CANT COMMAND OBEDIENCE.

M. Jaures, a French statesman, has suggested that the three great powers of Europe, Britain, Germany and France, confer with a view to the reduction of their naval expenditure.

M'BRIDE AND BORDEN.

Mr. McBride, premier of British Columbia, is credited with a desire to lead the opposition in Ottawa, and eventually become premier of Canada.

TARIFF AGITATION ABROAD.

The New York Herald is not satisfied with the reason given by Hon. Mr. Foster for expecting a response to its appeal for free trade between Canada and the United States.

RHEUMATISM

I want every chronic rheumatic to throw away all medicines, all liniments, all ointments, and try NATHAN'S RHEUMATISM REMEDY.

France, all nations that juggle with tariffs, what will be the effect? According to the Herald there may be a war, a tariff war, savage, wicked, relentless, and so escape from its damaging effects there must be modifications.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

It was the opposition of England, as it is the opposition of Canada, that rushed the naval schemes, and they cannot take any other course now than defend them.

The private colleges are exempt from business tax under the present assessment law.

Bob Evans, retired admiral, says the United States will not allow any foreign foe to invade Canada.

The opposition in Ottawa is very much concerned lest a couple of liberals, defeated in the British Columbia elections, should be judges.

Lord Rosebery had the correct idea when he said that the budget of Britain was made obnoxious because of the large sums it had to raise for armament.

Mr. Dicey, who condemned the Hydro-Electric policy of Ontario, now condemns the imperial budget.

The Toronto News sees in the British Columbia victory an indication that the whole west will go conservative in the early future.

By the election of last week, in British Columbia, the province has contracted a liability of $21,000,000.

"Billy," Tuesday Night.

Speaking of "Billy," to be presented at the Grand here, on Tuesday, November 30th, the Montreal Herald says:—

There are three acts of unrestrained and continuous, but perfectly innocent and healthy merriment can be obtained from the inability of a young man to say "Beatrice" without his false teeth.

The Herald has it that the preferential policy has plunged Canada into a war with Germany and excited among the extreme protectionists a spirit which may make possible a conflict with the United States.

Yes, the tariff reform that the Herald despises, so far as Canada and the United States are concerned, is the shibboleth of the conservative party in England this day.

The idea is remarkable at this time when the mother country is distracted over the tariff question, and the masses are being egged on to abandon the free trade as an evil thing, to be replaced by the protection that is, in the language of Mr. Balfour, to bring into submission the nations that are menacing her through their hostile tariffs.

The book shows that the first banquet was held in the Mansion House on Nov. 30th, 1840, at 7 p.m., with John A. Macdonald (afterwards Canada's premier) as first vice-president, in the chair.

CHANGING SENTIMENT. Oliver Goldsmith's "Deserted Village."

Goldsmith, in his "Deserted Village," spoke of a certain chapel where those who "went to scuff, remained to pray."

So in life one often laughs at what he does not understand, and later, when he does understand, his laugh turns to praise.

There were some who doubted the merits of Newton's "Herpicide," the scalp germicide and hair-dressing; but since they have tried it, they are now among his best friends and strongest endorsers.

Herpicide kills the germ that eats the hair at the root, and the hair then grows again. As a hair dressing it is incomparable. Try it.
