Gin Pills are wonderful.

If every woman, who has Kidney or Bladder Trouble, could go to Davisville, Ont., and talk with Mrs. A. Simpson, they would do just as she did—take Gin Pills and cure themselves.

HOLD THEIR DIGNITY. "Our object is to annoy, to harass, to inconvenience the government till it finds it easier to give us the vote than to fight us further," says Mrs. Pankhurst, the distinguished suffragette, in an address in New York.

It is an ancient doctrine, and was practised in Palestine in the days of the apostles. Because of her much opportunity a judge is mentioned in scripture as having surrendered to a certain widow, and Mrs. Pankhurst's idea is that if the women make a nuisance of themselves they will get the franchise. She may be right, but only the few will abandon their dignity for the sake of the franchise.

CANADA WON'T CARE.

The opposition in Ottawa is playing a curious hand in objecting to an approval of the French treaty. Why? It may affect the Taft government, and may invite retaliation for which the Payne tariff provides. If Mr. Fielding, as finance minister, had shown any weakness in his policy, any disposition to cater or cotton to Uncle Sam, any desire to curry favour in a spirit of fear, he would be denounced by Mr. Borden and Mr. Foster and all those who have become distinguished as their echoes.

When the Canadian government was asked to show to Germany the same consideration that it had assured the mother country it was predicted that awful things would happen. Germany did undertake to discriminate against Canada, and punished itself, and very gladly and very humbly dropped its tariff war later, unsolicited by Canada.

Why should Canada now—at the instance of Mr. Borden or Mr. Foster, who might be better employed—send a commission to Washington, cringing to the powers-that-be and pleading that it be allowed to legislate in its own interests? Who ever heard before of the proposition that Canada must first find out what will please its neighbors before legislating for its people?

A CALL TO COMBAT.

Mr. Loeb, collector of customs at New York, is the political storm centre for the present. He had not been long in office, until he discovered that some officials were only shamming in the performance of their duty. And he let it be known that he wanted this shamming to cease. Then began the seizures, the raids, the exposures that created sensations in high society. Appeals were made to Mr. Loeb, without effect. He stood for an honest administration of the law. He wanted Uncle Sam to get all in revenue or taxes that were coming to him.

He followed this with a suspension of many officials. Of the two thousand men under his direction scores were suspected of wrong-doing. A few guilty men confessed their sins, at the same time incriminating their fellows and gaining immunity from prosecution. An hundred were listed for dismissal, including those who had been the allies and employees of the sugar trust, who had been in the pay of the great corporation and had allowed of the robbery of the country to an unknown extent, some say of many millions of dollars. Worse than all, "the rotten conditions" that Mr. Loeb denounced are said to have been known to the government, and to have been tolerated by it. Which gives foundation for the story that the treasury department will not, and dare not, prosecute the offenders.

Mr. Loeb was Mr. Roosevelt's private secretary, and has from the highest authority learned that there is nothing like being brave and defiant in public office. He does not quail with fear because the sugar trust and the subordinate officials would do him harm. Practically he invites the conflict, and promises to give whoever attacks him all he wants of fight.

BATTLE OF THE GIANTS.

The Standard Oil people hasten to announce that the trust has not been ordered to dissolve by the United States court at St. Louis. It has been only directed, says its officials, to account to all the stockholders for the use of its earnings, not that the allied interests must separate and become competitors for the oil business. Mr. Rockefeller, the head of the trust and the owner of one-third of its stock, knows nothing personally of the decision and affects not to be influenced by it. He has gone out of the management, but his spirit is in it, and he is looking as keenly as ever after the baubles.

The fight has been a fierce one against the trusts, and one sees in it, and in the attitude of the attorney-general's department, the feeling that the trustees generally are regarded as a menace to the prosperity of the people. All the trusts are projected by selfish men for selfish purposes, and must, sooner or later, begin their oppressive work. All the mergers have dangerous tendencies, and all are aiming—the Standard chief of all—at a dictation and control of freedom of trade must be restored—and hence the desire to see the Telephone and Telegraph merger, the Copper merger, the Sugar merger, the Cement merger, and all other mergers fail most ignominiously.

The battle is one of the giants, and from a safe distance one sees the vigour with which the U. S. government casts itself into the conflict. It realizes that this merging by the capitalists of their forces is a menace that must be met and disposed of, and the sooner the better.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

More men teachers are demanded in Quebec. They are demanded likewise in Ontario. Everywhere the man is necessary if his personality would be impressed upon our boys.

Now it is a piano merger that is at work—in Canada—a concern with a capital of $1,000,000. Will it be investigated? The government is the piano dealer. Can the piano deal escape attention?

Only thirty men have been killed in the football matches this year so far. A trifling tribute to the amusement of the masses, and an evidence that the rules against violence, or murder, can stand a further revising.

A canal connecting Lakes Erie and Michigan, cutting through part of the state of Michigan, is proposed, at a cost of $100,000,000 or more. It is pronounced by the Buffalo Times as a crazy scheme, and the designation appears to be correct.

The Unionists of England have issued a cordial invitation to the liberals who would like to join their party. "Come into my parlor," said the spider to the fly. The liberal who wanders into the unionist camp deserves all he is likely to get.

Sir Hibbert Tupper was charged with opposing the McBride government in the present election because of his connection with the C.P.R. But he charged in an address that the C.P.R. was a consenting party to the deal and he would not do that and be the C.P.R.'s factotum.

Common sense is asserting itself in Ottawa. There was a time when the debate on the speech from the throne went on for five weeks. This year it was over in five hours. Think of the saving in mental and physical energy, think of the saving in dollars, many, many thousands of them.

Toronto is losing money on its gas bills, and is wondering what it can do to bring about a change. Adopt the slot machine. It collects for every foot of gas burned, and does not defraud the city of a cent. There are some machines that are not political and can be trusted.

The old age pensioners of England are being placated by the unionist politicians on the eve of an election. They are being sought out and personally assured that their pensions will be continued with a change of government. Still the old people are sceptical. Very naturally so. Their best friends are the people who have secured and paid the pensions and by their budget have given assurance of continuing them.

POISONED BY PILLS

BOXES SENT TO MANY AUSTRIAN OFFICERS.

One, Who Took Some of the Pills, Died Almost Immediately—All Attempts to Unravel the Mystery Have Proved Futile.

Vienna, Nov. 23.—An extraordinary attempt at wholesale poisoning among military officers here has caused a sensation. A large number of officers, just promoted to be captains in the general staff, have received through the mails sample boxes of pills. These were accompanied by a circular recommending them for nervous debility. One of the officers, Capt. Mader, took some of the pills, and died almost immediately. An autopsy revealed the presence of cyanide of potassium, and that death had been caused by this poison.

A further investigation showed that all the pills contained cyanide of potassium in large quantities, and also that many of the first lieutenants attached to the staff, but not promoted, had not received pills. The circulars were signed "Charles Francis" and bore a false address. All attempts so far to unravel the mystery have failed, and it is suggested that the poison may have been sent out by some disappointed officer or that the poisoning is an anarchist outrage.

TO GIVE SQUARE DEAL.

Osteopaths Licensed in British Columbia. British Columbia is the first British province to give the osteopaths a square deal. A bill passed during the March term of the legislature provided for an examining board, consisting of one osteopath, one homeopath, and several allopaths. Thirty-nine applicants took the recent examination, thirty-five medicos, three osteopaths, and one homeopath, with the result that twelve of the medicos and the homeopath failed, while the three osteopaths all who tried, passed.

Osteopathy now has legal recognition in every state in the union except two—and in these its practice is not prohibited. To-day there are but two medical colleges in the United States which have as many students as the American School of Osteopathy at Kirksville, Missouri, and there are other osteopathic institutions of recognized standing in Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago, Kansas City, Des Moines, and Los Angeles, in which the course of study compares favorably with that of the best medical colleges in the country.

Palpitation of the Heart.

One of the first danger signals that announces something wrong with the heart is the irregular or violent throb. Often there is only a fluttering sensation, or an "all gone" sinking feeling; or, again, there may be a most violent beating, with flushings of the skin, and visible pulsations of the arteries. There may also be experienced a smothering sensation, gasping for breath, and feeling as though about to die. In all such cases the action of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills in quieting the heart and restoring it to its normal beat, is beyond all question marvellous, as our thousands of testimonials will show.

Mrs. Martha Mason, Marlbank, Ont., writes:—Just a few lines to let you know what Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills have done for me. I have been troubled with weakness and palpitation of the heart, would have severe choking spells and could scarcely lie down at all. I tried many remedies but got none to answer my case like your pills did. I can recommend them highly to all with heart or nerve trouble. Price, 50 cents per box, or 3 boxes for $1.25 at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.
