THE PEOPLE WILL RULE. Trenton has received a lesson it will not soon forget from the court over which Sir William Mulock presided. The council assigned to the Electric and Water company its right course, but without reference to the surely ratepayers. The action was the outcome of the agitation in Trenton favour of municipal ownership, and it is significant to note that the Consolidated Municipal Act provides for a referendum when public interests are lie bodies observe certain formalities wholesome conditions. or the dickering with and by the great corporations would much oftener become effective. The Trenton deal will now go to the people and the chances are, under the circumstances, that it will be defeated. The people generally are to be trusted.
