"Bronchitis"

is generally the result of a cold caused by exposure to wet and inclement weather and may be recognized by a tightness across the chest, sharp pains and a difficulty in breathing, a secretion of thick phlegm, at first white, but later of a greenish or yellowish color coming from the bronchial tubes when coughing, especially the first thing in the morning. Cure the first symptoms of bronchitis by the use of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup.

Miss Martha Bourget, Little Falls, Que., writes: "Last spring I was very poorly, had a bad cough, sick headache, could not sleep, and was tired all the time. I consulted two doctors, and both told me I had bronchitis, and advised me to give up teaching. I tried almost everything but none of the medicines gave me any relief. One of my friends advised me to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. I had scarcely taken the first bottle when I began to get better and when I had taken the fourth bottle I felt as well as ever, my cough had left me and I could sleep well."

"Dr. Wood's" is the original Norway Pine Syrup. It is put up in a yellow wrapper, three pine trees the trade mark and the price 25 cents. Manufactured only by The T. Millburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Tips For The Farmers

BY UNCLE JOSE.

The experienced dairyman never talks about the value of his milk. He knows that there is no money for him in losing $30 worth of milk in order to raise a calf worth less money or to raise a heifer to two years old. No dual purpose animal has ever topped the best "milk" cow as the "milk" cow has often done, and no dual purpose animal has ever produced dairy products to compare with the yield of the Holstein cows. Holstein steers have size enough and will fatten well, but they will not sell for high prices because of their dairy conformation and not, as one writer says, because of the coarseness of their meat, but because they do not make the percentage of choice cuts that pure beef animals do. The two characters are antagonistic and cannot be combined in the same animal so that it will make the best of beef and the best and most profitable of dairy products.—New York Tribune Farmer.

Richness of Milk. Will certain food make milk richer in butter fat? The discussion of this question still goes on. The general conclusion is that the individuality of the cow, rather than the food she eats, determines mainly the richness of her milk. Feed, of course, may produce a very material increase in quantity, but not of quality. Truly the quality varies under different conditions and circumstances. For instance, strippings are richer than the rest of the milking. The percent of butter fat also varies at different periods of lactation. Yes, the cow is a machine for the production of milk, but the quality of her milk varies with each individual or is likely to do so. Cows that give the richest milk are more apt to produce offspring that will do the same. Hence, it is possible to breed this quality in cows and build up a rich milk strain, as has been done.—Home and Farm.

Fattening Hogs. Fattening hogs will usually finish faster on cornmeal than on shelled corn, and many farmers are very correct in that regard. Experiments covering the quantity fed plainly show, however, that hogs given cornmeal eat more feed in a given time than those on shelled corn. When both the feed and the gains made are taken into consideration, the profit in favor of cornmeal is considerably less than many suppose. Corn and cob meal has been shown to have about the same value as pure cornmeal. If any advantage is had from corn and cob meal, as is claimed by some stockmen, it no doubt largely comes from the bulk furnished by the particles of cob, which, by rendering the contents of the stomach less compact or more porous, helps to their easier and more complete digestion.—Coburn's "Swine in America."

Barley For Bacon. Barley as a hog feed is regarded with much appreciation by those who are best informed on the subject. It is much used by Danish farmers, and at a Canadian agricultural college found barley so valuable in the production of prime export bacon that it is now regarded as a standard with which the other grains are compared. In experiments made for the purpose of determining the nature and causes of what is known as soft pork it was ascertained that the best article of bacon was "produced by a ration in which barley was at least one-third of the whole amount."

Poultry Keeping. Cleanliness is a necessity in successful poultry keeping, and the neglect of it results in speedy loss. One farmer's chickens die of cholera, and have every other disease that comes to flesh is heir to, write the chickens of his near neighbor are always healthy. This is not infrequently the case in a neighborhood, and the unfortunate poultry raiser is unable to discern the cause of his bad luck. Let us look in upon him and see if we can discern it for him. There is the henhouse, which has not been whitewashed since it was built, and has not even been cleaned out for a couple of years. The roosting-places are covered with dirt, and it is a marvel if they are not covered with vermin. Perhaps the house is poorly ventilated, and the fowls are compelled to take in disease every time they draw a breath. The water furnished them to drink is full of dirt, and their food is thrown into the filth of the yard or house. Now, would it not be miraculous, if any living thing, except vermin, could live and preserve health amidst surroundings like these?

All this is different with the neighbor whose chickens are healthy and vigorous. His poultry house is neatly whitewashed. The cracks which serve as lurking place for vermin are filled, and the poles are scrupulously clean. Quite likely the smell of carbolic acid assures you that that man strives to have everything about his poultry house clean and pure. There is no offensive to sight or smell about the premises, and that is the reason that his poultry are healthy. For the sake of the poultry and for the sake of appearance the cleaning process ought to be carried out, and its effect upon the health of the chickens and the profit of the poultry yard will be very marked. Probably the neglect to keep the poultry area clean is the result of that mistaken idea that poultry does not amount to much anyway. If a single reader is laboring under that delusion, permit us to beg of him to dispel it at once. Poultry pays when it is rightly kept, and the way to keep it right is to keep it clean.—Rural World.

Manitoba Agricultural College is full. Two hundred and one students are now registered. Every available room and bed in Robin Hall is being used; even store-rooms have been converted into sleeping apartments, and students are still coming. It has been necessary to decide to refuse further applicants this year, as it is impossible to do justice to a larger number until the teaching staff can be increased and the equipment enlarged. The value of the cheese and butter turned out in Ontario, for the year ending 1909, was $15,000,000.00, and the figures for this year will, it is believed, be in advance of this amount. There are now 1,177 cheese factories and 97 creameries in the Province of Ontario.

Where Are They To Come From? According to reports from dealers in poultry, there is a shortage of turkeys everywhere, says the Canadian Farmer. It is said that the supplies of British reared birds, owing to the weather conditions in the early part of the season will fall far short of the demand, and the people at home are now making enquiries as to what Canada can do for them. If one may judge from the short supply and the prices paid in Toronto for Thanksgiving Day, Ontario will have very few or none to spare for other markets than her own.

In Eastern Ontario turkey-raising is still carried on successfully, and the farmers there derive a good revenue from their birds, but in Western Ontario the great majority of farmers have given up the turkey as a business proposition. For this several reasons are given, none of which seem to be particularly convincing, though some are rather amusing. For instance, one man gave it up because, he says, after he had raised a nice flock they wandered off, and "he guesses his neighbors ate them," a bad reflection that, on the neighbors! In the majority of cases the story is "they never have any luck now with them." In these cases the real fact is that they are too well off to take the little trouble necessary to carry the young birds through the first stage of their existence. Luck is not a factor in handling any kind of live stock. Knowledge of the requirements of an animal and the

A Mother's Breakdown

Her Health So Shattered Her Children Were Taken From Her. It is a sad story, one that is not often heard nowadays that is told in the following letter by Mrs. Marion R. Charlotte, written from her home in Pittsburg: "For about five years I suffered from a complication of disorders, the origin of which my doctor was unable to discover. It was undoubtedly owing to imperfect action of the liver and stomach. I am sure of this because there was a continual weight and painful fullness in my right side and severely anything I ate was digested. I also suffered agonizing with hemorrhoids. A succession of sleepless nights, cruel pains in my side and back, combined with the terrible state of my nerves made me wish for death."

"I could do no housework, my sisters took my small children and I despaired of ever getting on my feet again. "One memorable day a neighbor brought me a box of Dr. Hamilton's Pills which had cured her of troubles similar to mine. To my astonishment, I felt better next day. Gradually all my pains disappeared, I put on flesh, looked healthy, had lots of spirit and a desire to work. Dr. Hamilton's Pills cured me and I know they will work marvels for every woman that uses them. "The one safe dependable medicine for men and women in poor health is Dr. Hamilton's Pills—refuse any substitute. At all dealers, 25¢ per box, or five for $1. By mail from The Carthage Company, Kingston, Ont."

RUPTURE

Mr. Andrew Claverie is in Kingston To-day. I recall once more the attention of my readers to the fact that the celebrated specialist is stopping, to-day (Saturday), at the Frontenac; he will remain there until Monday evening. There is not a single person suffering from Rupture in our city or from the surrounding district who would not do well to avail himself of the new Method and the New Apparatus of A. Claverie, adopted by nearly 1,000,000 (one million) of patients all over the world and which have already been accepted in all the cities of Ontario with such great enthusiasm. This is an only chance of securing health which offers itself to all the afflicted of Kingston; it would be very imprudent not to grasp this opportunity, especially at the opening of the winter season, so dangerous for the unfortunate who are suffering from Rupture, and during which deaths are so numerous. The only chance that you have to guard yourself against all these terrible dangers is to go and see Andrew Claverie, who has already restored to many thousands of unfortunates to health. DR. NAMY. Andrew Claverie is stopping to-day (Saturday), until Monday evening, at the Frontenac, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., and from 6 to 9 p.m. All advice given free. Absolute secrecy. Special attention for ladies.

NOT HEREDITARY. Baldness Due to a Living Minute Germ. Many people, even into the present day of grace, consider baldness due to hereditary influence. Nothing is further from the truth. Baldness is caused by the onslaught of a minute organism which secretes itself beneath the scalp and attacks the roots of the hair—causing it to lose its life and fall out. This organism cannot be got rid of except by the free and persevering use of Newbry's Herpicide. No matter how badly the scalp is affected the Dandruff surely disappears and hair health is restored when Herpicide is applied. Destroy the cause you remove the germ. Sold by leading druggists. ability to apply that knowledge are the requisites for its successful production. Turkeys under farm conditions are really but little more trouble to raise than any other class of poultry, and after they have passed the critical stage of chickhood are harder than most. Not only so, but given the run of the orchard, they will just about keep themselves on the insects to be obtained there. In fact, after they are four weeks old they will forage for themselves, gathering up the waste about the farm, and if grasshoppers are abundant will revel in luxury.
