NEW PHASE PRESENTED.

Rev. "Sam" Small has not lost any of his attractiveness as a public speaker. He came into prominence originally as the convert and colleague of Rev. "Sam" Jones, who was one of the most noted revivalists of his day. The audience last night had a vivid reminder of Jones in the speech, the manner, the posing of Small. They were men of like temperament, clever, gifted, humorous. Some of the things they said appeared to the sensitive soul as a trifle plain, but they were the thoughts of men who expressed generally their nervous energy. Of their absolute earnestness there was no doubt. Rev. "Sam" Jones has been called to his eternal rest, but his spirit lives in his friend and ally, Rev. "Sam" Small.

The one point of greatest importance in Small's lecture was the declaration of the great convention which was held in London last year, that alcohol was not a stimulant but a poison, and that it should be labelled and sold as such. The scientists had worked upon it, as they work upon all the productions of the day, and from their researches came a conclusion that there is nothing more destructive of life than alcohol in any form, and that every possible measure should be taken to check its ravages. Mr. Small referred to the discoveries of biologists, but he did not cite their findings, as he could have done, for the use of alcohol has to do with the propagation of life. Statistics have demonstrated that it has decimated the ranks of men and in time wiped out whole families. Health and life itself have been promoted by total abstinence. This new feature of the case is not interesting to temperance men only, but to all classes and conditions, and it will become conspicuous when, in the process of time, it becomes a matter of special study in our schools and academies.

QUESTION OF THE HOUR.

The board of trade took another forward step on Tuesday evening when its members discussed the question of payment and passed resolutions which must have a stirring effect. The city, on this paving issue, has been behind all other cities in Ontario and for two specific reasons.

In the first place there has been a difference of opinion as to what kind of material should be used. This is a progressive age, and some of the material that was so popular a few years ago has been discounted in value and replaced with something that is considered more suitable or more endurable. Now half a dozen kinds of pavements are in demand, and the city council has deemed it expedient to lay the costs before the property owners and let them express a preference. The plan is to select the article for which there is the greater choice and call for tenders so far as it is concerned.

In the second place there has been the matter of taxation which is always taken so seriously by the members of the council. There are two ways in which the work can be secured: (1) by petition of people, and in sufficient strength to warrant immediate proceedings; (2) by order of the council, the mayor and aldermen assuming all the responsibility of their action. The board of trade is evidently of the opinion that the council should take the initiative, and that it should not balk or scare over the question of expense. The board of trade is composed of the merchants and manufacturers of the city. They say, "Add to the tax rate whatever is necessary to meet the cost of the improvement, and we will stand behind you."

Will that assurance have the desired effect? Is it not apparent that the way to make the question a live one is to carry it into the election, make it a plank in the aldermanic platform, accept the vote of the people as an approval or disapproval of the scheme. The council can only be expected to act upon the suggestion or advice of the board of trade when the spirit of that board has been demonstrated in municipal affairs, and in a dominating and controlling manner.

The property owner has his own view point, and that is the profitability of the undertaking. Will the paving of the business streets contribute to the value of the real estate? The city is going ahead. With this new departure give increased power to the movement? If so the sooner it is made the better.

NO GRAFTING REPORTED.

"The auditor general, in a report just published," says the Ottawa Journal, "lays his finger upon a striking specific instance of over-classification." He wrote the commissioners that "three times the quantity of solid rock in foundations had been allowed in one division and that this excessive quantity was entered in the progress estimates and the contractor paid."

The auditor general does not say that now. He expressed certain suspicions with regard to the accounts of a railway contractor, but he got the light he needed, and it removed his suspicions quickly.

The commissioners quote the chief engineer as saying that the contractor referred to did not receive "one cent more than he was entitled to under the agreement," and that no case had been cited "where the quantities were increased or the classification altered so as to enable the contractor to receive a larger payment than he was entitled to under the specifications." "The correspondence has to be read throughout in order to be understood, and in order that there may be no insinuation that the government officers or the commissioners have been neglectful of any duty. It is unfair to assume that there has been wrong-doing when the commission submits the evidence to the contrary."

EDITORIAL NOTES.

By all means let us have a selected immigration from Britain. The people of the slums, however, Canada should not have under any circumstances.

The federal government will see what it can do with the cement combine. It will be interesting to see what happens should the national powers collide good and hard with a twenty million dollar merger.

A question, which an innocent layman asks is this: In what way is Mr. Campbell, an electrical expert, under salary, liable for the loss on the gas tank? Was any offer he made in defence of his service not voluntary?

The speech of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, on the navy, was very eloquent. The occasion was inspiring, and the premise was equal to the occasion. That portion, referring to the British flag as "our talisman," will pass into history.

The perpetual franchise which a private company wanted with a water power at Trenton has been knocked by a public vote. The day of perpetual franchises has passed, and any company which proposes it is a "has been."

So the suffragettes of England are going to repeat the assault on Mr. Churchill, and horsewhip the members of the Asquith government as they please. They are, eh? Others may not be as conciliatory and forgiving as Mr. Churchill.

If Mr. Borden's right hand man in the opposition does not be careful he will be recognized, and called "Blue Ruin Foster." He's afraid the Americans will prevent trade with Canada by a prohibitive tariff. Would he on that account recommend Canada to surrender? The leader of the conservative government would not count it.

The city cannot undertake the paving of the streets for at least six months, probably longer. The water and gas mains would have to be renewed and also the water and gas services. To pave with the underground work defective would be to waste the public money. The pavement must not be laid until there is some prospect of it staying down.

RICE AND WHEAT HEAD LIST.

Each Chief Cereal For About Half of World's Population.
Washington, Nov. 18.—Rice forms the chief cereal food of about one-half the world's population and wheat the chief cereal food of the other half. Curiously enough, the quantity of these two cereals produced apparently placing the world's rice crop at about 175,000,000,000 pounds and the wheat crop at about 190,000,000,000 pounds.

The above facts are presented in a bulletin from the department of commerce and labor, dealing with the remarkable increase in rice production in this country and with the markets especially in countries commercially adjacent to the United States. In the last decade the rice production in the United States has equalled that of the half century immediately preceding. Over 600,000,000 pounds were produced in 1905, Louisiana and Texas together, raising more than ninety per cent. of the total.

The property is situated half a mile from Kinistino, and has been farmed for the last six years. It is well fenced, and the buildings on it are good. The farm is valued at $3,500.

CLUNG TO UNHAPPY MOTHER.

Created Pathetic Scene—Woman Face Two Charges.
Belleville, Nov. 17.—Frances Beavertock, the Tyendinaga woman, aged twenty-six, was before Magistrate Bedford, of Deseronto, yesterday, charged with concealing her child's birth, and its secret burial. The hearing was adjourned until Saturday. It was brought out in the evidence, that her father had served a term in the penitentiary on a charge of incest with the prisoner some ten years ago. At the close of the court Mr. Gunter had papers filed out which Magistrate Bedford signed, giving over the prisoner's little son, as well as her fourteen-year-old sister, to the custody of the Children's Aid Society.
