A SMOKING SOCIAL

Held By the Locomotive Works' Soccer Club.

On Tuesday evening the association football club of the Canadian Locomotive Works held a fine smoking concert at the Congress hotel. About 150 guests responded to the invitation and a jolly good time was enjoyed. J. H. Watts, secretary of the club, occupied the chair, and called on many of those present for songs and speeches.

The orchestra from the R.C.H.A. was present, the music furnished by them during the evening being a treat in itself. About eleven o'clock refreshments were served. Host Harry putting up an excellent spread.

Representatives from the R.C.H.A. team, that had played so many friendly games with the Locos, were present and aided in making the first annual smoker of the club a success.

Keeping At It.

—Keeping everlastingly at it brings success."

That is one of the fundamentals of the advertising art.

Don't put in a big advertisement and then quit. That is not the way to get people to come to your shop to trade. It is keeping the name of your firm constantly before people, it is continually reminding them that you are looking for their business that fetches customers to your store.

You want everybody in Kingston to know that you are in business, where you are in business, and what you have to sell. An advertisement in the Whig reaches practically all the homes in Kingston, and wherever it goes it is read.

That is what you are seeking—to interest the people of Kingston, in what you have to sell.
