the social life at Queen's, and all students will be happy to learn elaborate preparations are being made for this function, which will be held in Grant hall on Saturday afternoon, November 27th.

D. C. Ramsay, M.A., is at present supplying the Presbyterian pulpit at New Liskeard.

George Thompson, science '11, member of last year's rugby team, is spending a few days in the city. He will return to college after Christmas.

This afternoon arts and medicine were to meet in the first of the inter-faculty rugby games. Science holds the trophy and will play off with the winners on Thursday. It is exceedingly doubtful if either arts or medicine will be able to lift the cup, as the science combination is composed of no less than ten members of the Queen's first team, including Williams, Leckie, Moran, Gallagher, McKay, Elliott, Eskine, Lloyd, Dickson and Clark. Campbell, Mackay and Kissella will play with medicine, while Smith and McLeish will be on the arts' line.

There was a large squad out at "gym" practice with the hockey team on Monday.

Year '11 arts had planned on having a social evening on Thursday of this week. However, the event may be postponed owing to counter attractions.

DUST!

Is a General Nuisance Causes Sickness

DUSTY FRIDAY NO MORE

Why You Should Use DUSTBANE

It saves labor in sweeping.
It saves one-half your dusting.
It saves your carpets and rugs.
It saves damage by moths.
It saves taking up carpets.
It saves your health.
It saves your money.

DUSTBANE

Is a green colored powder, packed in tin cans ready for use. In sweeping a carpet, take one or two handfuls, according to the dust. Sprinkle where you are to begin (not all over the carpet), then sweep as you always do. The powder is swept ahead of the broom and falling on the carpet absorbs the dust, leaving the carpet clean and bright. The dust is not thrown into the air to settle back on the carpet and furniture.

DUSTBANE should be used in sweeping carpets, rugs, straw matings and bare floors.

SANITARY POINTS

SICKNESS AND DISEASE are often contracted by breathing into the lungs germ-laden dust. DUSTBANE contains an antiseptic fluid which kills germs. The evaporation of this fluid while sweeping thoroughly disinfects the room. "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

It Costs Nothing to Try

KINGSTON GROCERS

Are authorized by the manufacturers of DUSTBANE to send you a 35c. can of their Sweeping Compound. They want you to use this on trial for one week. At the end of this period if not found satisfactory we will take it back and there will be no charge for quantity used.

If it does away with dust on sweeping day you want it.
