

Untrimmed Hats For 25c and 50c.

Many women (who have the taste and ability) prefer to trim their own hats. We have good news for these people. We are making a raid on untrimmed hats, that ought to make it worth while for every one to visit our second floor. The shapes are all small, which makes them very attractive. For convenience we have divided them into two classes. One at 25c. and the other at 50c.

FREE TO YOU—MY SISTER

FREE TO YOU AND EVERY SISTER SUFFERING FROM WOMEN'S AILMENTS. I am a woman. I know women's sufferings. I have found the cure. I will mail, free of any charge, my home treatment with full instructions to any sufferer from women's ailments. I want to tell all women about this cure—your mother, your sister, your daughter, your neighbor, or your friend. I want to tell you how to cure yourself at home without the help of a doctor. Men cannot understand women's sufferings. What we women know from experience, we know better than any doctor. I know that my home treatment is a safe and sure cure for Leucorrhoea, White Discharge, Uterine Displacement or Falling of the Womb, Profuse, Scanty or Painful Periods, Uterine or Ovarian Tumors or Growths, also pains in the head, back and bowels, bearing-down feelings, nervousness, creeping feeling up the spine, melancholy, desire to cry, hot flashes, weakness, kidney and bladder troubles where caused by weakness peculiar to our sex. I want to send you a complete 10 days' treatment entirely free to prove to you that you can cure yourself at home, easily, quickly and surely. Remember, that it will cost you nothing to give the treatment a complete trial; and if you should wish to continue, it will cost you only about five cents a week, or less than two cents a day. It will not interfere with your work or occupation. Just send me your name and address, tell me how you suffer, if you wish, and I will send you the treatment for your case, entirely free, in plain wrapper, by return mail. I will also send you a copy of my book—"WOMAN'S OWN MEDICAL ADVISER" with explanatory illustrations showing why women suffer, and how they can easily cure themselves at home. Every woman should have it sent home to think for herself. Then when the doctor says—"You must have an operation," you can decide for yourself. Thousands of women have cured themselves with my home remedy. It cures all, old or young. To Mothers of Daughters, I will explain a simple home treatment which speeds and effectually cures Leucorrhoea, Green Discharge, and Painful or Irregular Menstruation in Young Ladies. Plumbers and health always result from its use. Wherever you live, I can refer you to ladies of your own locality who know and will gladly tell any sufferer that this Home Treatment really cures all women's diseases and makes women well, strong, plump and robust. Just send me your address, and the free ten days' treatment is yours, also the book. Write to-day, so you may not miss this offer again. Address: MRS. M. SUMMERS, Box H. 261. WINDSOR, ONT.

Poetical Selections

The Garden Flowers.

By Margaret McCauley. The red rose nods on the garden wall, And has no other care at all; But to smile and nod at the flowers below, Each in its stately garden row. Hollyhocks she sees in their pride and grace, And the purple lilacs soft of face; The pale, sweet forsythias hang their heads, And drip their tears on their soft brown beds. The lily pure, the fragrant snow, And the white pansy's sweetest show, And we small daisies in the grass, Join hands and play on the soft green mass. Blushing sometimes as they near the walk, Where the wind-whirled mortals sometimes stalk. The night the falls on the garden sweet, Making all faces clean and neat. To meet the sun when he comes o'er the hill, And greets every flower with his loving good will.

The Hucklester-Man

By Clara Odell Lyon, in Youth's Companion. Oh, do you know our hucklester-man? His name is Mister Brown, And all the children think he is—The nicest man in town. Sometimes he rings a little bell, To tell 'em on the way, But other times he just calls out, And then we hear him say, "Apples, apples, apples, 'tatoes, 'tatoes, apples, 'tatoes." He has a bright red wagon, And a big and gentle horse, And the wagon piled with barrels, Filled with things to eat, of course, And he never seems to mind a bit, The children standing by. We always run to meet him, When we hear his well-known cry, "Apples, apples, apples, 'tatoes, 'tatoes, apples, 'tatoes." And then he says, "Here you, I've been saving this for you, And down there count my apples, Or a plum or maybe, two; Or, Sister, how'd you like a peach?" He has a gift for all his friends, No wonder that the children like To hear our hucklester call, "Apples, apples, apples, 'tatoes, 'tatoes, apples, 'tatoes."

The College Daughter

Eleanor Bates, in Presbyterian Banner. I dusted the piano keys and shut it up to-day, For no one here can play on it since daughter's gone away. Her Summer hat was hanging behind the kitchen door; I stopped to hang the ribbons as I swept along the floor. The young folk aren't so social as they were in the old days, and I'm sure it's kindly meant; They say it's improving to the mind that longs for knowledge. To have associations girls can only get at college.

I never knew the clock could tick so loud and harsh before, And seems to me the sunlight creeps more slowly on the floor. Her kitten's grown into a cat, and doesn't play so much; And when I tie his ribbon I should think he'd miss her touch. Her father has grown grayer since he said good-bye to her, His eyes begin to fail him, and he says his glasses blur; He frets and sighs and scolds about the various sorts of knowledge That filled his little daughter's thoughts and tolled her off to college. Her window plants are blossoming and she looks so fresh and bright, She wears a cluster at her belt the day she went away again growing for the pretty child's dear sake. I'm going to mix a cake for her the day she comes to town, And send her with some buttered and knitted slumber shoes. And the weekly village paper, which will tell her all the news, For I know she's too true-hearted to despise its home-bred news. O' heaven bless the bonnie lass who bithly went to college!

The Order of the Bath

Strand Magazine. The last Knights of the Bath made according to the ancient forms were at the coronation of Charles II, when various rites and ceremonies—one of which was bathing—were enforced. According to Froischart, the court barber prepared a bath and the candidate for membership in the order, having been undressed by his esquires, was therupon placed in the bath, his clothes and garters being the perquisites of the barber. He was then removed from the water to the words, "May this be an honorable bath to you," and was placed in a plain bed quite wet and naked, to dry. As soon as he was quite dry he was removed from the bed, dressed in new and rich apparel and conducted by his sponsors to the chapel, where he offered a taper to the honor of God and a penny piece to the king. Then he went to the monarch and, kneeling before him, he received from the royal sword a tap on the shoulder, the king exclaiming, "Arise, Sir," and then embraced him, saying, "Be thou a good knight, and true."

Had To Do It

Oregon Journal. Suddenly a white form appeared at a window. All about leaped the mail flames. A portion of the wall had caved in, and it was too hot for the firemen to go up after the man, anyway. But see, a noble hero dashes under the ropes, makes his way to the elevator and shoots up to the lofty, lofty floor, where the lonely form is still standing. Within about eight or ten minutes he comes tearing out of the building with the life he has saved besides his own. Just then the entire building and the man who held the mortgage on it collapsed. About 75,000 people rushed over to the hero—the man who at the risk of his own life and without the aid of a brass band went to the rescue of one lone man. "Twice, indeed, noble of you," the people cried with one voice. "Why did you do it?" "Well," said the hero, "I had to. He owes me two tollars."

Homomado

Bill—Thought you always smoked Havana cigars? Jill—So I do. Bill—It says "Colorado" on that box you just handed me. "Everything for the man who shaves himself." See the window display at Gibson's Red Cross Drug Store. This is Laurier's birthday and today he received many letters and telegrams. A guaranteed tooth brush free with each tube of the new flat tooth paste at Best's.

THE HALLS OF QUEEN'S.

The Medical Dance Was a Fine Affair.

By Our Queen's Correspondent. Grand Hall, on Friday evening, was a veritable honor of beauty. Never in the history of the medical faculty at Queen's, has there been conducted a more brilliant or successful function than the faculty dance of last evening. The music was supplied by Murray's orchestra, and the 400 guests spent a very happy evening. The decorations were elaborately unique and quite becoming. Refreshments, served in the arts reading-room, were particularly pleasing. The patronesses were Mrs. D. M. Gordon, Mrs. D. E. Mundell, Mrs. A. P. Knight and Mrs. J. C. Connell.

On Thursday afternoon, Lieut. Col. G. C. Jones, M.D., director general of the Canadian medical militia, delivered a very interesting lecture to the medical students, speaking on the necessity of a close relation between the medical profession and the militia.

The Asclepiad Society met on Friday afternoon, and appointed the convenors and members of the various committees.

The O.H.A. Annual Meeting, Toronto, Nov. 20.—The annual meeting of the Ontario Hockey Association was held here, to-day. The treasurer's report shows a surplus of $2,396.97. The president, Dwight J. Turner, reviewed last season's work, and dealt with suggested amendments to the rules. He opposed the proposal of James T. Sutherland, Kingston, for quarter periods in junior games, holding it to be not in the interest of patrons of the game. Last year there were eight teams playing in the O.H.A. Last year's officers were re-elected.

If you don't care how your glasses fit, don't deal at Kesley's, but if you want comfort and satisfaction, why, that is the place to go. The devil prompts men to make some mighty foolish prayers now and then. "Shave yourself." No waiting. See the shaver's comforts in Gibson's Red Cross Drug Store window.
