STREET EXTENSIONS THE

DISCUSSED BY BOARD OF WORKS.

By-Law For Extension of Upper William Street to University Recommended to Be Submitted to the People in January.

The board of works, at its meeting, yesterday afternoon, decided not to receive any report from its road paving committee until the street railway power question is settled, and it is known that the railway company will do regarding the relaying of its tracks.

The company's letter to the city council, on the 8th, stated that it would take care of the ties, fish plates and bonds, but Ald. Hartly pointed out that there was no definite promise as to this. Ald. Kent said that he understood from the letter that the company would do as above stated, if it was given the five-year power agreement it asked.

City Engineer Craig said that his report as to sewers and Manager Folger's report as to gas mains were ready, but the waterworks report was not. He advised that the paving question be left over till the street railway power question was settled, as there was no use dealing with it piecemeal. He read the canvasser's report to the result of his visit to property owners, with petitions for their signatures, under the local improvement. The majority signed, but the necessary two-thirds had not been secured.

The question of street extensions was also considered. There are four streets that the engineer and special committee recommended for extension, viz.: Upper William, from Division street to University avenue; Brock, Victoria to Macdonnell; Mack, Victoria to Macdonnell; Catarqui, Rideau to Montreal. The latter three can be dealt with any time, as the cost of the required lands is small, and can be provided for out of current revenue. The Upper William street extension will cost $5,000, for the necessary land, of which about $2,000 would come back by the sale of two frame houses to be bought. The board decided to recommend to council that a by-law for the opening of this street to University avenue be put to the people in January.

J. B. Cooke and others petitioned for opening Albert street near Earl west to Collingwood street. This was referred to the street extension committee, which has under consideration the general question of street extensions.

Isaac Allen wrote, asking that Earl street be extended and graded from Albert to Macdonnell streets, and Victoria street, from Johnson to Earl streets, as he is building a number of houses in that district. The engineer advised that the necessary land has been given the city. The matter was referred to the city solicitor for report on several points. The engineer said it was impossible to do the work till next spring.

A petition was received from Joseph Carrington and others, asking that River street be extended from Orchard street through the city smelter site to the water's edge, which outlet was closed last year. The engineer said there certainly should be an opening there. The matter was referred to the engineer and Ald. Hartly to take up with the city property committee.

Arrangements were made for the walk inspection committee to accompany the city engineer on a tour of the city next Tuesday.

Ald. Graham (chairman), Free, Givens, Hartly, Hoag and Kent were present at the meeting.

AN ARTISTIC TREAT.

An Interesting Peep Into the World of Art.

The Woman's Art Association, of Kingston, has arranged to bring an artistic treat within the reach of the citizens without any pecuniary profit to their association—small as its resources are—but simply and solely for the public benefit.

Fraulein Stolle, who visits Kingston to give an illustrated lecture next Monday evening, on "Old Friends and New In The World of Art," has been a student of art under the most famous art teachers of Germany, and has devoted many years to the preparation of careful and beautiful reproductions of many of the most famous pictures in the art galleries of Europe, which, by means of her lantern slides, she is able to place before her audience in almost the rich and vivid coloring of the originals. As she accompanies the exhibition with instructive comments on the artists represented, her lecture gives an opportunity of learning something of the great painters of the world in a most enjoyable way.

Whereas Fraulein Stolle has lectured and delighted her audience and elicited many tributes of admiration. Among others the New York Herald observes that "her slides resemble more nearly the finest miniature painting than anything else that can be suggested." The Montreal Daily News says of her lecture in that city that "besides being entertained they are very instructive, as she shows the various styles, ideals and achievements of the different schools, and thus helps her hearers to a broad outlook upon the painter's art as a whole." Reproductions of wonderful pictures many people had only heard about appeared upon the canvass last evening, and failing the originals left little to be desired." It is to be hoped that many will avail themselves of the opportunity of a peep into the world of art.

Fall And Winter Importations.

Looking For Work.

Quite a few men are around the city, looking for work, just at the present time. "I had an advertisement put in the Whig for a man," remarked a citizen, last night, "and the very first afternoon I had half a dozen men ready to go on the job. The job was for a young man, but two or three of the applicants were well up in years."

Sermons From Shakespeare.

The Whig has secured the exclusive right to the weekly publication of these sermons, which will begin the last week in December and run for a year. Subscribers who want to keep in touch with these racy sermons, a column long, should subscribe for the paper. Rev. Daniel M. Gordon, D.D., Queen's University, read over a series and says:

"In these ('Sermons from Shakespeare') the writer has enforced the moral teachings of the great dramatist with clearness, earnestness and literary grace, giving us helpful lessons in a very attractive form. If the sermons that are to follow maintain the standard of those that I have seen, they deserve to become popular, and I hope they may have a wide circulation."

IN MARINE CIRCLES.

W. A. Gunton Talks Plainly to Children's Aid Society—A Warning to Parents—Rev. A. Macallum Retires From Position of Agent.

The annual meeting of the Children's Aid Society was held in the council chamber on Thursday evening and unfortunately only a very few citizens turned out, but all who were present were people who have always taken a great interest in the work and to whom great credit is due for the success attained by the society.

F. Nickle, M.P.P., presided at the meeting, Prof. Morrison acting as secretary.

The secretary's report showed a very successful year's work. The secretary, Rev. Mr. McCallum, who is also agent of the society, said that the object of the society was not to separate families or take children away from their parents, unless it was found absolutely necessary. During the year fifty-five families had been visited, some of these being called on more than once. The agent paid ten visits to the police court, where juvenile cases were up for trial, and saw the way they were dealt with. The report pointed out the urgent need of a shelter for young girls and boys who were arrested or were destitute, where they could be kept over night away from all evil influences. The fact was also brought out that more funds were necessary for the carrying on of the work, for paying expenses of visits to many places and for general running expenses. Mr. McCallum reported the work of the society now numbered forty-five, and all were in good comfortable homes, where they were receiving the best possible attention and were being brought up in the way they should go.

In closing the report, Mr. McCallum said: After ten and a half years as agent of the society, I am now going to hand in my resignation. I have endeavored to do the work as well as I could, and before leaving I must speak very thankfully of the help I have received from the police magistrates, the late Lieut.-Col. Duff, and the present magistrate, J. M. Farrell. They were both full of sympathy for those in trouble and always acted wisely in disposing of cases. I also wish to speak of the great help given by the president, Rev. Alexander Laird, the solicitor, G. M. Macdonnell, K.C., and the different committees for the great help they have always given me in my work. I hope the work will go on for time to come and will improve every day.

Mr. Macdonnell followed, and spoke in glowing terms of Mr. McCallum's work, as also did Rev. Douglas Laing and W. F. Nickle.

Rev. Alexander Laird said that the society were not at all discouraged by the small attendance at the meeting, as he knew many who were not present, why not from themselves, and from their parents. The speaker went on to say that he believed all mothers ready to die for their children, they loved the little ones so much, but such is not the case. He has had mothers sign over the guardianship of their children with joy, others fairly push them out of doors without even a good-bye and their refusal to come and see their own offspring in a home.

Before concluding Mr. Gunton spoke about finances, saying the city should at least give $1,000 a year to the society to carry on the work, instead of $50, as it now did. He said it would be money saved for the city, as the society in Ontario had 6,000 wards. These 6,000 children would cost the state a great deal, for they would be paupers and criminals but for the society.

Before the meeting closed, the work was discussed, many sides being presented and many good arguments being advanced. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered to Mr. Gunton for his lecture, and also to Mr. McCallum for his long and faithful service.

HURT IN RUNAWAY.

Horse Was Frightened of An Automobile.

Thomas Burch, aged about twenty-four, son of Enock Burch, contractor, 145 Patrick street, met with serious injuries, yesterday afternoon, as the result of an accident. He was driving on Colborne street, and when an automobile came towards him, the animal shied and turned towards another rig. The quick turn threw Mr. Burch out on the sidewalk, and his hip was injured. He also suffered a severe cut on his head. Dr. Ross dressed the injuries.

Inspector Of Asylum.

Capt. William Crawford, the new provincial inspector of fire apparatus, and C. W. James, private secretary of Hon. Dr. Pyne, minister of education, were in the city on Thursday who a tour of inspection. Capt. Crawford visited the asylum and was greatly pleased with all he saw. He told the Whig, this morning, that it was one of the best conducted institutions he had yet visited. "When they get in their new water mains and standpipes the system will be complete," said the inspector. He advises a connection with the local fire alarm system, so that there will be no delay in getting the brigade out there in case of fire.

Mr. James, who is inspecting the provincial educational institutions, was also greatly pleased with the asylum. The two inspectors left this morning for Belleville where the Deaf and Dumb Institute will be visited.

And Have Another Good Senior O.H.A. Team Hears This Winter—J. T. Sutherland Interested—General Sporting News.

The Frontenac Hockey Club, which for years was a credit to Kingston, may be revived this winter, in view of the fact that the 14th Regiment officers have decided to have nothing more to do with hockey. Kingston has the players for a senior O.H.A. team, and all that is required is management. James T. Sutherland, who was the old Frontenac Club manager, will again be here this winter, and is wondering why his old club should not come to the front again. It is likely that a meeting will be called within the next fortnight and arrangements made for the hockey season. For the senior team Hiscock, Powell, Vanhorn, Bernier, Crawford, Richardson, Davidson and others are available.

"Ben" Simpson On Queen's.

"Ben" Simpson, who is the star of the Hamilton Tiger Rugby Club, and the most talked-of player in Canadian rugby, to-day, was for five years with Queen's senior rugby team as full-back and half-back, from 1899 to 1903. At Queen's he learned his rugby as he did his mathematics, and was under "Chaucer" Elliott's direction for a time. "Chaucer" was then Queen's centre half-back. Simpson was always a star kicker, and when with Queen's was an artful dodger, being a "slippery man to tackle. He wasn't so sure in his kicking then with that old left foot of his. The writer recalls a match in Montreal between Queen's and McGill in 1901 when Simpson made a beautiful kick, when trying to send the ball over McGill's goal line for a touch-go. The ball struck the side of his toe, went straight across the field to a McGill wing, who tore down the field unchallenged for seventy yards and scored a touch-down. It is interesting to note that the two opposing captains, of Hamilton Tigers and Ottawas, Simpson and Williams, are ex-Queen's half-backs."

Sporting Notes.

Longboat and Shrubbs met at New York in that postponed eight-mile race.

There is a mist of money in it for the team that meets Varsity in the Canadian championship match.

According to Cleveland baseball magazines Napoleon Lajoie will play there until his baseball days are over.

Wrestler Frank Gotch announces that he will fight the breach of promise suit brought against him by Miss Lucy Currie.

Hal McGiverin and "Eddie" Gleason have been giving the Ottawas invaluable pointers in their coaching.

Aurad, one of the Turks (not a cigarette), brought out to try and win the wrestling championship from Frank Gotch, became homesick and returned to Italy.

Walter Camp, Yale's athletic adviser, says: "I can safely say that the present Yale football team possesses more expert knowledge of the game individually than any other team I have had."

Longboat won't run Shrubbs in Winnipeg Saturday night unless he gets $1,000 in advance. It is understood that the local management are willing to pay $1,000 in advance but they want Longboat to sign an agreement that he will run the entire specified time of one hour and twenty-six minutes.

Some surprise was occasioned in Ottawa when the announcement was made that Walter Molson and "Billy" McMaster, of Montreal, would referee the big game at Toronto Saturday.

McMaster was one of the men who handled the saw-off at Kingston last year, McKenzie being referee on that occasion. Hamilton suggested Messrs. Molson and McMaster, and Ottawa, rather than have the appointment go to Vice-President "Joe" Wright, and have his name on the program. Toronto men, selected McMaster and Molson and notified Hamilton to that effect. It was thought that the Ottawas would favor Kingston or Toronto men.

W. A. Gunton's Address.

This concluded the regular business, and was followed by an address by W. A. Gunton, assistant superintendent of the Children's Aid Society of Ontario. During his remarks, Mr. Gunton said: "Why do men give up their profession for this work? Why did I give up my ministerial work for this? Simply because it is the most Christian, the most patriotic, and the most charitable work being carried on in the world to-day."

His address, which was altogether too short, was interesting, at times
